
IN producing the new Willys Six, Willys-Overland has shown the entire automotive industry that power, style and comfort are no longer the monopoly of high priced cars.

With its 65 horse-power motor—rubber insulated against vibration—the Willys Six easily reaches 72 miles an hour in high and 48 in second. Yet even at this speed the Willys Six owner drives in greatest safety. Roads are smoothed out—sharp turns seem like easy curves. Hydraulic shock absorbers—adding to flexibility—cradle his comfort. Big, full internal four-wheel brakes emphasize security.

In addition to swift, spirited performance and exceptional gas and oil economy, this spectacular new Six affords sleek, crisp style lines—the last word in motor-car modernism. Its rich upholstery fabrics, silver-finished hardware, handsome woodwork and fine interior appointments form an ensemble of luxury comparable only to automobiles of much higher price.

Arrange a demonstration of this superb new car with your nearest Willys-Overland dealer today.

SOCIETY HOLDS INITIAL TEA

Entertaining Musical Program Provided at Campbellford Church Society Gathering.

IS BIG SUCCESS.

The second of a series of three Initial Teas to be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was staged on Tuesday evening last before a record audience. Much credit is due the leaders of the "I to Q" group for the splendid program provided. Rev. W. J. Mark acted as chairman during the evening. The program was as follows:

1. Piano solo—W. A. Newcourt.
2. Vocal solo—"The Old Refrain" (Kreisler) G. W. Lucy with E. C. Dolman accompanying.
3. Vocal duet—"I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard"—Misses Helen and Ruth McGee, talented little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McGee.
4. Recitation—"A Scotch Sermon"—Mrs. W. A. Newcourt. This item was very well received.
5. Piano solo—W. A. Newcourt.
6. The feature of the program was a one-act play entitled "The Packing of the Home Missionary Barrel", which brought forth much laughter and applause. The cast was as follows:—Mrs. Brown, the hostess (Mrs R. H. Townsend); Mrs. Dimps short and stout (Mrs. Chas. McKelvie); Miss Flim, a simpering spinster (Mrs A. G. Watson); Mrs. Green a boss (Mrs. W. A. Newcourt; Mrs. Jones, a confirmed invalid. (Mrs. Jas. Johnston); Mrs. Lamb, a widow (Mrs J. A. Anderson); Mrs. Smith and White, willing helpers (Mrs. Roy McGee and Mrs. P. H. McMillan); Mrs. Hicks, a strong-minded woman (Mrs Annie Adams) and Sophie a Polish girl (Mrs. Wm. Collison). The play was under the direction of Mrs. W. A. Newcourt with Mrs. James Walkinshaw assisting.
7. Recitation—"Cut Down Trousers" (Edgar Guest)—Master Raymond Wragg.
8. Vocal solo—"Thoro" (Adams) G. W. Lucy.
9. The last item on the program was another riot of fun in the form of a hat-trimming contest in which the contestants were: Messrs. J. R. Battisby, J. S. Wallace, J. D. Cumming, Geo. Whitelaw, J. A. Anderson and J. H. Wallace. The judges were Miss Jessie Neil and Mrs. Wilson McDonald. The men were supplied with a few plain hat shapes and stray bits of trimming material and about ten minutes to do their stuff. Mr. Cumming asked the chairman if he would make a Gainsborough model or a whoopee hat but Dr. Mark referred him to the judges who just said "Do the best you can", so Mr. Cumming said it would be a Gainsborough. After some real snappy models were turned out each gentleman put on his masterpiece and Miss Neill awarded first prize to Mr. J. A. Anderson and second to Mr. J. R. Battisby. The audience certainly appreciated this part of the entertainment.

At the conclusion of the program a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the artists and the Ladies Aid on motion of Chas. McKelvie and J. D. Cumming. After singing the National Anthem refreshments were served by the "I to Q" group. The next tea will be held on March 25th and will take in the remainder of the alphabet, namely "R to Z".

ST. ANDREW'S Y.P.S. AT CAMPBELLFORD

Vice-President Mrs. H. T. Scott Has Charge of Entertaining Program.

Vice-president Mrs. H. T. Scott was in charge of the regular meeting of St. Andrew's young people on Monday evening last. Hymn 374 was sung in opening and the society repeated together the Lord's prayer. The Bible was read from Isa'ah 55. Hymn 373 was sung and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed and the roll call responded to. After a brief business period a piano solo "Fairy Wedding" was contributed by Master Wallace Rutherford, a talented pupil of W. A. Newcourt, organist of the church. Wallace has delighted the society with his musical numbers.

The topic for the evening "Home Missions —New Ontario" was given by Miss Leah Blue. The topic clearly depicted conditions in the northern part of our province. The speaker remarked: "Under the W.M.S. there is established in the North a School Home at New Liskeard where boys and girls who have not at home the educational advantages they require are able to pursue their school work under capable oversight amid a wholesome Christian environment. At South Porcupine is the Presbyterian hospital, opened in February, 1926, which has the moral and material support of Tisdale municipality within whose bounds it serves not only the immediate mining districts but the remoter mining camps. This is again the day of small things, the time of beginning again for our church in the new north. Much brighter is the prospect to-day than that which faced those who fifty years ago faithfully laid the foundations. If we to-day, young and old, share the heroic spirit of these consecrated pioneers, New Ontario will remain and increasingly become, not a barrier between East and West, but the link uniting our church East and West in devoted service to Him who has so richly blessed the new north in material gifts."

The meeting was brought to a close with hymn 866 and the Mizpah benediction. The society will not meet on Monday next owing to rehearsal for "Tompk'n's Hired Man" to be staged on the 4th proximo. The next meeting will be on March 10th and will be directed by the social convenors, Misses Geraldine McMullen and Dorothy Reynolds.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright
Where nothing stains the pleasure a weet,
Or dims the radiant light
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind,
But each shall seek the common weal
The good of all mankind

WARSAW

A new baby book issued by the Department of Health, Toronto, and which may be had by application is in the hands of presidents and secretaries of Institutes. The Department seems to consider, and rightly so, that the best way to have these successors to the little blue book in rural districts, is through the Institutes, as that organization aims to put them in the mother's hands, whether they are Institute members or not. The new book is more elaborately gotten up than any of the previous ones. The Department also realizes more and more that the physical, mental and moral health of the adult and thus of the nation, depends on the physical care, in every way, also on moral and mental training from birth. Consequently no phase of home life seems to receive more attention.

There is first careful list of directions for the expectant mother, who in normal cases, can carry on her regular household duties, provided they are not too strenuous. The family doctor should be informed, and most doctors include the pre-natal care with the confinement, as if they can give that there is usually less danger later. They prefer to know conditions. Food, clothing, exercise are all described.

Materials and articles to have in readiness for the little stranger are fully described. Naturally, as time advances there are a few changes in methods. After care is fully described for mother and child.

The reasons why a baby's birth should be promptly and properly registered are given. They are that his birth certificate may be needed to prove himself a British subject, to demand his right to attend school until sixteen years of age; to prove himself his parent's son (or daughter) should he inherit; as evidence that he is old enough to go to work; to establish his age, insurance companies and other organizations demand proof of age; to prove his right to hold public office. It is the doctor's duty to send notice of birth to the division registrar, but the parents to make the registration. Failure to do so, has sometimes caused immense trouble, anxiety and expense.

The normal child development until six years of age is carefully described. However, while there is an average scale of development, if a child is healthy there is no cause for alarm, as some develop more slowly and others more rapidly than the average. There is a blank page to enter baby's weight.

The use of sun baths, especially to prevent rickets is strongly urged.

Feeding directions, where bottle feeding is necessary are very carefully given, as well as direction for weaning and later feeding of the children.

Many a poor baby suffers from lack of a drink of plain cooled boiled water. "Comforts" and baby walkers are denounced.

Feeding alone takes thirteen pages, and for the run-about child another nine. Though this looks like a lot, the directions are simple and there is very little that an ordinary mother may not easily do.

Methods of avoiding bad habits, such as sucking the thumb, disobedience, dishonesty, temper, nervousness and fear are given. Fear is always created in the child from outside. It is the direct result of faulty training.

Parents are urged to guide the child, not to attempt to drive him, to give him a chance to think, to always keep faith with their children, to present logical reasons for conduct, to avoid making promises or threats which they cannot, or do not intend to carry out, and to so conduct themselves that their example may be a benign force in the life of their child.

The common ailments of children, and their signs and prevention are described.

Immunization for small-pox and diphtheria stressed. Both these diseases may almost absolutely be prevented by the administration of the proper serums which the doctor can secure and administer.

A certain measure of protection may be obtained from whooping cough, and from scarlet fever.

MILLBROOK.

"Just what does instruction in Household Science embrace? "Is the query in a recent statement of the provincial secretary for Women's Institutes: "We are afraid that many women have a wrong impression as to what is included in Nutrition. It does not mean new recipes for varying kinds of cakes, buns, salads, etc., or instruction in how to cook this or that; but rather a judicious selection of food, the proper preparation of same, and then its utilization to the best advantage."

"In making plans for instruction in Household Science Judging this season," continues Mr. Putnam, "we are inviting the women, as well as the girls, to take advantage of the lessons; and in asking the women to be present we have two objects in view—to give them the benefit of the really worthwhile instruction that will be provided in foods, housing, and clothing; and to let them know just what this instruction may mean to the girls of the rural districts. We are sure if the mothers knew the advantages accrueing from this information, properly presented, they would put forth a special effort to have their daughters enrolled."

As school lunches are a necessity in rural Ontario, and an important factor in rearing healthy, and strong boys and girls, one Institute branch, after the short course in household science had been a factor in its community, featured a special study of properly prepared and balanced school lunches at one of its regular meetings, the senior girls demonstrating, and the mothers gladly 'taking a lesson'—a practical outcome of the instruction gained.

"Give the old folk of your attention frequently", writes a mother who has seen her family all raised and gone out in the world for themselves. "Of all times when we need social attention, an invitation out to a tea, or a social gathering of larger magnitude; a little party with company whom we may enjoy; a drive out to a meeting held in the country; it is after our own personal friends have begun to drop off, our families are married, or making their own way in the world, leaving the home nest empty, and we are left more and more lonely, feeding on memories of the past, and appreciating more than we can tell pleasures brought unexpectedly into the present."

The suggestion to have a 'current events' period at each Institute meeting is gaining favor, as the scheme is more frequently tried out. Many a woman says 'I cannot seem to find time for reading; I am so busy always.' But if her horizon is to be bounded by the four walls of her home, what chance has she to broaden her outlook, or refresh her weary, jaded spirit, and at the same time make herself more interesting and likeable? A member who will be responsible for presenting some items of world news once a month, who is really a good talker, and a good reader, may do service of untold value by taking a period for telling, in a interesting and entertaining manner, the events of outstanding interest and entertaining manner, the events of outstanding interest in world affairs at the Institute gathering.

Some of the senior girls would probably take turns for this important service, if asked, and the older members who do take time to read, will also assist, if the matter is 'put right up to them', and everyone will be charmed, and delighted, with the instruction gained, which they will digest afterward at their leisure.

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:

This is an open letter to Nyrna. Dear Nyrna: Did you ever notice that some people with a little learning like to impress people with a lot of big words and quotations, etc? Well to me you are one of these persons. I would judge you to be a school teacher not long out of the class room. They say a little learning is a dangerous thing and I think it is so in your case. One thing was apparently omitted in your cirriculum, and that was courtesy. You accuse Anne of being a flat tire, well all I can say is, there is no flatter tire on earth than one who tries to impress others with their own superiority. If being decent is being old-fashioned then I hope most of us deserve the title. Anne Wilcox has to write for all types and all classes. Just because you don't care for some of her articles is no reason for such a letter. I have travelled in various parts of the world and attended some of these parties of which you write and also saw the aftermath of some of them. Wait until you have two or three children and you are unable to attend these parties and your husband goes alone and stumbles home about 2 a.m. and see if your Freudian teaching helps you any. You talk of dear old Marion who knew. Knew what? I also knew Marion and always found her to uphold decency, honesty and courtesy. You talk of Anne moving in her little sphere and not giving a thrill to anyone. How much of a thrill are you contributing in your supposedly larger sphere? None at all. I do not think you would last a week in the position which Anne occupies.

Your account of the party you attended last week did not impress me one bit, as I do not think it reflected credit on any of you and shall I whisper it, I am not a flat tire. One can have just as pleasant an evening without one or two or three drinks a cigarette smoke. Are you sure you did not write that letter the day after the party and it was a hangover which gave you a jaundiced view of life and not the Freudian teaching? Oh, I know I'm hitting hard, but you started it, and when I'm defending Anne I'm defending all of us who think like her.

You assume that because you like a certain style of living all the rest of us are out of date because we don't like it too. Get it into your head that the emancipation of women means more than aping the men in drinking and cigarette smoking. A quotation I heard the other day when a man proposed a toast to the ladies at a banquet in the Royal York, he said, "The ladies, God bless them, once our superiors but now our equals." You say read this, read that, read the other. I say don't be a copy-cat. Use the brains God gave you. 'She that has eyes to see, let her see.' You think you are emancipated but what are you doing, but go with your crowd: If long skirts become universal you will be wearing them too. You seem to have accumulated a lot of undigested learning and it has given you mental dyspepia. Oh, what's the use? If you want any more come back for it. From

NEWEST FASHIONS REMINISCENT OF OTHER DAYS

A GIRLISH TOUCH FOR THE BOYISH SUIT

NEW YORK, Mar. 1. (UP)—Neckwear for spring is the very expression of freshness and youth—another way of saying that it is flattering. Women are taking advantage of the new collar and cuff sets to freshen their winter costumes, and seem greatly inclined to go wholeheartedly in for detachable collar and cuff sets as well as for ordinary lingerie gilets.

The dominance of color, particularly the pastels, in spring collections, has influenced spring neckwear of pique or double georgette and for frilly types of collar sets which are entirely of chiffon or combine chiffon with real lace.

The greatest variety of colors is seen in pique silk tie sets, jabot and cuff sets, or sleeveless blouses. Flesh pink, light yellow, baby blue and peach are endorsed for this type of neckwear, which is usually suggested for lightweight woolen or semi-tailored silk crepe frocks in darker or contrasting colors.

Flesh pink and light yellow are outstanding in the georgette and chiffon groups, and it is generally considered that pink has the greatest promotional possibilities, not only because it is a color strongly endorsed for spring costumes, but also because it blends with many other colors and is becoming to many types of complexions. The light yellow chiffon is combined with deep ecru Alencon lace in dressy collars with shoulder capes or jabots.

The volume which is expected in neckwear departments this season can surely be increased by the exploitation of a youthful, and usually very flattering, fashion which not only lends a cool note to spring and summer frocks, but also are suggested for those who wish to freshen winter costumes worn late into the spring season.—(Copyright).

When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

COUPLE HONORS ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. C. Hannah, of Oshawa, Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary.

MUSICAL PROGRAM.

OSHAWA, Mar. 1—Friday evening, February 21, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. C. Hannah, of 320 Glidden avenue, were "At Home" to fifty-five of their friends it being the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of cut flowers—carnations and roses. Mrs. Hannah was charmingly gowned in black satin relieved with a touch of deep rose. Miss Madge Hannah, daughter of the home, was becomingly gowned in apple green who very capably assisted her mother in receiving the guests. The evening passed all too quickly in playing cards and dancing. There were several novelty dances as well as solo dances. Miss Madge Hannah very daintily demonstrated the Turkish slave dance, after a hearty applause she responded with a Spanish dance. Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, a brother of Mrs. Hannah, then entertained with a very intricate specialty dance. The solos by Mr. C. S. Sharrard and duet by Messrs. Sharrard and Edgerton were greatly enjoyed. Many beautiful and costly gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Hannah, showing the high esteem in which they are held by their many friends. During the evening they were presented with a basket of American Beauty roses by a number of their very intimate friends who wished to show them a special appreciation. Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Fitzgerald, Mrs. P. A. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Sisson and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wilson, Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hannah, Mr. and Mrs. Parker, Miss Wilhelm, Mrs. C. Hodge, and R. Nicholson, Whitby; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hannah, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. TORONTO Mother's Plan is succeeding . . .

WHEN your child is headachy, bilious, feverish, half-sick, with no appetite or energy, nine times out of ten, just one thing is to blame; constipation!

Cleanse the little digestive tract with California Fig Syrup and see how breath is sweetened; coated tongue cleared; eyes brightened. More than two doses are seldom necessary to drive away all signs of a clogged system; make a child happy.

There isn't a child who doesn't love its rich, fruity flavor. Improved appetite, digestion and assimilation follow its use. A child's entire system is toned and strengthened.

Mrs. Charles Kelly, 91 Carlane Ave, Toronto, Ontario, says: "Since I found out how good California Fig Syrup is, I have kept some in the house. It never fails to help my children. I give it at the first sign of upsets or colds. Their wonderful condition proves this a good plan." Caution: The genuine always bears the name California.

Miss Frances Clark entertained a number of her girl friends yesterday at her home on Monaghan road on the occasion of her birthday anniversary. The evening was pleasantly spent in the enjoyment of a program of music, games, novelty dances and contests. The table was very attractively arranged with yellow and pink streamers that crossed diagonally under a centerpiece in a silver-mounted mirror plaque. There were tiny baskets filled with yellow flowers, their handles tied with pale pink bows on which perched little yellow birds, yellow candles in silver holders and small pink candy baskets. The guests present were the Misses Lillian McClellan, Patricia McClellan, Tuna Hart, Muriel Donaldon, Margaret Pitchford, Mary Cathcart, Iva Northey, Jean Black, Alice Davern, Ethel Cooney, Jane Harvey, Virginia Grant, Shirley Grant, Mabel Clarke, also Mrs. Thomas Jobe, aunt of the small hostess.

The school colors of green and gold were prominent last night as a decorative note in the arrangements for the annual Normal School "At Home." A green and gold valance fringed the main inner entrance and there were green and gold streamers wound in and out of the ascending stair rails to the upper floors. After the reception of the students and guests of the evening by the principal, Dr. J. A. Bannister, Miss E. MacVannel, Miss Dorothy Dayman, president of the Normal School Literary Society, and Mr. Elmer Galvin, representing the vice president, the annual play, this year entitled "The Man Who Married the Dumb Wife," was presented in the auditorium. Details of the play are outlined in another column. Then refreshments were served and a promenade enjoyed, to music furnished by Messrs. Harry and Stanley Northrup and Mr. Jack Thackeray, playing piano, violin and 'cello. The color scheme of the tables was carried out in green and gold in a very attractive and effective arrangement. The long central table was draped with a white cloth and arranged with little, frilly-edged mats of green and gold. There were green and gold candles in glass candlesticks and a large glass bowl in the center was filled with double golden tulips. A long side table was centered by a bowl of yellow daffodils and there were green candles in silver holders. Catering was done by Messrs. Hooper and Sons. The one hundred and eighteen pupils of the School brought their friends with them and a number of people were invited for the occasion, including the staff teachers and their friends, the critic teachers in the schools of the city, with their friends, and several others, among whom were noticed Inspector R. F. Downey and Mrs. Downey, Inspector R. Lees, Inspector A. Mowat, Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Park, Monsieur and Madam Goulet, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Parlour, Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mrs. S. F. M. Touchburn, Mrs. W. There were soft pink candles in green glass candlesticks and a tea service of pink-rimmed china. Mrs. H. E. Connelly, convenor of the Social Committee, was assisted by Mrs. N. C. Just Between Us Women

A NUMBER OF THE NEIGHBORS have mentioned in their letters the fact that spring housecleaning will soon be necessary.

• • • • • • •

Like it or not, soon the housewife will be selecting paint brushes, paper and paint and will commence in earnest! I don't think there is really and truly any housewife who doesn't delight in having her home looking spick and span all the time, but after the winter season we like to refresh our rooms with something new in the way of paper, paint and maybe hangings.

• • • • • • •

There are a great many things which can be looked after before commencing the real task of cleaning—that is if papering and painting have to be done.

• • • • • • •

The drawers of the dressers, chiffoniers and dressing table can be all sorted—for no matter how tidy they are kept, there are some which can be destroyed and others which are, if past wearing, ready for the scrap bag.

• • • • • • •

There is such a lovely assortment of coverings, curtains, etc., that one wishes all the windows could be re-curtained!

• • • • • • •

I wonder if we realize what a comparatively recent luxury our most ordinary glass windows are? In the light of the centuries, even the most casual housewife seems to have a certain deference towards their decorative treatment.

• • • • • • •

Why should our windows be more considered than doors?

• • • • • • •

Yet they are. There must be a latent realization that the glass through which we look with no special thought of pride, was a matter of great pride to our forefathers of several generations back.

• • • • • • •

In some countries persons were taxed according to the number of panes of glass in their windows. And today many English homes of a past decade have windows boarded up with the glass permanently removed because of the taxable qualities of such a supposed luxury.

• • • • • • •

Those who place an unnecessarily heavy glass curtain across the surface of their windows, except to hide an ugly view would have been thought strange indeed by the ones to whom much of the glamour of glass was the fact that it was transparent. If what lies beyond the window is beautiful, the object should be to veil, without obscuring it. The light of a room should be softened but not dimmed by curtaining.

• • • • • • •

How to hang sheer curtains so that they will fall in graceful and uniform folds is a problem well solved by the French.

• • • • • • •

A banding of lace is suspended by loops to a rod, and sewed to the lower edge of the lace, in carefully regulated gathers of pleates, is the curtain and if it is of lace or other soft material, it will fall gracefully and its full length.

• • • • • • •

Its folds are not subject to the occasional laundering nor the shifting of the curtain rod. Outside of the somewhat laborious lambrequin there is no manner of suspending glass curtains which is as sure as this. It has this advantage—it does not involve the expenditure necessary to the fashionable lambrequin and it can be accomplished by any woman who can use a needle.

Manitoba Wins Dominion Curling Championship

WINNIPEG RINK BEATS ALBERTA TO COP TROPHY

Tie is Created When Edmonton Curlers Lose Morning Game at Quebec.

FOR MACDONALD CUP.

Manitoba Players Outcurl Opponents to Win Deciding Game 12-7.

TORONTO, March 1 (Canadian Press). — For the third time in as many seasons the Canadian curling championship, as represented by the Macdonald Brier Tankard event, was won by Manitoba. The Winnipeg Granite rink, skipped by Howard Wood, captured the Tankard at the Granite Club yesterday afternoon in a play-off game with Bobby Munro's Edmonton rink from Alberta, the final score being 12 to 7.

After leading the various rinks in the previous eight rounds, the Alberta curlers faltered yesterday morning when they had the championship almost in their grasp. They were beaten by J. M. Darby's Quebec rink, in the final game of the draw, and thus Manitoba was able to tie them for the top position, the Winnipeg curlers winning their morning game with Nova Scotia 16 to 7. The Albertans cracked in the morning game and were outcurled by the Darby rink after the sixth end, when the score was tied. It was one of the big upsets of the week and a fitting climax to the best showing made by any Quebec rink in the bonspiel to date. The Alberta and Manitoba rinks finished the final draw with seven victories and two defeats each.

The play-off game was witnessed by a large crowd that lined both sides of the ice and packed the seat section behind the windows. Manitoba scored three shots on the opening end and never relinquished the lead, although Alberta threatened on two or three occasions. On the completion of the sixth end, Manitoba's lead was increased to five shots, but Alberta scored a three on the seventh to cut this margin to two. But from then on it was Manitoba's game. Skip Bobby Munro did not display the curling skill he showed in some of the previous games. On two or three occasions he had chances to cut his opponents out of shots, but failed to do so. On the tenth end he ut two stones through the house in an attempt to get another shot.

PARIS LOSES TO WALKERTON

Northern Town Sextet Gains Lead of Three Goals in Intermediate Finals.

SENSATIONAL HOCKEY.

TORONTO, March 1. — Walkerton earned a three-goal lead over Paris in the first game of the O.H.A. intermediate championship finals played at the Arena Gardens last night. The score was 6 to 3, and on the play the winners deserved the margin. The second game will be played in Galt on Monday night, according to present arrangements.

A crowd of over three thousand fans in whch both teams were well represented by supporters, viewed the game which was exciting although lacking in many respects the clever hockey displayed by the intermediates teams in two previous clashes. The Paris team came out of two strenuous overtime sessions against Jordan this week and the players showed the effects last night. Walkerton was the fresher of the two and showed the most speed. The Paris players tried hard but did not have the cleverness nor the stamina of their opponents. However they should have cut Walkerton's lead in the final period. Von Zuben, who played the entire game without relief, and showed it plainly in the final frame, came to life at one stage and scored Paris's third goal. Walker and McHutchin were in the penalty box at the time. Half a minute later Von Zuben and Kempthorne caught the Walkerton defense with only Trunshinski protecting Oberle in the net. All Von Zuben had to do was to pass the puck to Kepthorne, who could have gone in and picked his own opening, but the former elected to be selfish and do it all himself, and he bungled the best scoring opportunity that Paris had all evening.

ANOTHER SHUTOUT FOR WEST TORONTO

Queen City Team Defeats Kingston 6-0, Winning Round by 15-0 Count.

TORONTO, March 1 (C.P.)—West Toronto advanced into the semi-final of the Junior series by defeating Kingston in the Eastern Ontario city six to nothing. West Toronto won the round 15 to 0, and will now meet University of Toronto on March 3 and 5. The winner of this series will then clash with Niagara Falls in the final.

Tonight the Senior "A" championship will be decided between University of Toronto and Toronto Nationals. Varsity won the first game, three to two. In the Senior "B" series Hamilton Tigers go to Kingston to meet Queen's University in the first of their two game series. Tigers eliminated Port Colborne and Woodstock to get this far in the playdowns, while Queen's scored an impressive victory over Oshawa.

Cobalt Juniors provided an upset in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association playdowns by defeating the speedy Iroquois Falls team, nine to two. The Falls Eskimos won the first contest, six to one, and were favored to enter the final against Saulte Ste Marie. Cobalt won the round, 10 to 8.

South Porcupine won the N.O.H.A. Intermediate championship by holding Sudbury to a four-all tie. The Porcupines won the first game, nine to three, and therefore won the round 13 to 7. The request of the new champions to proceed into the playdowns against the Ontario representatives has been declined as they played in the Senior series in addition to the Intermediate. The Senior championship was won by Iroquois Falls and they will represent the North in the Senior playdowns, starting in Toronto against either Walkerton or Paris on March 6 and 8.

EDDIE RODDEN LEADS LONDON FOR 3-2 WIN

Bulldogs Unable to Defend Two Goal Lead Scored in Opening Play.

BRYDSON ALSO COUNTS.

Falls Meets Indians While Millionaires Tangle With Bisons To-night.

TORONTO, March 1. (C.P.) — Three goals engineered by Eddie Rodden, star centre, in the last twenty minutes, gave the London Panthers a three to two victory over Windsor Bulldogs, in the only international hockey league game last night.

Windsor, playing on successive nights, duplicated their performance at Buffalo when they secured a two-goal lead and failed to defend it. In last night's contest they outplayed London for two periods and goals by Mike Neville in the first and Hap Emms in the second period enabled them to start the final frame with a comfortable two to none margin.

Less than a minute after the last session had started Rodden swept around the Bulldog defence for his team's first goal. A minute and a half later he gave Gordon Brydson a fine opening and the latter made no mistake with a hard drive to tie the count. Rodden then placed the puck in position for Johnny Sorrell to put the Panthers in front where they stayed despite the Bulldogs' determined four-man attack in the last ten minutes.

To-night's schedule brings the two weakest teams against the two leading teams. Niagara Falls journey to Cleveland, where they meet the league leading Indians, and the cellar occupants ,the Toronto Millionaires, clash with the second place Bufffalo Bisons. The latter are tied with London and will make a determined bid to break the deadlock.

Guelph Lengthens Canpro Loop Lead

GUELPH, March 1. (C.P.) — Alfie Skinner's Guelph Maple Leafs defeated Galt Terriers here last night by an 6 to 4 score, and by so doing lengthened their lead ove rthe second place squad to a full five games.

TRICOLOR SWAMPS WESTERN PLAYERS

Ike Sutton Stars For Queen's in 40-16 in Intercollegiate Basketball Victory.

LONDON, March 1.—(C.P.)— The western senior basketball team went down under a landslide count of 40-16 before the unbeaten Queen's University team in an Intercollegiate game at the Technical school last night.

It cannot be said that the Mustangs showed up in a blaze of glory in their last appearance of the season. Ike Sutton, left forward for Queen's, was particularly successful in making the locals look bad, scoring more than half of the Queen's total. On one occasion while both teams were crowded at the opposite end of the court he stood under the western net and dropped through a long pass without any trouble at all.

Sutton was not the only sensation for the visitors. Nearly half their shots were played from behind the defence line. It must be said that the local defence men put up the best game possible under the circumstances and most of the Queen's shots were away off their sniping but apart from that their play was fairly good considering the opposition. In fact, the whole team combined well.

Of course the visitors were leading all the way and at the halfway mark the score stood at 27 to 5. Play in the last frame was far from more evenly divided, the Kingston boys collecting just 13 points to westerner's 11.

ROOTERS "YELL" SILENTLY IN DEAF MUTE FLOOR TILT

MILWAUKEE, (U.P.)— Conversation was not missed in a basketball game here when the Chicago Wishbones defeated the Milwaukee Silent Club, 26 to 24. It was one game where players played in earnest, undetracted by noise.

Both teams, composed of deaf mutes, gave the referee more trouble by their inability to understand conventional refereeing, than by improper playing. The whiteclothed individual, Lawrence McKeehan, had more of a workout than the other ten men on the floor. In desperation, he gesticulated wildly, like Buffalo Bill mowing down oxen on the prairie. His lungs were overworked and he mopped his brow in the manner of a battleship stoker.

When the score was close, the spectators, also deaf and mute, burst forth in long, drawn-out, "ohs" and "ahs", but there was more cheering in the sign language.

That sign language caused the referee much trouble. When he first arrived, he was unable to make players or spectators understand that he wanted a dressing-room in which to change to his referee togs. Finally he thought of expressing his wish in writing and the situation was improved after he had, "worked" several minutes in civilian attire. He admitted later that there was one advantage in his ignorance of the "mute language"—at least they could not get his goat by calling him names.

At the end of periods and when time was called out, the players revamped their signals in sign language. If the other team had not been so busy getting its own, the first team would have been unlucky in the following period.

The audience got the signals of team, but politely refrained from expressing their feelings.

THIS MAN'S A REAL ANIMAL

FORT WORTH, (U.P.) — Texas Christian University has an assistant football coach who is a real animal. Development of the T.C.U. line

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, outside of what hockey fodder the City League will dish out, the local season has come and gone. By and large, it ain't been nothing to write home about, although it killed a lot of winter evenings, and for that we oughta be grateful. The Petes and the St. John's jrs. both crumpled up before 2 Kingston outfits, who went right out and took it on the chin themselves in the next round, which ain't exactly a boost, what I mean, for the local outfits. It woulda looked a lot better if them Kingston crews hadda gone battling through somewheres up near the top.

However, the week ain't been without its bright spot from a sporting standpoint, owing to Jack Amys and his youthful curlers what went up to Toronto and copped the Ont. jr. tankard. The boys done the same thing last year, and I for 1 hope it will get to be a habit with the lads. The old boys has been shooting at the senior tankard ever since the curling game started here, and they ain't had the satisfaction of hitting the target yet. But apparently the kids has got a better sense of direction, and mebbe they'll go out in a few years and surprise all and sundry by trotting home with the premier honors.

The Maple Leaves is outa the N.H.L. running, Mac. They is many clues for Mister Connie Smythe's boys not making a better showing, but a local hockey sharp has about hit the nail on the head when he said the Leaves need 1 outstanding playmaker to turn them into a real threat. Put a Morenz or a Stewart on the forward line or a Clancy or a Shore on the defence, according to this bird, and the Toronto boys would just romp into the playoffs. The trouble is finding Morenzes or Clancys just when you need 'em. They is a lot of good boys in the sticks, but you can't always count on them turning out to be real meteors when you turn them loose under the bright lights.

Anyway I'm going to get my guess in 1st and pick the Boston Bruins to cop the silverware. The Maroons may put up a battle, but it looks like the bean-eaters for the gravy when the final returns are in.

This being writ Thurs., I ain't got nothing on the Scott-Sharkey fight, and personally I ain't worrying nothing about it, except to say that if the Britisher happened to slip in a K.O. some of them scribes across the border would have a tough lot of explaining to do.

Well, that's their tough luck.

Don't take off your heavies yet, Mac.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

CHRYSLER MOTORS PRODUCT

QUALITY—DISTINCTION—LOW PRICE

Inspection of all motor cars exhibited at the Automobile Show proves conclusively that the new Chrysler-built De Soto Straight Eight represents the greatest increase in the purchasing power of the motor car dollar that has been offered by anyone up to this time.

Until its unbelievably low price is contrasted with what the new De Soto Straight Eight actually is—and what it accomplishes—there is no way of appreciating the full value of this phenomenal achievement.

The new De Soto Straight Eight is destined to prove as outstanding a triumph in its field as did its predecessor and companion car—the world-famous De Soto Six—which with a 12-months' total of 81,065 cars, established a record as being the largest-selling first-year motor car ever produced.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS BATTLE TO TIE IN LEAGUE FINALS

King George and Prince of Wales Clash in First Game of Finals.

SCORE IS 2 TO 2.

Boys Play a Brand of Good Hockey With Many Thrills.

The cream of the Public School Hockey League strutted their stuff this morning at the Brock Street arena when King George and Prince of Wales clashed in the first game of the league finals.

Urged on by the ringing shouts of the youthful supporting cohorts the teams battled to a 2-2 tie. This means that the championship will rest on the result of the second and final game to be played at the Brock on Monday or Tuesday afternoon between the hours of 5 and 6.

A winging shot from the right boards in the last minute of play by Horace Fisher found the twine behind Goalie Hunter and turned an impending 2-1 defeat for Prince of Wales into the 2-2 tie.

King George led for most of the way. Stewart Williamson while not the outstanding star of the East City team was by long odds the most effective. Both goals found the net for his stick. Early in the first period he stickhandled his way in on Goalie Clarke for the first counter, and again in the early stages of the third stanza he returned to plug the twine.

Tied in Second

The one-goal lead set up by King George lasted until midway through the second period when "Bunny" Kingdon came through successfully with one of the prettiest efforts of the setto. This pint-sized centre player of the Wales' squad made no mistakes. He went in alone, split the defence, drew the goalie to the side and then urged the rubber in.

The 1-1 score stood until the last period when Stew Williamson put the King George team up one. Following this Prince of Wales sent everything they had into the attack, but the East City lads drew up a three-man defence and started the Old Army game of heaving the rubber down the ice.

Go Up One

Then, when victory seemed secure on the King George standard, Horace Fisher became the man of the hour. He seized a loose puck near his own blue line, set sail at full steam and while still outside defence he whipped up a knee high shot that found the inside corner. The final bell clanged immediately after.

The players set at rest any doubts concerning Peterborough's future hockey hopes. These youngsters played an aggressive, speedy brand and they maintained their positions and worked as a team better than lots of teams that grace the O.H.A. circles. If anything, King George worked better as sextet, fewer of their passes going astray.

Picking stars on either outfit would be difficult. The King George forward line seemed to have the edge on their opponents fronting trio, but Prince of Wales' defence made up for this by a slight edge over King George on defence.

It was a sparkling game and sent away both rooting camps delighted and determined to see the championship fixture early next week.

The Teams:—

King George—Goal, George Hunter; defence, Floyd Thornley and Ross Epps; centre, Clarence Lipsett; wings, John Hill and Stewart Williamson; subs, Ralph Holland, Don Loescher and Harry Hoy.

Prince of Wales—Goal, Gordon Clarke; defence, Bob Weir and Ben Wilson; centre, Harry Kingdon, Ross Robertson and Horace Fisher; subs., Sidney Ferguson and Harry Doughty.

Referee—D. Crawford.

Summary

First Period

1. King George—Stewart Williamson, 5 mins.

Second Period

2. Prince of Wales—Harry Kingdon, 12 mins.

Third Period

3. King George—Stewart Williamson, 8 mins.
4. Prince of Wales—Horace Fisher, 14½ mins.

ASSOCIATION TEAM BEATS DAIRY SQUAD

Play-off Schedule Opens to Decide Senior and Junior Basketball Champions.

By a 15—2 score, the "Y" Seniors defeated the De Laval entry in the Peterborough Ladies' Basketball League in the open game of the play-off schedule to decide Senior and Junior honors of the league.

Viola Harvey and Isobel Davidson, on the Senior firing line, were responsible for most of the winners' baskets, nicking them in steady procession with some nice floor work, and accurate shooting. E. Forster got the redeeming basket of the Dairymaids.

At half time the count was 8—2. Working at the same pace in the last half as the first, the Seniors increased their lead to 15 while their opposition failed to ring anything before the final bell. The teams:

"Y" Seniors—Forward, V. Harvey, J. Davidson; centre, I. Chambers; defense, H. Jackson, J. Allin, M. Holmes.

DeLaval.—Forwards, E. Forster, M. Irons; centre, D. Irons; defense, K. Buckley, M. Archambault.

Wohelos Win Out

The second contest on the bill, a clash between the Wohelos and the "Y" Intermediates, was closer. At half time the count was 4—1, with the Wohelos only a jump in the lead and at full time the Wohelos still had their lead but it was cut to two points. Final score 9—7.

For the winners, the Bradley sisters worked hard. Myrtle Burns and Ava Beatty hooked several of the losers' tallies. The teams:

Wohelos—Forwards, L. Slaughter, E. Bradley; centre, H. Bradley; defense, M. Leahy, M. Simpson, T. Schiarizza.

"Y" Intermediates—Forwards, M. M. Burns, E. Beatty; centre, V. Davidson; defense, M. Lang, R. Clarke, E. Lynch, G. Packenham.

The Westclox entry took a fall out of the St. Paul's aggregation in another of the play-offs of the evening by the score of 5—1. The half time tally was 2—0.

Florence Fever and L. Kingdon were the outstanding basketeers of the night as far as scoring went.

The teams:

Westclox.—Forwards, F. Fever, L. Kingdon; centre, B. Scott; defense, C. Mason, D. Webb, G. Keown.

St. Paul's—Forwards, C. Patterson, M. Cowan, centre, A. Comstock; defense, E. Morrow, H. Hall, E. Morrow, S. Jackson.

Will Settle McGill Problem Sunday Night

TORONTO, March 1. (C.P.) — The result of a telegraphic vote was taken by W. A. Fry, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association over the question of McGill's eligibility to compete in the Allan Cup playdowns, will be announced on Sunday night. According to the C.A.H.A. code only teams who have won the championship of a group comprising at least three teams, can compete. McGill and University of Toronto were the only teams in the intercollegiate union of which McGill are champions.

McLarnin and Mandel Box At Chicago To-night

CHICAGO, March 1.— Jimmy McLarnin, the baby-faced welterweight puncher, and Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, will resume their pugilistic feud at the Chicago Stadium tonight, with McLarnin a favorite.

They will meet in a ten-round bout at 145 pounds, with the prospect that the match will be witnessed by 15,000 spectators and producing a gate of around $60,000. These rivals have met twice. In their first championship battle fought in New York eighteen months ago, Mandell scored a decisive victory. McLarnin, however, got even by handing the Rockford sheik a neat pasting in the last encounter at the Stadium last fall.

Since that contest McLarnin has made only one start, in which he registered a sensational knockout victory over Ruby Goldstein in New York.

SCHMELING MEETS SHARKEY IN JUNE

Opinions Differ Regarding Winner's Punches in Fistic Fiasco.

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor.)

MIAMI, Fla., March 1. — Jack Sharkey, no matter how much his technical knockout victory over Phil Scott may be disputed, will fight Max Schmeling, the clouting German, at the Yankee Stadium, probably on June 26, in a 15-round bout to decide the world's heavyweight championship.

Frank J. Bruen, general manager of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, in the midst of checking up the extent of the financial fiasco of last Thursday night's show, made this announcement to confirm previous plans and dispose of rumors that Sharkey, because of his poor showing against Scott, might be required to engage in another test bout, possibly against Tuffy Griffiths.

At the same time Bruen stated emphatically that Scott had fought his last fight in this country so far as the Garden Corporation is concerned. The British champion was accepted reluctantly for the match, because of his reputation for figuring in fouls, his lack of color and drawing power. Bruen considers that his showing Thursday night was "the last straw."

"We took it on the chin, financially, to put this show on," declared Bruen. "Regardless of the argument and disappointment aroused by the main event, I still think it was a good show. No matter what else happened, we disposed of Scott ,and the way now is clear to establish a recognized world's champion by early Summer."

Belleville Collegiate Defeats Albert College

BELLEVILLE, March 1. — Belleville Collegiate Institute won the local district hockey championship by disposing of Albert College here last night in a hard-fought game by the score of 4-0. This was the fourth of a series and the Collegiate proved superior throughout. They will now meet Port Hope in the next round for the Central Ontario honors. The locals set up a powerful defensive system which the College could not fathom . Graves played well for the Collegiate, although McDonald turned in an effective game, while he was given some good assistance by Hughes. Yuill of the Collegiate played his best game of the year with Thompson a close second. Hicks in goal turned aside many shots and those that beat him would have eluded any good goaler. The line-up:

Collegiate—McKinnon, goal; Hughes and Byrnes, defence; McDonald, centre; Mott and Graves, wings; St. Denis and Champaign, subs.

Albert College — Hicks, goal; Yuill and Jackson, defence; Boyes, centre; Thompson and Taylor, wings; Davidson and Edwards, subs.

Referee—Frechette.

Fenelon Falls Beats St. John's Squad 2-1

St. John's were defeated 2-1 in twenty minutes' overtime by Fenelon Falls in the final game last night of a three-day hockey tournament at Fenelon Falls. The teams were evenly matched and they hit along at a fast pace.

Bill Jackson refereed the final game in the tournament in which teams from Lindsay, Cameron, Fenelon, Red Rock, Omemee, Dunsford, Lakefield and Peterborough participated.

Needless Pain!

People are often too patient with pain. Suffering when there is no need to suffer. Shopping with a head that throbs. Working though they ache all over.

And Aspirin would bring them immediate relief!

The best time to take Aspirin is the very moment you first feel the pain. Why postpone relief until the pain has reached its height? Why hesitate to take anything so harmless?

Read the proven directions for checking colds, easing a sore throat; relieving headaches and the pains of neuralgia, neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

You can always count on its quick comfort. But if pain is of frequent recurrence see a doctor as to its cause.

310 "Apples" Land Seller in Prison

MT. VERNON, Ohio., March 1.—(U.P.)—Apple prices soared to unheard of heights when William Brown came to town and disposed of two crates for $310.

Now he is under sentence to serve three years in the penitentiary, but not because of profiteering. The 'rap' was handed out on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Arriving from Pittsburgh, Pa., Brown presented himself in the outer sanctum of B. B. Williams, president of the Cooper-Bessemer Corporation, a crate of apples under each arm. Nodding significantly at his two parcels, he informed Miss Ethel Jamison, Williams' secretary, it was 'real stuff for the boss.' The secretary handed over the $310 and carefully pushed the 'contraband' under a desk. Williams preferred the charges.

Children Cry for it

Children hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and harmless as the recipe reads. (The wrapper tells you just what Castoria contains.)

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, use it to keep the system from clogging. Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet until your child is grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a boy in his teens. With this special children's remedy handy, you need never risk giving a boy or girl medicine meant for grown-ups.

Castoria is sold in every drug store; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

NORMAL SCHOOL ANNUAL AT HOME IS BIG SUCCESS

The Play, "The Man Who Married the Dumb Wife," is Presented.

COMEDY ACTION.

"Nature has no scourge more fearsome than a rattle-tongued female" remarked one of the characters last night in the bright little farce comedy entitled "The Man Who Married the Dumb Wife" presented in the auditorium of the Normal School by a number of its pupils. It was a translation into English of one of the clever small plays of Anatole France, and its presentation was a great credit to the members of the cast and their director, Adrian Macdonald, who was assisted by Miss M. Rannie and Miss E. Munro. The play was presented by members of the Fourth Form, while the dances were by members of the Third Form. These, as well as the songs that formed gay interludes in the action of the piece, were the work of Miss Rannie, who also composed the music that went with them.

The evening's program for this annual entertainment by the Normal School students, to which their friends are invited, opened with the reception in a lower class-room by the principal, Dr. J. A. Bannister, and Miss E. MacVannel, also the president of the Normal School Literary Society, Miss Dorothy Dayman, and Elmer Galvin, who took the place of the vice president, one of the actors in the play.

Miss Dayman later introduced the piece to the audience, extending a welcome to the guests of the evening and expressing the appreciation of the students for the kindnesses shown them by the citizens in general.

Then came the play, a brief thing in the French manner that demonstrated an old theme handled in a style that takes a farcical situation and treats it very seriously. The actors were devoid of smiles, in most instances, and their reiterated recital of their grievances was done in a grave fashion that made them and their troubles very funny.

A Brown Setting

Those who used warm brown for the hangings of this stage must have had in mind the famous Beaumont's saying that "A picture, like a violin, should be brown." At any rate, the brown setting was most effective for the dramatic picture presented against it. There was one extremely effective bit that had a touch of genius about it, in the posed figure of the distraught husband atop the mantlepiece. He wore a startling and very unique outfit of red, complete with cassock, cape and long hose, all in the solid colour. Just before the entrance of the dancers, he arranged himself "en profile" like a living picture, but alas, the dancers were tall, and obscured the vision of the red figure against the brown background.

It is an intriguing little playlet, with its farcical situation, in the dignified judge who marries a young and charming wife with a large 'dot.' Her only handicap is the fact that she cannot speak. Her husband enlists the aid of a very conceited but clever surgeon, who brings a lot of frightening tools along with him; "for a patient should never be caught by his patients unarmed" and this gentleman, aided by a clerical-looking apothecary in long black soutane and fringes of grey hair beneath a bald pate, also a satellite who did nothing but sing the praises of his employer, performed an operation which cured the lady's inability to converse.

Then, as a tap is turned, her words began to flow, unceasingly. Her distracted husband, endeavoring to prepare a written decision all about a difficult case, was driven to desperation and the top of the mantlepiece by her verbosity. Nearly insane with the strain of the lady's conversation, which she maintains at an amazing pace, he sends for the operating trio. They can do nothing to restore the much-wanted silence, so a final expedient is resorted to. "There is no cure for your wife's verbal hypertrophies but to make you deaf" they tell him, and at first he refuses. But another dose of the wife's hot tongue sends him begging for the potion that shall destroy his ear-drums and the final curtain sees him listening with a smile to words he can only see issuing from her mouth. "It is delicious to hear nothing," he remarks.

Comedy Action

It was a well enacted and a most pleasing bit of fun-making. There were little lapses from the action that permitted of the descent from the sad to the merry, as in the episode where the visiting trio sample the judge's wine, and wax exceedingly jovial under its influence.

The entrance of wandering minstrels and the performance of old morris dances and lancers form incidental bits of gay music in the piece. A group of charming maidens in bright flowered gowns, white panteletes and spotless fichus do the steps and sing in pleasing style. One of the songs was especially catchy, "Pity the man with a talkative wife."

The parts were splendidly enacted, and honors going to the judge, Leonard Botal, a part taken by Stirling Nelson, and Katherine, his wife, whose exacting role was accorded fine treatment by Miss Vera Robertson. William Armstrong was Adam Fumie, a lawyer who visited the judge to interest him in the sad case of an orphan despoiled by her wicked guardian. This young lady, Mademoiselle de la Gerandier, was Miss Elda Overholt, while the famous surgeon, Monsieur Simon Colline was taken by Sheldon Calver. Kenneth Werry enacted the role of Jean Mangier, surgeon and barber, Leighton McGinnis was the clerical-appearing apothecary, Seraphin du Laurier, whose every utterance provoked an amused response from his audience, and Lloyd Argue was Giles Boiscourtier, secretary to Judge Botal. Leslie Hardy was a lackey and Miss Lillian Wyman a trim maid, Alsion.

The costuming was in keeping with the time depicted, that of the fourteenth century in France, with the men in doublets and hose and the ladies in long brocaded gowns with pointed headdresses with veils flowing from their peaks.

Two very decorative pages, in black and white costumes, pulled back the curtains. They were Miss Stillman and Miss Vera Rankin. The orchestra was in charge of A. P. Hagerman, while the dancers who added so much to the attraction of the play were the Misses Kathleen Crosson, Irene Bagshaw, Mabel Lloyd, Georgia Minaker, Helen Clarke, Doreen Johnson, Jessie Lamb, Margaret MacArthur, Helen Macdonald, Annie McGee, Merle Montgomery and Muriel Mutton.

At the conclusion of the play refreshments were served on one of the lower floors, while an upper floor classroom was the scene of the annual promenade, to music furnished by Harry and Stanley Northrup, playing piano and violin, and Jack Thackeray, playing the 'cello.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The regular February meeting of the Prince of Wales Home and School Association was held in the Kindergarten room last evening with a very large attendance of parents and friends of the pupils.

The President, Mrs. G. Davis, occupied the chair and opened the meeting by the singing of the National Anthem, followed by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. The report of the recording secretary, Mrs. G. A. Spicer, was read and approved.

A splendid program consisted of a piano solo by Mac Robertson; readings by Miss Gwen Parnell and Barry Jack. Vocal solos by Mrs. G. A. Spicer and Kenneth Gibson. A vocal trio by Gerald Rusaw, Harold Choate and Kenneth Gibson received hearty applause.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. T. Shields, who gave a very interesting talk on "Bees and the Making of Honey," and when the refreshments were served, kindly donated a new drink of cocoa and honey, which has not yet been put on the market, but Mr. Shields intends to do so in the near future. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. E. W. Fisher, convenor of the social committee and her assistants.

The banner for attendance of parents went to Mr. Mattice's room.

A hearty vote of thanks was given Mr. Shields for his address and treat, and to all taking part in the program.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET IS HELD

Rev. J. E. Graham Addresses Boys and Men at George Street Church.

NUMEROUS TOASTS.

The annual Father and Son Banquet of George Street United Church Sunday School was held last evening in the Sunday School auditorium with about two hundred and fifty fathers and sons present.

At six-thirty they sat down to a sumptuous meal prepared by the ladies of the congregation. The hall was beautifully decorated by members of the Young Peoples' Association, the colors used being mauve and yellow.

C. S. Thompson, Superintendent of the Sunday School acted as chairman and after singing grace, several old familiar songs were sung. Mr. Trevor Miller acting as leader, with Harry Northrop presiding at the piano.

A toast to the King, proposed by Mr. Thompson, was responded to by singing "God Save the King." This was followed by a toast to "Our Dads," ably proposed by George McHoull and responded to by J. E. Smith.

A toast to "Our Sons," proposed by Mr. J. F. H. Wallace, was responded to by Andy Rutter, who urged boys to be more thoughtful of their dads.

The toast to "Our Sunday School," was proposed by Carl Routley, who briefly outlined the history of the school, referring to its wonderful equipment at the present time. This was responded to by S. R. Armstrong.

A splendid address on the work of the Boys' Parliament was given by John Hunter, the member for Peterborough.

J. E. Middleton introduced in glowing terms the speaker of the evening, Rev. J. E. Graham, associate pastor of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto. Mr. Graham led the gathering in sing-sing, proving his wonderful ability in this respect, and when he began speaking charmed all with his power and fluency.

He took as his subject, "Perseverance," and urged all, particularly the boys and young men, to not get weary with the common hum-drum duties of everyday life. In all walks of life, work becomes monotonous—school work, office work, as well as the more strenuous work. Thousands find the same thing. But you will find in your everyday work the big thrills come. He referred to Chapter 40, verse 31, of Isaiah, "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint." In conclusion," he said, "All things are possible to those who go through life with God beside them; those who wait upon the Lord and do his will."

Rev. J. E. J. Millyard moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for his splendid and inspiring address and wonderful contribution as a song leader, while Mr. Thompson extended the vote to the speaker.

Homer Borland moved a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies, who had prepared such a bountiful spread and had served them so generously. This was responded to by Mrs. G. Robertson, who acted as general convenor of arrangements.

The meeting closed by singing, "O Canada," and "God Save the King."

ONE THOUSAND WOMEN HELP MAKE MACHINE

Interesting Exhibit in Local Store—Grant & Thorpe Announce Faultless Washer.

A new idea in electric washing machines is on display in the window at Grant & Thorpe's electrical store, right across the street from The Examiner.

This new machine is the result of suggestions given by over one thousand women and every suggestion that proved practical has been incorporated in the machine.

Women wanted beauty combined with utility and the result is a machine finished in attractive, durable Duco colorings. Instead of the conventional round tub this new machine is square which causes five times more water agitation without any wear or tear on the clothes, and the tub which is copper, nickle plated inside is protected with a steel tub outside. An air space between the two tubs, acts on the vacuum bottle or thermo principle by keeping the water hot during the entire process of washing.

The machine never requires oiling. This is one point on which the women were almost unanimous. All the gears run continually in a bath of special oil.

The wringer is equipped with special balloon rolls which do not break buttons or flatten hooks.

The machine generally is very attractive and has many revolutionary features. In fact it is entirely different to the ordinary washer and every part has been made with extreme care so that the machine will give many years of care-free service.

Grant & Thorpe who have been appointed exclusive distributors for Ontario, invite enquiries and will be pleased to demonstrate this washer to anyone in their store or in your home entirely without obligation. Their phone number is 798.—(Adv.).

HOOVER'S PLANS KEEP WISEACRES OF U.S. GUESSING

Still Trying to Discover Whether He is Skillful Politician or Not.

SAVED STOCK CRASH PANIC.

Received Bitter Criticism on Tariff—Appointed 16 Commissions.

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 3.—(By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.) — Herbert Hoover has now been President of the United States for a year and the wiseacres of Washington are still trying to discover whether he is a skillful politician or not.

His major problems when he assumed office were prohibition, farm relief and the tariff. Since that time the administration has voluntarily taken on its shoulders disarmament and has been forced by the stock market crash to do something about business.

Prohibition Warm Issue.

Prohibition, a warm issue in the last Presidential election, bids fair to be a warm issue in the next. President Hoover used his commission technique—he has appointed in all sixteen commissions to investigate various matters—in approaching the problem of prohibition. The commission, headed by George W. Wickersham, of New York, has made a preliminary report but in the meantime Congress has taken the bit between its teeth and is holding its own investigation.

The Hoover administration attacked the farm relief problem with considerable vigor and rushed through a willing Congress the Agricultural Marketing Act. At the moment the action of the Federal Farm Loan Board which through its agency, the Grain Stabilization Corporation, has engaged in immense operations on the Chicago wheat market, is the subject of violent protest from private interests.

Criticism of President Hoover's tactics in dealing with the tariff has been bitter. The White House first declared for "limited revision," a laconic phrase which is yet to be amplified. The president, as far as the public is concerned, appears not to have offered much direction to Congress in its eight months' struggle with the Smoot-Hawley Bill He has, however, taken a stand against administrative provisions which would remove the power of revision from

NOTED NOVELIST DIES IN FRANCE

D. H. Lawrence Regarded As One of Leading Men in His Field Before the War.

SEVERAL NOVELS SEIZED.

NICE, France, March 3 (C.P.).—D. H. Lawrence, noted British novelist, died here to-day after a lengthy illness.

David Herbert Lawrence was regarded as one of the most powerful of the novelists who came into prominence shortly before the Great War.

Although police prosecution of his novel, "The Rainbow," in 1915, seemed for a time to have checked his fertility, he subsequently became known as a painter, and published other novels and poems, plays and essays.

Some of these later works also were prosecuted. In the summer of 1929 some of his paintings and books were seized in a raid at a public exhibition in England, and the exhibitors were forced to promise to discontinue the exhibition of the seized pictures and to destroy four of the seized books.

Besides "The Rainbow,' Lawrence was also well-known for "Sons and Lovers," "The Prussian Officer," "The Ladybirds," "Women in Love," 'Essays in American Literature," and 'Lady Chatterley's Lover," the last privately printed.

Lawrence was born September 11, 1885, at Eastwood, Nottingham, England, where he attended High School and Nottingham University. He married Frieda Von Richthofen in 1914. They had no children.

DOCTORS CLAIM ATTACK IS MILD NO ANXIETY FELT

Heir to Throne is Resting Quietly at Government House.

MAY ABANDON TRIP.

Had Planned to Tramp Through Uganda Up Nile Valley to Cairo.

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, British East Africa, March 3.—(A.P.)—It was learned authoritatively to-day that the condition of the Prince of Wales, who has had to abandon hunting in Southern Kenyra because of an attack of Malariafl is giving no cause for anxiety.

Resting Quietly.

The Prince was said to be resting under very comfortable conditions at Government House, receiving the best medical attention and the most skilled nursing, which was expected to enable him to make a complete recovery within a few days.

The Prince was said to be very cheerful and to make light of his troubles, although deploring his second piece of bad luck which again robed him of a chance to bag an elephant.

Cables received at the Prince's residence, York House, to-day were of reassuring character. They said all the doctors agreed that the Prince's illness was following a complete normal course and there was nothing to cause anxiety

Colonel Piers Legh, equery, who is with the Prince, cabled that the attack was very slight and there were no complications whatever.

It was stated at York House it had not been decided whether the Prince would have to curtail his African visit. this depending upon the doctor's advice.

In the opinion of British court physicians. the Prince will find it necessary to abandon the remainder of his African trip and to return to England as soon as he is able.

"Sub-tertian malaria" is considered here less severe than either of the two other forms of the disease. It was predicted here he would remain for a few days an invalid at Government House while the disease ran its course. After which he would get a fortnight's rest and permanently abandon his hunting tour as he did the previous Safari in 1928 as a consequence of his father's illness.

First Real Illness

The Prince has been unusually healthy and the present case of Malaria is the first case of real illness he has suffered during all his world-wide travels. It was said he could not be in better hands, the Nairobi medical service being well-organized to combat malaria.

Sir Aldo Castellani, who has made a world-wide reputation on tropical disease, commented on reports of the illness: "If subertian malaria is given intensive treatment immediately, as doubtless has been done in the Prince's case, the fever may disappear any day, but it is advisable that the treatment—which consists

SEARCH WARRANT PERMITTING REMOVAL OF SOLLOWAY MILLS BOOKS TO CALGARY IS OPPOSED

Brokers' Counsel Claims Books Removed Despite First Order.

CRIMINAL LAW SUPREME.

Justice Orde Believes if Warrant Quashed Harmful Precedent May Be Set.

TORONTO, Ont., March 33 (C.P.). —The second application to quash a search warrant allowing the removal to Calgary from Ontario of the books of Solloway Mills and Company, Limited, was made before Mr. Justice Orde at Osgoode Hall to-day.

This application, which was made by A. G. Slaght, K.C., and J. R. Cartwright, on behalf of the brokers, arises out of the charges laid against Solloway Mills by the Ontario Government. It is claimed that while the first application was proceeding before Mr. Justice McEvoy, who quashed the warrant, declaring it was unlawful to ship the books from here to another province, Inspector E. C. Gurnett was removing the books. Mr. Slaght told the court today he had been informed the books were now in Alberta, despite the order.

No Jurisdiction to Cover Action

The grounds upon which the brokers seek to quash the warrant are that there is no jurisdiction under a search warrant to seize papers in Ontario and remove them to another Province; that E. C. Gurnett and W. W. Rogers of the Attorney-General's Department, exceeded their power under the Criminal Code, even had the warrant been valid, in that the material should have been carried before a Judge of the Supreme Court before removal and that it was the duty of Gen. Victor Williams, Commissioner of the Provincial Police; E. C. Gurnett and A. W. Rogers to seize the papers subject to the Code and that their permission to remove the papers constituted an illegal act.

"I don't see why they shouldn't go out there, " (Calgary), remarked Mr. Justice Orde. "Do you say the Crown has no authority to seize merely because of some river or invisible boundary? We must get away from the American idea. The Criminal Law of Canada overrides any civil right and territorial jurisdiction between the Provinces—That is my general view."

Mr. Slaght: "We contend that under a search warrant, the power is

Lone Wolf Bandit Uses Glass Pistol

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 3 (Canadian Press). — A glittering imitation pistol, made of glass, was in the hands of police to-day, a relic of the short-lived career of crime of John Rukavensky, 21, who called himself the "Lone Wolf of Chicago." The Lone Wolf, with his glass pistol in his hand, was shot and killed yesterday by Patrolman John Dempsey as he fled from pursuing officers after holding up a taxicab driver in the Greenpoint Section of Brooklyn.

MARATHON DANCE FORCED TO STOP

Authorities Step in After Contest Lasts 106 Days—Rivals Savage Displays.

FIVE COUPLES LEFT.

DETROIT, Mich., March 3 (Canadian Press). — A Marathon dance, which has been going along for more than 106 days at Eastwood Park East Detroit, appeared about to end today with the State Commissioner of Labor and Industry moving to stop it after local and county authorities failed to interfere.

The Marathon, which, according to witnesses, rivals the most savage dances of primitive peoples, has gone uninterrupted since last November 18.

When the Marathon started last fall, the dancers were allowed twenty minutes of each hour to rest. This rest period has been shortened to five minutes, and now is being shortened one minute each day. Only five couples have been able to continue through the winter. The partners take turns sleeping. A young woman carrying a man about the room while he sleeps is part of the show.

The winning couple in the contest is to receive a percentage of the gate receipts, and thus far first prize amounts to more than $20,000, according to announcements from the management.

RESCUED MINE SWEEPER'S CREW TELLS STIRRING TALES OF WRECK

Thiepval Struck Uncharted Rock in Barclay Sound—Crew Day Without Food.

SHIP MAY BE RAISED.

VICTORIA, B.C., March 3 (C.P.)—H.M.S. Thiepval, which sank in Barclay Sound on Friday evening, lies in 14 fathoms of water and may be salvaged by means of pontoons, according to members of the crew who have arrived here.

The mine sweeper went on the rocks Thursday afternoon. The crew escaped without injury but had to spend the night ashore without food.

Crew Thrown to Decks

It was an unsurveyed rock that tore a hole in the staunch craft. There was a sudden shivering crash which threw all aboard to the decks. The weather was clear and the sea fairly calm. Soon water began to pour into the vessel's forward hold. The steam pipe to the engines was broken and the anchor chain ran out as a result of the impact. Frantically the stokers shovelled coal to try and right the ship which had taken a 60-degree list on the three-quarter ebb tide. Impaled on the pinnacle all efforts to free the mine sweeper proved futile.

At 5 o'clock Thursday evening Lieut.-Commander Tingley ordered all hands on deck after the tank had been pumped and the ship still retained her list. With the tide going down it was felt that the Thiepval might keel over and take the crew to a watery grave. With no clothes or personal effects and little food, the crew made for shore seventy-six yards away, to wait the arrival of H.M.S. Armentiers which had been been summoned from Esquimalt. Safely ashore the men managed to catch a few crabs and shell fish and these were cooked over a small fire on the rocks. Huddled together for warmth, the men spent the night on the rocks, thirsty and hungry. On

QUARREL ENDS IN DUAL TRAGEDY

Farmer Slays Wife and Then Commits Suicide.

DAULPHIN, Man., Mar. 3. (By the Canadian Press).—Roman Kaschuk, 35-year-old farmer of the Keld settlement southwest of here, yesterday shot and killed his wife and then put a bullet through his head with the same rifle, according to Provincial Police. Neighbors heard the couple quarreling shortly before the shooting.

Mrs. Kaschuk, whose body was found in the living room of their farm home, was believed to have died instantly. Her husband allegedly fired at her through a window of the house and immediately discharged a bullet that killed himself. The four young children were awakened from their sleep by the shots and found both their parents dead.

The corcner has not decided whether an inquest will be held.

DR. STEVENSON GIVES ROTARIANS SPEECH RECIPE

How to Secure and Hold Audience's Attention is All Important.

A STREET CARNIVAL.

Local Club to Stage Drive For Funds For Crippled Children.

Dr. O. J. Stevenson, head of the English department of the Ontario Agricultural College, enlightened the Peterborough Rotary Club to-day on the subject of how to make a speech and at the same time demonstrated his own ability in that direction by delivering a bright, breezy and whimsical address that was most enjoyable.

At to-day's luncheon Rotarian J. H. Seels announced that he had been appointed chairman of a committee to raise funds for Rotary's crippled children work, and that it had been decided to hold a street fair on the afternoon and evening of June 18th. The objective, he stated, was $5,000.

Rotarians C. H. Rogers, Andrew Brown, W. F. Butcher, J. K. Hughes, A. L. Killaly and W. R. Morris all endorsed the project, and promised Rotarian Seels every assistance in making a success of the event.

Dr. Stevenson, who was introduced by Rotarian V. R. Henry, at once engaged the attention of older members of the club when he recalled that the first appointment he had sought as a High School teacher had been at Cooksville, and the only other applicant had been Reginald Birchall, whose trial for murder still ranks as one of the most famous criminal cases in Ontario's history. Birchall had murdered his victim two days before, and then had calmly sat down and wrote his letter applying for a position on the staff of the Cooksville School.

The speaker delighted his hearers with some interesting personal anecdotes before passing on to discuss what he had finally decided to make the subject of his address, that is the question of how to make a speech. And then illustrating his address with stories and apt illustrations, Dr. Stevenson proceeded to lay down a few rules for success in oratory. First, he said it was necessary for a speaker to get "en rapport" with his audience, and, secondly, it was of importance to choose a subject of interest to them. And having got their attention, it was even more important to hold it. The speaker remarked that the speech must be coherent, and the language fitting and

ALL CLASSES PAY FINAL TRIBUTE TO HON. P. C. LARKIN

Two Thousand Crowd St. Paul's Anglican Church to Hear Services.

UNDER GOV'T AUSPICES.

Canadian Statesman Held Up As Fine Example By Archdeacon H. J. Cody.

TORONTO, March 3. (C.P.) — Under the lofty arches of St. Paul's Anglican church—the church of which he had been for many years an honored member—two thousand people, representative of all phases of public life in the Dominion, gathered yesterday afternoon to pay tribute and respect to the memory of Hon. Peter C. Larkin, High Commissioner for Canada, in London, from 1922 until his death on February 3.

Impressive in its simplicity yet embodying all the solemnity and beauty of Church of England worship, the service was held under the auspices of the government of Canada and was conducted by Ven. Archdeacon H. J. Cody, rector of St. Paul's, and a personal friend of Mr. Larkin. In the forefront of the nave were Miss Aileen and Gerald Larkin, the late High Commissioner's daughter and son.

His Excellency the Governor-General was represented by Colonel K. R. Marshall.

The service was also attended by His Honor W. D. Ross, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the Prime Minister, and a number of the members of the Dominion Cabinet, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Premier of Ontario and members of his government, with Mayor Bert Wemp, and members of the City Council. Elsewhere in the great assembly were leading members of the judiciary, representatives of the churches, universities and colleges, the Canadian Legion and business associates and employees of Mr. Larkin.

In his address Archdeacon Cody held up the life of Mr. Larkin as one in which diligence and honesty and integrity had been the stepping stones to a great commercial career and a record of high public service in which the High Commissioner labored incessantly on behalf of his native country until death struck him down, while still engaged in the work of his office. He was an example of a high-principled business man in public life applying to public duty the sound principles of commercial pursuits, said Mr. Cody.

GANDHI CLAIMS WAR TO START IN EIGHT DAYS

Leader Silent But Followers Claim He Will Head Great Campaign.

PATEL NEXT CHOICE.

All Officers of Towns, Civil Servants, Asked to Resign—No Taxes Paid,

AMHEDABAD, India, March 3 (C.P.)—The hour approaches. The pen of Gandhi has been set to paper and a messenger carries an ultimatum to the Viceroy of the British Raj. When eight days have passed, unless plans change, the "War of Independence" will have begun.

Gandhi is silent and regards secrecy as a vital part of his scheme. But his followers say the "Great Soul" himself will lead the civil disobedience campaign when it opens eight days hence in the salt district of Gujerat. If Ghandi is arrested, as his followers expect, the cloak will fall upon his chief lieutenant, Mr. Patel, leader of the No-Tax fiasco at Bardoli last year.

It was this Patel who recently declared "a war unprecedented in the history of the world will start within a few days and the outbreak will be in Gujerat. Those who are afraid of death should go on a pilgrimage and those possessing riches should leave the country."

Gandhi's secretary, who has just returned from a visit to Gujerat, asserts the leaders of the campaign fully anticipate that when the salt depots there are raided, the raiders will be fired upon. But, he adds, speaking of the production of natural salt, "everyone can manufacture salt over the whole coast-line."

INDIANS CLAIM RIGHT TO HUNT

Robinson Treaty Between Indians and Late Queen Victoria is Quoted.

TILL SUN CEASES TO SHINE.

PORT ARTHUR, March 3—Appealing against a fine of $600 imposed on them a year ago for having possession of beaver skins without a permit, two Indians from Mobert Reserve, Joe Padgema and Albert Quesawa, claim that under the Robinson Treaty they have the right to hunt and fish in any Province in the Dominion "as long as the sun shines, rivers flow and the grass grows."

Appearing for the Department of Indian Affairs, A. J. Comber, K.C., argued that the Provincial Order-in-Council passed in 1928, is ultra-vires, in that it interferes with the right of the Indians "to hunt as long as the sun shines, rivers flow, and grass grows." The Robinson Treaty, dated Sept. 7, 1850, made between the Indians and Her Majesty Queen Victoria, gave the Indians right to hunt and fish in Ontario at any time.

Judge McKay, who hear the case, reserved judgment.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM MORRISON CELEBRATE THEIR 50TH WEDDING

South Monaghan Couple Have Spent Entire Married Life on Same Farm.

COMMUNITY CELEBRATION.

Fifty years ago to-day William Morrison, son of David Morrison, married Margaret Moncrief, daughter of John Moncrief. The ceremony took place on the Moncrief homestead, one mile south of Bensfort in South Monaghan, and there the couple settled after purchasing the homestead.

To-day, on the same homestead, the happy couple celebrate the golden anniversary of this marriage.

At noon thirty-five relatives, including a son and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and Grandchildren, gathered in celebration at the farm, and to-night in the Bensfor Community Hall almost the entire community of Bensfort will congregate.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison are in excellent health. Mr. Morrison is over 80 years of age and Mrs. Morrison 77. Mr. Morrison was born on the old Morrison homestead at Bensfort which has been owned by the Morrison's since 1834, when the Morrisons came from Scotland. Mrs. Morrison was born on the Moncrief homestead, which has also been in existence for almost a century.

The ceremony of the marriage of the couple was performed by Rev. James Cameron who in 1880 was the Presbyterian minister in Millbrook and Centreville. Hortensia Morrison, who was a bridesmaid at the wedding was present at the ceremony at noon to-day. She is now Mrs. Thomas Armstrong. William Moncrief, groomsman, was also present to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison's son Frank, lives on his own farm near the old Moncrief homestead. Their only daughter, Mrs. Ormand Larmer, lives on the Larmer farm in Cavan, near Millbrook.

Mr. Morrison retired from active farming some years ago.

Newly Wed Couple Drown With Party

WARSAW, Poland, March 3 (Canadian Press)). — An entire wedding party of thirty persons including the bride and bridegroom was drowned yesterday in Lake Narogezma, in the Wilna district, when ice broke under the weight of the sleighs.

The party, laughing and happy, after the wedding in the village church of Swiencany, decided to take a short cut across the frozen lake, and had almost reached the opposite shore when a crack appeared in the ice, which finally broke through. The wedding party was thrown screaming into the water and efforts to rescue them were futile.

FINAL TRIBUTE IS PAID TO PROMINENT SOLDIER

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3 (C.P.). — Final tribute to an outstanding soldier and gentleman was paid here on Saturday when an impressive military funeral was held for Major-General W. E. Hodgins, C.M.G., V.D.

The large turnout bore eloquent testimony to the esteem and regard in which the late General was held by the militia forces of the capital, while the cosmopolitan character of the large number who attended the services and walked in the cortege indicated the place in public estimation held by General Hodgins.

Long before the hour set for the services in All Saints' Church, the surrounding streets were willed with friends and acquaintances of the veteran soldier.

His Lordship J. C. Roper, Anglican Bishop of Ottawa, assisted by Major the Rev. Channel Hepburn, conducted services at the home, church and graveside in Beechwood Cemetery.

OSHAWA "REDS" ARE THROWN OUT BY UKRANIANS

Resolutions Call For Immediate Cessation of Atrocities in Russia.

WAVE OF IMMORALITY.

Commissars of Moscow Are Interfering With Government of Ukraine.

OSHAWA, March 3.—"A wave of immorality is sweeping over the Ukraine, and the only way to stop it, the Church, is being crushed by Soviet agents," declared Rev. Father Chrustawka, addressing nearly five hundred British citizens of the Oshawa Ukrainian colony in St. George's Hall, on Sunday afternoon.

Protesting strongly against the religious intolerance and political persecution by the Russian U.S.S.R. of the Ukranian people, resolutions were passed calling for immediate cessation of the atrocities and the liberation of captive sufferers. Copies of the resolution which will be forwarded to Premier Mackenzie King, to Premier MacDonald of Great Britain, to the League of Nations, and to the Soviet Ambassador in London, was couched in the following terms:—

"British subjects of Ukrainian descent, assembled at mass meeting, Oshawa, Canada, join in general protest by Ukrainians in Canada against Bolshevist atrocities, arrests and executions of Ukrainian intelectuals, peasants and workingmen in Ukraine, and ask your Excellency to bring this matter to the attention of the Imperial Government and Canadian representative of the League of Nations to take steps to effect liberation of the sufferers.

The chief speakers were: Rev. Father Chrustawka, priest of the Greek Orthodox Church, and Rev. Luke Standret, pastor of the Presbyterian Mission among the Oshawa Ukrainians. These and several Ukrainian speakers outlined to the meeting the atrocities being practiced by the Soviet. It was declared that the commissars of Moscow are interfering in every way in the local government of the Ukraine; arresting en masse the peasants and intelligentsia who evidence patriotic tendencies, and executing them on the slightest excuse. Others were exiled into Siberia, in far worse measure than even the old Czarist regime, it was declared. More than two hundred Ukrainian churches have been closed in four months.

Local "Reds" sent representatives in an endeavor to break up the meeting, but when the "Reds" refused to stand for the singing of the Ukrainian National Anthem they were summarily ejected and gave no further annoyance.

Because of the great increase of attendance at the Royal Horse Show in Dublin, Ireland, this year, the grounds are to be materially enlarged.

EXPORT ACT BILL MAY CAUSE SPLIT

Farmers of Alberta and Progressives to Back Amendment Solidly.

NOT UP BEFORE TUESDAY.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3 (Canadian Press). — The Bill to amend the Export Act which Prime Minister Mackenzie King will introduce into the House of Commons this week, probably on Tuesday, stands out as among the most important legislation scheduled for the immediate future. Although it is listed to be introduced on Monday, the Prime Minister is in Toronto to-day and accordingly it will not be brought in before Tuesday at the earliest.

The impression is that the Bill will amend the Export Act so that by order-in-Council the Government may forbid the export of any commodity to a foreign country. The Act already forbids the export of some commodities, natural gas, oil, etc. The new change would be to enable the Government to stop the export of liquor to the United States. There is considerable speculation as to just what additional powers, if any, the Government will ask to facilitate the enforcement of such an order.

Two Parties May Split.

The general opinion seems to be that if the Bill comes to a vote in the Commons, both the Liberal and the Conservative Parties will be split on it, although it is difficult to estimate to what extent. The United Farmers of Alberta and the Progressives will be almost solidly for the Bill it is understood.

Just what the Senate will do with the Bill when it comes before it is uncertain. It is expected that here, too, it will find supporters and opponents on both sides of the Chamber.

Excellent progress was made last week in the Commons. The debate on the Address was concluded and a substantial start was made on the estimates. The debate on the resolution and amendment to ameliorate the conditions which returned men have to meet in obtaining pensions will be continued this week. Some thirty members have already expressed their views on the question.

Wide Progress Expected.

The resolutions to introduce Government legislation respecting pensions and the ratification of agreements with Alberta and Manitoba for the return of their natural resources, were brought in during the past week as was also the Bill which will rewrite the Canada Grain Act They will all be advanced, it is expected, during the coming week.

In the Senate an important resolution by Senator Hance J. Logan will likely be debated. It is

"Resolved, that in the interests of Canada, the British West Indies, and of the British Empire as a whole, Canada should admit all tropical products, coming direct from the British West Indies to Canadian ports, free of customs duties."

"PREFERRED CLASS" PRISONS TO SERVE AS WORLD MODELS

Government Acquires Land in Quebec—Considers Site Near Kingston.

OFFICIALS IN CONFERENCE.

Penal institutions which will serve as models for the world and which will deal with preferred class inmates, are planned for St. Vincent de Paul, Quebec, and Kingston, Ontario.

Brigadier-General W. St. Pierre Hughes, Superintendent of Penitentiaries in the Dominion Department of Justice; Major W. S. Lawson chief engineer, and Inspector E. R. Jackson, of the same Department, have been in Kingston during the last three days in connection with the proposed establishment of a preferred class penitentiary.

In discussing the attitude of the Department, General Hughes stated, "The Department of Justice has recently acquired virtually the whole of the Village of St. Vincent de Paul in Quebec, and this district is now a penitentiary reserve within the meaning of the Act which governs such institutions. In this district will be established a preferred class penitentiary for Quebec, such as we contemplate establishing for Ontario in the Kingston neighborhood. We are considering the purchase of certain lands near Kingston for this purpose."

Thug Picks Wrong Victim to Hold Up

TORONTO, Ont., March 3 (Canadian Press). — Malcolm Hague, 18, on Saturday night attempted to subdue William Hagron, 21, clerk of a local grocery store, by hefty blows with an axe handle when the latter, answering a telephone request, was delivering goods at a side entrance of an apartment. The blows only temporarily confused Harron, who immediately made after the would-be robber, nailing him within a block. He marched Hague back to the grocery store and then called police, who placed the thug under arrest.

MARSEILLES, France, March 3 (C.P.).—One man was killed and many were arrested at the race track here yesterday, when betters, angry over the disqualification of the horse that won the sixth race, set fire to the parimutuel booths and destroyed and sacked the paddock, the grandstands and the bars.

Police reserves and firemen were called out, but did not get the fire under control until the principal buildings and the stables had been destroyed.

Salpetre, winner of the sixth race, was disqualified for interference.

WAREHOUSE FIRE TAKES ONE LIFE

Thirteen Injured in Blaze on New Orleans Wharf—Started in Cotton Bales.

$3,000,000 Loss.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 3. — (Canadian Press).—One man was burned to death and thirteen injured and property damage in excess of $3,000,000 was caused last night by a river front fire that swept through the dock board's warehouses and wharves leased by Anderson Clayton Warehouse and Compress Company and the Alabo Warehouse Company.

With amazing swiftness the flames starting in cotton bales piled on the wharves, spread over the wharf and into the warehouses. The underpinning of the wharves burned away and the structure collapsed into the river, carrying with it approximately 35,000 bales of cotton.

The injured were caught aboard the steamship Scantic of the Dixie Mediterranean Steamship Company, docked at the wharf.

DEATHS ARE LAID TO RADIO WAVES BY SIR G. FILMER

Toronto Scientist's New Theory Puts No Blame on Anaesthetics.

EXPLAINS TO AUDIENCE.

Waves From Nearby Radio Station Pass Into Body Through Ether Fumes.

TORONTO, Ont., March 3. (Canadian Press).—A new slant on the possible cause of the death of four persons here recently while under anaesthetics was given last night by Sir George Filmer, Bart, B.Sc. He advanced a theory that radio waves causing a high frequency electrolysis and breaking downs ubstances in the human body and thereby forming a toxic condition was responsible for the deaths.

Sir George, who has resided here during the last 12 years, has been devoting much time to a study of electrolytic actions of radio-magnetic waves. His theory, which presented itself during his work, will be brought to the attention of the Ontario Medical Association, it is understood.

In explaining his theory last night Sir George said "in converting starch into a new form of cellulose by certain high frequency waves in the presence of gaseous mediums proof was evidenced to me that, whether science believes the gas to be ionised or not, it certainly undergoes a change while under the influence of high frequency waves—irrespective of being called ionised in the true sense."

Gives Explanation

In that proof is based Sir George's theory. Speaking in words understood by the layman, he explained, a patient is brought into an operating room and placed on an operating table. Overhead is an electric lamp used in lighting the operation. The operating table is insulated from the floor by rubber tires.

Ether is administered to the patient. The fumes rise through the air and form a direct contact with the fittings on the electric lamp, or any other electric apparatus nearby. This electric apparatus has picked up the various waves from nearby radio stations and passes them into the patient's body for the contact formed through the fumes.

Sir George then demonstrated the ability of the human body to pick up radio waves by disconnecting the aerial to a radio in his home, and touching the contact post with his finger. The music started and sounded as clear as if the aerial had been connected. Around an operating table, he said, may be a nurse, the anaesthetist and the operating surgeon. They are standing on the floor. When they touch the patient they complete a circuit. Until they touch the patient or the metal table on which he is lying his body is a condenser. But when he is touched the circuit is grounded.

If the surgeon then touches the body with an instrument, insulated handle or not, as it acts as an electrode in any event, a form of electrolysis is brought about.

Acts like Snake Poison.

What is formed by this electrolysis may be a toxic substance which Sir George compared to a snake bite. The poison travelling like the poison from a snake bite enters a vital part of the body and causes death; or it might cause paralysis, he said, from which death would eventuate.

Sir George said the deaths had all been sudden, and pointed to the fact that four radio broadcasting stations operate here. "The natural supposition would be the anaesthetics are pure," he continued. "Then something unknown must be acting."

THREE CHILDREN PERISH IN FIRE; PARENTS AWAY

Mother and Father Visiting Across Street See Flames Too Late.

UPPER FLOOR COLLAPSES.

Second Tragedy For Parr Family at Sault Ste. Marie in Two Years.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., March 3 (C.P.)—Tragedy, in the guise of the fire demon, overtook the quiet home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Parr, of this city early yesterday. To-day, the parents mourned the loss of their three children, all under four years of age, and only their charred bones remained as stark evidence of the speed in which the flames exacted their toll.

The victims are William Ernest Parr, aged three; Florence Rose, four, and Harvey, aged one a half years.

Parents Visiting Neighbors

The parents were visiting friends across the street when the fire broke out. When the Parr's discovered their home was ablaze, they rushed to the scene and tried to force their way into the house. By that time, however, the fire had gained such headway that they were unable to break through the wall of flames.

While the parents, aided by neighbors, were making frantic efforts to reach the children, the fire reels were summoned.

Robert Runnings, with whom the Parr's were visiting, placed a ladder to a window of an upper storey room in which the children were believed to be sleeping. Runnings entered the room through clouds of dense smoke, but discovered that he was in the wrong room. But by the time the ladder had been shifted the entire upper part of the dwelling was a seething inferno and rescue was impossible.

Top Floor Collapses

Firemen arrived on the scene a few minutes later and quickly had the fire under control. The upper floors, however, had collapsed, and it was some time before the bodies of the little tots, almost charred beyond recognition, were found in the smouldering heap of debris.

It is believed that the cause of the fire was due to a defective chimney, although a thorough investigation has been ordered.

The tragedy recalls a similar outbreak two years ago, in which Mrs. Parr's grandmother lost her life.

Last night both Mr. and Mrs. Parr were under the care of a doctor, the former suffering from minor burns and inhalation of smoke, the result of his efforts to have his children, while the mother was overcome with grief.

QUICK WAY TO END COLDS NOW ADVISED BY DOCTORS

Home Use of Pleasant Hospital Method Helps Many Here End Head Cold, Cough, Chest Cold

An entirely new method that ends colds quickly—often in just a few hours—is now prescribed by doctors in numerous hospital cases and is also establishing a most unusual record in Peterborough homes.

Albert H. Blake, for example, was examined for an acute head cold which had congested the air passages of his nose and chest. Then the doctor gave him surprisingly quick relief with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a hospital certified remedy composed of wild cherry, terpin-hydrate and other ingredients approved by the most modern cold clinics.

With the first pleasant swallow he felt comforting, healing warmth. Almost immediately congestion and fever began to subside. By morning he was breathing freely through his nose and his cough was alleviated. Examination on his visit to the doctor next day showed that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral had rapidly cleared up every trace of the threatening cold.

Cases reported daily in this paper by the attending physician show that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is ideal for adults and children. It is pleasant, quick and positive in action. Peterborough druggists guarantee satisfactory quick relief or prompt return of the small cost. Endorsed by A. G. Harris and all leading druggists.

Official Warning To Truck Drivers and Owners

Loads Must be Reduced During March and April

Important clauses in The Ontario Highway Traffic Act are designed to protect roads, both paved and unpaved, during early spring. Because of moisture that lurks in road foundations, excessive weights and speeds do extensive damage to road surfaces at this time.

What the Law Says

The Highway Traffic Act declares that during March and April, on roads outside cities and towns:

Solid tired trucks and trailers shall be limited to half a load;

Pneumatic tired trucks and trailers, with a carrying capacity exceeding three tons, shall be limited to half a load;

Horse drawn vehicles with a carrying capacity exceeding one ton shall be limited to 250 lbs. per inch in width of tire.

Speed limits all the year round are: 15 miles an hour for solid tired vehicles and 20 miles an hour for pneumatic tired vehicles of more than 8 tons gross. During the spring months, drivers must be particularly careful not to exceed these speeds.

The Law Provides Penalties

The penalty for overloading during March and April is a fine, imprisonment or both. Licenses also may be suspended. Highway traffic officials have been directed to be especially vigilant in apprehending all who disobey.

The Department of Highways desires to impress upon truck and team owners and drivers the provisions of the law. It seeks their co-operation in seeing that the law is obeyed in all circumstances. Ontario's investment in good roads, now amounting to many millions of dollars, must be protected.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

FOR TO-DAY'S ARTICLE, let us discuss the making of raffia embroidered table mats.

• • • • • • •

It may be that you have admired these in the home of a friend or relative, and although you wanted some yourself, you refrained from asking how they were made.

• • • • • • •

Should this be the case, you will be much interested in the column and even if you haven't thought of making these mats before, you might try now.

• • • • • • •

Raffia mats for place doilies or for hot dishes can be embroidered on canvas. The usual ways have been to fasten them in basket weave or to crochet them.

• • • • • • •

Of course both these methods are excellent and are used to a great extent, but if you prefer to embroider rather than do the crochet or basket weaving, you can embroider the mats, and the work may be very beautiful, indeed.

• • • • • • •

And you can suit yourself whether the work you are going to do will be coarse or fine, or just between the two. An effective stitch is a straight one that extends over two, three or even four rows of holes.

• • • • • • •

Because embroidery designs can be followed better than cross stitch patterns, they should be used. In fact you will find the cross stitch uses up material without getting any better results.

• • • • • • •

If you desire you can make the mats with plain natural colored centres and borders in flat colors. Of course these are not as decorative as the mats with designs carried out in the borders and over the entire centre, or with motifs scattered over the surface.

• • • • • • •

If you have plenty of time to spare in making these, then you will likely use designs or motifs scattered over the surface, because they are so much prettier.

• • • • • • •

There is a peasant style to these mats that rather calls for gay colors and plenty of pattern. These little mats are lovely, too, for use in the summer cottage,or for breakfast and porch meals.

• • • • • • •

I have seen them used, too, for living room tables and they seemed very appropriate, being cut in different shapes, some square or rectangular.

• • • • • • •

But whatever stitch and design you use, be careful to always keep the surface flat, or otherwise the dishes will be wobbly on uneven work.

• • • • • • •

To finish the edges the canvas can be closely buttonhole stitched, or the edges can be turned back and felled down to the back of the canvas.

• • • • • • •

It is a very wise idea to cover the turning with narrow tape, remembering always that the edges must be kept as flat as possible.

• • • • • • •

Let me tell you how you could make some of these mats for prizes for a St. Patrick's day party. Very likely you are planning now for such a party, and if such is the case, you will have plenty of time to make the mats.

• • • • • • •

You might make the mats and embroider shamrocks on them. A conventionalized pattern can easily be made by tracing around three times arranged in clover leaf fashion, on the canvas.

• • • • • • •

Then connect them with a stemline allowi ; this to extend below the shamrock thus formed. Any other suitable motif in green could also be used, and you would be certain of giving a prize nothing quite like which has been given before.

CHURCH SOCIETY PRESENTS PLAY

"Eyes of Love" Staged Under Auspices of King's Own Bible Class.

TAKE PARTS WELL.

The King's Own Bible Class of St. James' United church sponsored the play, "Eyes of Love," presented on Friday evening to a large audience in St. James' Sunday school hall by the Dramatic Club of Knox United church. This splendid little drama was presented on two former occasions drawing large crowds.

The performers were letter perfect in their portrayal of the thrilling and realistic drama of modern city life, full of surprises and exciting situations and powerful in its heart interest, under the able direction of Mrs. McLachlan.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Carolina, the negress maid—Mrs. A. Huffman.

Gaylia, the heroine—Miss Florence Wedlock.

Rieta—Miss Eva Hughes.

Mrs. Barry—Mrs. H. Wood.

Lora, a maid—Miss May Pollock.

Clark, the detective—Alex Wedlock.

Judge Barry—Done Gillespie.

Royal, the hero—Earl Huffman.

Trusty Jim—John Herd.

Bert, the reformed nephew—Norman Hughes.

The costumes were very modern and unusually charming.

Between acts a musical program enhanced the enjoyment. Mrs. C. H. Cutmore singing "Thora", with fine effect, while Mr. Searles gave several delightful violin solos with Miss Olive Prest accompanying at the piano.

Miss Helen Staples rendered a number of highly appreciated readings, which included "Levinsky", "Me and Jim" and "I wonder what she meant."

At the conclusion of the performance, Rev. J. H. Dudgeon, the pastor, on behalf of the King's Own Class extended thanks to all who had assisted in the program, and those who had in any way contributed to the success of the evening. The artists were entertained by the class members by the service of refreshments before leaving.

Thanks are also extended to McBride and Franks for kindly loaning the stage furnishings

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:

I know I'm frightfully late with my word of welcome but here I am at last. I second with pleasure Oddity's suggestion that at least one topic a week be for girls or young women because I'm a high school student myself and would like something concerning girl's problems. Everything or anything would suit me.

I'm interested in athletics and would like to get a pattern or copy of black sateen shorts which are worn by girls for athletic wear. I would be very pleased if some of the neighbours would supply me with a newspaper pattern of these and also for the lightweight and sleeveless sweater worn with the shorts for about size 17 or 18 years. I'm fond of athletics, drawing or art, and aviation. I wonder would it be possible that there are any young women or young men either for that matter who are interested in one or all of these. If they happen to read this letter I wish they would start a correspondence with me. Would it be too much Anne, to ask if you would send them my address if they would care to write to me?

Snowdrop obliged me greatly a long time ago by sending a pattern for which I had requested. This is the first letter I have written since then so I thank her very much for it. It is a long time ago but I have not forgotten it. Perhaps I could do something for her some day in return.

Well, where's Marion who used to write us an occasional letter after she left us in your noble care? I have not seen a letter from her for a long time but perhaps she has written and I have missed it. Thanking you and the neighbours for any service this letter may bring me. I will close now, wishing the neighbors good luck all the time. I remain,

SHARON.

We're glad to see you back Sharon and accept the welcome. I'm sure if any of the neighbors have a pattern of the shorts they will send you a cutting from them. I think, though that if the sweater was bought it would be more satisfactory than one which was made.

Dear Anne:

I wish to thank sincerely yourself, and all the neighbours who so kindly came to my rescue, in regard to being different. I shan't feel so badly now. Everytime anyone reminds me that I am different I shall cast my thoughts back to the letters and the nice counsel you all gave me, and convince myself that I mustn't mind. But I shall never get proud of it, I'm afriad. Only I shall be able to bear it better now. The same day I wrote to the page I was discussing something with a friend and the old word popped it's head up again. But now, I will hug the thought myself that they do not mean to hurt me and maybe by and by I will hear it said without feelings as if I had a clubfoot or a glass eye.

Thank you Anne Wilcox for your special article and all the neighbors for their interest in my problem. With a heart much lighter since reading all your letters which I have laid away in my desk, your friend and neighbour.

AD NAUSEAM.

I'm glad Ad Nauseam all the neighbours will be delighted to hear from you again and to hear that their efforts have not been in vain—that you feel a little better after reading their letters. We are glad of it, and hope you will be a continued supported of the page, for I'm sure we would enjoy your letters.

NEWEST FASHIONS REMINISCENT OF OTHER DAYS

GRAY SHADOW OVER THE FACE OF THE MODE

NEW YORK, Mar 3.—(U.P.).—The spring ensemble is involved with related shoe and bag fabrics. There are shoes of fabric as well as leather, with smart bags to match. Palm Beach has added to the prestige of linen, both for shoes and bags and Rodier woolens and other supple and interesting fabrics are used in pouch, underarm and vagabond types, all of which are conservative in size. Some factors returning from abroad voice the opinion that fabrics will supersede leather, but since the market abounds with smart purses in smart leathers this question remains open. Calfskin remains, while goatskin, crocodile, and Morocco are cited as among the leather preferences.

Interest in costume jewelry remains at white heat, and along with the many colorful novelties important comes a colection in gray and black, black and white and a combination of all three. This seems particularly interesting because of current rumors of the importance of gray in the spring mode. Evidences of this already have been reported from such smart places as Palm Beach whether the gray lace has gone on record.

There has been a feeling that gray was due to supersede beige, since beige already has a long record of success and since it is feasible always to have a neutral shade even at a time when vivid ones are the most engaging.

ANNUAL MEETING KING'S DAUGHTERS

Encouraging Reports Read on Activities of Various Committees—Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the 57th Regimental Chapter I. O. D. E. was held in the armouries yesterday afternoon with a large attendance. The regent, Mrs. T. W. H. Young occupied the chair and after the opening ode was repeated the secretary, Mrs. D. Loomis' report was read and adopted.

Excellent yearly reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Loomis, treasurer, Miss Rogers, convenor of flower committee, Miss Collins, convenor of relief committee, Mrs. W. G. Hall; convenor of visiting committee, Mrs. Sharp, all showing that the Chapter has had a busy year and accomplished a great deal. Their chief activities have been assisting needy families, helping the regiment whenever possible, decorating the graves of soldiers at Little Lake and St. Peter's cemetery on Empire day. Providing a large flag at Little Lake cemetery and establishing a fund to build a permanent base for this flag giving donations to the Well Babies Clinic, The National War Memorial, Navy League and other donations.

The money for this work has been raised by bridge parties and an armistice day tea. Mrs. R. E. Clarke brought in the report of the nominating committee for the election of officers and the election was proceeded with resulting in the following:

Regent, Mrs. T. W. H. Young; first vice regent, Mrs. W. G. Hall; second vice regent, Mrs. R. Cottrell; secretary, Mrs. F. Miller; treasurer, Miss M. Rogers; standard bearer, Miss Ida Wesley; councillors, Mrs. Clegg, Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. Fanning, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Loomis, Mrs. Foote, Mrs. Winterbottom, Mrs. Clysdale, Mrs. Newman, Mrs. Newhall.

The Regent, Mrs. Young read a description of the account given by Mrs. A. A. Perry, published in the Mail and Empire recently of the cost requirements and destination of funds furnished by individuals or societies, towards the furnishing of rooms in Red Cross outpost hospitals.

Such a room as was shown last year at the Canadian National Exhibition at the Red Cross exhibit would cost from $100 to $113 depending on the type of furnishings used. These outpost hospitals can not be accused of running to expensive fads. It is very often a log cabin with its Red Cross flag floating towards a frontier territory which may extend hundreds of miles through scattered pioneer settlements. Sometimes it is a caboose on a railway siding, sometimes a house of mercy in a lumbering or railway hamlet, sometimes a twelve-room institution in small towns in Northern Ontario and sometimes a coach hospital on wheels. But wherever it is, the outpost with its intrepid nurses, its efficient equipment for meeting emergencies and its modest but comfortable wards, it represents one of the most profitable investments in human welfare possible to find for the country.

There are at the present time forty four out post hospitals in as many remote sections of the dominion but double the number are needed to render service to pioneer men, women and children in remote frontier sections.

The sum of $15 was voted by the Chapter to aid this work.

ACTION CALLED FOR.

It is desirable that there should be an investigation into the activities of the hooded posse, presumably members of the Ku Klux Klan, who removed a white girl from the Oakville home of her colored sweetheart and returned her to her relatives.

Neither the fact that what was done meets with the approval of popular opinion in Oakville nor the further fact that the procedure was carried out without disorder or without the use of force absolves the Provincial Government from probing the whole affair and taking action against those responsible.

There is a vital principle at stake and the sovereignty of the law must be vindicated.

The impression cannot be allowed to develop in Ontario that any body of private citizens, no matter how worthy their motives, can with impunity take the law into their own hands, invade the home of a British subject and remove a person therefrom.

The moral side of this particular case need not be considered, except so far as it effects the more important question of the rights of British citizens and the principle that mob law cannot be permitted in this country.

The authorized machinery for the regulation of the conduct of the community must not be superseded by private posses, hooded or otherwise.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS.

The oft-heard statement that carelessness is the chief cause of automobile accidents is confirmed by carefully analyzed figures issued by the Provincial Government of Quebec, covering the registered traffic accidents in that Province during the calendar year 1929.

The total of such accidents is given as 10,705, with 6,789 of these occurring in Montreal and 1,306 in Quebec City. Altogether 187 persons were killed and 2,691 more or less seriously injured.

The official figures declare that almost 60 per cent. —6,179 was the exact total—can not be attributed to any other cause than carelessness on the part of the driver.

Negligence is reported in the case of 1,157 pedestrians involved in accidents, while other causes are given as follows: Carelessness of driver of another vehicle, 467;; drunkenness, 208; excessive speed, 1,923; no lights, 87; blinding lights, 149; defective brakes, 194; other defective accessories, 42, and bad state of roads, 188.

These illumining statistics indicate that no matter how strictly the traffic regulations may be enforced, it all gets back to the human factor.

Carelessness still remains the chief cause of death and injury on the highway, and while regulations may prevent some accidents, the problem cannot be completely solved by legislation.

REFUSED TO VOTE.

An interesting piece of information is revealed in the official records of the last provincial election as tabled in the Legislature by Hon. Lincoln Goldie.

The Provincial Secretary's report mentions the fact that no fewer than 877 electors in various parts of the Province who were given ballot papers refused to cast a vote.

It is easy to understand that in every election there are many persons who are unable to make up their mind as to which way they should vote, and who therefore refrain from exercising their franchise.

But as a rule such persons do not take the trouble to visit the polling booth and secure a ballot before deciding not to vote.

It is surprising to find from the official figures that close to nine hundred people actually went through all the motions of fulfilling their duty as electors and then suddenly arrived at the conclusion at the last moment that they did not want to vote after all.

When the number who purposely spoiled their ballots is added, the total is large enough to convince the political organizations that getting electors to the polls is one thing and making them use their franchise to advantage is quite another.

The figures show that those who contend that compulsory voting would merely result in a large increase in the number of spoiled ballots cast are not shooting very far off the mark.

THE "DOLE" AND UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

It is evident that there is a great deal of confusion in the minds of many people in this country as to the exact nature of what is commonly called the dole system as it exists in Great Britain.

Many who have been expressing approval of the suggested policy of unemployment insurance for Canada have quite failed to realize that in principle, at least, such a scheme is identical with the British dole.

A woman speaker at a meeting here last week declared, amid applause, that Canada wanted nothing to do with the dole system, and in almost her next sentence eulogized, again with the approval of her hearers, Premier King's suggestion of unemployment insurance as a means of dealing with seasonal unemployment.

Evidently neither the speaker nor her audience stopped to think that between the system attacked and the one praised the difference was identically the same as that between Tweedledum and Tweedledee.

In other words, that the dole and unemployment insurance are one and the same thing in theory.

The British plan is simply unemployment insurance, with the worker contributing so long as he is employed, as would be the case under the scheme suggested by Mr. King.

It is true, of course, that the system has been abused to some extent in Great Britain, and that the proportion of state aid given has been materially increased, but in principle there is not an iota of difference between the British dole and the proposed Canadian unemployment insurance.

VEGETABLE TARIFFS.

(From the Border Cities Star)

Action of the American Senate in placing a tariff of two cents a pound on celery, lettuce and cabbage may give Mr. Eccles J. Gott, M.P., an excellent excuse for reviving his suggestion that Ottawa should take similar action to protect the vegetable growers of South Essex and the rest of the country. The matter is one to which Mr. Gott has devoted much attention during the recent years and the latest move of the United States authorities certainly adds interest to his position.

The chief argument against Canadian action along similar lines is that it would result in an increase to the consumer on the large quantities of early vegetables brought in from the Southern States. There is no discounting the fact that the dietary habits of Canadians have materially changed during recent years. Thousands of our people eat fresh Southern fruits and vegetables all winter, and think nothing of it. Peas, strawberries and other things that used to be called very special delicacies are now common. And they are being sold in such quantities that the price is at least within reason for a large section of the population. It would appear inevitable, of course, that the prices of these commodities would go up in the event of the action suggested by Mr. Gott being taken.

The other side of the picture is the fact that the increased duty announced by Washington is almost certain to cause a glut in the Canadian vegetable market, thus lowering prices at the season of the year when Canadian growers get their innings. This would be serious, indeed, from our producing standpoint, for everyone here knows that vast quantities of Canadian vegetables are sent to the Detroit market every summer.

The situation would appear to resolve itself down to one of whether or not city dwellers are prepared to pay more for their imported fruits and vegetables out of season in order that there may be a measure of retaliation against the United States for taking steps to keep out products out of the American market. Of course, higher prices would mean the sale of less American fruits and vegetables here during the winter and spring months, but would this materially help the Canadian growers whose products are not ready for some time afterward?

The situation is a difficult one all around and should have the best consideration of experts. All will agree that the Government should give every possible protection to our own citizens engaged in any line of productive effort. How to do this, however, is a real problem.

THE DECLINE IN PRICES.

The trend of commodity prices has been one of the live topics in financial circles recently, and discussions have been stimulated by the movement of wheat prices in the last two weeks. The prospects of lower prices is to many unsettling, as it is claimed that falling prices are generally associated with declining business. In this connection it is rather interesting to note, however, that in Canada during the years 1925 to 1929, when Canadian business was better perhaps than ever before, the trend of wholesale prices as estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics was distinctly lower, while retail prices showed a downward drift.

Statistics issued from Washington recently indicated that wholesale prices in United States are now the lowest for eight years past. The "Journal of Commerce" of New York, in discussing the situation, does not appear to be specially worried over the prospect. Taking the figures of the Government at Washington, which indicate that prices are now the lowest in eight years and four points lower than they were a year ago, it says:

"On the basis of this decline a great deal of anxiety has been stirred up in various directions and one or two statistical enterprises 'forecast' a continuous drive of prices downward during the next year or two. One economist who lately testified before the committee which is investigating the public utility situation in this State foreshadowed a continuing downward movement of prices, likely to last for some years to come and causing, according to him, depression of business, loss of profits and general disorganization. Predictions of this sort are naturally taken up by persons who suppose them to be well founded. They are thus magnified and bandied about without the qualifying expressions which originally went with them, and they have a bad effect.

"Let it be definitely stated that the price decline which has taken place during the past year is not a very serious one. A fluctuation of more than equal amount has not been uncommon in recent years. Starting in May, 1920, a price decline occurred which had run well toward 100 points during the year. This caused disaster because of the great volume of commodities which were being held as an aftermath of the war and which had been paid for at high prices. There is nothing exactly comparable with that of the present time, for hand-to-mouth buying has pretty well prevented inventory growth from making its appearance. There are a few branches of trade where raw materials have piled up, but, after all, they are not very numerous and the supply is not so very great. There is absolutely no reason for expecting anything like what happened in 1920 and the following year."—Monetary Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

REJOINDER BY MRS. FALLIS

Editor of Examiner.

Dear Sir:

Will you kindly allow me space in your paper to call attention to a statement made by Hon. G. N. Gordon at the Liberal Rally on Thursday night last? Concerning Mr. Gordon's criticism of my remarks on unemployment, I have nothing to say. The people of Peterborough can decide that for themselves. If it is true that employment is at its peak and consequently unemployment is nil, then business men know that trade is bright and brisk, those to whom money is owing know they have no difficulty in collecting, and workers in factories know that there are few or none out of work. If these conditions exist in Peterborough I, for one, am only too glad to be made aware of it.

But the statement to which I wish to draw attention is the one regarding Old Age Pensions, and contains the following sentences:

"The speaker (Mr. Gordon) considered that the Ontario Government had committed a small and cheap action in making the municipalities pay 20 per cent of this tax when all the other provincial governments were going fifty-fifty with the Federal Government."

I am sure that Mr. Gordon would not want to make an inaccurate statement—even for political gain—and therefore I would call his attention to the real facts. Ontario is the only eastern province to adopt the Old Age Pensions Act. Quebec and the Maritimes claim that they cannot incur the increased financial burden.

The western provinces in adopting it have varied the proportion of payment. In British Columbia the province pays the total fifty per cent. In Alberta the municipalities pay ten per cent. In Manitoba the province passed all the burden to the municipalities and they pay the total fifty per cent.

So in comparison with the action of other provinces and taking into consideration these facts:

(1) That the number eligible for the pension in Ontario is vastly greater per capita than in any of the other provinces that have adopted the act. (2) That inmates of public institutions receive the pension, thus relieving the municipality to a very great extent. (3) That the province bears all the cost of administration of the Act.

The great majority of the people feel that Ontario's government solved Ontario's problem in this regard in the best possible way.

IVA C. FALLIS.

THE GREENE MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

Philo Vance, with a hobby for solving mysteries, becomes interested in the Greene murders when District Attorney John F. X. Markham and Sergeant Ernest Heath, of the Homicide Bureau, are called in after the fatal shooting of Julia Greene and the wounding of her younger sister, Ada. Old Tobias Greene had been dead about twelve years, and left his fortune to his widow, a helpless paralytic, on the stipulation that she occupy the old Greene mansion with five children, Julia, Chester, Sibella, Rex and Ada, an adopted daughter, for twenty-five years. Dr. Von Blon, the Greene family physician, phoned headquarters about midnight, and Heath responded, finding the two women, one dead and the other unconscious—both shot. Snow had fallen during the early night and a set of footprints besides Dr. Von Blon's led to and from the front door of the Greene mansion. Vance had questioned Chester Greene, the servants, old Mrs. Greene, as well as Sibella and Ada. The latter, says that she woke in the dark, and although she heart nothing, felt a presence in her room, and when she rose encountered an uncanny hand, and then a shot which wounded her. An old 32-caliber revolver of Chester's has disappeared from his room, although Sibella says that she saw it there, and also accuses Ada of having been rummaging around in her brother's room. And, as the investigation reaches an impasse, another grim and unaccountable tragedy is enacted in the old mansion. Chester Greene is found shot dead seated in a chair in his room, with a look of consternation and horror on his face. Again footprints are found to and from the entrance door of the mansion, and investigation shows that the prints fit a pair of high arctics thrown carelessly under a bookshelf in Chester's room. An interview of the family and servants reveals nothing except that the cook has had some former personal relation with old Tobias Greene. In talking to Rex Greene, Sergeant Heath bluntly asks him if he knows anything about the revolver. Rex goes into a rage and accuses Von Blon, who tries to calm him, of being the murderer. Markham and Vance are baffled. Vance is convinced that some member of the family is at the bottom of it, but there is not a clue to follow. He cultivates the acquaintance of Sibella and Ada and they drive with Dr. Von Blon to a spot overlooking the Hudson. Sibella suggests it as a good place for a murder and Ada is upset by the flippant remark.

CHAPTER 17.

(November 28 and November 30.)

The following Sunday evening, November 28, Markham invited Inspector Moran and Heath to the Stuyvesant Club for an informal conference. Vance and I had dined with him and were present when the two police officials arrived. We retired to Markham's favorite corner of the club's lounge room; and soon a general discussion of the Greene murders was under way.

"I'm rather amazed," said the inspector his voice even quieter than usual, "that nothing has turned up to focus the inquiry. In the average murder case there are numerous lines to be explored, even if the right one is not hit upon immediately. But in this affair there appears to be nothing whatever on which to concentrate."

"That fact in itself, I should say," rejoined Vance, "constitutes a distinguishing characteristic of the case which shouldn't be overlooked, don't y' know. It's a clue to vital importance, and if only we could probe its signifiance I think we'd be on our way toward a solution."

"A fine clue that is!" grumbled Heath. "What clue have you got, sergeant? asks the inspector. 'Oh, a bully clue,' says I, 'And what is it? asks the Inspector. 'The fact that there ain't nothing to go on!' says I."

Vance smiled.

"You're so literal, sergeant! What I was endeavoring to express, in my purely laic capacity, was this: when there are no clues in a case—no points de depart, no tell-tale indications—one is justified in regarding everything as a clue—or rather, as a factor in the puzzle. To be sure, the great difficulty lies in fitting together these apparently inconsequential pieces. I rather think we've at least a hundred clues in our possession; but none of them has any meaning so long as it's unrelated to the others. This affair is like one of those silly word puzzles where all the letters are redistributed into a meaningless jumble. The task for the solver is to rearrange them into an intelligible word or sentence."

"Could you name just eight or ten of those hundred clues for me?" Heath requested ironically. "I sure would like to get busy on something definite."

"You know 'em all, sergeant." Vance refused to fall in with the other's bantering manner. "I'd say that practically everything that has happened since the first alarm reached you might be regarded as a clue."

"Sure!" The sergeant had lapsed again into sullen gloom. "The footprints, the disappearance of the revolver, that noise Rex heard in the hall. But we've run all those leads up against a blank wall."

"Oh, those things!" Vance sent a ribbon of blue smoke upward. "Yes, they're clues of a kind. But I was referring more specifically to the conditions existing at the Greene mansion—the organisms of the environment there—the psychological elements of the situation."

"Don't get off again on your metaphysical theories and esoteric hypotheses," Markham interjected tartly. "We've either got to find a practical modus operandi, or admit ourselves beaten."

"But, Markham old man, you're beaten on the face of it unless you can put your chaotic facts into some kind of order. And the only way you'll be able to do that is by a process of analysis."

"You give me some facts that've got some sense to 'em," challenged Heath "and I'll put 'em together soon enough."

"The sergeant's right," was Markham's comment. "You'll admit that as yet we haven't any significant facts to work with."

"Oh, there'll be more."

Inspector Moran sat up, and his eyes narrowed.

"What do you mean by that, Mr. Vance?" It was obvious that the remark had struck some chord of agreement in him.

MUSIC

We need all the social agents there are to lift us out of the daily routine of life; music is one of these factors. Parents who fail to cultivate where evident the musical gifts of their children, deprive them, and through them the coming generations, of that moral and intellectual agency which is their due.

What To-day Means To You.

"PISCES."

If March 3rd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11:40 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m., and from 11 p.m. to midnight.

Business perplexities are augured for this date. Time and perseverance will overcome them. It is a time which demands patience and resourceful and independent aid of others. Do more thinking, and less talking!

The child born on this March 3rd will have a deeply affectionate disposition, will not be demonstrative. It will have a splendid memory, and will be keenly observant. It will be a dreamer of large plans.

You have a quick keen wit, and are strong on the mental side—in brief, you are "long headed." You have all the inspiration, hope and ideals necessary to start things—you can submit proper blueprints, and here your interest ends. You are purely a mental creator, and in no way a builder. Your interest and patience are both soon lost when you have to do any physical plodding. You are quicker to grasp ideas than to patiently work them out.

You are bold, but not careless or reckless. You measure your risks exactly, take all possible precautions against them, and then rely on your own strong will and clear head to carry you through. You are courageous without being foolhardy. You not only have vision, but as you look ahead you study every inch of the route.

You are a sincere friend, but a changeable one, and one who can hang your hat anywhere, but never for long You have sympathy and understanding in certain affairs, but it could not be called warm and heartfelt sympathy, as you have no sentiment, and you lack a deep love and affection. Thes piritual side of your make-up is not strongly developed. You have rather a critical scoffing spirit, and you could easily develop into a "cynic." (Copyright, 1930, by the Bell Syn., Inc.)

OIL SECTION HOLDS INTEREST

Small Losses Predominate Throughout Whole List in This Morning's Session.

ON STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Ont., March 3. (C.P.)—The bringing in of one of the most promising wells in the Turner Valley at the property of Lowery Petroleums directed considerable attention to the oils on the mining market during the early period to-day. Trading, however was relatively quiet, and small losses predominated throughout the list, as a whole, at noon.

Lowery Pete moved up 75 to $2.25 on good demand, and Associated and Mayland whose properties offset that of Lowery, were slightly stronger. Home oil failed to respond to the better feeling, selling off 60 to $8.40 while Chemical Research Alberta and Ajax were all lower.

International Nickel and Noranda, whose reports will be in the hands of shareholders within a day or so, were rather disappointing the former easing 60 to $39.65 and the latter $1 to $41.50. Hudson Bay was just holding at $13.25, 5 cents below last Saturday.

The Lindsleys were soft as a group, Falconbridge remaining unchanged at $4.30 while Sherritt Gordon fell 7, Sudbury Basin 8 and Ventures 15. Base Metals gained 5 to $3.50 but Big Missouri and Pend Oreille were practically unchanged.

In spite of a favorable annual report, Waite-Ackerman dropped 6 to $4.99 and Mining Corp. was off 5 to $2.90 as the result of nervousness regarding the silver situation. Amulet eased 21 and Newbec 1½. Mandy was up 3 to 28 and Abana unchanged.

Gold stocks were inactive, Wright-Hargreaves selling off 5 to $1.85, and Kirkland Lake gold 2 to 80. Howey was a up a point and Hollinger 5 to $5.80.

UTILITY ISSUES AT HIGH RECORDS

List Turns Irregular Following Struggle For Control of Price Movement.

WHEAT PRICE UPSETS.

By Stanley W. Prenosil (Associated Press Financial Editor.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., Mar. 3.—A sharp struggle for control of the price movement between opposing speculative forces brought about widespread irregularity of price movement in to-day's market. A sprinkling of public utilities chemicals, tobaccos and specialties were pushed up to new high levels for the year, while selling pressure brought about rather sharp recessions in a number of steel, motor and railroad shares.

Liquidation of stocks was inspired, in part, by the decline in wheat prices. the reported falling off in steel mill operations, and the slowness in the recovery in many important lines of business. Some selling also came into the market on the theory that the recent rapid advance in many issues had impaired their technical position, and that a corrective reaction was due.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company led a long list of corporations which reported 1929 earnings in excess of those of the previous year.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent and was in plentiful supply at that figure. Time money rates were unchanged, but an easier undertone was reported in the market.

Columbian Carbon was an outstanding strong spot, soaring nearly 7 points to 194¾, which duplicates the year's high. U.S. Industrial Alcohol ran up 4 3-8 points, Diamond Match 4, and Air Reduction, Warren Bros. and Brooklyn Gas 3 each, the last three touching new highs for the year.

Unfavorable News Sends Winnipeg Trend Lower

Winnipeg, Man., March 3. (C.P.)—Depressing week-end news started wheat prices into seclusion to-day, and when the Winnipeg Exchange closed values had withdrawn 3⅝ to 4c a bushel. Liverpool prices were weak because of absence of exports over the week-end and reported withdrawal of U. S. Farm Board operators from the market, were the cause of the Winnipeg break. May and July futures were back 3 3-8c and October went as far as 4c down at the close. Trading was not of large proportions except in the opening hour or so.

Through shippers' demand for cash wheat continued fairly good. Offerings continued on the light side and business was small. Demand from the east for low grade oats and barley was fair, with offerings light.

DISASTER ENDS SCRAP.

SUDBURY, Ont., March 3.— Kost Djogan, 52, is dying in hospital here from five bullet wounds received last night, when, according to police, he attempted to protect his daughted when her husband, Steve Prokopovich, 31, pointed a revolver at her. A struggle ensued and Djogan was wounded five times.

Prokopovich whose wife had refused to live with him, was arrested.

400 School Youths Stay Calm in Fire

LONDON, March 3 (Canadian Press Cable). — Four hundred boys were called from their beds by a bugle early to-day, when Grignon Hall, part of the well-known Flisted School in Essex, was discovered to be on fire. In dressing-gowns and scanty night attire the boys paraded in perfect order.

Meanwhile the school's fire brigade, under the direction of members of the Officers' Training Corps, fought the flames, which had already made great headway. The hall was destroyed, but the dormitories were untouched and the school's routine will proceed.

Sharp Setbacks On Chicago Grain Mart

CHICAGO, Ill., Mar. 3. (C.P.)—Wheat prices underwent a decided drop early to-day, largely because farm board allies had ceased to buy country run wheat at the board's loan basis. A bullish showing made by unofficial estimates issued to-day regarding farm reserve stocks of wheat appeared to have been discounted in advance. Opening 1 3-8 to 2¼ cents lower, Chicago wheat afterward fluctuated nervously, but rallies failed to hold well. Corn and oats were also weaker, with corn starting 1 8 to 3-8 off, and subsequently keeping near the initial range. Provisions were firm.

TRADING LAX TORONTO CURB

International Nickel Drops Steadily to Suffer One Point Loss at Noon.

STEELS AND OILS FIRM.

TORONTO, Mar. 3 (C.P.)—Trading interest in the market on Toronto Stock Exchange was at a low ebb as the market got under way for the week were none of the outstanding leaders moving on the side of the advance and consequently the general list dragged along listlessly.

International Nickel had been the feature towards the close last week but this morning the price sold down steadily from the opening to show a loss of approximately one point at midday. The annual report of nickel is due to be released this afternoon but apparently the street is of the opinion it had been sufficiently discounted. Noranda eased along with Nickel and Ford of Canada, Walkers, Gypsum and one or two other listed stocks slipped fractionally. Brazilian was firm as were the steels and oils, though the latter group gave littleshow of activity.

Dominion Power, on the curb, shot up again to-day, selling around 62½ at noon. It had gone through 60 last week, turned down later to 58 to 59, the opening this morning being at 59. Reports are current that the company and Ontario Hydro Electric finally are reaching an agreement.

ONLY QUARTER OF CANADA MAPPED

Engineers' Convention Told 73 Per Cent. of Dominion's Area Known Only in Outline.

OTTAWA, Mar. 1 (C.P.). — "The mapping of half a continent is a tremendous undertaking, requiring the utilization of all the resources of the science of surveying and mapping," F. H. Peters, Surveyor-General, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, told the Engineer Institute of Canada convention to-day in an address on "The Engineer's work in Surveying and Mapping." He declared that only 14 per cent of Canada was mapped in anything like an accurate scale.

"Today we live in a world built upon engineering work and it would seem that particularly in a great and young country such as our own — rich in so many undeveloped resources—our future growth and expansion must firstly depend upon the work of engineers and surveyors," continued Mr. Peters. Mr. Peters characterized the accurate topographic map as a philosopher's stone with which in a sense matter can be created out of nothing, that is, through which resources hitherto unknown and even unsuspected can be made to contribute their quota toward the development and well being of our country. "When Jacques Cartier discovered Canada in 1534 he saw perhaps a few hundred square miles of it and no doubt in some rough way mapped as much. At that time that was all there was of Canada," he remarked.

In looking at the best map available today of Canada, stated the Surveyor-General, there were vast blank spaces, some of them the size of the province of New Brunswick, in which the future possibilities can hardly be contemplated. "Canada is far from being sufficiently mapped," he said. "Even today you can, for instance, step into an aeroplane at the city of Ottawa and fly for a period of perhaps an hour and a half and reach a territory of which no reasonably accurate map is available and consequently of which practically nothing definite is known regarding what exists there.

"To realize that Canada is still a young country, one has only to read the reports written from 1840 to 1860, which through lack of knowledge that is susceptible of being properly recorded only in accurate maps, described what are now the great wheat growing lands of the west as an arid or a semi-arid waste and stated that there was no practicable route from east to west through British territory." Surveys made especially for the production of maps, stated Mr. Peters, are now generally carried on by the departments of the Federal Government and also by some of the provincial Departments. All lengths measured by Canadian surveyors and engineers are based on the legal standards of the Dominion for the yard and the metre, kept in the custody of the Department of Trade and Commerce. Figures were quoted giving the areas in the various provinces that had been mapped. n the entire Dominion, the third largest country in the world with an area about the size of Europe, only about 525,000 square miles or 14 per cent of the area is mapped in anything like accurate sense. Maps showing considerable detail but inaccurately cover another 13 per cent; while for 73 per cent of the area only the most meagre outlines of the coast-line and the main inland waterways are presented.

Canadian Call Money Reduced ½ Per Cent

MONTREAL, Que., March 3 (C.P.)—Canadian call money was reduced to-day from 7½ to 7 per cent. Local brokers were advised by their bankers that money will loan at 6 per cent as again 6½ per cent in the last and the brokers immediately put into effect a reduction in the rate charged to the public from 7½ to 7 per cent.

MONTREAL MOUNT ROYAL HOTEL SOLD TO PRIVATE SYNDICATE

Although Not Officially Confirmed Report is Current in Financial Centres To-day.

NICKEL REPORT.

TORONTO, Mar. 3. (Special to Examiner.)—Gross earnings of Winnipeg Electric for the month of January 1930, are officially reported at $604,824 and net at $207,234. After deduction of fixed charges, taxes, etc., of $97,499, there remained net income of $109,735. The increase in gross over the corresponding period of 1929 of $10,000 was considerably less than the normal increase of the past seven months, due to a decrease in the gross revenues of the railway utility and the electric utility also showed a smaller increase than in preceding months. Milder weather was responsible for a reduction in the number of passengers carried by the railway and the general slowing up of business resulted in a falling off in the demand for power.

Shareholders of International Nickel will not have long to wait before receiving the annual report for the year ended December 31, 1929, as the statements will go into the mails in Toronto, New York and London late to-day. The profit and loss account and balance sheet will be consolidated to include for the first time the figures of Mond Nickel and will give a comprehensive picture of the organization. The quarterly earnings statements published throughout 1929 have given stockholders a general idea of what can be expected in the way of earnings and the year's profits will be in the neighborhood of $1.50 to $1.75 a share it is expected. What will prove of more interest will be the estimate of ore reserves that is to be contained in the appended report of the management. It is understood that over 125,000,000 tons of ore have been proven in the Frood deposit and of this, practically one third is high grade.

Hotel Changes Hands.

Although official confirmation is not yet forthcoming reports current on the street to-day are to the effect that control of Mount Royal Hotel, of Montreal, has been sold by United Hotels Company of American to a Montreal syndicate headed by Nesbitt, Thomson and Co., and McDougall and Cowan. The syndicate took over the common stock of United Hotels directors as well as the preferred held by them. It is stated the common stock amount to 28,000 shares or more and the preferred to between 1,758 and 2,000 shares. The price for the common is said to have been $25 a share and for the preferred $75 a share, and a total of something over $750,000 involved. This calls to mind the controversy which was waged when it was proposed to include Mount Royal in the group of hotels to be known as International United Hotels. W. A. Mackenzie, local investment house which was instrumental in distributing the preferred stock of Mount Royal, steadfastly advised against turning the preferred stock in for exchange into four common of the new unit, maintaining that it ats present rate of earnings the six percent dividend was assured and return on the new stock would be problematical. The price which is said to have been paid for control is considerably above market price, the common being currently quoted around $8 to $10 white the preferred has been selling from $53 to $55 a share. No information has been given out defining what attitude will be taken towards minority shareholders.

ANNUAL STATEMENTS REGARDING MINE PROPERTIES OPTIMISTIC

Rumored International Nickel to Build 40,000 Horse Power Plant on Missisagi River Site.

SUDBURY DISTRICT POWER.

TORONTO, March 3. (Special to Examiner.)—With so many favorable reports coming out within such a short time, the ordinary follower of the mining market who lives in hope of being able to chisel a small profit here and there, is rather stumped as to just where he can place the last of the family plate and get results. Up-to-date, official statements in most cases, have been even more optimistic than forecasts.

International Nickel's report is the chief subject of conversation on the street and it is generally understood it will be in the hands of shareholders to-morrow.

Considerable conjecture has been heard as to what source Internation Nickel was going to draw on for the large amount of power necessary for the operation of the enlarged plant and refinery at Copper Cliff. A well grounded report to-day states the company has undertaken to develop 40,000 horsepower at a site secured on the Missisagi river, which is situated near the western boundary of the district of Sudbury.

The recent acquisition of the Wanapite Power Organization by the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission and this latest development would appear to indicate plenty of power for the Sudbury district in the not far distant future. In view of the location of their properties, Mayland and Associated get quite a bit of reflected glory in the report of the bringing in of an important well by Lowery Pete. The Lowery well is only a few hundred feet from the mining property and Associated No. 1 well has Home wells to the north and Lowery directly to the south.

Owing to the fact operations at Ritchie have been temporarily suspended, early resumption of work at the Murphy will be delayed, it is understood, the management having depended on results at the adjoining property for some important information it is thought possible work will be resumed on the Murphy during the summer to determine importance of ore indicated by Diamond drilling on the Elstone Dunkin property to the west.

According to bullion brokers in New York, the important duty placed on silver by India indicates a decision on the part of the government to sell its surplus supplies of the metal in its own market. In view of this, a lower world price for the white metal is believed to be inevitable.

Though recent reports stated Bidgood was developing an important ore shoot on the 125 level, the latest unofficial word is that operations have been temporarily discontinued due to a shortage of funds. The company retains a substantial block of stock in the treasury with which to arrange further finances when market conditions improve.

According to reports from the north, diamond drill which was taken into Ventures property at Opemiska Lake has been in operation for about a week. Considerable interest will follow the results of this drilling program, as results on the surface would indicate important deposits should they continue to depth.

SEARCH WARRANT

not given to remove these books to another Province."

Mr. Rogers: "This is a technical proceeding and I don't see why these technicalities should not be adhered to on such an application. I don't think it is properly before Your Lordship."

Two Distinct Motions.

"We make two distinct motions," said Mr. Slaught: "One to quash and one ordering the constable to obey the order." He pointed out that proceedings again Solloway, Mills and Company had been instituted at both Toronto and Calgary.

Mr. Justice Orde said he "supposed he was bound by the judgment" of Mr. Justice McEvoy, but "was not sure he agreed with it."

"We were in the courtroom arguing on the warrant when he got a call that our books were being seized on a new warrant," Mr. Slaught said. "These books were at least partly sent to Alberta, as the material shows."

Mr. Rogers declared he would not argue the point as the warrant was not properly before the court.

Mr. Justice Orde considered the question of a mandus compelling obeyance of the order would hardly be determined before the question as to the validity of the warrant had been decided. Mr. Rogers declared an attempt was being made to combine a criminal and civil proceeding.

Mr. Justice Orde: "It could be done with two separate pieces of paper. One a motion to quash or in the alternative a mandamus."

He thought that if the warrant was quashed a precedent might be established that might be a hindrance to justice throughout Canada.

The court adjourned until this afternoon.

DOCTORS CLAIM ATTACK IS MILD

chiefly of administering quinine—be continued several weeks.

Probably the best course would be for the Prince to remain in Nairobi for about a fortnight until his temperature comes down and then come home. I would not advise him to remain any longer in Africa.

The Prince's original plan was to plod through Uganda, and thence up the Nile Valley to Cairo. It was suggested here that such an exhausting trip after an attack of malaria would be out of the question and that it is now more likely that he would attempt to return by sea.

Queen Alarmed At Pictures

It was recalled here how Queen Mary, after seeing a film of African jungle life the other day, expressed motherly concern at her son's proximity to beasts such as lions, elephants and rhinoceroses. It seemed, however, here, that the misfortune which has overtaken the Prince, actually was due to one of the smallest human enemies of the jungle—a little buzzing mosquito.

The Prince was accompanied by his equerries Colonel Piers Legh and Captain J. R. Aird in addition to Captain Denys Finch Hatton and Barron von Blixon.

Captain Legh had remained in camp near Kiu and as soon as he heard that the Prince was ill came to Nairobi. So far as is known at present there is no intention of making any change in the Prince's future plans.

Malaria has been present in the Voi district in a very mild form this year and this is felt to be a reassuring fact.

There is general disappointment and regret in Kenya that the Prince again has been thwarted in his attempt to secure an elephant for which he has taken so much trouble sparing himself neither discomfort nor hardship. But for this new misfortune the Royal hunter would have had a good chance of securing a prize because the evening before his arrival in Voi nearly 200 elephants had been located.

HOOVER'S PLANS

the president's hands, and would provide for payment of a bounty upon agricultural exports.

Faces Big Navy Sentiment.

Naval disarmament of such bright prospect during the visit of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, remains a problem. In this matter President Hoover was faced in his own country with a force of big navy sentiment. Whatever the outcome of the conference in London may be it is a noticeable fact that big navy people of the United States have been up to the present, making little noise. A part of the quiet at least must be attributed to the conduct of affairs by the White House and by Henry L. Stimson, secretary of the State Department, and his assistant, Joseph P. Cotton.

With regard to business conditions supporters of the president claim his action in summoning heads of industry to council, and the stimulation given to public and private enterprise following the stock market debacle, averted an extremely serious situation which might have amounted to a panic.

CAMPBELLFORD

Robert L. Bibby, of Toronto, is in town for a few days visiting with his family.

Chief G. E. Bromley was called away on Friday by the serious illness of his father at Ottawa.

Much interest was caused by the clash of the Yellow Belties and the Dirty Six at the Arena on Saturday evening, when for the space of an hour the two teams, both composed of Hydro employees, struggled for supremacy. No decision as to the winners was reached at the time, but a committee is being appointed to settle the matter. After the game the company adjourned to the Clifton Tea Rooms, where they were served a splendid supper.

The Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church met at the home of Mrs. G. E. Bromley on Friday afternoon, with a good attendance present. After the business session, Mrs. Bromley entertained the ladies with a delightful tea.

My clothes money goes much further now . . .

"I DO have rather an extensive wardrobe, though John's salary is a modest one.

"That is because I've learned the secret of keeping my clothes new looking a remarkably long time. Instead of spending all my clothes money replacing worn-out things, I buy extra clothes, and have a much more varied wardrobe.

"I learned my secret from reading about the movies : : : how they found that by always cleansing the screen clothes in Lux, they stayed just like new more than twice as long!

"It's so simple a method any woman can use it. And it certainly works! My underthings and hosiery and dresses stay beautifully new looking ever so much longer. That is how I can afford so many pretty things."

You, too, can have more clothes if you always use Lux! : : : Because with Lux everything you wear stays like new so much longer, you'll have money for those extra things every woman wants.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, March 3. — Wheat prices were down 2 3-8c to 2 7-8c at one period in to-day short trading session but the market for the most part held at levels 1 3-8c under the previous close, and the net decline for the day was 1 7-8c to 1 5-8c.

Liverpool weakness accounted for the opening break of 2c to 2½c and some heavy selling of our July futures carried the quotations to the low points.

Support, however, was indifferent, and the only buying of note was done in the course of spreading operations in which the Winnipeg October was bought against sales of Chicago September. Trade volume was light.

Cash prices: Wheat, No. 1 hard, $1.12 1-8; No. 1 Northern, $1.12 1-8; No. 2 Northern, $1.09 1-8; No. 3 Northern, $1.04½; No. 4, 99½c; No. 5, 94c; No. 6, 74c; feed 61½c; track, $1.12½; screenings, $5.

Oats—No. 2 C.W., 60 3-8c; No. 3. C.W. 51½c; extra No. 1 feed, 51 3-8c; No. 1 feed 48 5-8c; No. 2 feed, 47 3-8c; rejected, 43 7-8c; track, 54 7-8c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 3.—Rallied by purchasing operations ascribed to Farm Board allies, prices of March and May wheat contracts here recovered sharply Saturday from early severe downturns. July and September contracts, however, representing wheat yet to be grown, failed to keep step, and finished at material losses. The chief apparent source of Saturday's weakness in wheat values was heavy deliveries on March contracts at Liverpool, together with dearth on new export demand for wheat from North America.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ¼c 1⅝c a bushel lower than Saturday. Corn closed unchanged to ¼c higher, oats ¼c to ⅝c up, and provisions showing 7c to 10c decline.

VOICE WIZARD DIES.

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 3 — Dr. Floyd Summer Mickney, 72, who devoted forty years to the study of the science of voice production, died last night. BANQUET CLOSES COURSE AT KEENE

J. E. Whitelock, B.S.A., of Toronto, is Special Speaker For Occasion.

Marking the close of the annual short course in agriculture and home economics that has been held at Keene in the past four weeks by the Department of Agriculture, a banquet took place in the Keene Town Hall on Friday night. One hundred and twenty students of the courses and friends were present.

J. E. Whitelock, B.S.A., of Toronto, assistant director of agricultural representatives for Ontario, delivered the chief address of the evening. He told his audience of problems which have to be met in agriculture in the province at present, pointing out as one, agricultural finance. He said that opinions as to the causes of the problems varied. As to the solutions of the problems, Mr. Whitelock said that opinions again varied, some believing that reduced production would be a cure and others that improved marketing methods would be the cure.

The opinion of the speaker on the matter was that most of the farm troubles could be solved by the education of the young people on the farms who are to be the farmers of the future and the institution of greater economy in the production of all farm products.

Mr. Whitelock was introduced by E. J. Quail, B.S.A., The toastmaster was J. B. Nelson, county agricultural representative, who was in charge of arrangements for the course.

In his short opening remarks Mr. Nelson pronounced the short course an unqualified success. The average attendance was 50 in each course, 25 girls and 25 boys, except on special days when the attendance was as high as 75.

He outlined the advantages that the course offered the students and stressed the importance of education to the young farmer. He remarked that the course was the first held in Keene since 1923.

Toasts proposed were: "Our Country," Mae Petrie; "Class in Home Economics,' 'Garnet Patten and Marion Comrie; "Class in Agriculture," E. J. Quail and J. E. Whitelock.

Mrs. J. B. Nelson favored the gathering with a solo. Minnie Edwards and Alf. Fletcher gave a duet.

Instructors of the course were: J. B. Nelson, B.S.A., E. J. Quail, B.S.A., agriculture; Miss Edith Hopkins, Lindsay, domestic science; Miss A. M. Owens, Kinburn, sewing; Miss E. McAlpine, Toronto, home nursing.

SMALL FIRE.

Sam Lapan of Madoc, Suffers Slight Fire Loss—Home Cooking Sale.

MADOC, March 3 (Examiner Correspondence).—The fire alarm was rung and the chemical engine was given a short run to put out a fire which had started in the back of Sam Lapam's store. The fire had been extinguished with water before the arrival of the engine, and very little damage was done.

This is the second time that Mr. Lapam's has been threatened by fire. His store and residence on St. Lawrence were totally destroyed by fire on Nov. 26th, 1919.

The Young People's Society of Trinity United Church held a very successful sale of home cooking on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 22, in Tufts' and Kelly's furniture store.

CAN'T DO WITHOUT KRUSCHEN

Canadian Traveller's Tale

"KRUSCHEN KNOWN THE WORLD OVER!"

Read this romantic story of a Canadian "globe trotter" who, wherever she went, found Kruschen Salts on the breakfast table. In the backwoods of the Australian Bush, in New Zealand, in the Fiji Islands, they all take their "daily dimeful." What further proof could be asked of the wonderful efficacy of Kruschen?

Rivercourt,
Toronto, 6, Ont.

"I feel I must write you of your wonderful Kruschen Salts. I have used them for 4 years now, and I would not be without a bottle in the house for worlds. I also give them to my three children, ages 2, 4, and 9 years.

"In the first place I was away in the backwoods in Western Australia (the bush) and I went to the doctor there and complained of my kidneys and he advised Kruschen and the store in the village sold it. I was surprised. We were 200 miles up country and yet practically all the settlers there had their Kruschen on their breakfast table. From there I came to Canada via New Zealand and Fiji Islands and I saw your Kruschen advertised. It is known the world over."

(Mrs.) F. Bonz.

The secret of Kruschen's success is because, being a combination of six salts, it attends to all the needs of the system—of stomach, liver, kidneys, nerves, blood and brain. Start on Kruschen to-morrow—we show you here how you can make a trial at our expense.

FREE TRIAL OFFER

FENELLA, March 3. — The funeral of the late Mrs. Dorcas Parsons took place Thursday afternoon from the home of her nephew, Joseph George, Cobourg, to the Cobourg Union cemetery.

Mrs. Parsons was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Macklin of the Macklin settlement, near Fenella. Mrs. Parsons was first married to Rev. She is survived by three brothers, Charles of Nebraska, Lawson of Cobourg, and George of Fenella.

Mrs. Parsons was a faithful and valued member of the former Methodist church, contributing in no small degree to the success of the various activities with which she was associated. She was one of Nature's own Christian gentlewomen, and the various communities wherein she lived are the poorer for her passing.

P.C.I. Wins Interscholastic Basketball Honors

LOCAL SQUAD BEATS COBOURG 70-55 ON ROUND TO CAPTURE WESTERN SECTION CAGE TITLE

Basketball Fans See P. C. I. Team Turn Likely Defeat Into Certain Victory.

SMART PLAYING.

Four-Personal-Foul Rule is Big Handicap to Garnet and Grey Squad.

Clashing with the Cobourg Collegiate quintet in the second of two play-off fixtures in Peterborough on Saturday afternoon, the Peterborough Collegiate basketball squad scored a 35-19 win and won the supremacy of the western section of Central Ontario interscholastic basketball by the score of 70-55 on the round. They will meet the winners of the eastern section.

P.C.I. went into the game with a one point handicap as a result of their defeat in the first of the home-and-home games in Cobourg on the previous Saturday by the score of 36-35. Coincidentally, the number of points the locals scored in each game was the same. In winning the section, the Petes first put out Lindsay Collegiate before tangling with Cobourg who first competed with Port Hope and Bowmanville for the play-off honors.

The struggle for eastern honors in Central Ontario is between Belleville High School, Albert College, Napanee and Trenton.

As a result of the close contest in Cobourg in the first game, a large crowd of P.C.I. students were on hand to cheer their aggregation to victory in the large gymnasium. A tremendous vocal demonstration accompanied the scoring of the first basket by the home team which overcame the one-point handicap.

Cobourg suffered from the loss of Hodgetts and Jamieson, brilliant forward line men of last year. However, the team placed on the floor was composed entirely of last year men. P.C.I. had only two old hands. They were Macdonald at centre, and Ward, right forward. Art Ravensdale, the visitors' strong man on the defence, is Canadian champion high hurdler.

Locals Turn Tables.

Fans at Saturday's game saw real basketball. They saw their team turn what at first looked like a sure defeat into a decisive victory. Both squads worked smoothly and none of the scrambles that appeared in early games developed. A large number of the baskets scored during the clash were results of well-planned combination efforts, coming directly from the tip-offs at centre.

The Garnet and Grey lads suffered from the four-personal-foul rule. In the first period, Leigh Glover was tagged for three personals and his style was severely cramped.. Despite his care he got a fourth in the middle of the last session and was ousted from the game. Wolstenholme was put off in the closing moments with four also. On the thirteen fouls P.C.I. committed, C.C.I. tagged five points. The Lakeshore basketeers were rapped for 7 fouls but no player was put off.

Howard Macdonald, the Petes' rangy centre and captain, showed up in the game as one of the local's most brilliant basketeers. He took a large percentage of the tip-offs from Johnny Hayden jumping against him and engineered the nicest combination efforts the P.C.I. men have displayed this year. Ten points were bagged by Macdonald. Carlos Routley again topped the scoring column for the homestears with 12 points, running true to form. As well as personally attending to these counters, he carried the ball through the Cobourg defence time after time to pass it to one of the others on the forward line to sink it in the cage.

Leigh Clover and Nelson Stanger, defence rookies, never worked better than on Saturday. Al McIntyre and Harold Hayden were the Cobourg lads' best bets, while Art Ravensdale and Russel Dufton lacked their usual ability.

Stage fright nearly beat the Petes in the first three-quarters of the initial session. They opened up strong with a basket from the hand of Ward on a nice combination workout from centre in the first six seconds of play. Fifteen seconds later a similar counter was hung up by Macdonald. Then Stanger got a point on a free throw when Harold Hayden fouled him.

Trying Moments.

The play changed. Harold Hayden and McIntyre ran up 8 points before the local boys knew what it was all about. The Lift Lock lads worked hard, but their shots were feeble and their defence was helpless for a while against the combination of C.C.I. Two of the 8 were on free tosses. Macdonald, assisted by Routley, scored, followed by a lakeshore counter when Harold Hayden dribbled right down the left side and in. Glover got his third foul at that time.

After missing many cripple shots, the locals made a strong rally near the end to bring themselves out from behind with six quick points before the whistle. Two were by Routley, assisted by Macdonald, and the other by Stanger.

The score stood at 13-10 for P.C.I.

The Garnet and Grey's came out for the second round much improved. They displayed the same burst of speed that featured the opening of the game. Stanger led with a field goal in the first ten seconds on a centre play, and after a couple of minutes of end-to-end journeying the sphere was sunk again by Macdonald on a spectacular fluke shot from the corner. Wolstenholme, Macdonald and Routley ran in 9 points in the space of 4 minutes before McIntyre got another for the visitors. Combines of the Haydens and Duftons were readily smothered.

After a period of see-saw play the Petes again took up the battle axe and put another 7 tallies in the sock. A rally by the Cobourg men brought them 6 after this. Glover was put out of the game, and for a few minutes the fight was carried to the Petes' front yard. Wolstenholme and Routley made two of the smartest goals of the day before the locals closed their books for the afternoon and McIntyre and "Doc" Hayden got 2 points on free throws.

The teams:

Peterborough Collegiate—Forwards, C. Routley, W. Ward; centre, H. Macdonald; guards, L. Glover, N. Stanger; subs., V. Armstrong, W. Preston, J. Wolstenholme.

FIVE-DAY WEEK WANTED

KANSAS CITY, March 1. — The Central Building Trades Council, representing all organized building crafts in Kansas City, Mo., Kansas City, Kas., and Leavenworth, Kas., voted last night to strike for a five day week at the present five and a half days' pay. Between 8,000 and 9,000 workmen are affected.

STUDENTS WIN ON THE ROUND BY 3-2 COUNT

BITTER STRUGGLE.

Walkerton and Parish Clash To-night For Intermediate Championship.

TORONTO, Ont., March 3.—(C.P.)—University of Toronto won the Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" championship Saturday night by holding Toronto Nationals to a scoreless draw in an exciting game played before more than 5,000 fans at Varsity Arena. The Students won the first contest three to two, and therefore won the round by the slimmest of margins. They will meet the winner of the Queen's University-Hamilton Tiger Senior "B" series for the Ontario Senior championship.

Queen's secured a one goal lead over Hamilton Tigers in the first of their two game Senior "B" series at Kingston. The score was two to one and all three three goals were notched in the final period. Tigers were first to score, McGowan finally beating Morris, Queen's goalkeeper, for a clever goal. Murphy and Squires comprising the Students' defence, played splendid hockey throughout and were forced to overcome the Tigers' lead when the forwards failed. Each netted a goal following individual rushes. Hamilton were much better than Queen's offensively but failed to outguess Morris except on the one occasion. The return game will be played in Hamilton to-night.

SMART GAMES TO-NIGHT.

Another important match to-night will be played at Galt, where Walkerton and Paris clash in the second of their two-game series for the Intermediate championship. Walkerton won the first contest at Toronto, six to three, but the Parisians, refreshed after several days' rest, are confident of reducing the margin.

At Toronto two smart junior teams meet in the first of a two-game semi-final series. They are West Toronto, victors over Oshawa and Kingston in the third and fourth rounds, and University of Toronto, who eliminated the clever Parry Sound sextette.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Assoc. playdowns Cobalt and Sault Ste. Marie juniors clash in the first game for the championship. Both teams are typical Northern Ontario teams, fast skaters, clever stick-handlers and deadly shots and the northern fans are in for a fine exhibition before the youngsters come south for the Memorial Cup playdowns.

Winnipeg Elmwoods, Memorial Cup finalists with Toronto Marlboros last spring, are the first Provincial champions to be declared in Western Canada. They defeated University of Manitoba juniors, 3 to 2 in overtime, to capture the round and the Manitoba title, eight to four.

TO PRESERVE O. HENRY HOME

AUSTIN, Tex. (U.P.)—O. Henry's home here will be preserved. Sidney Porter (O. Henry) had two residences while in Austin. One was in the Harrell home facing the Governor's mansion. The other was a little cottage where he moved after his midnight marriage to Athol Estes. Herman Becker, owner, offered the house for preservation if it can be removed. City officials will furnish a park site.

DENIKE WINS VICTORIA CUP

Campbellford Bonspiel is Continued With Return of the Cold Weather.

CONSOLATION EVENT.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 3 (Examiner Staff Correspondent).—With the return of the cold weather, the curlers of Campbellford resurrected their brooms, and the continuation of the local bonspiel became a fact.

On Friday evening the rinks skipped by H. Denike and A. J. Meyers clashed in the finals for the Victoria Cup. After a hard fight, Denike carried off the coveted trophy with a 12-7 score.

In the consolation event, C. Palliser met D. Douglas, and trimmed his opponent 9-6, while D. E. Tait battled with P. J. Sarginson, the score of 6-7 being in favor of the latter rink.

Saturday's play was a contest between Palliser and Sarginson. Good form was shown by both rinks, but Palliser led with a 12-7 count.

To-night's play will feature the semi-finals in the consolation trophy, when C. Palliser will meet J. P. Archer and F. C. Bonnycastle will play F. C. Smith.

STIRLING OUT TO WIN TROPHY

CAMPBELLFORD, March 3 (Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Providing that weather conditions remain favorable, the final struggle for supremacy in the Trent Valley Hockey eague will be fought next Wednesday and Friday, March 5 and 7, between Stirling and Campbellford. The game on Wednesday will be staged in the Arena, Campbellford, and gives evidence of being a heroic struggle. Campbellford are saving their men, as was noted by the line-up that faced Stirling Friday night at Stirling.

The Campbellford team was a make-up to comply with a request to complete the League schedule, and although it went down to defeat against Stirling's regular line-up, 9-0, it put up a game fight. Two goals in each of the first two periods was good playing. The remaining five goals were scored during the third period. Friday's game at Stirling will be a grim fight. In possession of the cup for two years in succession, and permanently retaining it if they drive Campbellford off the ice this year, the Reds will be a hard nut to crack. Stirling is in first place in the League standing with 12 wins and 4 losses, and Campbellford comes second place with 9 wins, 5 losses and 2 ties, each having a total of 16 games.

WEEK-END TILTS DISASTROUS FOR CANADIAN CLUBS

Hamilton Makes Best Showing By Holding Detroit to One-all Deadlock.

BISONS KEEP PACE.

Sixteen Penalties Feature of Tiger-Olympic Clash—Major For Hal Hicks.

TORONTO, Ont., March 3. (Canadian Press)—Week-end games played in the International Hockey League proved disastrous for Canadian teams, Hamilton Tigers made the best showing by holding Detroit to a one-all deadlock. The league leading Cleveland Indians white-washed Niagara Falls, seven to nothing, while the second place Buffalo Bisons beat Toronto, four to two.

In their match with Niagara, the league leaders met with little opposition and Ken Doraty, midget forward, put them in the lead with a goal less than two minutes after the game started. They added another 12 minutes later then notched a pair in the middle frame. Doraty started off the third session with his third goal and the winners added two more before the match ended.

Bisons Keep Face

Buffalo kept right behind the Cleveland team in the point column when they overcame a two-goal lead Toronto had secured early in the opening period on goals by Scotty Martin, Indian forward and Cliff McBride. Carl Voss took Lloyd Gross' pass near the end of the session to give the Bisons their first goal which they added to in the middle period when Gamey Lederman counted unassisted. Johnny Martin and Roter both chalked up two more markers in the last period to put the game in the win column for the Bisons.

Many Penalties

The Hamilton-Detroit contest was hotly contested at all times and of the sixteen penalties meted out one was a major to Hal Hicks, Detroit defenceman for slashing.

Detroit took the lead in the second period after a scoreless opening frame when McInenly notched a spectacular tally unassisted. McIntyre tied the count in the third period on a pass from Hamel. The overtime period saw some of the best hockey of the game but no scoring developed..

Toronto and Niagara Falls, the tail-end teams, meet at Niagara Falls in the only scheduled fixture to-night.

EVERY BELL TELEPHONE IS A LONG DISTANCE STATION

Sell... this new way... by code numbers

Many progressive firms today are using long distance telephone service to make sales at lower costs. They divide their territories into "Key Towns" from which different groups of customers can be called conveniently and economically.

We assist in this by compiling Sequence Lists of calls and giving each call a Code Number. The salesman then just tells the Long Distance operator: "I want numbers 2, 6 and 9 on my Sequence List".

The increased facilities for long distance service make Key-town Selling by Code Numbers more efficient than ever. We shall be glad to explain the details and help you organize your lists.

Draftsmen Win C. G. E. Shop League Group Title

LAST YEAR'S LOOP CHAMPIONS DEFEAT OFFICE TEAM NO. 1 5-1 TO COP BERTH IN PLAY-OFFS

Draw Makers Nose Out Tool Makers in League Standings By One Point Marfin.

BITTER STRUGGLE.

Superior Combination By Toolmakers Earns Them Decision Over Engineers.

The Drafting Room, C.G.E. Shop League champions of last year, defeated the Office No. 1 team, 5-1 in a convincing manner on Saturday afternoon to win the championship of Group 1 and a place in the play-offs, while the Tool Room team their keenest rival, defeated the Engineers 4-1, staging their third consecutive win in as many days, only to be nosed out of a place in the play-offs by the Drafting victory which givs the latter team a one point lead.

The Drafting-Office game besides being a "knock 'em down, drag 'em out" battle was one of the most unusual games played in Group 1 this season as both teams resorted to an open, individual style of playing that was a precedent for both of them. The Draftsmen deserved their four goal margin as they matched the Pen Pushers in every department of the game, and exhibited a great deal more scoring punch and finish in their defensive work, while the Office took more chances on the attack, but were not so careful in covering up.

The first period was a scoreless one, with the play about even. Thornton, the Drafting wing man, was fed continually by his teammates but his shooting was wild and he was forced to do most of his sniping from the blue line, or well outside the defence.

Torrid Affair

The second chukker was a torrid affair, both teams checking heavily and end to end rushes were features of the play. Rooke opened the scoring two minutes after the period started when he rushed with Meagher and scored on a pass from behind the net. Both teams began to lay on the wood at this stage of the game and penalties were numerous. Howe and Davis presented an almost impregnable defence in front of the Drafting Room forwards kept the play in the Office territory and rendered combination playing impossibly, although Tuck and Hall worked desperately to break away. Tuck at centre for the Office with his speed and stick handling ability was a constant threat to the Drawing makers and was responsible for the lone Office tally, which came four minutes before the period ended, when he took a pass from Playford and scored on a whistling shot that Kearn's never saw.

Thornton Tallies Counter

Thornton took a pass from the face-off at the start of the final period, skirted the defence and netted the rubber on a low fast shot. Contrary to expectations the Office failed to exhibit an organized style in their attacks, and for the most part were content with one man sallies which resulted in the puck-carried shooting from well out and going in fast in an effort to net the rebound. These tactics suited the Draftsmen who covered up admirably. The Office threw four men on the attack but even then were rarely a real threat to the winners. Thornton broke fast alone, leaving the whole Office team in the lurch and scored his second goal unassisted. Eddie Williams and Weir did not perform in their usual brilliant manner, although both worked hard. Meagher, Rooke and Allin worked like Trojans in stemming the Office attacks and Allin scored the final goal of the game with one minute to go, on a pass from Thornton.

The teams:

Drafting Room—Goal, Kearns, defence, Davis and Howe; centre Allin; wings, Thornton and Rooke; alternates, Palmer, Masterson and Meagher.

Office—Goal, Miller; defence, Weir Williams; centre, Tuck; wings, Hall and Playford; alternates, Whatley and Saunders.

Smart Combination Pays

Forcing tactics and a finished style of combination play by the Toolmakers, featured the first period of this game and resulted in the Engineers being securely bottled up in their own territory for the greater part of the session, which fairly sparkled at times with clever hockey. Close checking in centre ice robbed the Engineers of much of their scoring punch and made combination play almost impossible, while the Tool Room forwards on the other hand, broke fast and often, three abreast, and wasted very few chances. Hatton started the scoring on a rather lucky shot which he lifted at Jones in the Engineers' net from outside the blue line, the latter apparently missing it through being off balance. The Engineers played defensive hockey during four-fifths of this period, covering up well and showing plenty of finish around the net, while the Toolmakers, checked carefully but did not resort to much long range gunning..

The second period decided the game, as the Tool Room forwards flashed clever combination with clockwork regularity which carried them well inside the Engineers' defence and resulted in three more goals, while the losers were held scoreless. Ray Epps at centre was the king pin in the Tool Room attacks, showing speed, strategy and plenty of hockey generalship, in engineering the rushes, which were usually made, three abreast. Hatton and Corkery fitted in perfectly on the wings and each contributed a great deal of scoring punch. The first goal came after six minutes of play, when Epps pushed the puck into the Engineers' net during a scramble. Epps also netted the second, after taking a pass from Hatton inside the blue line. Ken Carroll staged the nicest lone rush of the game in this frame when he zigzagged through the whole Tool Room team only to drill a close-in shot at Stan Jones' pads which the latter cleared. Killoran, Hadlock and Carroll were the outstanding players for the Engineers.

The third period was a torrid one, the Engineers launching a series of attacks that kept the Tool Room defencemen on their toes, and finally resulted in the lone tally for the losers, W. Auld taking a pass from Killoran and drilling a hot one into the upper corner of the net. Swanger and Mickey Williams showed up well on defence, the latter alternating with Hatton on left wing. Barrie, subbing for the Tool Room, showed more tricky stick-handling than any of his team-mates and turned in a splendid game.. The teams:—

Engineers.—Goal, Fred Jones; defence, J. Auld and Hadlock; centre, Carroll; wings, Killoran and Justice; alternates, W. Auld and Craighead.

Tool Room.—Goal, Stan Jones; defence, Swanger and Hatton; centre, Epps; wings, Corkery and A. Williams; alternate, Barrie.

Referee, Jack Thornton.

ARMATURE VANQUISH OFFICE.

The Armature Winding Dept. team vanquished their speedy rivals, the Office No. 2 team, by the close score of 1-0 on Saturday to win the championship of Group 3 in the C.G.E. Shop League.

Both teams piled into each other from the initial face-off with a determination that resulted in a very keenly contested battle. The only score of the game came after four minutes of play when L. McGillen grabbed a loose puck at centre, and in a lone rush lifted a long shot from outside the defence, and went in fast to net the rebound off the end of the rink.

The Office team showed more speed than their opponents who relied on weight and close checking to win the games.

Menzies, Perry and McGillen worked themselves into an extreme state of exhaustion, going the limit without subs, while Calladine and Sutherland on defence played great hockey.

The Office had the edge on the play in the final session cut could not score on Bannon, who smothered shots from every angle. Beavis, Gray and Gibson were the most effective for the losers. The teams:

Armature—Goal, Bannon; defence, Calladine and Sutherland; centre, Menzies; wings, L. McGillen and Perry.

Office — Goal, Copping; defence, Beavis and O'Toole; centre, Gray; wings, Gibson and Parsons; alternates, Cheu and Payne.

COBOURG WINS SECOND GAME

Local Girl Basketeers Drop 29-19 Decision to Lakeshore Town Collegiate.

SQUADS EVENLY MATCHED.

For the second time, the girl basketeers of the Cobourg Collegiate showed their superiority over the girls of the Peterborough Collegiate in no uncertain terms when they administered a 29-19 drubbing in P.C.I. on Saturday afternoon. The score of the game on the first meeting of the two squads on the previous Saturday in Cobourg was 59-29, with the Cobourg girls much on the heavy side.

The Garnet and Grey girls came on the floor for the first of the three 10-minute periods with the intention of avenging their defeat in the first game, it being the first time a P.C.I. Girls' team has been defeated by Cobourg in many years past. Viola Harvey scored the first basket of the day shortly after the tip-off and Catharine Turpin evened the tally with one for Cobourg. The squads were evenly matched and where one got a ringer the other followed immediately in the first session. Harvey got two baskets in succession and Helen Pellow and Turpin nicked two that tied the score before the first session needed.

All in a rush at the opening of hostilities for the second P.C.I. got snowed under and did not succeed in recovering the lead. Turpin, Pellow and Phyllis Norton ran in 8 points in the first three minutes. Viola Harvey bagged four points, but the visitors got seven more before the whistle stopped the landslide. The period was all in favor of Cobourg, the local girls being helpless against their well-organized attacks and their unbeatable defense.

Harvey led the scoring in the third with a basket from a rebound. During the period P.C.I. rallied and took the play into enemy ground for a while They earned nine points while the lakeshore girls got eight on the period.

The Teams:

Cobourg C. I: Forwards, H. Pellow, P. Norton; centres, C. Turpin, G. Evans; guards, A. Stinson, M. Evans; subs, F. Brinning, D. McCulloch, D. Johns.

Peterborough C. I.: Forwards, V. Harvey, C. Patterson; centres, H. Cole, J. Allin; guards, E. Armstrong, A. Comstock; sub. M. Cowan.

CITY HOCKEY LOOP FINALS

This Week Should See Champions Declared in Different Divisions of Loop.

SENIORS CLASH TUESDAY.

The hockey season is entering upon its final lap, and this week should see champions declared in all the different divisions of the sport in the city.

A standout in the way of hockey entertainment is offered lovers of the winter pastime at the Brock Street ice palace to-morrow night. The best talent in the City Hockey League will step out in the big clash between De Laval and Tool Room for the championship.

On their success in the first game when they nicked a 4-1 victory; odds are placed on the Toolmakers. The C.G.E. outfit deserved that 3-goal margin in the first game, their play showing a polish and smoothness that took them repeatedly in upon the Separators' nets.

But the De Laval list smart stick-wielders on their lineup, and their supporters favor them to upset the dope by coming through with a win.

To-morrow night's set-to promises to be a sizzler.

An added attraction of great merit will be the junior championship final between the Canucks and C.G.E. Office. The Canucks came through with a 2-1 decision last week to tie up the round, and everything rests on this game.

TOOL MAKERS BEAT COMBINES

Local City League Hockey Squad Winners at Norwood By 4-3 Count.

PLAY SMART HOCKEY.

The speedy C.G.E. Tool Room sextette, outstanding contenders for City League hockey honors invaded Norwood on Friday last and took the clever Havelock-Norwood intermediate team into camp by the score of 4-3 in one of the smoothest hockey exhibitions played on the large new rink this season.

The "Combines" trotted out a classy line-up with Brennan of Havelock and McLaughlin of junior fame on defence, while Jacks at centre and Beavis in goal completed a clever quartette. The locals played their regular City League line-up and scored a goal which was not allowed, their opponents claiming that the period bell had sounded.

Speedy Opening

The Tool-makers opened the game with a rush of speed that had the "Combines" guessing and before four minutes of play had elapsed a three-man attack by Killoran, Epps and Hatton resulted in the first tally. Epps passing to Hatton from behind the net. The locals were going great guns, and had more than their share of the play in this frame. Killoran executed a neat rush, carrying the puck along the left boards to split the opposing defence and notch the second tally from close-in. The Norwood team soon began to hit their stride and although they were seldom in a scoring position, they were a real threat on the attack. Both teams favored long-range gunning and the Norwood team capitalized when an off-side necessitated a face-off near the C. G.E. citadel, Jacks making the shot.

Smart Combinations

The second period was featured by a more finished brand of combination play, both teams breaking in good formation, "Mickey" Williams and Epps combined to give Beavis, the Norwood goalie, some very busy moments. Hatton and Killoran were also much in the lime-light, showing to advantage in clever two-man rushes. McLaughlin, the husky Norwood junior, played a great game being dangerous on numerous occasions, when he engineered clever solo attacks. Brennan tied the score when he carried the puck the length of the rink with four minutes to go. Jacks at centre for Norwood was a thorn in the side of the Toolmakers with his tenacious back-checking which broke up a great many Tool-Room sorties. The locals forged ahead half-way through the period, when Hatton passed to Killoran who was uncovered in front of the Norwood net, the latter slamming home the rubber, giving Beavis no chance. Terrific checking by both teams, kept the play on mid-ice, although the intermediates seemed the most aggressive, Brennan and McLaughlin getting in some very dangerous rushes. Epps and Killoran worked their way through the Norwood defence in a pretty effort which resulted in another goal, Killoran registering.

The feature play of the game, came four minutes before the final gong, when Brennan stick-handled his way through the whole Tool Room team, drew Jones out of the net and scored to give the Norwooders their third goal.

Referee—Ken. Carroll.

The teams:

Norwood-Havelock—Goal, Beavis; defence, Brennan and McLaughlin, centre, Jacks; wings, Rothwell and Stevenson; subs., Rogers, Wright, King and Scriver.

C.G.E. Tool Room—Goal, Jones; defence, Swanger and Hadlock; centre, R. Epps; wings, Killoran and Hatton; alternates, Ashmore, Corkery, A. Williams and H. Epps.

British Motion Picture Firm Demands Films Of Sharkey-Scott Fight At Miami

LONDON, March 3.— (A.P.)— Declaring that the British public wants to see the complete film of the Sharkey-Scott fight, Wardour Films Limited, who have the exclusive rights for the film in this country, announced they had taken legal advice and had insisted that every foot of film taken shall be sent over from the United States.

"We realize how great is the desire of the public to see the whole of the fight so they may judge for themselves whether the fight was fair and the strait rules of boxing observed. They will see the complete picture," said Arthur Bent, managing director.

Lord Lonsdale, head of the British Boxing Board of Control and probably the most popular sportsman in Great Britain is a close observer of the controversy around Scott's defeat by Sharkey, but is withholding comment pending further information.

"I cannot express any opinion until I have seen certain people in London," he said at his country home to-day. "If I said anything at this stage it might be misleading. I received a short cable from Miami telling me the result of the fight and something about the foul blows but shall want to know more."

It is assumed he is waiting a report of Lionel Bettison, prominent member of the British Board of Control, who paid Miami a special visit to see the fight.

CHURCH TEAMS SETTING UP NEW RECORD.

All Saints' and George street, in battling for the Junior championship of the Church Hockey League are setting up a new record for close play. Four games have been played and still the title remains in the balance. George street has won one setto; all Saints' other, and the other two ended in ties. What it was hoped would prove the deciding game was played on Friday evening at the Brock street arena, but it too ended with the score knotted 2-all. The teams will be sent back again on Wednesday evening, at the Brock between 8 and 9 o'clock

All the other groups in the Church league have been decided. This season will go down in the records of this league as the most successful in many years. Sixteen teams competed, being four in advance of the former record. The Church League supplied hockey for at least 160 young players in the city.

CITY TEAMS IN CHAMPIONSHIP DEADLOCK.

A similar situation to that in the Junior section of the Church League exists in the same group of the Minor City League. The Tigers and the Adanacs have played three games. Fred Thirnbeck's Brock street Tigers won one, and the other two ended in ties. If ice conditions permit the teams will be dropped over the boards to settle the championship to the satisfaction of all.

LARGE ENTRY LIST FOR HAMILTON MEET.

Dissatisfaction with the manner in which the Olympic games were managed in Paris in 1928, caused representatives of the British Empire to favor running games under similar lines for Empire athletes. Canadian delegates to Paris were foremost in urging this proproposal, and later it was decided that the first British Empire games should be held in Canada in 1930.

Hamilton as the outstanding athletic centre of the Domminion was selected as the scene of the games The citizens of Hamilton have dipped in their pockets to build a new stadium and to assure that the setting for the games will be of the best. A new note of optimism for their success was struck on Sunday when R. M. Robinson, one of the chief organizers, just before sailing from England, telegraphed that at least 200 athletes would be sent to the games by Great Britain and Ireland. South Africa, Australia and New Zealand and far-flung outposts of the Empire, will also be strongly represented at Hamilton this summer.

BAMBINO SHOWS UP AT TRAINING CAMP.

Babe Ruth made his first appearance of the year on the Yankees' practice field at St. Petersburg, Fla., yesterday. The Babe did not put on a uniform, but stood around chatting with the boys during batting and fielding drill. He said that he would be in uniform to-day and out swinging his war club. "I want to keep right in step with the team the while the Colonel and I get together and adjust that little matter about the contract."

INTERMEDIATE FINAL ATTRACTS INTEREST.

The Intermediate O.H.A. final between Walkerton and Paris is attracting a great share of hockey interest. On Friday night Walkerton gained a three-goal lead over Paris, winning 6 to 3. Paris was a leg-weary outfit for the game. They had just completed four games in seven days, counting in a tough series with Jordan. The second game is scheduled for Galt to-night, and it is to be judged that the three day rest and the smaller ice surface will do wonders with the play of the Parisians.

To some theatre interests this is a heart-warming clamor. It means economy for them, hence greater profits.

To persons of sound musical taste, it is ludicrous and impudent—an affront to the intelligence and taste of the theatre-going public. They see in the talkies no excuse for resort to Canned Music.

ABSENT AT GOLF NOT AT FUNERAL

Allegation in Employer's Defense Against Suit For $1,250.

TORONTO, March 1. (C. P.) — Whether an employee had absented himself from duty for the purpose of attending a funeral or merely to play golf, was a question for discussion in a breach of employment contract case brought before Mr. Justice Logie in non-jury assizes yesterday.

Stanley Lawson was claiming $1,250 from George Pepper, garage proprietor and automobile agent, who employed him as a manager. He alleged that he was discharged without cause contrary to the terms of an agreement by which he was engaged for five years at $250 a month. He claimed one month's pay and $1000, the amount agreed to be paid by either party who wished to terminate the agreement.

The defence denied that plaintiff properly continued to carry out his duties, and said that he left his employment when business matters were pressing. Defendant alleged that on this occasion plaintiff had been playing golf in London, but had said by way of explanation that he had gone to Oshawa to attend the funeral of his friend's wife. Defendant further alleged that plaintiff, contrary to instructions, made endorsement to lien notes, discounting the paper which he received. A counter-claim of $5000 was entered.

Plaintiff said that he went to London to play golf for the purpose of putting through a business deal on behalf of his employer.

OSHAWA ALDERMEN INSPECT FIRE HALL

Are Favourably Impressed With Peterborough's Fire Equipment.

Fire Chief Elliott and Aldermen G. Harmon and R. McDonald, members of the Fire, Water and Light committee of the Oshawa City Council, paid a visit of inspection to Peterborough Fire Department on the invitation of Fire Chief George Gimblett on Saturday, and were obviously favorably impressed with the fire-fighting facilities which this city enjoys.

The journey from Oshawa was made by car and the object of the visit was to gain some information concerning the operation of the newly purchased ladder truck with the intention of making certain recommendations to their own Council respecting the equipment of the Oshawa brigade.

Fire Chief Gimblett escorted the three visitors around the hall, explaining in detail the merits of each piece of equipment. Much interest was manifested in the up-to-date sprinkler alarms which are installed and also in the call box apparatus and water pressure gauge.

After a thorough inspection inside the building the Chief staged a demonstration with his 35-foot ladder and also with the "grab hook" or one man ladder, which is easily hooked on to the window ledges of any building.

MARK STREET UNITED CHURCH CELEBRATES FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Rev. C. F. Cragg, of Oshawa, is the Special Preacher for the Day.

DEDICATED YEAR AGO.

Mark Street United Church observed the first anniversary of its dedication on Sunday when Rev. C. F. Cragg, B.D., of Simcoe Street United Church, Oshawa, preached before large congregations at the morning and evening services.

The choir, twenty-five strong rendered special music under the direction of Mrs. W. A. Greenslade, organist. Taking as the anthem at the evening worship, "I Will Sing Thy Power"— Sullivan with W. Binks, tenor soloist. "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings", by Liddle was the solo beautifully and expressibly sung by Mrs. T. Curvin whilst a quartette composed of Mesdames Curvin and Binks and Messrs. W. Greenslade and W. Smith sang "Softly Now the Light of Day."

Both services were in charge of Rev. A. E. Thornley, M.A., the present pastor of the church.

Pastor in Old Church.

In his opening remarks, Rev. C. F. Cragg referred to the splendid singing of the choir, adding that he was not unmindful of the days past, when the congregation labored under great difficulties. He remembered in the days of his ministry at Mark Street when the choir was only about twenty strong and when they were not nearly so efficient as at the present time.

He was pleased also to note the growth of the Sunday School, saying that he could not help but think of all the hours he had spent in that work and contrast it with those other days in the old church. The speaker hoped that the church would now be better able to move steadily forward to higher work in the service of God, and that He would bless their endeavors.

Taking his text from Jeremiah 9: verses 23-24 "Thus said the Lord, let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches: But let him that glorieth, glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lord which exercises loving kindness, judgment and righteousness in the earth," the preacher launched into a thoughtful and eloquent discourse.

Quoting a passage from a letter once written by Sir Walter Scott in which he said, "I am forty-five years old to-day, once upon a time I used to try to kill time, henceforth I intend to live for the things that count," the preacher said that possibly those words could be numbered amongst some of the greatest passages ever penned. When Sir Walter died he took the receipe of living for the things that count with him. Very few people have learned the value of time and what can be accomplished, if turned to proper use.

Value of Education.

All through the ages men have laid stress on the value of education and in days gone by have erected monuments to their scholars. But we are living in a rapidly changing age. Books five years old, dealing with surgery are of little value as far as instruction is concerned. "How fleeting is human knowledge", exclaimed the preacher. "Let not a man glory in wisdom.

Speaking of the champions of other days he said, these men are forgotten and the strong men of to-day will be gone to-morrow. Let not a man glory in his strength, nor let a man glory in his riches, but let him glory in the permanent values which relates to individual relationship to God.

He went on to speak of the Bible and thought that the Book of Numbers was of little value in giving light although it might be valuable in establishing the strength of the tribes of the Children of Israel. It certainly was not a comparison to the Book of Psalms. Revelations whilst interesting in its mysticism was not a Book to which one would turn to get light on the value of prayer or knowledge of Christ Himself. For the true biography of Jesus Christ one has to turn to the Gospels. The Bible is a Book in which is contained drama, music and literature of the highest type. There are no songs to compare with the songs of Zion, no orations like those of the Prophets.

Ruskin once said that the first one hundred great books of literature, great works of art and sculpture were based on the truths of the Bible, whilst Gladstone had likewise remarked that every law passed in the House of Commons over a period of forty years, was based on the truths of the Bible. The things which the Bible lays stress on are permanent things. It contains the great laws of right living; to love mercy and justice and walk humbly with God; to visit widows in distress and to keep oneself unspotted. All these are permenent things.

"God is in all history" declared Rev. Mr. Cragg and he continued to expand this thought, saying that Christ was born in Palestine, the little land which was the theatre of the working of the greatest religion ever known, because it was most suitably located. It occupies a strategic position on all the trade routes of the old world and was in close proximity to the four greatest civilisations the world produced, Greece, Rome, Persia and Egypt. God accomplished His work through this land as was His will.

All Works of God.

The preacher described the downfall of Greece fifty years before the coming of Christ and the building of great roads by the Roman conquerors. All this was the design of God as the roads were later to serve as means of travel for the Apostles, who journeyed forth to proclaim the message of the Messiah.

God has been down through the ages working for the great truth that there is one great God.

Other great truths added the speaker were the moral truths. It pays a man to do good. Righteousness exhalteth a nation but iniquity tendeth to death. One cannot read the old and new testaments without knowing that those who follow the commands are blessed.

Evil reverts back to a man and to give proof of this, Mr. Cragg quoted instances of how Ramon, mentioned in the Book of Esther perished on the gallows which he had erected for the execution of the Jews and how Robespierre that evil character associated with the French revolution perished on the guillotine on which he had sent hundreds of men and women to their doom. This is a great truth demonstrated, because it is the word of God. Be sure your sin will find you out.

He spoke of three other moral laws, those of personal evangelism, world evangelism and the establishing of one great united body of believers and thought that all three were steadily being brought to fruition. He said he could speak of the evangelistic work being accomplished at home and in far away India and China did time permit adding that in the next tweaty-five years he could foresee an evangelistic revolution that would astound everybody.

Where are you laying stress, asked the preacher in closing. Are you living such a life that you can say at the close of each day, "I have wronged neither God nor man in deed or thought". May we so honor Him that He honor us."

In the first six months of this year Soviet Russia imported $7,056,447 worth of agricultural implements from the United States.

The people of Flanders regarded the family and not the individual as the unit and formed Family Guilds "for protection from losses by fire, sickness, robbery, death and other misfortunes."

Merchant Guilds were also formed for the "risks of merchants at sea."

Lord Keeper Bacon in 1598 said "Doth not a wise merchant in every venture, of danger, give part to have the rest insured?"

In London, in 1583, sixteen merchants entered into a written agreement to insure the life of one William Gybbons for a term of twelve months in the amount of 383 pounds sterling at a premium of 8 per cent.

Four Hundred Years Ago

WITH the coming of the Lombards to Flanders, trading flourished. As the new flood of commerce swept through Europe, it left in its wake a fertile sediment of prosperity.

Gradually the sunlight of liberty, of a better social order, poured in. People asserted their rights in the councils of the country—and domestic life grew richer, sweeter and more secure.

The insurance principle received a real impetus. At Antwerp, in the early sixteenth century, various forms were in existence through the Merchant and Family Guilds of the time which afforded a form of protection against loss by fire, sickness, robbery and death.

To-day, through The Dominion Life Assurance Company, there are available to Canadians the perfected benefits of modern life insurance protection. Insurance is a vital matter affecting your immediate welfare as well as the future protection of those dear to you. If you would like to have a properly planned insurance programme, consult the Dominion Life representative. 315

POLICE CHECK UP ON SPEED FIENDS

Many Motorists Are Found To Be Speeding Over Hunter Street Bridge.

CHARGES TO BE LAID.

Take a tip—don't speed over Hunter Street Bridge. Some motorists did this morning, and arguments ensued in the Police Station. Later their regrets may assume payment of fines.

The police are out to check up on speeding. This morning two officers in a car were stationed on the bridge and they clocked all motor vehicles. According to the Chief, the motorists were allowed something above the limit of 15 miles, but even at that many were hitting along at a rate that brought them tickets. Some immediately hied to the station with the apparent aim of talking themselves out of it.

These debates will be continued before Magistrate Langley.

PROFESSOR SANDIFORD ADDRESSES PETERBORO TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Annual Dinner of City Teachers is Held in the Empress Hotel.

HUMOR AND INTELLIGENCE.

A striking demonstration of a theory that was enunciated by the speaker of the evening was perhaps unconsciously illustrated on Saturday evening at the Empress Hotel, on the occasion of the annual dinner of the Peterborough Teachers' Institute, when Professor Peter Sandiford, who occupies the chair of Educational Psychology at the University of Toronto, spoke to the assembled guests. Professor Sandiford told the audience about his theory of the passage of time; how five minutes could seem like three minutes or like fifteen, according to the subject matter listened to. Then he spoke for about half an hour; and, as Adrian Macdonald said when he rose to thank the speaker of the evening, it seemed like five minutes only.

113 Present

Members and friends of the Teachers' Institute, which includes the staff of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, which was well represented and included Principal H. R. H. Kenner and Mrs. Kenner, also the inspectorate of the city and county, represented by R. F. Downey, who was accompanied by Mrs. Downey and by A. Mowat, gathered for their annual dinner, to the number of one hundred and thirteen, including special guests in Mayor R. Denne, Dr. J. J. Craig, chairman of the Board of Education, and Mrs. W. R. Morris, the feminine member of the Board, representatives of allied profession in Dr. C. B. Waite, president of the Medical Association, who was accompanied by Mrs. Waite, the Rev. D. Wren, president of the Ministerial Association of the city, with Mrs. Wren, R. C. Flitton, president of the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, with Mrs. Flitton, and members of the staff of the Normal School; Principal J. A. Bannister, Miss E. MacVannel, Miss A. Going, Miss M. R. Rannie, Miss E. Munro, Miss B. Latimer, A. J. Madill and Mrs. Madill, Adrian Macdonald and Mrs. Macdonald, Dr. H. G. Park, who is a former member of the staff of the Normal School, was present also, with Mrs. Park.

Arrangements were in the hands of the Social Committee of the Teachers' Institute, headed by the president, Miss Jean Buck, the secretary-treasurer, Miss F. D. Walker, and Don. Munro. Miss Buck presided very gracefully over a dinner that was served in the Empress' usual very satisfactory fashion at tables arranged with rose tulips. The head table was centred by a basket filled with daffodils and double tulips. During dinner, community singing was led by M. H. Park, with Miss M. R. Rannie at the piano.

After the toast to "The King and Country" had been duly honored, Miss Edith Murphy, in eloquent words, proposed the toast to "Our Profession" dwelling humorously on some of the difficulties encountered in the daily round of the classroom.

The Stuart Kings

"In this modern era of delirious acceleration" said Miss Murphy, "we still try to teach a little—sometimes—at intervals." The speaker referred to the ingenious scholar who sought to camouflage his ignorance of the subject by remarking sagely that the Stuart kings ceased to rule in England because, as they were Scottish, the English wished to oust them from power, reflecting that the Scotch, being tight by nature, would not give them the fine roads and public buildings they desired to have.

Quoting the author who said that "there is nothing a democracy needs as much as foresight", Miss Murphy went on: "we are sometimes so deeply imbedded and encrusted with the things that are swooping about us that we do not see the future and we teachers sometimes forget the true objective of our work: trying to train the pupil how to live. R. L. Stevenson truly said: "Oh, Lord, keep my conscience awake when my intellect nods."

The toast to "Our Guests," proposed by R. J. Bolton, was a pleasing tribute to the guests of the evening, and, in replying, Mayor Denne, the first to rise in response, spoke of the schools of Peterborough, as "second to none in the province." Other replies were made in turn by the Rev. Mr. Wren, who spoke eloquently of the work done by the teachers, and by Dr. J. J. Craig, whose finely-worded, pleasant speech contained a great deal of interest for his hearers in its references to the demands made on educationists by the complexities of modern civilization. Speaking of the manner in which the delicatessen, for instance, has supplanted the older trend in domestic education, Dr. Craig quoted the man who was asked if his wife was a good cook, and answered that she was "the cutest little canopener you ever saw."

Replies to the same toast were made by Dr. Waite, speaking for the Medical Association, and R. C. Flitton, who outlined briefly the aims of the Engineering Institute.

Following the toast list, a splendid vocal program was heard, in two songs by Miss Margaret Dickson, whose sweet, coloratura soprano was at its best in the Old English medody, "Shepherd, Thy Demeanor Vary," and the Jewel Song" from "Faust;" sung in French, and by M. H. Park, singing, in his vibrant, melodious tenor, a Scotch number, "The Bonnie Earl o' Moray" and "La Donna e Mobile," the latter in Italian. Both singers received enthusiastic applause, and were accompanied by Mrs. Agnes Logan Green.

The speaker of the evening, Professor Peter Sandiford of the University of Toronto, was introduced in pleasant, friendly words by Inspector Mowat, and rose to give an address that was astonishing in its brevity, quite unique in subject matter and handled in a manner distinctive and refreshing. Professor Sandiford was a teacher speaking to teachers. He addressed them as from the classroom forum, but he did it in a fashion that could make his hearers understand why his lectures might be among the most popular in the curriculum.

Humorous Address

Entitled "Humor and Intelligence," the address was a succession of jokes that brought corresponding succession of laughs throughout its brief recital. The speaker commenced by recounting the course of an imaginary experiment to discover just how many times in a given number a piece of bread would fall in its buttered side. After exhaustive investigation, it was found that the bread, evidently imbued with butter of an aristrocratic tendency, fell most frequently on its moister side when the substance beneath it was of an expensive nature. Its ratio of falls when suspended over calico was only fifty-two per cent, for the buttered side, but a silk Persian rug, acting as a buffer brought the total up to ninety-eight per cent.

Then there followed a demonstration of the "fatigue' co-efficient.' "Pupils become more tired, within a certain space of time, when disinterested in a subject, than they do when they are interested," was the basis of this experiment, in which a blackboard graph, illustrated just how long time seemed to be when listening to a sermon, for instance, and how the same space of time literally flew when a Ziegfeld Follies play was the subject of the attention.

Then came a demonstration of a certain test of intelligence, illustrated by the speaker, through the reaction of the audience to certain types of jokes. The Peterborough listeners, according to the professor, stopped short at the eighteen-year-old level, their laughs refusing to come from the recital of the particular story used at that age. They progressed nobly from the ten-year-old level. This story had to do with the sad fate of a girl who was found with her body cut in eighteen pieces. "The police suspect a suicide. What is funny about that"

Then there was the astute hat-checker in a New York hotel, who claimed to tell the country of origin by the hats of his customers. "You come from Chicago?" he remarked to a visitor. "No, that's only a moth hole," replied the guest.

The Aberdonian came in for a rub. He had purchased enough whisky to fill his skin and secreted the rest in a flask on his hip. Coming through a severe motor accident, he felt for the flask. "Thank goodness, "it's only blood," he remarked, as his fingers encountered suspicious moisture.

The rivalry between California and Missouri was illustrated by a story in which the Missourian exclaimed: "Good by, God, I'm going to California," and the Californian turned the tables by repeating the sentence with the first comma placed differently.

But the audience fell down lamentably on the last tale, at the eighteen year old stop, when Adam and Eve, naming the animals, had an argument about the tiger. "I know it's a tiger by its stripes," declared Eve, and the hearers failed to respond.

Later, to the sound of much applause, the professor rose to try out another one. This time it was the story of the Scotchman and Yorkshireman in Holland, who, bereft of money and inspired by a strong thirst, were lucky enough to discover a barmaid who could be fooled into forgetting the money by talking long and animatedly while the drink was being consumed. The man from Yorkshire was satisfied with his drink, but the other, after getting off scot-free through much conversation, had an after-thought and went back to enquire about his change.

A well-worded appreciation of the speaker's address was voiced at its conclusion by Adrian Macdonald and extended to the speaker by Miss Buck.

The personnel of the Peterborough Teachers' Institute is composed as follows: Miss Jean Buck, president; H. H. Graham, B.A., vice-president; Miss F. D. Walker, secretary-treasurer. The executive committee members are Miss F. Pammett, Miss Irene Madill, Sister Augustine and D. Crawford.

CITY CHURCHES

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

Speaking at the High Mass yesterday at St. Peter's Cathedral, His Grace, Archbishop O'Brien of Kingston, reiterated the words of congratulation uttered the week previous, when speaking to the congregation of the splendid character of his successor, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Connor of London.

His Grace also referred to the approaching season of Lent, and exhorted the congregation to do their utmost in living up to the precepts of the Church at this time. "Noone rises so to the heights that God intended him to reach as when working out his soul's salvation. For this purpose, let us resort to the assistance of the Holy Eucharist. Let us pray more and be more retired during these forty days of Lent, following out the example of Christ who fasted for forty days. It pays anyone to think of the future life of eternity. But fasting is only one method of doing penance. There are many things which we may forego and renounce during this season, besides doing something to overcome our sins by the prictice of the virtues of charity and patience and kindness. We become a scandal to others when we are dishonest and untruthful, immodest and impure. The world to-day is drifting away from God and the unfortunate part of it is that God's revelation is unknown to many at the present time."

The Archbishop spoke at the conclusion of Mass. During the service, the Rev. P. Costello read a pastoral letter from His Grace, outlining the Lenten regulations, renewing remembrance of the Holy Year and also referring to the situation in Russia at the present time, "where every effort is being made to wipe out the very name of God in that unhappy land. Churches have been desecrated, monasteries and convents destroyed and priests sent into exile. But, worst of all is the condition of the little children, who are forbidden to be taught even the first elements of Christianity. There is developing in Russia a paganism worse than has ever been conceived. Neither goodwill nor affection have any effect on the perverted and atheistic Government, but there still remains the strong arm of prayer. The Holy Father has set aside St. Joseph's Day, March nineteenth, as a day of petition that persecution in Russia may cease."

His Grace asked that the people pray for this cause on the nineteenth of March and also that the children make special petition in their prayers for the children of Russia.

The Rev. Father Costello, going on to outline the Lenten regulations, asked his hearers to be present at Mass regularly, to recite the beads faithfully and remember the devotion of the Stations of the Cross, which is a meditation upon the Passion of Christ, to give alms more abundantly, to work more energetically and conscientiously and to visit the sick in their homes and in the hospitals.

He also enjoined on his listeners their obligations in fulfilling the duties of their state in life and the benefit to be derived from a course of good reading. He asked them to refrain from the occasions of sin and unnecessary amusement and pleasure.

"Unless ye do penance, ye shall all likewise perish. In the words of St. Paul: 'Give no place to the devil' at this holy season."

DR. STEVENSON

well chosen, and, lastly, it was essential that the speech should not be too long. In this connection he quoted Labouchere's statement that a speech should have a good beginning and a good ending, and the quicker the two were brought together the better, and Disraeli's advice to the young clergyman about to preach a sermon to a noble personage, "If you preach three-quarters of an hour you will never be heard of again; if you preach half an hour the noble personage will snore; if you preach fifteen minutes your effort will be commended, but if your sermon only lasts five minutes, you will be made a bishop in three years."

Rotary Alex. Mowat expressed the thanks of the club to Dr. Stevenson, recalling at the same time the fact that he had been associated with the speaker in the examination of examination papers over thirty years ago.

Among the guests to-day were Rev. Canon Vernon, Rev. Mr. James of St. John's Church, and L. J. Pettit of the local Collegiate Institute staff.

RESCUED MINE SWEEPER'S CREW

Friday the Armentiers arrived and took the shipwrecked men aboard.

Armentiers Helpless to Aid

Unable to help the position of the Thiepval, the Armentiers stood by waiting for the arrival of the salvage steamer, Salvage King, which had left Victoria. The latter vessel's trip, however, was futile for at 7.25 o'clock Friday night, the Thiepval gave a slight lurch and with a loud scraping sound commenced to turn over on her side. She was in her death throes.

Her keel appeared as her masts thrashed the sea, and the waves rocked the Armentiers nearby. In ten minutes it was all over save for bubbles and pools of oil in the whirlpool marking the ship's grave.

The Armentiers weighed anchor at daybreak Saturday and made for the naval yard at Esquimalt, where she arrived last night.

PIANO PUPILS ARE HEARD IN RECITAL

Interesting Program Heard in Art Room of Conservatory of Music.

CLASS OF MISS RENOUF.

The piano pupils of Miss Gladys Renouf were heard in a very interesting recital of music held on Friday evening in the Art Room of the Conservatory of Music.

The program was opened by little Kathryn Turner and Margaret Westbye, who proved themselves clever small musicians in their rendition of a Lullaby and Waltz. Jean Howson played most musically Gillet's "Coeur Brise" and very artistic contributions to the program were made by Louise Leteller, playing Schubert's "Impromptu" and a Chopin Waltz; Kathleen Benson, playing Tschaikowskis "Snowdrops," Doris Borland, playing Sibelius' "Romance," Ann McDonald, playing Oradi's "The Dreamer;" Margaret McCulloch, playing Moszkowski's "Serenata," and Constance Gibbons, playing Engelman's "Melody of Love."

Jack Borland, with great assurance in style, played two of Schuman's compositions, "Cradle Song" and "Sir Rupert," and Allan Park's clear-cut rendition of "Jollity" was most delightful. Sherry Bond's rhythmical Haydn composition, "Variations in G" was very well done, and Jean Meyers showed much promise in a Beethoven variation on a Theme in G.

Both Marion Wood, playing Haydn's "Scherzino," and "Narcissus," and Olga Westbye, who gave Handel's "Courante" and Heller's "Dancing Doll," show much talent in their musical renditions.

Violin numbers, which added much to the interest of the program were played by two pupils of Donald Heine; Miss Mary Westbye, who displayed splendid technique in Ponce's "Estrellita" and Carl Bohm's "Perpetuo Mobile," and Max Warne, who shows much ability in his music and whose style is quite impressive for such a young performer. His numbers were Victor Herbert's "Serenade and Kreisler's "Liebesfreud."

Accompaniments for Miss Westbye's violin numbers were played by Miss Margaret McCulloch, while Miss Renouf, who received many congratulations on the artistic work of her pupils, accompanied Max Warne.

Old Lindsay Boy Found Slain in Office

LEADING DOCTOR IN CLEVELAND IS FOUND DEAD

Dr. Alfred Scully, Native of Lindsay, Found Dead With Bullet Wound Over Heart.

GRADUATE OF McGILL.

Sister Edith is Mother Superior of a Toronto Convent.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 4. — (C.P.). — The body of Dr. Alfred Scully, native of Lindsay, Ont., prominent physician, was found in his office last night with a bullet wound over the heart. Police have no hint as to his assailant or as to why he was killed.

Dr. Scully, a graduate of McGill University, Montreal, conducted an extensive practice here. A sister, Edith, is Mother Superior in a Toronto Convent.

Police Seek Clue.

In their search for a clue, the police are back tracking over the past he kept lonely and unobstrusive in the midst of a practice among hundreds of families.

The body of Dr. Scully, 62, was found lying beneath the desk of his West Side office.

He had made hundreds of casual friends through his extensive general practice for more than 30 years, but none of them intimate enough to advance any plausible reason why his life should be sought. He was a bachelor and had no relatives here.

Robbery was discounted with the finding of $11.00 in his effects and the failure to ransack his offices and adjoining living rooms. He had a splendid professional reputation.

The body was found by Dr. F. Wood, a physician with adjoining offices, when he rushed in after hearing a call for help. Other occupants of the building also heard sounds of a scuffle, but no one heard the two shots fired, indicating the possibility that the slayer used a pistol equipped with a silencer.

A trail of blood led out of the office and there the killer's trail vanished.

Dr. Scully's family was well-known in Lindsay.

After graduating from McGill, he studied at London, Dublin, Vienna, and Naples before coming here. A brother, Jerry O. Scully, made a fortune in oil in Southern California.

May Have Been Drug Addict

A theory of detectives was that the slaying was done a crazed narcotic addict who had been refused by the doctor.

Late this afternoon, however, there was no definite clue to the identity of the slayer nor positive proof of a motive.

Apparently nothing in the doctor's office had been disturbed. He was fully clothed and seemingly had been spending a quiet evening in his suite of offices which also included apartment accommodations.

A former secretary of the slain physician, Miss Marion Urich, collapsed to-day when shown a stain on the carpet where Dr. Scully had fallen. "He was so good to everybody," she sobbed. "He didn't have an enemy in the world."

Miss Mary O'Brady, who had been the doctor's secretary at the time he was killed, told the detectives she knew of no drug addict who had been coming to the office.

Joseph Winterbottom, who has an office across from Dr. Scully's, recalled however, that last Spring the doctor had ejected a narcotic addict from the building when the man pleaded for drugs. It was an attempted repetition of such an incident, that police thought might have lead to the slaying.

U. S. Torch Burglar Given Record Trial

NEW YORK, March 4.—(C.P.) —The speediest disposition of an arson case on record in this city will be completed Friday when Harry Starkman, 18, of Toronto, so-called torch burglar of Astoria, Queens, will be sentenced by Judge Turk in Queen's Country Court. Starkman was arrested Friday night, after he had been sought four days by Chief Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy, and every available detective and patrolman in Queen's.

Starkman was charged with firing and ransacking four apartments, including that of a policeman. He was arraigned in Queen's Court yesterday morning indicted in the afternoon and soon pleaded guilty to the charge of arson. Starkman admitted 20 burglaries, but the greater interest was in the fires, which had terrorized many residents of Astoria.

CITY COUNCIL ASKS GOVERNMENT TO PASS LEGISLATION ALLOWING CITY TO SHARE IN GASOLINE TAX

Ontario Cities and Towns Are All Petitioning for the Same Legislation.

FACTORY SITE BY-LAW.

Tenders Will Be Called For Property South on Canada Crayon Company.

The wave of dissatisfaction with the Provincial legislation governing the gasoline tax and motor vehicle registration fees sweeping Ontario cities and towns was reflected by the local City Council at last night's meeting when a resolution was unanimously passed praying the Ontario Government to pass legislation to allow the city to receive some share of the revenue from the gasoline tax and registration fees.

The resolution points out that the city has incurred heavy expenditures in building roads, in improving streets and in keeping them open for traffic in winter. And further that whereas automobiles are paying tax on gasoline and registration fees to the Provincial Government annually and nothing to the municipalities, although using the city streets entirely in some case, and in other cases a large proportion of the gasoline used by city registered cars is used in city thoroughfares.

Considerable discussion arose concerning the sale of the city's property near the Crayon Company. It was resolved that this should be advertised for sale and sold to the highest bidder.

Retain Factory Sites.

Taxpayers will be aked to vote next January 1 on whether the Council shall be given permission to purchase choice factory sites so that these may be retained for future use of desirable factories. The intention of the Council is to retain these sites so that the industrial growth will not be retarded by absence of suitable property upon which a plant could be erected.

John Carroll in a letter had named a price of $8,000 for his property on Park street. The Council proposed to submit to the electors a by-law on January 1 next to authorize the purchase of land for factory sites and if it was approved the Council would purchase his property at a price to be arranged.

Mr. Carroll waited upon the Council and he stated that if the city could not immediately buy the property he would ask permission to break it up into building lots.

Can't Buy Now.

It was explained by Alderman McNabb that the statutes did not allow the city nor the City Trust to purchase the property until the people had at the polls given permission.

It was stated by Mr. Carroll that

AVIATORS' BODIES ARRIVE IN NOME

Eielson's Father and Borland's Young Widow Wait at Fairbanks.

BROUGHT FROM NANUK.

NOME, Alaska, March 4.—(C.P.)—The bodies of Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, Arctic fliers, were here to-day after having been brought across the Bering sea by airplane from the motor ship Nanuk, icebound near North Cape, Siberia.

The two bodies were flown to Teller, Alaska, yesterday, in a plane piloted by Ed Young. Pilot Joe Crosson and Mechanic Sam Macauley were passengers. The Russian aviators, Commander Mavrick Slipenov and Mechanic Farich, followed in their Junkers plane.

The aerial cortege will continue as soon as possible its flight to Fairbanks, where Ole Eielson, father of the dead aviator and Borland's young widow and sons are awaiting the remains. The bodies will be then taken by train and ship to Seattle. Lieutenant Eielson will be buried at Hatton, N.D.

MORE THAN SCORE OF LIVES LOST WHEN FRENCH RIVERS FLOOD BANKS FACTORY EMPLOYEES IMPRISONED

Town of Villemur is Like a Semi-Submerged Island, Reports State.

60 SQUARE MILES FLOODED.

Buildings Collapse As Waters Rise—Many Inhabitants Trapped in Homes.

TOULOUSE, France, March 4. — (C.P.).—While the swirling waters of the swollen Agout River surged about them, 600 workmen were imprisoned to-day in a flooded spaghetti factory at Villemur, awaiting rescue.

The town itself was like a semi-submerged island in the centre of a lake covering an area of 60 square miles or more. Many old houses collapsed with the sudden rising of the river yesterday, and dozens of dogs, surprised by the flood, could be seen wimming.

The torrent carried all sorts of debris toward the mother river, the Garonne, which, flooded itself, was believed to have taken more than a score of lives as it devastated the region north and east of Toulouse.

Houses Collapse.

Hundreds of houses and factories collapsed, roads and railways were cut, and bridges swept away as a consequence of the swollen river and their tributaries. Conditions were said to be worse than at any time within the past half century.

The Correze, Garonne, Tarn, Aube, and Agout Rivers and their tributaries were all out of their banks and reported rising rapidly. With many places isolated and others heavy losers in the battle with the flood waters.

At Montauban a pig was seen swimming toward the river bank with a cat clinging to its back. The city was cut of from the outside world, without drinking water. Gas or electricity. Twenty houses collapsed.

At Castres an old bridge over the river Agout was swept away. The vast plain of Beziers was ravaged by the flood.

Damage is Heavy.

The weather cleared over night in the Correze Valley, probably eliminating that section from further danger since the water there already had begun to subside. Property damage in the region of Brive and La Gaillarde was heavy.

The situation at Villeum was critical. The water rose so rapidly it was impossible to take steps to succor the inhabitants. Firemen and soldiers sent from Toulouse were obliged to make a wide detour by Montauban, but later the Toulouse-Montauban road was also cut by the flood.

The Villemur city hall and a number of houses collapsed. It was feared a number of dead and injured were buried in the ruins. Suspension bridges at La Madeleine and Messieres, south of Villemur, were swept away.

Prefect Guillon of Haut-Garonne Department went to the spot to superintend the rescue of the Spaghetti factory workmen, but was unable to approach within a mile and a half of the site.

Father, Son and Daughter Are Partners In Law Firm of Gordon, Elliott & Gordon

G. N. Gordon, K.C., announces the reorganization of the law partnership, in which he has been the senior member, with Alexander L. Elliott. Of special interest is the fact that Mr. Gordon, his father, J. W. Gordon, and his sister, Miss E. Grace Gordon, both of Toronto, are now members of the same law firm, which will be known henceforth as Gordon, Elliott & Gordon.

Hon. Mr. Gordon's sister and father will carry on the Toronto office of the firm, whose headquarters will be in Peterborough. This partnership presents an unusual family alignment. There have been many law firms in Canada which have included father and son; but the exceptional feature is the combination of father, daughter and son. The inclusion of Miss E. Grace Gordon of Toronto, is another indication of the to-day's broader opportunities for women.

Napoleonic Antique Nets a Mere $7,270

NEW YORK, March 4 (Canadian Press).—The Archduchess Marie Therese of Austria, a feeble old lady tucked away amidst the decadent grandeur of a Hapsburg palace in Republican Vienna, has received a cheque for $7,270 as the net proceeds of the Napoleonic necklace. She valued it at $350,000 according to a cablegram received yesterday from Vienna police, and passed on to Assistant District Attorney Hastings.

BALDWIN ADVISES REFERENDUM ON FOOD TAXES AT TORY SESSION

First Duty of Party on Return to Power is to Call Imperial Economic Conference.

RAISES GREAT SENSATION.

LONDON, March 4 (C.P. Cable).—If the Conservative party is returned to power its first business will be to call, unconditionally, an Imperial Economic Conference. This declaration was made by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, party leader, addressing the Council of the National Union of Conservative and Union Associations to-day.

Mr. Baldwin, making an eagerly-awaited pronouncement of Conservative policy in the face of the newly-developed opposition from the United Empire Party, also declared without qualification that the question of food taxes should be taken out of party politics and submitted to a vote of the people.

His speech might be taken by political observers as indicating a further measure of agreement with the aims of Lord Beaverbrook. For the United Empire Party demands economic unity of the Empire, with free trade between its members, and a tariff barrier around the whole Empire against foreign products. This means a tax on food products, among other articles, entering Britain. And to now every political leader in Britain has refrained from suggesting taxes on food.

Can't Dictate to Dominions

But Mr. Baldwin to-day said "The Dominions can not be dictated to. It is for us to meet in an atmosphere of perfect freedom. If, as a result of those discussions, there should emerge any form of agreement, arrangement, treaty—whatever you like to call it—that does give us great benefits and demands in a return a tax on some article of food from a foreign country—that whole question can be clearly put before our people."

The people would then be able to judge for themselves, and say yes or no. "Believe me" Mr. Baldwin went don, "there is no alternative to a vision of the economic unity of our Empire except its ultimate dissolution. There can be no more vital question that that which lies before you now, no question better worth working for because it means the ultimate salvation of our own country. It means the ultimate duration of our Empire."

In view of the unusual political situation the newspapermen were admitted to the meeting, though they are usually barred from the council.

Confidence Disappeared.

Mr. Baldwin said confidence which had been springing up a year ago had now disappeared. The financial situation was much graver. Loss of confidence had led to an alarming increase in unemployment. Conservatives, when they assumed office, must husband the national resources and stimulate industry.

"This is only to be accomplished by a thorough-going policy of safeguarding.

EDMONTON, Alta., March 4 (Special to The Examiner). — Speaking at the annual meeting of the Young Men's Liberal Club of Edmonton last night, W. R. Mr Howson was born on the Howson farm one and a half mile north-east of Norwood. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Howson. In the Norwood Public and High Schools he received his early education, and taught for some time in the Public Schools at Mather's Corners, Otonabee.

Following this he was employed in the Sovereign Bank at Havelock and later managed the Sovereign Bank at Stirling.

Mr. Howson is married and has three children. His father died seven years ago and his mother and a sister, Mrs. Wellington Burgess, live near Norwood at the present time. He is 49 years of age.

He has been president of the Alberta Liberal Executive for Federal Affairs. On two occasions he was asked to stand for election, but refused on account of business reasons.

Captain J. T. Shaw, the present Liberal chieftain and member of the constituency of Bow Valley, announced at the opening of the Alberta Legislature recently that he would retire from the leadership at the close of the session.

Estimated Surplus for 1930 Set at $490,000 by Minister In Annual Budget Address

Largest Surplus in History of the Province of Ontario is Announced by Hon. J. D. Monteith—Ordinary Revenue From the Province Was $64,549,717.

PROFIT FROM THE SALE OF LIQUOR WAS $8,496,000 ESTIMATED PROFITS FOR CURRENT YEAR $8,200,000

Gross Public Debt Totals $429,742,988— Estimated Revenue for the Current Year $54,865,000—Apparent Decrease is Accounted For in New Accounting System.

TORONTO, Ont., March 4 (Canadian Press). — The largest surplus in Ontario's history, $2,642,000, was reported for the fiscal year 1929 by Hon. Dr. J. D. Monteith, Provincial Treasurer, when he presented his annual Budget speech in the Legislature this afternoon.

In a speech that lasted over two hours, he presented a full statement of the finances of the Province, going into all phases of its financial fabric. He said that the Province's borrowing power never was at a higher peak and the debt retirement scheme was functioning and would wipe out the current debt at the end of forty years.

The estimated surplus for 1930 was $490,000, figured on a new accounting system that eliminated gross entries and needless inflation. The profit from the sale of liquor in 1929 was given as $8,496,000, and the estimated profits for the current year $8,200,000. The revenue from the five-cent gasoline tax in 1929 was set at $8,500,000, while the estimated revenue from this source for 1930 was given as $11,500,000.

New Accounting System.

The ordinary revenue of the Province for last year was $64,549,717, while the estimated revenue for the current year was $54,865,000. This apparent decrease, the Treasurer explained, was accounted for by the new accounting system, and, as a reality, there will be no actual decrease.

In a detailed statement of the gross public debt, Dr. Monteith said it totalled $425,742,988, an increase for the year 1929 of $31,995,460. The excess of assets over liabilities was placed at $37,870,771.

There was no forecast of new taxes nor reduction of present imports in the speech. The Provincial Treasurer presented his budget speech before one of the largest gallery crowds of the session.

The debate was adjourned by S. C. Tweed, North Waterloo, chief financial critic of the Liberals, who will speak on Thursday.

Successful Year

"The fiscal year 1929 has been an exceptionally successful year," the Provincial Treasurer declared, "finances of the Province never before reflected such a healthy condition."

Hon. Dr. Monteith proceeded to take up every department of the Government, explaining its activities and briefly, its financial standing for the past fiscal year. He noted that the total revenue from all departments for 1929 was $64,549,000, an increase over the preceding year of approximately $6,000,000. This was due "almost entirely to the increase in succession duties of nearly $2,000,000, the gasoline tax over $3,750,000, and motor licenses over $1,250,000."

The total expenditure for the Province for 1929 was given as $61,906,000, an increase over the previous year of $3,808,000. This was due, he said to the increase in grants to schools, totalling $154,000; fire ranging, $433,000; highway maintenance, $256,000; grants to hospitals and charities, $250,000, and to the Ontario Research Foundation Fund, $200,000. These, with several other small amounts, explained $2,000,000 of the above increase and the balance was accounted for by the increase in interest charges on the public debt.

Record Surplus

Referring to the surplus of $2,642,893, the Provincial Treasurer said, "In the first place, it is a record surplus for this Province. The largest in its history. Although the Govern-

FURTHER CARE PROVIDED FOR WAR VETERANS

Allowance For Married Men of 60 With Income Under $730 —Single Men Under $365.

MAXIMUM $40 PER MONTH.

New Departure on Legislature Puts Canada to Fore in Care For Returned Men.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 4 (Canadian Press). — Important provisions for the further care of Canadian war veterans are embodied in legislation which was brought down in the House of Commons this afternoon by Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions and National Health.

Broadly speaking the promised legislation provides for an allowance or old age pension, paid entirely by the Federal Government to Canadian war veterans, five to ten years earlier than under the provisions of the Old Age Pensions Act. Further, where war veterans are unemployable as a direct or indirest result of their war services, they will be entitled to this allowance irrespective of age. The legislation if approved by Parliament will become operative on September 1 next.

Allowance for Veterans of 60.

The Bill provides payment of an allowance to every veteran of the Great War who has attained the age of 60 or has become prematurely aged and unemployable as a result of war services, providing that the individual, if a married man, is not in receipt of an income of as much as $730 a year, or a single man with an income of under $365 a year.

The maximum allowance provides for payment of $40.00 per month to married men, which shall be subject to reduction by the amount of income received from other sources in excess of $250 a year, and to single men $20.00 a month subject to similar reduction when outside income are in excess of $125 a year.

The allowance is restricted to Canadian soldiers or sailors who saw service

Hydro Bill is Aid to Farm Women

MUCH CRITICISM IS DIRECTED UPON HYDRO LOAN PLAN

Liberals and Progressives Unite in Attack on Main Features, Not Its Principle.

MAKE LIFE EASIER.

Robertson, North Huron, Claims Slash in Service Charge Better Plan.

TORONTO, Ont., March 4 (C.P.)—The Government bill to establish a fund of $2,000,000 which would be loaned to farmers to pay for the installation costs of Hydro equipment received a rough passage in the Legislature yesterday, when it was up for second reading. Liberals and Progressive speakers united in attacking the bill, not its principles but many of its main features.

The bill would set aside the sum of $2,000,000 which would be loaned to farmers who made applications to the Hydro-Electric Commission for assistance in installing Hydro. The rate of interest would be 5 per cent. and a maximum period of 20 years would be allowed for repayment. No loan in excess of $1,000 could be made.

Gov't. Loans Should Not Be First.

W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., Liberal leader, denounced one clause of the bill which would give to the Government loan priority over any mortgage or other encumbrance on the property. The Government, he contended, was not observing the rights of those who lend money on mortgages and the bill "would undermine the faith of the investing public.

Premier G. H. Ferguson pointed out to several Progressive members who had spoken previously that the benefits of Hydro could not be confined strictly to a monetary sense.

"If we expect people to live on the farms," he said, "we must give them the means of contentment and happiness. The day of slavery, especially for women, is over. We, through this bill, are providing the money so that a home may be provided with conveniences that will make for easier living and happiness."

The loan system had been ratified by the farmers of Ontario, the Premier declared. Upward of $26,000,000 has been loaned by the Government to foster agriculture and 95 per cent. of the farmers receiving assistance have kept up with their interest and principal charges.

Modelled on Drainage Act.

In introducing the bill, Hon. J. R. Cooke, ministerial representative of the Hydro Commission, said that the measure was modelled, to some extent, after the Tile Drainage Act, while it would operate on much the same principles as the rural credit scheme. A farmer, desiring a loan would apply to the manager of the Hydro district who, in turn, would forward the request to the Commission. If there were a mortgage on the property, the mortgagee would be notified and no decision made for two weeks. If objections came from this quarter the Commission would consider the request on its merits, having in mind the value of the property and the amount of the encumberance. Where a loan is made, the transaction would be registered in the same manner as a chattel mortgage.

SCOTT SHOOTING SIXTY YEARS AGO TURNED TIDE AGAINST LOUIS RIEL

Act Left Blot Upon Striking Figure That Time Has Not Erased.

BODY NEVER FOUND.

Blood glared red sixty years ago to-day on the frozen snow outside the gates of old Fort Garry. A young prisoner—one Thomas Scott—lay dead as a firing squad of Louis Riel's "provisional government of Rupert's Land" stood with smoking rifles. A blot, still unerased by time, had been etched into the record of a striking figure of the early west.

Six decades back, when Scott's execution shocked all Canada, Louis Riel was president of a government set up on its own authority. He headed a principality of landholders, avowedly liege to Britain, who feared their property rights might be ignored when Manitoba joined Confederation in July, 1879. Riel's rule was a brief interrognum in '69 and '70 following domination of the Hudson's Bay company and preceding the addition of Manitoba to the Dominion.

Killing of Scott brought down on Riel pronounced criticism from a large section of Canada's people. It robbed him, too, of consideration that might have won the young Metis leader a name as guardian of the west's first farmers. Instead, after eight months of defiance, Riel fled to the United States with a price of months of defiance. Riel fled to the United States with a price of $5,000 on his head. Fifteen years later, at Regina, Sask., he was hanged for taking part in the Saskatchewan Rebellion, after return from enforced exile.

Racial prejudice and religious bias have contributed to the broad variation in stories of the execution of Scott. On the one hand, it is stated that he was sentenced for some trifling insubordination; others say that the prisoner had threatened the life of Riel. Four years after Scott's death, Riel himself made the terse comment in The Manitoba Free Press: "Scott was executed because it was necessary for the triumph of order and the performance of our duty in making it respected."

In any case, he was led, blindfolded, from the fort and was shot down as he knelt in prayer. To-day, at the spot where Scott died, street-cars rumble along south Main street and a hotel, named for the old fort, towers nearby.

Body Never Found

Scott's body was never found. Request for the remains on the day following the execution was refused and a sham grave dug in the courtyard of the fort; possibly the corpse was dropped into the Assiniboine or the Red river, whose confluence was a few hundred feet away. Frightful stories that Scott did not die from the first fusillade and was thrown into a waiting coffin alive are dis-

NO ONE BLAMED IN MILLS' DEATH

Only Hope of Prolonging Victim's Life Was in Operation Doctor Testifies.

ETHER UNTAMPERED WITH.

TORONTO, Ont., March 4 (C.P.)—A Coroner's jury last night investigating circumstances surrounding the sudden death of Louis R. Mills, 63, while under an anaesthetic in a local hospital, Feb. 21 last, returned a verdict "that no blame could be attached to anyone in connection with the death."

Mr. Mills died after a week of complicated illness in which a severe cold and fever and a partial obstruction of the bowels caused a serious condition. The testimony given at the inquest also indicated he had been in poor health for the last six or seven years.

Dr. W. G. Russell, physician in charge of the case, testified Mills would certainly have died if left alone, and he felt an operation was the only chance of saving him.

The jury's verdict accepted the finding of the autopsist, that the direct cause of death was pulmonary oedema, or the flooding or waterlogging of the lungs.

Other witnessed corroborated the physician's statement, that the ether used for the operation came from a hermetically sealed and previously unopened tin of ether.

REDUCED TARIFF MOTION DOWNED IN INITIAL VOTE

Bennett's Motion of Adjournment Sustained By Count of 86 to 37.

INFORMATION LACKING.

All Liberals Except Eight Unite With Conservatives For Adjournment.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 4 (C.P.)—A proposal to reduce the customs tariff on motor trucks to a level corresponding to that charged on other agricultural machinery was shelved in the House of Commons last evening. Incidentally, the House recorded its first vote of the session, on a motion of Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative Leader, that debate on the proposal for tariff reduction be adjourned. Mr. Bennett's motion for adjournment was sustained by a vote of 86 to 37.

It was Private Members' Day, when Government business must give place for the time being to proposals of individual members. C. G. Coote, U.F.A., Member for MacLeod, brought up the question of the tariff on motor trucks. Motor trucks, the resolution pointed out, are now largely used in place of wagons for hauling grain and other agricultural produce. They have become, to all intents and purposes, an agricultural implement. And the contention was put forward that they should take similar tariff classification.

Dunning Glad to Get Views

While suggesting that the motion should be withdrawn, Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, said he was glad to get the views of members on the matter. Automobile tariffs were the subject of investigation by the Tariff Advisory Board, and the question was a most involved one. He could not indicate "what proposals may or may not be brought down in the Budget with respett to this or any other matter."

Mr. Bennet's motion for adjournment he based on the ground that the House was not possessed of sufficient information to deal with such a matter. In his opinion, if Canada wanted a motor truck industry, it must furnish sufficient protection to enable this industry to compete with the United States.

The vote found all Conservatives and Liberals with the exception of eight members, ranged together, in support of the adjournment motion. Members of the U.F.A., Progressive, Independent, Labor and Liberal-Progressive groups united with the eight Liberals in opposition.

OAKVILLE CHIEF SUBMITS REPORT

KLAN DID NO HARM.

OAKVILLE, Ont., March 4, (C.P.)—Chief Constable David Kerr of the local police department, said last night he was not prepared to take any further action against the Ku Klux Klan in connection with their activities here on Sunday night, when after parading on the main streets and burning a large cross they separated a young white girl from the negro with whom she had been living. Chief Kerr said he had fowarded a comprehensive report of the matter to Crown Attorney W. I. Dick, Milton. "I failed to find any harm had been done to any person or any property. And as the parade of the organization and the methods were a little unusual, I want to have some legal guidance, not only for this case, but for any others of a similar nature," he said.

As Crown Attorney Dick will confer with Attorney-General Price on the matter, the town council last night decided at their meeting to take no action.

BRITAIN MAKES MOVE TO WIDEN TRADE MARKETS

Will Create Eight New Posts in Commercial Diplomatic Services.

TWO TRADE COMMISSIONERS

Office to be Opened in Montreal and Another at Durban, South Africa.

LONDON, March 4 (C.P.). — The British Government will create eight new posts in its commercial diplomatic service, and will appoint two new Trade Commissioners, one at Montreal and the other at Durban, South Africa, according to an announcement made in the House of Commons yesterday by W. M. Gillett, M.P., Secretary of the Department of Overseas Trade.

Extension of the commercial diplomatic service will involve the Argentine, Brazil, Colombia, Egypt, Persia and China, and Finland and Switzerland. Of the eight it will be noted that three are South American posts, and that this is taken as an indication that the Government is fully awake to the importance of Britain's South American business, and is prepared to do economic battle for its retention and development. The Chinese post will include the fast-growing market of Manchuria.

Mr. Gillett followed his announcement by promising that, in the matter of appointments, special consideration would be given to the claims of members of the commercial diplomatic service and the Consular service. Applications from the outside Government service will also be in order. The board of selection will consist of a member of the House of Commons and representatives of business, the Foreign Office, the Board of Trade, the Civil Service Commission and the Department of Overseas Trade.

FAIR BOARD IS GRANTED $325

Campbellford Town Council Holds Regular Monthly Meeting.

DEPUTATIONS HEARD.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 4 (Examiner Staff Correspondence)). — The monthly meeting of the Town Council was held in the Library last evening, Mayor C. Davidson in the chair. Those present were Councillors W. J. Abernethy, N. A. MacColl, J. O'Sullivan, J. R. Battisby, W. S. Wiggins, Reeve J. M. Bygott, and Clerk of the Council J. F. McGregor.

After the reading and adoption of the minutes of the last meeting, a committee from the local Fair Board comprised of T. J. Horkins, W. M. Stevens, and Dr. S. L. O'Hara waited on the Council.

In a brief address Mr. Horkins asked for the renewal of the yearly grant of $300 to the Fair Board. He pleaded that the directors were doing all they could to further the work of the annual fair. Besides having exhibits comparable to any in this section of the county, he felt that the poultry display at Campbellford Fair was the best in Eastern Ontario. It was the aim of the board, he said, to eventually erect a merchants' building, where the merchants and manufacturers of the town could display their goods.

$325 Granted Board.

Dr. O'Hara, speaking on behalf of the board, asked for an increase grant of $350. This was to cover the clearing of a tract of land that could be used by tourists as a camping ground. The Mayor spoke in sympathy with this appeal.

On the motion of Reeve Bygott, seconded by Councillor MacColl, the sum of $325 was granted the Fair Board.

Rev. N. Clarke Wallace, with Major A. T. Linton and J.D. McEachern, formed a committee from the Campbellford Branch of the Canadian Legion to ask for the grant of $100 toward relief work. Mr. Wallace

DEATH SENTENCE PASSED ON NEGRO

Charles Cross to Hang on May 19 For Murder of John Labadie.

THREE GET LONG TERMS.

CHATHAM, March 4. — Passing sentence of death on Charles Cross, 20, for the murder of John Labadie, gasoline station attendant, during a hold-up on September 22, Justice Jeffrey brought to a close one of the most sensational murder trials in the history of Kent County. It involved a crime, which at the time, aroused public indignation to a high pitch.

Cross' three accomplices in the hold-up received penitentiary sentences as follows: John Evans, aged 18, 25 years; Edward Powell, aged 20, 15 years; and John Saunders, aged 26, 15 years.

It will be recalled that the man hunt extended into the Cobourg district, when on November 5th last year, Toronto police who had been on the lookout for the negroes, suspected of being implicated in the murder, arrested four men, who they held on shopbreaking charges. The men held for identification at that time were Walter Griffiths, Albert Jacobs, John Evans, and Preston Bryant, who were brought to Cobourg to stand trial for shopbreaking, which arose following the theft of radios from a store there.

All four prisoners sentenced yesterday were Windsor negroes and the condemned man took the death sentence calmly, showing little emotion. He reeled slightly as he left the prisoner's dock but, recovering, walked out of the court unassisted with Provincial Constables Tom Campbell and J. B. Sheff.

Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, E. C. Awrie, K.C., stated on Cross' behalf, that he did not propose to make any statement at the present time.

Delivering sentence the judge spoke severely to the prisoners, rebuking them for the deliberate manner in which they had planned the hold-up. Addressing Evans, the Judge stated that he regarded him as the ringleader. Had he been charged with murder, there would have been no question but that the jury would have returned a verdict of guilty.

May 19 was the date fixed for the execution.

DR. W. F. LOUCKS WINS ACTION

Judge Huycke Orders Thomas Kerr to Pay Plaintiff $32.50 and Costs.

IN CAMPBELLFORD COURT.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 4 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — In Divisional Court yesterday afternoon, before His Honor Judge Huycke of Peterborough, Dr. W. F. Loucks sued Thomas Kerr for $52.25 for professional service rendered. This account covered a period of ten years, on which some payments have been made. D. J. Lynch acted for the paintiff and N. A. MacColl for the defence.

dence. Judge Huycke agreed with this statement, and in place of allowing $2.50 for the apples, as Dr. Loucks did, gave credit for $10.50.

The plaintiff also gave defendant credit for 15 bushels and 15 lbs. of oats at 50 cents per bushel, a total of $7.75, but as Kerr said that he had been selling oats last fall for 60 cents a bushel, he was given that credit.

Kerr also claimed from Dr. Loucks the sum of $5.00 for driving him in and out of his place while on professional visits, but as there was no intention of a charge at the time, this claim was disallowed.

His Honor gave judgment in favor of Dr. Loucks, Kerr to pay $31.50 and costs.

Kerr contended that the account totalled $25 and offered this amount to the plaintiff, but acceptance was refused. The money was paid into court.

On evidence it was shown that Dr. Loucks had rendered an account of $42.25 to the defendant, and Judge Huycke ruled that this amount should stand.

A dispute then arose with Kerr claiming that he had delivered to Dr. Loucks four lots of apples, and that he had only received credit for two lots. Mrs. Kerr corroborated her husband's statement. Mr. MacColl, in pleading this point, stated that positive evidence to a fact must be accepted in preference to negative evi-

JURYMAN IS PAID TO HOLD UP TRIAL BY U. S. LAWYERS

Three Defense Attorneys Are Charged With Bribery and Conspiracy.

SEVEN WEEKS' HEARING.

Juror Confesses to Being Destitute—Accepted $300 to Help Family.

NEW YORK, March 4. — A mistrial brought about by the dissension of a juror who could scarcely speak English, resulted yesterday in an 8-count Federal indictment charging three defence attorneys in the recent Utah Lead trial with bribery, conspiracy, and obstructing justice. The indictment was handed up to Judge Warren W. Burrows of Connecticut, who is sitting in this district.

Trial Lasted Weeks.

Those indicted are Arthur N. Sager, Joseph Shalleck, and Edward Reynolds, who represented Charles Beadon and seven other defendants accused of mail fraud in connection with promoting stock of the Utah Lead Company of Delaware. The trial stretched out over seven weeks, and the jury was dismissed on February 9 after several hours of deliberation without an agreement.

"After the discharge of the jury" United States Attorney Tuttle said, "we questioned John Cruz, a juror, and he speedily made a confession. He had been out of work for months, had been evicted, and had become destitute and unable to support his wife and family. During the trial he accepted more than $300 to 'hang' the jury. Most of this money he still had at home in a trunk.

Confession Confirmed

"His confession was fully corroborated by his wife (Carmen) and brother (Nemecio) and by one of the court bailiffs, who admits having acted as an intermediary."

The indictment charged Sager and Shalleck specially with paying various sums of money, using Wechsler as a go-between, and accused Reynolds of requesting Wechsler to inform Cruz that he would be "well taken care of after the trial" if he would vote not guilty.

Fashions

NEWEST FASHIONS REMINISCENT OF OTHER DAYS

VARIETY IS SPICE OF PARIS OPENINGS

NEW YORK, March 4. (U.P.). — Advance information concerning the models exhibited by the haute couture at their very recent openings, conjures up a delightful picture of the romance of dress. From the graceful Greek draperies falling from the shoulder in statuesque folds, to the high waisted Empire line is a far cry. These extremes are however not the only alternatives offered. Such terms as Directoire, pompillion and Victorian continue to be bandied about by fashion writers who in turn sing the praises of normally belted waistlines and of unbelted princess silhouettes. Boleros, pepluma, redingotes, pleats versus flares, lingerie touches, nipped in waistlines, pajamas and all manner of things crowd into the style picture which however continues, in spite of tailleurs and shirts and shorts, to be feminine, not to say elegant.

One may now heave a sigh of relief because the ghost of the long skirt for street wear has been laid to rest. Fifteen inches from the floor can hardly be regarded as long, and it is at such heights that suit and sports skirts are content to remain. No dissenting voice has been raised against the long evening dress, and long they are, beautifully, thrillingly long, graceful and elegant.

In the kaleidescope of color one is most impressed by blue. Mustard yellow is advocated at one house, amethyst at another, green in others, but white, black and blue in all.

MAYORS NOW LORD MAYOR.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 4.—Suffering a maximum fall of 5 cents a bushel yesterday, wheat future delivery contracts recovered but little of the loss, and the market closed shaky. The chief unsettling influence appeared to be action of the Federal Farm Board's allies in putting an end to payment of a fixed price for purchases of country-run wheat at terminal markets. Unyielding dearth of export demand for wheat from North America counted also as a weight on the market, with visible and invisible domestic supplies estimated yesterday to be fully as large as a year ago.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, March 4.—Depressing week-end news started wheat prices into seclusion yesterday, and when the Winnipeg Exchange closed values had withdrawn 3⅛c to 4c a bushel. Liverpool prices, weak because of absence of exports over the week-end and reported withdrawal of United States Farm Board operators from the market were the cause of the Winnipeg break.

May and July futures were back 3⅝c and October went as far as 4c down at the close. Trading was not of large proportions, except in the opening hour or so.

Though shippers' demand for cash wheat continued fairly good, offerings continued on the light side, and business was small. Demand from the East for low-grade oats and barley was fair, with offerings light.

Cash prices: Wheat, No. 1 hard, $1.08¾; No. 1 Northern, $1.08¾; No. 2 Northern, $1.05¾; No. 3 Northern, $1.01⅝; No. 4, 96⅝; No. 5, 90⅝; No. 6, 70⅝c; feed 58⅛c; track, $1.09; screenings, per ton, $5.

Oats, No. 2 C.W., 59⅛c; No. 3 C.W., 50⅛c; extra No. 1 feed, 50⅛c; No. 1 feed, 48½c; No. 2 feed, 46⅛c; rejected, 42⅛c; track, 53⅛c.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, March 4. — Prices to shippers for eggs delivered, ungraded, cases returned, took another drop on the local produce market yesterday to the extent of one cent. Dealers were quoting 34c for extras, 32c for firsts and 27c to 29c for seconds. To the retail trade the quotations were for extras in cartons 41c; for extras loose, 39c; for firsts, loose, 37c, and for seconds, loose, 34c. American eggs were coming into Toronto last week-end at 29c to 30c and yesterday the Chicago spot market was 23c to 24c. The general feeling here was that prices would be lower and another drop was expected locally Tuesday.

With plenty of American eggs available at a low price, British Columbia shipping some and Ontario production due to increase steadily there are prospects of weaker markets.

Butter.

For the first time in a few weeks the local butter market showed signs of coming to life. Dealers reported a better demand for the finest New Zealand, and of course many were busy getting in touch with Halifax, where the S. S. Surrey recently docked with 106,000 boxes. But local dealers have been offering 32c and the quotations from Halifax yesterday was 33 3-4c, Halifax, duty paid. This seemed a little too strong for the local dealers, and no sales were reported at this price. Some butter has been purchased from the Surrey for 32c but now the price has gone up, and probably dealers will have to raise their price to get any more.

Potatoes.

The local potato market appeared much weaker yesterday. Wholesale prices on Ontario and New Brunswick shipments were lowered five cents on each grade, which made Ontario No. 1 in bags $1.65; in bulk, $1.55. New Brunswick, No. 1, in bags, $1.70; in bulk, $1.60. Two kinds of Prince Edward Island potatoes were offered yesterday, Green Mountains, $2, and Cobblers $1.70. The Boston market which generally helps to absorb the P.E.I. product, is well supplied at the present time, and of course the Maritime Provinces look to Toronto and Montreal as their next best markets.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Ont., March 3.—(Canadian Press).—The trade on the Dominion Livestock Exchange was very slow this morning with only a few sales up till 11 o'clock. Prices were lower on all grades of butcher cows.

Hogs were unsettled with prospects $12.75 f.o.b. for bacon or $14.00 off car.

Lambs sold steady at $9.00 to $12.50 according to quality. Good light sheep sold up to $8.

he was unwilling to wait until January 1 and he gave notice that he would break the property up into building lots immediately.

It was resolved that the recommendation dealing with the taxpayers voting on the question of purchase of building lots for factory sites go before the people on January 1 so that the Council might be given right to make such purchases when the opportunity arose in the future.

Offered Too Cheap.

Clause three in the property committee's recommendation stated: That provided the Canadian Crayon Company does not wish to purchase the property owned by the City south of their factory an offer from S. Crowe of $600 for the property be accepted.

Alderman Tuggey, on the reading of this clause, immediately rose and moved that it be struck out. The price, he stated, was too low and he suggested that the property be retained by the city for lavatory purposes.

This property, stated Alderman Stocker, was too narrow for the site of a lavatory.

In seconding Alderman Tuggey's motion, Alderman McIntyre said that the price offered by S. Crowe was altogether too cheap. He suggested that if the property was not to be used for lavatory purposes, it should be put on public auction and a fair price secured.

Alderman Macdonald stated himself to be of the same opinion as regards the price of the property, but to his way of thinking it was not a proper place for a lavatory.

The assessed value of the property was placed at $1,200 by Alderman McNabb. That it was not suitable for the purpose named and that the price was much too low was also the opinion of Alderman Huffman.

"Bigger Offer"

Putting his hand in his pocket, Alderman Tuggey said, "I have here in my pocket an offer from a private citizen, naming a larger price than that made by S. Crowe." He reiterated that the site was the proper place for a lavatory.

Alderman Holland said that his committee was not pressing the clause and he favored withdrawing it if a higher price could be secured.

According to Mayor Denne, the present building would be unsuitable for the purpose desired. It would necessarily have to be torn down and moved elsewhere. He suggested that the property be advertised for sale and sold to the highest bidder.

Alderman Huffman declared that the money gained from the sale should be used for the erection of a lavatory.

The motion striking out the clause carried.

Rotary Clubs Request

A request was received from the Rotary Club for the use of the market square and part of Simcoe street on June 18 for a carnival. The money raised from the carnival to be used for the Rotary Camp and other community work. This request was granted and the market square was put at the Rotarians' disposal for June 17, 18 and 19.

The by-law, fixing the city's tax rate at 39.2 mills was passed. In this connection it was announced that a bill had been received from the County totalling more than $2,000 for the city's share in the erection of the new house near the court house. Chairman Phelan said that this amount would have to be produced by more paring from the committee's allowances.

"Take It From Salaries"

"Why not take it from the aldermen's salaries" asked Alderman Tuggey.

July 8, September 8, and November 8 were fixed as the dates for the payment of the taxes.

The Council went into Committee of the Whole to pass a by-law governing the giving of certain grants. The by-law authorizing that a salary of $5 per meeting be paid to members of the Old Age Pension Board beginning the first of this year also passed.

The by-law authorizing the purchase of land from J. T. O'Connell on Smith street near the bridge for $500 passed after some discussion. The Council was unanimous that the buildings must be removed by May 1, 1930, when payment is to be made, and that the taxes will be adjusted from the period of the city taking over the property.

"This is a part of the city planning," said Alderman Phelan, jokingly.

Billiard table licenses were granted to H. L. Finnie, S. Spencer, M. J. Costello, D. N. King, Louis Yeotes, G. N. Graham, F. B. Patterson, of whom all were favorably reported upon.

Eating house licenses were granted to T. H. Hooper, James Deline, L. Potvin, Hum Hoy, upon whom favorable reports were received.

Work on River Road

A resolution, brought forward by Ald. Holland, was concerned with the city securing the co-operation of the Douro Township, the Village of Lakefield, Provincial Highways Department and the Federal Government for the work of re-surfacing and making general repairs to the River road. The resolution passed unanimously.

The subject of lavatories was again introduced, this time by Alderman Huffman, who declared that the Council had been talking long enough and it was time that some action should be taken. His resolution that the city go ahead with the building of planned lavatories as soon as sites could be secured carried unanimously.

He announced that the plans for the ordered addition to the sewage disposal plant were almost ready and that tenders would soon be called.

RED CROSS GIVES UNIQUE SERVICE

Visiting Housekeeper Takes Charge of Home Where Sickness Prevails.

SPLENDID BENEFIT.

In 1854 Florence Nightingale went to the Crimea to organize a nursing service in the hospitals of the British troops in war-ravaged Russia. The story of her transformation of the hospital wards was spread all through Europe, largely through the columns of the London Times. It caught the attention of a young Swiss doctor, Henri Dunant, who later became the founder of the organization known to us as the Red Cross.

When war broke out between France and Austria, Dr. Dunant determined to see for himself the condition of wounded soldiers on a battlefield. In 1859 in his thirty-first year, he walked over the field of Solferino after a bloody battle. The horrors he saw there, affected him so deeply, that he devoted the rest of his life to the promotion and extension of an international movement, through which might come some relief for the sufferings of the wounded in war. This humanitarian idea was later to come to fruition in the various conventions of Geneva, so that in 1863 the "Red Cross" became the emblem of a society, under which national organizations were formed for war services. The Red Cross emblem was adopted by both the hospital departments of armies and by voluntary societies, acting as auxiliaries to those departments, an arrangements which still holds.

In 1872, when Dr. Dunant read a paper on the Red Cross in London, he stated, "Though I am known as the founder of the Red Cross . . . it is to an Englishwoman that all the honor should go. What inspired me to go to Italy in 1859 was the work of Miss Nightingale in the Crimea."

Thus was launched one of the greatest humanitarian movements in the world, a movement which has spread to all civilized countries and which now has permanent headquarters at Geneva, an international machinery and a full program for peace as well as war times.

Used first only in war time, the Red Cross Society work soon spread to the navies, to hospital ships and sailors' hospitals. Then it was used as a means of communication between war prisoners and their friends and of late it has been extended to airplace hospital services in such countries as may be at war.

First Flag in 1885

The first Red Cross flag ever used in Canada was seen at the Battle of Fish Creek in 1885. It flew over the hospital of Surgeon General Ryerson, who afterwards became the first president of the original Red Cross Society in Canada.

The first extension of Red Cross services to civilians and in peace time took the form of relief in cases of great disasters. In the American Red Cross is to be seen the first and greatest example of a Red Cross organized for disaster relief, and it is easy to recall to the mind a dozen or more calamities in many parts of the world which have been lightened by the services of national and international Red Cross societies.

But the first and most pressing duty of the Red Cross was, and remains the care of sufferers from war. Today, in Canada, the Red Cross, in hospitals for the returned disabled men from the Great War, is giving care to 3,443 war casualties, a number which increases, not decreases from year to year, as all the sequelae of damaged bodies take their toll in disease and premature old age. Such care by the Red Cross is not a mere departmental duty, but means a small army of volunteer workers, who, through warm personal service, carry to the soldiers in the governmental hospitals, comforts, amusements and such friendly offices as may assist in paying part of the debt we owe to these sufferers from the Great War.

POLICE KILL TWO THUGS

DETROIT, Mich., March 3.—Two policemen, with only a beam of reflected light from a bandit's pistol as a target, shot and killed two men who were attempting to rob the safe of the Harper Theatre, 7723 Harper avenue, at 4 a.m. to-day.

The robbers were identified as Phillip J. Twomey, 30, and Leo Garbada, both of Detroit. Twomey lived until admittance to Receiving Hospital, but Garbada apparently was instantly killed.

SCOTT SHOOTING 60 YEARS AGO

countenanced now. Rev. George Young, who attended Scott until his death, testified that he died from the gun volley. And Victor Mager, St. Boniface, Man., octogenarian, who reached the spot while the body still lay in the snow, states that Scott was dead.

Surviving old-timers who supported the efforts of young Riel retain their opinion that the trouble of 1869-'70 was not a rebellion, as it is commonly called, for it opposed no constituted authority. They point out that the Council of Assiniboia and the whole Northwest were to be taken over from the Hudson's Bay Company in July, 1870, for £300,000; but surveyors sent west by the Dominion government created unrest by starting in 1868 to work on the wagon road from Oak Point, Man., to Lake of the Woods' Ont.—and Ottawa named Hon. William McDougall as governor of Assiniboia, despatching him to the west in 1869, before such a move was within the Dominion government's jurisdiction.

Historians generally consider the Dominion administration made a great mistake in completing negotiations for transfer of the Hudson's Bay Company land without consulting the residents of the country. Hon. Mr. McDougall represented them as only a few employees of the company and a number of Indian tribes—though the Red River settlement alone numbered some 11,500 souls. First, suspicious of surveyors with plans for square townships instead of narrow river-front lots; then, alarmed at the arrival of authorities from Ottawa; finally, the settlers, led by Riel, decided to take the law into their own hands.

Grandson of Marie Anne Legimediere, first whit woman to reach the West, Riel was earnest in his efforts to aid his fellow Northwesterners. Though only 25 years of age, his education at the College of Montreal and his inherent ability qualified to make him a leader; but the death of Scott reacted to the discredit of the Metis chieftain.

"Had Riel but refrained from bloodshed—had he followed out the course to the last which he commenced, that of peace, and not allowed himself to be led by the dictates of passion, he would, instead of being an exile to-day, have been a man of high standing amongst his people and respected by all classes" admits Alexander Begg in his chronicle of the Red River trouble, published in 1871. And Begg is by no means regarded as partial to Riel.

Mentally ailing at times during his late life; openly hostile to priests and nuns during the Saskatchewan outbreak; executed by hanging in Regina in 1885—Riel died, nevertheless, with the blessing of his church and his countrymen, and with the Lord's Prayer on his lips. A book now being prepared by the National Metis Association is designed to show that he was a patriot and a martyr.

In the shadow of the "Turrets Twain" of St. Boniface Cathedral is Riel's grave. An artificial wreath, half covered with snow, rests to-day at the base of the tombstone, and ice has formed in the deep lines of its brief engraving "Riel, 15 November, 1885."

On as summer Sunday, the last resting place of the son of "The Miller of Seine" is fresh with flowers. Passersby halt, murmur perhaps a prayer for the great man who passed, and then wander on.

stressed the careful administration of the fund and was supplemented in his remarks by Major Linton.

This grant was favoured and passed on the motion of Councillor MacCall, seconded by Councillor Abernethey.

Reports on Convention

Reeve Bygott as delegate to the Good Roads Convention at Toronto, gave a very interesting report of that function. He stated that the continuance of permanent work on the roads was stressed. It was felt to be a matter of the municipalities and the counties getting together and increasing the volume of work yearly. The elimination of grade crossings was also urged as a safety measure, and the placing of cross arms 300 yards or more away from railroad crossings.

No Need to Worry

In connection with the Brighton Highway Reeve Bygott felt there was no need to worry as the promise made by the government last fall would eventually be acted upon.

The reading of the correspondence proved interesting. One business concern, a canning factory, had applied for land prices. The parcel mentioned was that located between the Black bridge and the railway. This letter had been answered in detail. Councillor Battisby also reported that he had received a communication from a cheese box factory in reference to locating in Campbellford. This matter was being dealt with by the Industrial and Inquiry Committee.

It was also decided on motion to again advertise Campbellford in the Ackerman Sporting Guide.

The auditors' report for 1929 was left to the Finance committee to be reported on at the next meeting of the council.

Unpaid Taxes.

Councillor MacColl brought up the matter of unpaid taxes. He felt that the collector needed more authority and should be notified by the council not to allow any taxes for 1928-29 remain unpaid. This was fully discussed by the council, and on the motion of Councillor Battisby it was decided that all property in arrears for three years or over should be seized and sold for taxes. This motion was seconded by Councillor O'Sullivan.

It was also decided that the secretary be instructed to write the E. R. Clarkson Co. with reference to the Canadian Paper Mill Co. and present to them the town's claim for taxes on the Campbellford mill.

The question of a dump keeper was also brought up by Councillor MacCall, but after some discussion it was decided to hold the matter over pending investigation.

The pay sheet was presented by Councillor McColl, chairman of the Finance committee, totalling $987.80, which was approved and passed.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noise. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

MUCH CRITICISM

W. Newman, Lib., Victoria North, while he had no objection to farmers receiving loans to install Hydro or otherwise to uplift their living conditions, pointed out to the Government that there was "too much buying to-day on the installment plan."

C. Robertson, Lib., North Huron, said the bill would provide too easy credit. It would aid agriculture better, he believed, if the Government slashed the service charge on Hydro.

"I have never heard of a request for this sort of thing from the rural parts of Ontario," the member for North Huron went on to say. "If I had to borrow I would not feel as comfortable as I do now."

Loans Harder to Get

D. J. Taylor, Prog., North Grey, denounced the measure on the grounds that the Government lien would take priority over all mortgage and encumberances. Firms or individuals willing to loan money to farmers were growing fewer in number, he contended and this bill would not help the situation.

A suggestion that the maximum loan be reduced to $500 would be entertained in the committee stage, whip.

W. J. MacKay, Lib., Bruce south, said that the bill would result in a farmer, who already had a mortgage on his property, taking on an additional lien. In Huron township, he said, only two farmers took hydro although the vast majority had clear farms.

The solution, he believed was in lower rates.

A Government bill to aid in the prevention of forest fires received second reading without opposition. It was sponsored by Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests.

F. W. Elliott, Lib., Bruce north, introduced an amendment to the Municipal Act which would permit towns to reduce the number of councillors from six to four. It was referred to the municipal committee.

HEALTH UNITS ARE APPROVED BY COMMONS

Federal Body Asked to Consider Carrying of One-third of Cost.

RAISES OLD QUESTION.

Should Dominion Invade Provincial Field —Bennett Backs Motion.

OTTAWA, March 4. (C.P.) — Spirited discussion on the part which the Federal Government should play in health matters, enlivened the House of Commons for a short time last evening. The basis of the discussion was a private member's resolution which met with the support of nearly all speakers. Moved by H. E. Spencer, U.F.A., member for Battle River, it merely asked the House to declare that "the government should take into consideration the advisability of making grants to the provinces equal to one third the cost of establishing, and to cover permanently, such full time health units as may be organized." The motion passed without division.

Raises Old Question.

It raised, however, the old question of Federal and Provincial jurisdiction in matters of health. Hon J. H. King, Minister of Pensions and National Health, first turned the attention of members in this direction. He was aware of the value and importance of health units. But should the Dominion invade the Provincial field? He was somewhat doubtful.

Toward the close of the discussion, Hon. A. C. Dunning, Minister of Finance, carried Dr. King's suggestion a little farther. There was no question in respect to the beneficial effects of health units, he said. That, however, was not the point under discussion. It was rather a question of whether or not the Federal Government should step in and assist in performing a provincial function. The provinces were given power to raise taxes to meet certain expenditures. Should the Dominion, out of taxation raised for entirely different purposes assist in a provincial field?

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, declared against any suggestion that the Federal authorities were debarred from helping the provinces in health matters. The health of the public was a national concern. National health was national wealth. If the Federal authorities could grant money to commissions for the beautification of Ottawa or preservation of the national battlefields, they could make grants to the provinces for national health.

First Proposal by Provinces.

A suggestion that the first proposal for establishment of health units should come from the provinces, was made by the Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice. He took issue with Mr. Bennett, declaring that there was no analogy between making grants to the provinces and paying money through Federal commissions. The latter were under control of the Dominion Government. The former, while supporting the motion, were not. Mr. Lapointe said he would prefer to see the provincial subsidies increased to advancing sums to the provinces earmarked for specific purposes.

THE NEW SASKATCHEWAN PARTY.

Although the Saskatchewan section of the United Farmers of Canada has decided against entering that organization into politics the farmers of Saskatchewan will invade the political arena, nevertheless, absorbing the Progressive party and seeking representation on the principle of the class-conscious vocational group.

The development will not be greeted with cheers by the old political parties, nor will it be welcomed by those who can see nothing but confusion in the group system.

While the basis of membership is to be left to each constituency it is to be insisted upon that all members of the organization must be pledged to the policy and demands of organized agriculture which does not shut the door to people of other followings in life, but at the same time makes their welcome into the movement conditional upon them accepting any program favored by the farmer members.

If the experience of other similar movements can be accepted as a criterion the new party in Saskatchewan may attain a momentary success but in the final analysis is doomed to failure.

A political party founded on class-consciousness starts with a false principle and in the long run cannot hope to succeed.

AUTOMOBILE MARKERS.

The Stratford Beacon-Herald, calling attention to the fact that the police in that city have served notice that they will take action against car owners found this week with 1929 markers on their cars and that 30 citizens of Sarnia were fined last week for the same offence, suggests that the Highways Department should have its own day for the disappearance of 1929 plates and make it uniform throughout the province.

The point is well taken.

Under the present haphazard system there is a tendency on the part of many car owners to postpone the securing of their markers as long as possible and that means as long as the municipal authorities will let them get away with it.

Here in Peterborough, although the March winds are blowing, there are not a few cars still running round with last year's license plates.

There is no reason why the system should not be made uniform and a set date fixed, thus doing away with the present lax arrangement that sees some citizens scurrying after their license numbers early in January and others putting off the evil day as long as the authorities will allow them to use the old ones.

It is an absurd situation and should be corrected.

STOPPING THE EXPORT.

Whether or not the legislation introduced by Premier King stops the shipment of Canadian liquor into the United States, it will at least save the self-respect of the people of this country for it will put a stop to what a contemporary has well described as "officially co-operating with the exporters to violate the laws of a friendly and neighbouring nation."

That is exactly what Canada has been doing and to make the matter worse we have not only permitted the traffic to go on, but we have been financial partners in the business inasmuch as the Canadian Government has been collecting an excise duty that has run into millions each year.

It may be that the discontinuance of the present system of issuing clearance fro ma restricted number of docks will drive the business underground but at all events this country will free itself from the charge that it has helped in the violation of the laws of our neighbours to the south of us.

Mr. King undoubtedly has had to face a strong opposition, both in the ranks of his own party and outside of that organization, and the Premier deserves credit for the determination he has shown in refusing to be headed off from his main purpose, namely the bringing to an end of a policy that has rendered this country guilty of what might be construed as an unfriendly act toward the government and people of the United States.

LEFT ALONE AND ARE BURNED TO DEATH.

When the parents of three Sault Ste. Marie children left the little ones alone in the house late Saturday and went to visit a neighbour, fire broke out and the three tots, the eldest of which was only four years of age, were burned to death.

The triple tragedy is but one of a long list of similar accidents that have taken place in many sections of Canada during the present winter, because of parents apparently refusing to be warned by the fate of other families.

The practice of leaving small children alone in the house, as was done in this and a score of other recent cases, cannot be defended and parents who thus expose their families to the risk of a horrible death deserve to be arrested on a charge of criminal negligence if our laws provide for that charge under such circumstances.

The Examiner has more that once called attention to the carelessness shown by some fathers and mothers—we have them right here in Peterborough—who put their own selfish pleasure ahead of the safety of their children and who calmly go out leaving their little families alone in the house, in many cases with the door locked.

There has been a horrible toll of young lives taken this winter as a result of this parental neglect and it begins to look as if the law will have to step in and deal with those who regard their responsibility as parents so lightly.

TOURIST TRADE.

Commenting on the exodus of American tourists to Canada, the New York Times recently had this to say: "The cynic who hastens to say it is all liquor is wrong. Were we now as free and independent as we were before 1919, it is still certain that spread of the automobile would have sent millions of Americans into Canada for that 'foreign touch' which is part of the joys of travel. But unquestionably, Mr. Volstead has helped." The Times likens the United States-Canadian frontier to the famous Irish bridge which separated one river bank from another. It quotes official statistics provided by the Federal Government to show that in 1929 no less than 4,508,808 automobiles of foreign registration entered Canada. Almost all of these, of course, came from the United States. Assuming that there were three passengers per car Canada was visited by more than 13,000,000 motorists. The New York Times observes that the figures are stupendous "and remain so even when allowance is made for repeaters and for American professionals drawn across the border by considerations other than the color of French-Canadian civilization, the trout fishing or the mountain scenery west of Banff." Those of statistical bent will have a fine time playing with these figures. It can be shown, for instance, that something like one-tenth of all the people of the United States visited Canada last year—many times the number of American visitors to any one section of the United States. If those 13,000,000 Americans came to Canada for no other reason than to "wet their whistles," then it would seem to be a serious reflection upon the legislation that theoretically dried up the United States. But, while the majority no doubt took advantage of the opportunity to secure potent liquid refreshment legally, the probability is that this attraction was incidental and not the main magnet that drew them. Certain it is that they behaved themselves splendidly, comparatively few cases of abuse of privilege being reported to the authorities. The motor car has turned out to be the greatest medium for the encouragement of international acquaintance, and Canada is looking forward to a resumption of the traffic when winter's icy shackles drop away.—Hamilton Spectator.

A "DOLE" PROPOSITION.

The announcement by Premier King that Canada should adopt a scheme of insurance to meet seasonal unemployment will perhaps meet with some misgivings in some quarters. The British plan of unemployment insurance has been criticized so much in this country, that any attempt to introduce the "dole" here may meet with a good deal of opposition.

As a matter of fact the so-called "dole" in the old land has been one of the most beneficient measures ever introduced there. It is much misunderstood on this side, where so many people fail to recognize that it is a scientifically devised system of insurance whereby the person insured, the employer and the state share this premiums. The contributions from the millions of people in employment are sufficient to make the fund self-supporting for one million unemployed or sick people before the treasury has to be raided for a single penny to meet the deficits. Unfortunately, there has always been well over a million unemployed in Britain ever since the war, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer has always had to bear that in mind when framing the budget.

But the exceptional conditions which Britain has had to face since the war made it necessary that the "dole" should be paid or there might have been a social revolution. And it should be remembered that the insurance scheme was not a post-war measure created to meet the situation which then developed but was one of the pre-war measures of which Mr. Lloyd George was the creator, and when unemployment was nothing out of the way.

Abuses, however, crept in by people who were willing to "make do" with the small sum which the insurance paid them every week, and did not show the enterprise in looking for jobs, or in holding them, that they would have done if there had been no allowance.

There has been serious unemployment out West this winter, besides a considerable amount in Ontario, and it is regrettable that men should have to accept charity to keep them going until the employment situation improves.

Some machinery should be in existence to handle the problem of human existence during the period of seasonal unemployment. If it is to be a "dole" system contributed to by workers, employers and the government covering scheduled industries, the government will at least have the experience of Britain to profit by and avoid any loopholes which made it possible for abuses of the kind experienced over there to crop up in Canada.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

SAVING THE FORESTS.

Still another step is being taken by the Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests in the Provincial Government, in the campaign of conservation of timber resources which he has been carrying on since he assumed office. The amendments introduced in the Legislature, though radical and drastic, appeal to the reason of those who have the welfare of this great source of wealth at heart.

Mr. Finlayson proposes to widen the powers of provincial foresters, to the extent of making it possible for them to impose any regulations they see fit on lumbering companies, and even to forbid, for a season, operations in stated areas. Such legislation has dangers. It places heavy responsibilities on comparatively minor officials. It lays itself open to abuse. Nevertheless, it has much to recommend it. As the Minister points out, fire hazards are sometimes greatly increased by the letting of sub-contracts to irresponsible persons, who fail to take the necessary precautions. The amendment proposed would allow foresters to demand that these contractors provide adequate fire-fighting equipment, under pain of being ordered to shut down. The objective is entirely worthy, and the safeguard thrown around it should be careful and constant checking on the officials, to see that they carry out their duties with fairness and discrimination.

Another item is the giving to the Government of power to close areas to tourists in certain seasons, as it sees fit, without previous notice. There seems little possible argument against this provision. In the past, it has been possible to close certain sections, but it has been necessary to give notice beforehand.

Unfortunately, forest fires do not give notice. During the period between the announcement and the effect of closure, there has been time for fires to do great damage. There are certain seasons of the year when it is best that timber be not exposed to the risks of fire which tourists bring with them. It is only right, therefore, that the Government should have the power to shut out the visitors during such periods.

Mr. Finlayson has control over a department which deals with one of the greatest sources of wealth of the Province. It is possible that the value of Ontario's timber transcends even that of its minerals. Drastic legislation to ward off the greatest menace, fire, is entirely justified, and the present Minister has impressed the majority of the citizens of the Province with the sincerity of his efforts to cut down the annual losses to a minimum.—Border Cities Star.

Fire broke out in the roof of the Bell building, Hunter street this morning shortly before three o'clock and in spite of the efforts of the Fire Brigade swept down through the three stories and completely gutted the third and second leaving the bottom storey whole except from the damage by smoke and water.

Charles Holland, employee of the Canadian Woollens, was the victim of a distressing accident this morning, being trapped by the elevator. An inquest will be held.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

A movement is on foot to close the barber shops at 11 o'clock on Saturday nights, and a petition is being circulated among those owning barber shops to have the town council pass a by-law regulating the hours of closing similar to those operating amongst the small shops.

What To-day Means To You

"PISCES."

If March 4th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from noon to 1:30 p.m., from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. and from 10:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to noon and from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

A day of illuminating experiences is forecase for this date. Time and thought will be focused upon the less serious affairs of life—pleasures will come before business. Your emotions will be greatly awakened.

Children born on this March 4th will have considerable literary talent, which they will probably develop into commercial use. They will be energetic, ambitious and positive, and will probably develop very radical views about life in general. They will always have a large circle of friends.

You have a prohibitive temperament, and you are never really yourself except in negation. You ar indefinite and casual in manner when you are telling what you may do, but you become firm and exact when you are tiling what you may not. If you would say "yes" and mean it with the same force with which you say "no," your pathways would be less uphill than they are now. You allow an element of pessimism to enter into your thoughts when you think about your capabilities or possibilities. You are almost a chronic doubter in regard to your own good fortunes. Your unlucky star lies in your mind and not in the heavens above.

You have plenty of energy, but you are extravagantly wasteful of it—you have not as yet learned how to use your mind to save your heels. You need to retard your accelerator and to find the speed at which you as an individual can carry on with the most efficiency. You need to cultivate poise—both mental and physical. You have very set ways, and it is difficult for others to influence you. You are very close mouthed and your never betray a secret. You are careful with money, and show good judgment in its expenditure.

THE GREENE MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

"The thing isn't over yet." Vance spoke with unwonted somberness. "The picture's unfinished. There's more tragedy to come before the monstrous canvas is rounded out. And the hideous thing about it is that there's no way of stopping it. Nothing now can halt the horror that's at work. It's got to go on."

"You feel that, too!" The inspector's voice was off its normal pitch. "This is the first case I've ever had that frightened me."

"Don't forget sir," argued Heath, but without conviction, "that we got men watching the house day and night."

"There's no security in that, sergeant," assorted Vance. "The killer is already in the house. He's part of the deadly atmosphere of the place. He's been there for years nourished by the toxins that seep from the very stones of the walls."

Heath looked up.

"A member of the family. You said that once before."

"Not necessarily. But some one who has been tainted by the perverted situation that grew out of old Tobias's patriarchal ideas."

"We might manage to put some one in the house to keep an eye on things," suggested the inspector, "Or, there's a possibility of prevailing upon the members of the family to separate and move to other quarters."

Vance shook his head slowly.

"A spy in the house would be useless. Isn't every one there a spy now, watching all the others, and watching them with fear and suspicion. And as for dispersing the family: not only would you find old Mrs. Greene, who holds the purse strings, an adamantine obstacle, but you'd meet all manner of legal complications as a result of Tobias' will. No one gets a dollar, I understand, who doesn't remain in the mansion for a full quarter of a century. And even if you succeeded in scattering the remnants of the Greene line, and locked up the house, you wouldn't have stamped out the killer. And there'll be no end of this thing until a purifying stake has been driven through his heart."

"Are you going in now for vampirism, Vance?" "The case had exacerbated Markham's nerves. "Shall we draw an enchanted ring around the house and hang garlic on the doors?"

Markham's extravagant comment of harassed discouragement seemed to express the hopeless state of mind of all of us, and there was a long silence. It was Heath who first came back to a practical consideration of the matter in hand.

"You spoke, Mr. Vance, about old man Greene's will. And I've been thinking that, if we knew all the terms of that will, we might find something to help us. There's millions in the estate, all of it left, I hear, to the old lady. What I'd like to know is, has she a full right to dispose of it any way she likes? And I'd also like to know what kind of a will the old lady herself has made. With all that money at stake, we might get on to a motive of some kind."

"Quite-quite!" Vance looked at Heath with undisguised admiration. "That's the most sensible suggestion that's been made thus far. I salute you, sergeant. Yes, old Tobias' money may have some bearing on the case. Not a direct bearing, perhaps; but the influence of that money—the subterranean power it exerts—is undoubtedly tangled up in these crimes.—How about it. Markhamé? How does one go about finding out about other people's wills?"

Markham pondered the point.

"I don't believe there'd be any great difficulty in the present instance. Tobias Greene's will is a matter of record, of course, though it might take some little time to look it up in the Surrogate's files; and I happen to know old Buckway, the senior partner of Buckway & Aldine the Greene solicitors. I see him here at the club occasionally, and I've done one or two small favors for him. I think I could induce him to tell me confidentially the terms of Mrs. Greene's will. I'll see what can be done tomorrow."

Half an hour later the conference broke up and we went home.

"I fear those wills are not going to help much," Vance remarked, as he sipped his highball before the fire late that night. "Like everything else in this harrowin' case, they'll possess some significance that can't be grasped until they're fitted into the final picture."

He rose and, going to the book-shelves, took down a small volume.

"And now I think I'll erase the Greenes from my mind pro tempore, and dip into the 'Satyricon.'"

He settled himself and turned the pages of his book. But there was no concentration in his attitude, and his eyes wandered constantly from the text.

Two days later—on Tuesday, November 30—Markham telephoned Vance shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning, and asked him to come at once to the office. Vance was preparing to attend an exhibition of Negro sculpture at the Modern Galley, but this indulgence was postponed in view of the District Attorney's urgent call; and in less than half an hour we were at the Criminal Courts Building.

"Ada Greene called up this morning and asked to see me without delay," explained Markham. "I offered to send Heath out and, if necessary, to come myself later on. But she seemed particularly anxious that I shouldn't do that, and insisted on coming here: said it was a matter she could speak of more freely away from the house. She seemed somewhat upset, so I told her to come ahead. Then I phoned you and notified Heath."

Vance settled himself and lit a cigarette "I don't wonder she'd grasp at any chance to shake the asmosphere of her surroundings. And, Markham, I've come to the conclusion that that girl knows something that would be highly valuable to our inquiry. It's quite possible, don't y' know, that she's now reached a point where she'll tell us what's on her mind."

As he spoke the sergeant was announced, and Markham briefly explained the situation to him.

"It looks to me," said Heath gloomily, but with interest, "like it was our only chance of getting a lead. We haven't learned anything ourselves that's worth a damn, and unless somebody spills a few suggestions we're up against it."

Ten minutes later Ada Greene was ushered into the office. Through her pallor had gone and her arm was no longer in a sling, she still gave one the impression of weakness. But there was none of the tremulousness or shrinking in her bearing that had heretofore characterized her.

She sat down before Markham's desk, and for a while frowned up at the sunlight, as if debating how to begin.

"It's about Rex, Mr. Markham," she said finally. "I really don't know whether I should have come here or time, and the young rascal is not—it may be very disloyal of me "She gave him a look of appealing indecision. "Oh, tell me: if a person knows something—something bad and dangerous—about some one very close and very dear, should that person tell, when it might make terrible trouble?"

"That all depends," Markham answered gravely. "In the present circumstances, if you know anything that might be helpful to a solution of the murder of your brother and sister, it's your duty to speak."

"Even if the thing were told me in confidence?" she persisted. "And the person were a member of my family?"

"Even under those conditions, I think." Markham spoke paternally. "Two terrible crimes have been committed, and nothing should be held back that might bring the murderer to justice—whoevre he may be."

The girl averted her troubled face for a moment. Then she lifted her head with sudden resolution.

"I'll tell you. * * * You know you asked Rex about the shot in my room, and he told you he didn't hear it. Well, he confided in me, Mr. Markham; and he did hear the shot. But he was afraid to admit it lest you might think it funny he didn't get up and give the alarm."

COUNT THE COST.

Dear Sir,—It is not surely disloyal to face facts and count the cost that Ontario is paying for the sale of alcoholic beverages. We must not shut our eyes to plain facts. What are the facts of the case?

The cost in dollars is appalling. Ontario spends on alcoholic beverages more than is spent on bread, for Ontario's bakery output is in all $39,000,000. Ontario spends on alcoholic beverages twice Toronto's school taxes and general taxes, and almost as much as the income tax for all Canada.

Ontario spends on spirits, such as whiskey and similar strong liquors, $32,000,000, an amount equal to the value of all gold produced in the province. Ontario spends on spirits or hard liquors $32,000,000, a sum equal to the municipal school tax for the whole province. And that is not all the wet money. There is the money spent in propaganda.

The French commercial paper, "Exportateur Francais," of June 19, 1924, contains a verbatim report of the French wines exportation commission. This report contains very illuminating information on the propaganda by wine capital in several countries. In commenting upon the 1923 successes of the anti-prohibitionists in Canada, the commission lays claim to a preponderant share in this success. Our action assumed the most diverse forms, drawing up of forms, drawing up of extracts and pamphlets, distributing them throughout Canada, press publications and controversies and furnishing of funds at the right moment."

The use of alcohol costs more than mere money. Sir Wilfrid Grenfell said: "Alcohol has wrecked more lives, starved more children and murdered more women than any other single factor, and Bishop Ireland has declared: "The great cause of social crime is drink. The great cause of poverty is drink. The cause of broken-up homes is drink. The cause of the victim of the gallows is drink. Why do people not put a stop to this thing?" How can they stop it?

HAVELOCK CADETS GOOD MARKSMEN

Students Make Good Showing in Recent Laura Secord Competition.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, Mar. 4. — Havelock Public and Continuation school has a very fine shooting squad this year. The cadet corps is divided into a senior and junior team. The junior team is composed of boys under sixteen, and the senior of boys sixteen and over. Owing to the small number in the cadet corps it is necessary that some of the junior boys double on the senior team. The boys had high hopes of winning some of the splendid medal prizes in the Laura Secord competition, but just before the first target was shot the guns were cleaned and in some manner the sights were interfered with, as a result of this the first shots were wide of the targets. The shifting of the sights was not noticed until some of the official targets had been shot and despite the fine targets made after re-adjustment the team lost out in the average score. In this competition the teams fell into fourth place. The D. C. R. A. competition requires that three targets be shot on the last week of the first three months of the year. The junior team of ten is allowed to enter the best eight targets in this competition. The shooting for February on the senior team was 97 per cent as compared with January's 96.8 per cent. The junior team obtained 94 per cent for February over 89.6 per cent for January. A score of 97 per cent for seniors and 93 per cent for juniors entitles the team to first class medals for each cadet. Besides this there is an award of a much coveted shield to the team making the highest average in the Dominion. There is also a special gold medal to the cadet who makes the best individual score. In 1928 this medal was won by Lester Breen. Following is the February score out of a possible hundred:

Senior Team

Leon Breen 99; George Dart 98; Bert Hagerman: 96; J. R. Bedford 97; George Armstrong 96; Gerald Buchanan 96; Earl Burnett 96; Billie Rose 96.

Junior Team

Present Play

In the United Church at Cordova Mines, Friday evening, February 28, a delightful entertainment was held. This took the form of an interesting play named "The Path Across the Hill".

Love and tragedy were well portrayed by the actors in all three acts. Many of the young people and some of the older ones of the community took part and all played very well. Between acts, Mr. Jones of Marmora entertained the audience with numerous selections on the violin. Especially appreciated was the excellent imitation of the bagpipes which he gave between the second and third acts. The entertainment was given for the benefit of the United Church. It is wonderful to note the good spirit shown in this community, between the members of the several denominations, and the way they helped in this instance. Old and young alike entered into the spirit of the occasion in their eagerness to help the work of preparation.

It is likely Cordova will be favored with another play in the future. Following is a list of the characters:

Samuel Colvert, Mrs. Carl Purdy; Robert Post, Arthur Steenburg; Walter Conrad, Mr. Wright; Dr. Reed, Rev. Mr. Joblin; Mrs. Davis, Miss P. Maloney; Salamander; Alexander; John; Henry; Joe; Floe Dray, Miss L. McIntosh; Lutie, Miss H. Johnston.

This play will be put on in the Belmont Town Hall under the auspices of the Women's Institute Tuesday evening.

LIST STRENGTHENS IN LATE TRADING

(By Stanley W. Prenosil, Associated Press Financial Editor.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 4.—The stock market turned upward after an early period of irregularity to-day when strong buying support developed in a rather wide assortment of industrials and public utilities. Early declines of 1 to nearly 5 points in the active shares were nearly obliterated by early afternoon when a long list of issues were selling 1 to nearly 7 points above yesterday's final quotations. J. I. Case was the spectacular individual feature, soaring 19¼ points to 261, or more than double the low price established in the break last fall. The stock sold as high as 109 last year.

Early selling was inspired largely by the renewed weakness of the commodity markets. May cotton futures breaking below 15 cents a pound to within a few points of the record low established last week while wheat futures dropped about 2 cents a bushel before the decline was checked by short covering.

OLD BOBCAYGEON BOY HEADS SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS FIRM

Yearly Earnings Exceed Those of Some of Canada's Largest Banks.

MOTHER LOCAL GIRL.

One of the most amazing stories of modern business is a part of the tale of the rise of Harold F. Ritchie, a Bobcaygeon boy, from an obscure position as son of a general store merchant to the head of an organization whose yearly earnings exceed those of some of Canada's largest banks. He is president of a company which bears his name, the Harold F. Ritchie Company, Limited, manufacturers' representatives. Its headquarters are in Toronto.

Mr. Ritchie was born in Bobcaygeon in 1881, the son of Matilda Johnston of Peterborough and W. D. Ritchie, Ogdensburg, New York. When quite young his parents moved to the north country to Little Current on Manitoulin Island. There, he and his father engaged in the lumbering business and operated a general store after he had gone to school in Little Current. Later, he went to school in Toronto.

"I always had a peculiar idea about selling merchandise," Mr. Ritchie says. "We were isolated for a great part of the year and salesmen came to sell us goods in the winter time by driving over the ice. It always seemed strange to me that one would have a man selling vinegar, another one pickles, another one spices, and another one teas and coffees when one man could have sold the whole lot and saved a great deal of expense."

"Car Load Ritchie"

With these first seeds of the idea of organizing a commission business sewn in his mind, Mr. Ritchie started selling for the Capstan Manufacturing Company. His success was so great that he earned the title "Carload Ritchie."

After paving the way by tremendous personal success in selling and promoting sales, he formed the Harold F. Ritchie Company in Toronto, as a chartered company in 1910. In 1918 United States offices were opened in New York, and since then offices have been opened in Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Sydney, Australia; Wellington, New Zealand; Shanghai and Hong Kong, China; London, England; Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro; Valparaiso, Lima—in fact in all the South and Central American Republics and in most of the West India Islands.

Whereas the company originally acted solely as commission merchants, it has been buying large businesses in different parts of the world. The greatest purchase was the recent acquisition of the Pompeian interests from the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company of the United States. The Pompeian Company, one of the most famous cosmetic houses in the world, will be brought to Toronto as a result. The Harold F. Ritchie Company owns the firm of J. C. Eno, Limited, of England.

Mr. Ritchie has always had great faith and confidence in Canada and Canadians. He states, "We believe that Canadians can just as well represent large sums of capital invested in legitimate merchandising as any other people, and we believe that Canadians can be just as enterprising. Any man who will go straight can get all the backing he needs in the Dominion of Canada."

BALDWIN ADVISES REFERENDUM

which is more reliable, more efficient than general protection,' Mr. Baldwin said. "We must mix imperial policy with domestic policy. I remain unwilling to ask Britons to give any vote on the question of food trades unless and until they know exactly what is involved and what they may be going to get in exchange.

"Many of my friends have taken the view that by declaration at the coliseum and to which I adhere to-day, precludes negotiating freely and fully with the Dominions. It does nothing of the kind. The difficulty does not lie there. The difficulty which has always influenced me in refusing to allow food taxes to be brought before the public at a general election is that any negotiations at family gatherings like the imperial conference resulting in something definite subject to the sanction of Parliament, would under existing arrangements, have to be presented to the country at a general election.

Arrangements Might do Harm.

"The result of such an arrangement in imperial matters being treated as a shuttlecock in our party politics might do damage to imperial relations, lasting perhaps for a generation." Mr. Baldwin then declared there was only one way out—a referendum. A referendum had been advocated by Lord Salisbury when he was Prime Minister, and also in 1893 in the short term of the Liberal Government, as well as by Arthur Balfour. A referendum was an issue of the British constitution, for it meant turning back upon the old ways of Britain and attempting the start of a new constitutional link between the nations of the Empire.

"There will be no food tax at a general election and the people will never have to pay a food tax unless they so decide it themselves," Mr. Baldwin declared. "The first business that will lie before us if we are returned will be to summon unconditionally a conference of the Empire to discuss these economic subjects and get something done.

Put Issue Before People.

"The dominions are autonomous and free. They would resent our saying in this room what they might do or what we might do. It is for us to meet in an atmosphere of perfect freedom and if as a result of those discussions there should emerge any form of agreement, arrangement of treaty—wheatver you like to call it—that does give us great benefits and that demands in return a tax on some article of food from a foreign country, or taxes on some articles, the whole issue can be put clearly before our people.

"Believe me, there is no alternative to the vision of economic unity of our Empire its ultimate dissolution.

"My last word to you is 'close up your ranks, fight shoulder to shoulder, and you will win not only a great victory but one to which people in this country and every corner of the Empire may go back to in generations to come, as an election where the people of this country finally and ultimately made its decision to be one with its kindred overseas."

The Conservative conference later met privately, passing a resolution endorsing the leader's statement and the holding of a referendum.

Creates Sensation.

The speech of Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin before the Conservative party to-day, advocating a referendum on food taxes, caused a sensation among the United Empire Party.

The Rothermere—owned Evening News in a big headline said:

"Mr. Baldwin adopts United Empire Party's policy," qualifying this in its report with the words "in its main outlines.

Lord Beaverbrook, leader of the Empire Party, cancelled a speaking engagement and sent a letter saying the reason was the "momentous pronouncement from the leader of the Conservative party which alters almost to the point of transformation the political outlook." This necessitated consultation between himself and his followers before he commented on it.

P. J. Hannon, Conservative Member of Parliament who read this letter at the central chamber of agriculture, said he was "in a happy position, being able to announce that the whole forces of the United Empire Party will stand on the side of the great forward uplifting policy announced this morning by M. Stanley Baldwin."

FRACTION DEALING CONFUSES MARKET

Big Sales Increase Over Three Month Period Shown For Loblaw Groceterias.

TORONTO, Mar. 4. (Special to Examiner.)—Trading in fractions of shares of Brazilian Traction got underway on the Toronto Stock Exchange Monday and created some confusion, the figures for both are almost identical but the price of the fractions is in cents and that for the stock in dollars. Brazilian's stock dividend was paid as of March 1 and was equal to 1 percent, of the total shares outstanding. Each holder was in receipt one fully paid share foreach 100 shares and fractional certificates were delivered to others representing 1-100th part of a share for each share held. Stockholders can either complete a full share by purchasing sufficient fractions or sell their fractional warrants in the market for cash. The fractions have a cash value of approximately 37 cents and with the cash distribution of 50 cents a share the total return for the past quarter is equal to 87 cents.

Loblaw Construction.

The economics effected by the construction of the new warehouse by Loblaw Groceterias Company, Ltd., is evident from the increased ratio of profit to sales for the first nine of the thirteen periods into which the company's fiscal year is divided. Sales have been showing a consistent increase but the percentage of gain in profit is much greater. Sales for the first nine periods, from June 1 to Feb. 28, were value at $12,842,791 as against $11,134,439 for the corresponding period of the previous year, an increase of $1,708,352 or 15.34 per cent in the same months net profit amounted to $732,932 contrasted with $488,616 an improvement of $244, 316 or 50 per cent. Sales for the four weeks ending February 8 amounted to $1,462,913, up by $135,833 from $1,327,080 or 10.24 per cent net profit for the same period increased by 52.32 per cent or $32,591 from $62,336 to $94,931. The net percentage of profits to sales of 6.49 is the highest of the current fiscal year.

The market for International Nickel did the usual in slipping off once the good news is out and, although the financial statement for 1929 was well received by the public, the shares were soft to-day.

Nickel to-day ranks as one of the largest enterprises in the dominion with total assets of $181,000,000 and cash assets or the equivalent of $25,000,000 while the value of the ore reserves at current metal prices is away up in the billions.

NICKEL PRICE BREAKS TO-DAY

Speculators Holding For An Advance of Issue Meet With Disappointment.

PIVOT STOCKS STEADY.

TORONTO, Ont., March 4 (Canadian Press). — Interest in Canadian markets to-day centred on the action of International Nickel and that part of the trading public which had looked for favorable action by the stock met with disappointment. On Toronto Stock Exchange the price broke sharply after the opening, wavered, firmed, and then reacted again, finally steadying down around 38¼ to 38½, where it was nearly ½ point below the close last night.

Recognized pivotal issues, as Brazilian, Massey-Harris, Ford, Gypsum, Walkers, changed only by small fractions. There were both gains and losses, but they carried no significance other than typifying the general attitude. Oil dragged along slowly, B. A. Oil off fractionally, Supertest down a point, in quieter trading, Imperial and Petroleum up a small amount.

WAITE - ACKERMAN OPERATORS DEVELOPING NEW ORE BODIES

Lack of Favorable Response Following Nickel Report Depresses Market.

PREMIER GOLD STILL WEAK.

TORONTO, Mar. 4. (Special to Examiner.)—Lack of a favorable response on the part of traders to the information contained in the annual report of International Nickel had a rather depressing effect on trading on the mining market during the early session but recessions were relatively unimportant.

The average figures given for the Frood deposit so far developed below the 1,400 level proved somewhat disappointing as the street has been talking much higher values for some time. It is to be pointed out, however, that the lowest levels of the mine have not been developed to as great an extent as the middle levels and that it was at the 3,100 horizontal Mond secured its highest percentages.

Cause of Comment.

The weakness of Premier Gold is causing some comment, latest official reports from the coast indicating the outlook for the company was good. Regular shipments of high grade are being made to the Tacoma smelter from the Porter, Idaho and Prosperity properties. Controlled by Premier, and the ore struck a few months ago at Premier has caused a revision of estimates on the part of geologists and operators.

Renewed activity in the Lake Geneva section points to a busy season for that part of the Sudbury district. Machinery is reported to have arrived at Geneva station for Lake Geneva mines and is now being forwarded across the lake to the site of the mill.

It is considered coincidental that crews at Noranda and Waite Ackerman are now pushing towards ore bodies at new deep horizons. 'It is expected that on the strength of the results of these operations the directors will measure their plans for whatever further smelting facilities will be required the next few months, therefore should be important ones for both operations. Latest reports from Lowery well state lime formation and rocks are still being blown from the hole but that one separator will probably be attached shortly and that another is being rigged up for use within a few days. Crowds of interested persons from Calgary have motored to the well and all express satisfaction with the performance. Howey Gold mines mill is understood to have been turned over, but it is likely it will take good part of March to tune up. In the meantime, very low grade ore or rock will probably be used as mill feed for several days.

The question has been raised around the street as to whether or not Canadian mine operators whose main output is silver should suspend operations in view of the present price of silver. The price of 41 cents an ounce compares with the 1928 average of 58.17 and 1929 average of 52.99 and looks as though it wipes out a good portion of the margin of profit.

ESTIMATED SURPLUS FOR 1930 SET AT $390,000 BY MINISTER

ment happens to have a buoyancy in revenue and a substantial surplus, it does not mean that it necessarily spends money just because it has it. Likewise, it will appeal to the taxpayer that while an era of balanced budgets and surpluses has been reached, the Government has not grown reckless and extravagant in the use of its money."

"Six months prior to the end of the fiscal years 1929, the Government was aware that there was a new expenditure facing them in the year 1930—$2,000,000 to meet the requirement of the Old Age Pension scheme. In order not to be forced to develop new sources of revenue, the monies of 1929 were conserved. This surplus cannot be used to play Old Age Pensions in 1930. It automatically reduces the debt. In the payment of the debt quota for 1930, the Province will pay $2,275,000. And the balance of the $3,858,000 will be borne by the Hydro Commission. The Province's share will be provided by the surplus just recorded, thus relieving the revenues of 1930 to that extent and making it possible to meet the additional demands of the Old Age Pension scheme."

Taxation and Revenue.

Turning to the the question of taxation and revenue, the Provincial Treasurer said that the Government's policy was to secure revenue from services rendered. Less than 25 per cent. of all revenue, he pointed out, was secured from such sources as amusements taxes, betting tax at race tracks, gasoline, etc. Some $15,000,000 came from these sources. Of the total revenue of $64,000,000, less than $2,000,000 was derived from a general tax on all the people, he said. These items were: mothers' allowance of $1,000,000; contributed by municipalities, $349,000, representing 20 per cent of the Provincial highway system maintenance and contributions at the rate of 10 cents per day for each indigent patient in Provincial institutions. Such items as $17,000,000 from highways, he said, was received from persons who drove motor cars. Succession duties amounting to $6,000,000 could not be classed as a general tax, he contended, and neither could the $8,000,000 from the Liquor Commission, it was not a tax at all but a profit.

During the past five year period, the Treasurer estimated that slightly over $9,000,000 had been wiped out in taxes by the Ferguson Government. On the other hand, certain imposts had been placed in effect during the same period, particularly the gasoline tax, it was pointed out. At the present time it is five cents a gallon.

People Believe Tax Fair

"People generally accept this tax as a logical and fair one" Dr. Monteith stated. "It is a tax on the people who use the roads, working on the principle that those who use them should pay for them. As an offset to the gasoline tax, motor vehicle permits again were reduced this year, which means a further saving to the motorists of $2,100,000 which, with the previous reduction (1927) is an annual saving of about $4,500,000.

"Five cents a gallon for gasoline may be considered an excessive tax by some but it may be mentioned that five of the nine Canadian Provinces have a tax of that figure. This contributes $8,500,000. It may be noted here that this amount $17,000,000 derived from highways) together with a few million more have gone back by way of expenditure on the roads of the Province."

The Treasury Department, next year, Dr. Monteith said, would eliminate the cross-entry system of accounting in the consolidated revenue fund. He estimated that the total inflation of both revenue and expenditures in 1929 was $10,500,000 and in 1930 it would be increased considerably. This was due, he said, to refunds on advances made by the Government to several sources and which were repaid. The interest payment of $8,200,000 made to the Government by the Hydro Commission in 1929 which represented money loaned in past years, was an example of the inflation.

Capital Expenditures $21,900,000

Capital expenditures made in 1929 totalled $21,900,000 and revenues totalled $3,300,000. The principal expenditure was $61,641,000 for highways.

"Our outlay of capital moneys are sound and profitable," the Treasurer stated, "and while the assets created may not be of a realisable nature. I desire to stress their value as investments to the people of the Province. Highways, the development of the north, conservation of natural resources, public works and buildings, all tend to the benefit of the people. I feel that public sentiment is emphatically behind the Government in their desire to develop the resources of the Province."

For the first time in Ontario's History' the Treasurer presented a detailed statement of the Provincial debt. At the end of the fiscal year, Oct. 31, 1929, it stood at $426,742,899. The total assets overshadowed this amount by $37,870,771 the Treasurer said. In analyzing the debt total, Dr. Monteith said that advances to the Hydro Commission amounted to $13,522,310 and cost the Province nothing to carry.

The Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway debt stood at $30,207,934. During the past three years, the railway has paid $3,700,000 to the Province which has about taken care of the overhead interest charges, the Treasurer said.

Housing and Draining Debentures.

Housing and drainage debentures amounted to $8,000,000 which are interest bearing and are being repaid by the municipalities. Cash in bank, accounts receivable and investments by the agricultural development board amounted to $36,000,000. That accounted for $237,000,000 of the whole debt. It was all interest bearing and did not cost the province one dollar to carry, Dr. Monteith said.

The balance of $188,000,000 from which there is no direct revenue by way of interest, nevertheless produces revenue. Highways and roads figured at actual cost, amounted to $128,000,000. Of the $60,000,000 balance, the development of the Niagara Falls park accounted for $2,000,000 and $40,000,000 was invested in public buildings. With other assets totalling $3,000,000 there was a balance left of $15,000,000 of capital obligations which the treasurer said were capital deficits which began under the Drury regime and which are being reduced gradually.

"Last year," he continued, "the amount of our debt against which we had no assets was $20,000,000. In one year, the improvement has been over $5,000,000 accounted for by the surplus, debt retirement quota and payments of discounts out of ordinary revenue. Continuing along the same lines of financing, a few more years will wipe out the capital deficits"

The gross debt of the Province was set at $425,743,988, an increase of $31,995,460 over the fiscal year 1928. This was accounted for by the following increases: Highways, $12,750,000; Hydro, $12,000,000! Northern development, $3,500,000; Agricultural Development Board, $4,500,000; rural Hydro bonus, $1,000,000; public works, $1,200,000, and cash in bank, $1,000,000, making a total of $36,850,000.

Deducted from this was the surplus of $2,650,000, the debt quota of $1,750,000, and discounts of $500,000, leaving the increase in the gross debt at $32,000,000.

The average annual debt increase over a period of six years during the Ferguson Government regime was set at $22,000,000, while that of the Drury Government was shown as $48,000,000. "It will be realized," the Treasurer said, "that the $32,000,000 is quite in keeping with the normal expansion of a development rendered the people the many services they enjoy to-day, and all of which bring to the Province revenues sufficient to meet the carrying interest charges, together with paying off a portion of the debt every year."

Farmers Loans $4,307,000.

The amount of money loaned to farmers through the Agricultural Development Board was given as $4,307,000, making the total outstanding $23,836,000. The operating costs of the Board were $131,000. During the war 1,757 loans were granted out of 2,606 applications. The volume of business done by the Province of Ontario savings office was $69,000,000 with $681,000 being paid to depositors as interest. The business volume was an increase of $14,000,000 over 1928. There were 21,207 new accounts opened and deposits increased $2,040,000.

The total paid out during the year through the Mother's Allowance Commission was given as $3,306,000, derived equally between the municipalities and the Government. There were 5,367 mothers and 19,984 children who received benefits. The new allowances contributed by the Government over a period of nine years has been $6,630,000.

The Workmen's Compensation Board awarded benefits totalling over 8,000,000 during the year. Compensation awarded amounted to $6,636,000 and medical aid $1,365,000, while pensions awarded were $2,100,000.

The treasurer said that 833 Ontario teachers are drawing pensions or superannuations from the fund established in 1917. The fund at present stands at $13,367,000. Invested in Ontario bonds. Maximum and minimum pensions are $1,250 and $365, depending upon the length of service.

Debt Retirement Policy.

Speaking of the government's debt retirement policy, Dr. Monteith said: "The policy has received nothing but commendation from financial authorities who are qualified to understand it's operation. It was adopted in 1927 and is to pay off all debts in 40 years from ordinary revenue. This does not mean that the province ever will be entirely free from debt. That only could happen if for all the future the new capital works and developments were financed currently out of ordinary revenue raised for the purpose.

The debt in 1927 stood at $319,000,000, he explained, of which $127,000,000 was chargeable to hydro and $192,000,000 to the province for roads, etc. To take care of the latter figure $1,450,000 was set aside each year, while the hydro portion was taken care of by the inclusion of an annual sinking fund instalment in the power bills to the municipalities.

Through this policy, the debt of $192,000,000 would be wiped out by the end of 1965, he said. He went very thoroughly into the matter of the debt retirement, showing that the annual quota would increase through proper investment and interest compounded, to reach that amount by the end of the 40 year period.

"So far as new borrowings are concerned," the treasurer said, "the same policy is being followed providing, in addition to the interest charges, an additional annual sum borrowed at the end of 40 years from the date of the loan."

It was shown that the current annual quota was $4,750,000, being made up of $450,000 to retire the old debt and $3,300,000 to retire the new debt.

FURTHER CARE.

vice on any of the war fronts between August 4, 1914, and August 31, 1921, or who received pensionable disabilities while in service in Canada or in England. Canadians residing in Canada at the outbreak of the war, who saw service with the Imperial or Allied forces, also benefit in a like manner under this Bill.

Special Exceptions.

The Bill makes special exceptions of what constitutes outside income. The income from property on which the veteran resides or equity in such property where the assessed value of $2,000 or under is not included as income. Casual earnings or gifts totalling in the aggregate in any year less than $120, additional pension paid on account of clothing allowance, and any war pension being paid on behalf of children of a veteran are also exempt.

For administration of war veterans' allowances the bill provides for the formation of a committee consisting of the Deputy Minister, the Assistant Deputy Minister of Pensions and National Health, and not more than five and not less than three other members, who shall be appointed by the Governor-in-council from the staff of the department.

It has often been contended Canada has in the past led the world in pension legislation for her returned soldiers. The new legislation brought down in the House to-day is a new departure in the treatment of war veterans, and in this it is also claimed, Canada again leads all other countries of the world. It is proposed by this legislation to remove the totally and permanently unemployable war veterans from the hardships of the labor market regardless of his age, and to provide to some extent for him and his dependents.

BISHOP SCOLLARD'S JUBILEE

Former Peterborough Priest, Born in Ennismore, Celebrates Twenty-fifth Anniversary of His Episcopal Consecration at North Bay.

Rt. Rev. D. J. Scollard, Bishop of Sault Ste. Marie, celebrated on Monday, February 24, the twenty-fifth anniversary of his episcopal ordination.

Bishop Scollard was born in Ennismore township, Peterborough county, on November 4, 1862. He was educated at St. Michael's College, Toronto, and graduated with high honors in the classical course, winning the silver medal for languages. On the completion of his theological course at the grand seminary, Montreal, he was ordained on December 21, 1890, and for several years served as a priest at St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough.

The death of Rev. Eugene Bloem, pastor at North Bay, then in the diocese of Peterborough, left a vacancy, and Father Scollard assumed the pastorate of that parish on March 1, thirty-four years ago. He early realized the need of a new church in North Bay, and accordingly purchase was made of the land on which now stands the spacious and beautiful church, known as St. Mary's pro-Cathedral. The corner stone of this edifice was laid on June 19, 1904, by the late Bishop O'Connor of Peterborough.

A recent news despatch from North Bay refers to Bishop Scollard's subsequent career as follows:

Always a firm believer in the close relationship between the church and the school, Bishop Scollard had already begun the erection of St. Mary's Separate School, the first of the numerous separate schools which now serve the Catholic children of North Bay. About this time, the report came to North Bay that His Holiness, Pope Pius X, realizing the vast extent of the diocese of Peterborough, had decided to break it up.

A new diocese of Sault Ste. Marie was to be created, and Father Scollard was to be the first bishop. He was consecrated on February 24, 1905, by Right Reverend R. A. O'Connor at Peterborough.

The newly-created bishop expressed a desire to remain at North Bay continuing his life's work there, and special permission was granted.

For a quarter of a century, Bishop Scollard has labored in his spiritual domain, which extends from North Bay as far as Rainy river.

New and important parishes have been opened up in the whole length of the diocese. Convents, hospitals, orphanages, Catholic high schools and colleges have been established in different sections in the past 25 years all tangible evidence of Bishop Scollard's ability as an administrator.

Not only has Bishop Scollard been a power in Northern Ontario, where he has had to surmount physical, religious and racial barriers, but he has been regarded, during all his years as a member of the Episcopate of Ontario, as one of the authorities on ecclesiastical matters. Had he not, from deliberate choice, shunned the limelight, there is no doubt that Bishop Scollard would today occupy a much more important and exalted position in the Catholic hierarchy of this country.

In connection with his recent anniversary Bishop Scollard announced a program of expansion that will involve the expenditure of $750,000 within the next two years.

The program provides for the erection of a general hospital and a combined college and high school, both to be located at North Bay. Ground will be broken with construction of both institutions this spring.

The hospital, which will be under the direction of a community of religious sisters, provides for a 60-bed hospital, modern in every detail, at an estimated cost of $300,000.

The college, which will be in charge of the Fathers of the Resurrection who operate St. Jerome's College at Kitchener, and other educational institutions in different parts of the world, will be erected on the property known as the McColl race track.

The first unit of the institution involves an expenditure of $375,000 and will be completed in two years. The institution will offer commercial matriculation and arts courses and provision will be made for both boarding and day pupils.

It is the intention of His Lordship to have the college either federated or affiliated with a university, likely either Laval, of Quebec, or St. Michael's, Toronto, one of the four federated colleges of the University of Toronto.

Speaking to his parishioners, Bishop Scollard envisioned the day when the college he is to establish will be the first of a unit of a Northern Ontario University.

Mr. E. N. McDonald auctioneered the boxes, which were all very pretty, one representing a moon was exceptionally pretty. The boxes brought from $1.75 to $3.75 each.

Radio Demonstrations!

The undersigned radio dealers believe it to be in the best interests of the radio buying public to eliminate free "Home Demonstrations" of radio sets. The privilege has been considerably abused, leading to general dissatisfaction to both the buyer and the seller.

Therefore in order to assure the buyer that he is getting a brand new set instead of one that has been over-demonstrated, we have decided to charge $5.00 for all demonstrations in the Prospect's Home. This amount of course will be applied to the purchase price in the event of a sale.

A MIGHTY FORCE IN CANADIAN BUSINESS.

Daily Newspapers of Canada

THE daily newspaper is indispensable to the efficient, orderly operation of Canadian business. From coast to coast manufacturer, distributor and retailer depend on its sales influence to maintain a constant flow of goods from maker to merchant and from merchant to consumer.

Deprive commerce and industry of the sales-creating power of the daily newspaper and business would languish. Factory output would diminish, inventories would mount, dealers' shelves become clogged with merchandise and profits dwindle.

The daily newspaper performs the essential function of enabling the seller to place his offering promptly, forcibly and economically before the buyer. Whether it be the nation as a whole or a specific sector which the advertiser aims to influence, the daily newspaper has no equal as a means of direct and effective contact with the Canadian buying public.

Its unique influence as a constructive business force arises from the fact that it renders a basic service—that of presenting every day the world's news. Practically every family in the Dominion reads a daily newspaper.

For this reason, daily newspaper circulation in a particular market is identical with the buying power of that market.

Canadian businesss leaders recognize this and make the daily newspaper the foundation medium of their advertising campaigns. No other medium can take its place.

It is the most powerful sales lever in the hands of Canadian business.

ANGLICAN CLERGY DEAL LIGHTLY ON RUSSIANS' CAUSE

Bishops Fear References to Persecutions May Rouse Nationalistic Feeling.

PREMIER GIVES WARNING.

Must Use Language That Will Not Confuse Politics and Religion.

LONDON, March 4 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Two Bishops of the Church of England, while complying with the Archbishop of York's request that special references should be made to the alleged persecution of Christians in Russia, stress the danger of arousing nationalistic feelings.

Rt. Rev. H. H. Henson, Bishop of Durham, on his own account yesterday, uttered an admonition. "The Prime Minister has given warning that might too easily injure by agitation in England, those whom we desire to help in Russia," he pointed out.

Must Be On Guard

"There is undoubtedly a need for such a warning. We must be on guard, especially the clergy, against using language which would suggest in any way a confusion between politics and religion. Nevertheless while there may be considerable doubt as to the particular allegations of persecution and violence, there seems to me no reasonable doubt possible as to the main facts."

Rt. Rev. Dr. Henry Williams, Bishop of Carlisle, approved the church intercessory services while dissociating himself from public protest meetings. "The time might come when such meetings might be necessary, but meanwhile, I am content to wait for the statement of facts promised by the Foreign Secretary, and hold aloof from any movements liable to be interpreted or misinterpreted as having a political intention," he declares.

There could be no doubt, the Bishop of Carlisle added, that there existed in Russia a widespread and organized hostility to any form of religion.

LOCAL DISTRICT WILL NOT BENEFIT

Charges For Peterborough Area Already Lower Than Maximum Charge.

Hydro consumers in the rural district surrounding Peterborough can not benefit by the legislation that is being considered at the legislative sittings in Toronto at present, R. L. Dobbin, manager of the Peterborough Utilities explained today. The charges for Peterborough district are already considerably lower than the maximum service charge of $2.50 a month proposed by the Hon. J. R. Cooke, minister of power.

The maximum rural service charge that would be provided by the bill would be applicable to all areas now paying that rate or higher. Deficits between the amount realized at this rate and the actual cost to any district will be paid by the province out of the consolidated revenue fund.

Behind the bill is the hope that farmers will be attracted by the rate offered and by the loans for Hydro equipment installation provided in the second power bill and that more rural consumers will be attracted and that the increase of consumers per mile of transmission line will lower costs.

But already enough farmers have taken advantage of Hydro service in Peterborough district that the rates at which power can be sold are the lowest of any rural district in the province.

There is a total of about 37 miles of Hydro service line in the district at present including the new line to Keene. With a total of more than 775 customers on the 37 miles of line, there is an average of more than 20 customers to the mile. The Hydro Commission requires only the guarantee of three customers per mile before installing a line.

The estimated monthly service charge for small farms up to 50 acres in Peterborough district is $1.21. For hamlets service the nominal monthly service charge is 63 cents.

HAVELOCK SCHOOLS ARE OVERCROWDED

Unsanitary Condition Again Big Question at School Trustees' Meeting.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, Mar. 4.—A special meeting of the school board was held in the school room, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 25, to meet Inspector Mills and discuss with him the vexed question of school accommodation. Members of the village council had been invited to attend this meeting in order that the council might the better understand the situation in which the school board is placed. Councillors Spencer, Howe and Seeney responded to the invitation and were present.

Mr. Evans, chairman of the board, introduced Mr. Mills to the other members of the board and the council members.

Mr. Mills in his opening remarks stated that in the nineteen years he has been visiting the school, he never saw it in as good condition.

The school building is in first class condition, clean and comfortable, but the toilets are an abomination. He has been warning the board for the past ten years of the unsanitary condition, and something has to be done at once. Mr. Mills said that if the provincial board of health was advised of the condition of the toilets in the school the building would be closed. Questioned as to whether the matter of school accommodation could be laid over for another year, Mr. Ellis said he could recommend it to the minister of education but doubted that he would consider it. He enumerated several places where the chemical system had been installed and was continually giving trouble. It would only be a temporary solution of the problem as after ten years of installation it gave trouble constantly. He named the places where this condition existed. Councillor Seeney asked the inspector if it would be advisable to go back to the people with the same proposition as before. The drawback to connecting the system to the drain, as they would have do if the toilets were installed in the basement, is the fact that the school would be blamed if there should be any trouble with the drain. Mr. Mills suggested that if the council and board were both agreed on a system, and they were both representative of the people, they need not consult the ratepayers. They could proceed with the improvement. This is permissible because it is a necessary improvement sponsored by the government. Mr. Councillor Spencer speaking as a member of the council said if the Provincial Board of Health favored a plan, he would vote for it. Another objection to the system being connected with the village drain was that as the drain runs through private property it could not be used for the school purpose. Discussing the people having turned the project down, Mr. Howe said the board had not put it to the council clearly and the council had not understood what the money was for. Special meeting had been planned for the board and council to meet and through some error of the secretary the board had not been advised. Meeting adjourned till February 28.

At a special meeting of the school board on Feb. 28 to consider plans for the new system, it was moved by Brewster and Mathison that plan adopted this year be the same as 1929. An amendment by Squires was that board employ engineers and get plans for an estimate of cost of installing the system in basement. Motion carried, Squires only dissenting. Anderson and Mathison moved that the municipal council be asked for $7,000 to install water flush system in school. Carried. Moved by Brewster and McLaughlin that the board attend meeting of council on Monday, March 3, in a body in support of the requisition. Carried. Motion by Brewster and McLaughlin that board adjourn until March 19. Carried.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Encouraging Reports on Year's Activities Read at Bensfort United Church Meeting.

The annual congregational meeting of the Bensfort United Church was held in the basement of the church on the evening of Monday, February 24. This meeting was combined with a very pleasant social gathering in the form of a pot-luck supper served by the ladies of the congregation. At the conclusion of the supper a hymn was sung and prayer was offered by Rev. E. Swayne. Reports of the year's work of all the church organizations were given. Much has been accomplished during the year, including renovating and redecorating the church and parsonage. The secretary, Mr. Charles Fisher, gave a detailed report of the cost of these improvements. The treasurer, John Emberson, gave a report of receipts and expenditures. Mrs. William McAllister reported for the W.M.S. and Mrs. George Whittington for the Ladies' Aid. Mr. Elwood McAllister reported a very successful year in Sunday School work. Lawrence Finnie, choir leader, thanked the organist and the choir for their support and expressed pleasure in the work. The officers were all reappointed, and Rev. Mr. Swayne expressed his utmost satisfaction in the splendid results accomplished by the congregation in this very difficult year in the church's activities, and also his sincere thanks and appreciation of the hearty co-operation in the work.

Marmora

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, March 3. — "The path across the hill" was admirably put on at the United Church, Cordova, on Friday evening by the following cast of characters:

Samuel Crawford, C. Purdy, Robt. Post, A. Steenburgh, Walter Conrad, V. Wright; Dr. Jimmie Reed, E. Joblin, Salamander Alexander John Henry Jones, J. Fitzpatrick; Mrs. Davis, Miss V. Moloney; Ruth Conrad, Miss H. Thomson; Flo Gray, Miss L. McIntosh; Lutie, Miss H. Johnson; Zuza, Miss E. Steenburgh.

The play has three acts in the third of which there is much match making as a happy sequel to explanations of vicissitudes appearing earlier in the play. For local amateur talent, better acting could not be possible, and if the company appears at Preneveau, as is hoped next Tuesday evening a crowded hall will doubtless greet them. Between the acts on Friday evening Llewellyn Jones of Marmora, delighted the large audience with popular violin numbers.

RICE KRISPIES

IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES

BETHANY TABERNACLE.

On Sunday, at both services, a good congregation gathered in spite of the difficult walking and much blessing attended. In the morning Rev. G. H. Johnson brought a helpful message prior to the Communion service on the theme "Yoked with Christ," taking his text from the 29th verse of the 11th chapter of Matthew's Gospel. It would seem that the words of the Master, "Take my yoke upon you," is almost adding affliction to already afflicted ones, yet upon careful study of the text we see that the yoke that the Lord offers is one that is easy to bear, one which is truly lined with love. Our individual need is to keep yoked with Christ, which is a figure of our subjection to Him, of our strict obedience to all His commands and a thorough yielding of our entire selves and talents. The pastor gave five points describing why we hould be yoked with Christ—

1—In carrying the burden of the unsaved. As Jesus yearns to have them saved, so ought we to bear that burden too, and see to it that others have the benefit of this glorious Gospel message.

2—That the world might see their need of salvation. Truly yoked with Christ, we shall reveal Him to the world, for we are His counterpart, that part which is visible. Seeing Christ in us, will truly attract others to Him.

3—That peace and harmony and unity might always be maintained in the body of believers. For if we are under this yoke with the Lord this wonderful condition will always exist.

4—In order to keep from the evil one. Yoked to Him, we are fortified against the attacks of Satan.

5—Yoked with Him, in order to be ready when He comes again.

In the evening the pastor continued his study in the Book of Revelation, in the 14th chapter which reveals celestial scenes. The 13th chapter had left us looking at the awful condition upon the earth, but in this present chapter our attention is directed to a gracious unfolding of marvellous achievement in heaven. There are three natural divisions into which th chapter falls:

1—The translated 144,000. Here is a view of these sealed ones of the 7th chapter who have finished their task upon earth and have been true to the Lamb. They are singing a peculiar song, one of praise born out of their own experience. They are possessed of five glorious characteristics namely, they are redeemed from the earth, they are virgins, or rather, chaste, pure, they are followers of the Lamb, their mouth is free from guile they are the first-fruits of tribulation.

2—The next section contains that angelic announcement first proclaimed throughout the world in the days of tribulation, the everlasting, changeless Gospel to every nation, tribe and tongue. This is a note of warning, calling for decision on the part of earth's inhabitants. The second angel cries "Babylon is fallen," and the third proclaims fearful warning that the promises to all who have the mark of the beast will drink of the wrath of God.

3—The third section is the vision of the ingatherings, and here is revealed to us that in the last day Christ shall tread the winepress alone with the steady crushing of His enemies. It is the final conflict against the organized hosts of wickedness. In other parts of Scripture it is called the Battle of Armageddon.

This whole Book of Revelation throws out a warning to erring hearts and to those living in sin to quickly repent now while the light of the Gospel is shedding its glorious rays upon us, and thus be free from that awful hour that God's Word is saying shall come upon the earth.

The Nyack Training Institute of the Christian Missionary Alliance will broadcast next Sunday 1.15 to 2 p.m. from WGY, Schnectady, N.Y. A splendid program was enjoyed last Sunday at the same hour when Rev. John R. Turnbull, a former resident of Peterborough, and member of Bethany Tabernacle, spoke in the interests of mision work on the Arabian border. Tune in on Sunday afternoon and hear Rev. H. M. Shuman, president of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. Bethany Tabernacle is one of the oldest branches of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Canada and has sent out many Christian workers to many sections in both home and foreign lands.

ST. JAMES' CHURCH.

"Even from the time of Elisha up to the present day with its great Naval Conference God has shown His keeping power over his own people", said Rev. J. H. Dudgeon, speaking on the subject "More than Conquerors" on Sunday morning. Two scripture passages were selected as the basis for this theme. The first from 2 Kings 6, tells the story of the downfall of the King of Syria before Elisha's faith in God. The second from the 8th chapter of Romans contains Paul's words of undying faith. "Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerers through Him that loved us."

This truth is exemplified in Elisha's deliverance from the King of Syria. Elisha was a wonderful man of God, who was busying himself with cutting down trees and building colleges for the training of young men when this sudden attack was made by the Syrian King. Such changes do come to the children of God. They may be suddenly over taken by a difficult experience. Here we see a great contrast between Elisha and his servant who were two types of God's people. The one is fearful and knows not what to do in the face of danger while the other calmly sees and trusts. One is held in the grip of material things, the other sees that the God whom he serves will keep him. God's presence with His people is not a theory but a glorious fact. However God's presence is not generally realized or counted upon by the enemy. So the King of Syria forgot to reckon upon God. Before Elisha did anything else, he asked help from God. Too often we try in our own strength first and then when we fail call upon God.

All the Syrian King's plans and attacks against Israel seemed to fail, so he suspected that there must be a traitor in his camp. But his men told him that on the other side there was one man, Elisha who made known all his plans to the King of Israel. What a tribute it is to him that a whole army was sent against him. Good men are always feared by their enemies. So John Knox was feared by Queen Mary and John the Baptist by Herod. This has been the mistake of persecutors all down the ages that they have failed to reckon with God. They have only kindled a fire in the hearts of Christians which has filled the world with light.

God's presence is not always recognized by his own people. Just as Elisha's servant did not realize that God would be on their side against the Syrians, but the true servant always sees God. Let us reckon on Him back of all our efforts and problems however great or small.

If we think of this in connection with the present battle with the liquor traffic we will know that in spite of seeming defeat we will yet be "more than conquerors".

For no foe can prevail against us if God be with us.

Song Service

Assisting the pastor at the evening service was Ashton Fife who took charge of the song service and read the scripture lesson from the 12th chapter of Hebrews.

In the third of a series of sermons on "Where are our Departed?" Rev. Mr. Dudgeon answered such questions as "In the next world, what do we take with us?" "Is memory there?" "Will we know each other there or will identity continue?"

Texts were read from both the Old and New Testament. First from II Samuel 12:23, "I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me" and II Corinthians 5:8 "We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body and to be present with the Lord."

There are two things in the intermediate stage of life in which we are most interested. The first is the "I" or the everlasting soul of our loved ones. The second is their surroundings after death. With our limited experience and human faculties it is impossible for us to picture the spirit world. Just as in a world of blind and deaf people it would be impossible for one who had received sight and hearing to convey to his companions the beauties of the world. So we are deaf and blind to the beauties of that land, for we have no discription of heaven but John's revelation which was written in earthly terms that we might understand. Two things we may study about this stage after death the first being its character. Sometimes this is described as a sleep, but this is a mere figure of speech for it is a vivid conscious life. Souls do not sleep even in the earthly life. It is but the province of the body to relax. In proof of this we find that our Lord's spirit was quickened when He passed through this stage and Moses and Elias were enabled to leave it and appear upon the Mount of Transfiguration. Lazarus and Dives too, were leading a clear thinking life.

Here the moral distinctions are clearly defined and we begin to gather the moral harvest of our earthly life. It is a time of conscious mental and spiritual suffering to the sinner who is kept under punishment until the day of judgment. For the righteous it it a time of conscious bliss with Christ, when they are free from the limitations of the body. Into this life we take consciousness, memory, thought, love and character. In our present life we are forming this character.

Many scriptural references were given of those who had passed on and yet retained the memory of their earthly friends. In this state also personal identity is retained and we may have intercourse with one another. Our deepest and best instincts cry out and make it impossible that we should be isolated and unknown spirits. Old Testament references in proof of this were taken from Abraham who "was gathered to his people" and many others, such as Isaac, Aaron, Dives and Lazarus. Thus it is clear that we shall know our friends and they will know us. How it is possible, we do not know.

Every individual is of value to God. The scheme of creation and redemption revolves around the individual soul. Is this the soul that you hold so cheaply? Jesus put this great question which has never been answered "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" There is no "second chance". This is the time and place for starting life for God.

Concluding this sermon the joint choirs sang "When the mists have rolled away." Appropriate music was rendered throughout the day by the two choirs with a duet "Beautiful Home" sung at the evening service by Misses Marion and Marjorie Baldry.

OBITUARY

MRS. LILLIAN RUSSELL

Some ships sail East and some sail West,
On the self-same winds that blow;
Its the set of the sails and not the gales
That determine which way they go

Life's work done, life's work ended and other shores have been reached by Lillian Latimer, widow of the late Harry Russell of Cavan Township. Mrs. Russell was a lady of may parts and excellent capabilities. Although reserved in disposition she exerted a weighty and wholesome influence in the community. Although the deceased had not been in good health for a few months her death came with unexpected suddenness on Sunday evening, January 26, in Toronto Medical Arts private hospital.

The deceased was born in Monaghan but since her marriage has been a resident of Cavan township where she and her family have a large circle of friends. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. W. W. Kennedy, of Millbrook, and Misses Alberta and Marguerite; a sister, Mrs. J. Armstrong of Peterborough, and a brother, J. H. Latimer, of Toronto.

During her early life she was a member and active worker of Baillieboro Baptist church, although for many years she has been an attendant of Grace church, Millbrook.

The funeral, largely attended, took place on Wednesday, January 29 from her home near Millbrook. Owing to the absence of Rev. Mr. Riddell, Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe, of Murray street church, Peterborough, conducted the service assisted by Rev. E. Russell, brother-in-law of the deceased. Interment took place in Gardiner's Cemetery.

Very beautiful floral tributes were laid on the casket by daughters, sisters, brothers, and friends. The bearers were: J. H. Latimer and M. R. Russell, of Toronto; J. Armtrong of Peterborough, and W. E. Russell and W. W. Kennedy, of Millbrook.—Contributed.

CHARLES C. PEARCE.

OWEN SOUND, March 4.—Charles C. Pearce, one of the best known residents of Owen Sound, and a gentleman who has resided in this city for over half a century, has passed away, his death occurring at the General and Marine Hospital on Friday, following an illness of about two months and a half. He had always been a very strong and vigorous man, and although he lived to be nearly 83 years of age, until his last illness, which proved fatal, he had never been seriously ill in his life. He went into the hospital on Decemehr 16 last suffering from heart trouble, and owing to his excellent constitution he lived much longer than many of his friends expected. He was active, however, right up to the time he was taken ill, and was able to attend to his usual duties. The last sittings of the Supreme Court, which wer held duringthe present week, were the first he has missed in his capacity as court crier for a great many years, and his absence there was remarked by those who are usually in attendance.

Born in the year 1844 in the village of Hatherly, Devonshire, England, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Henry Pearce, he came to Canada with his parents when he was but five years of age. The family took up a homestead near Darlington, forty miles east of Toronto, where they remained for six years, and then moved to Bowmanville, and it was while he resided there that he learned the woodworking business, which had been learned by his father before him, and he soon became an expert at this trade.

In 1865 he married Flora Carmichael, of Raglan, near Whitby, and immediately left to take up residence in Varseilles, Kentucky. Five years later Mr. and Mrs. Pearce emigrated to Derby, Grey County, homesteading a 200-acre farm, which at that date was almost solid bush. After three years of pioneering work he met with an unfortunate accident, whereby his foot was so badly injured when his axe went through it that for a long time he was laid aside from his work, but he had the chance of selling out, and did so, moving his family into the town near by.

PRISONER HURLS INKWELL

BERLIN, (U.P.)—"Class Justice," Franz Rademacher, a laborer, called the verdict sentencing him to 18 months in prison for burglarizing the home of Ronald Cragg, Chaplain of the British Embassy in Berlin, last summer. Not content with a vocal expression of his displeasure Rademacher in addition seized an inkwell and hurled it at the presiding judge. The missile narrowly missed its mark and apart from breaking a window pane and soiling the floor, did no damage.

Cardston, Alberta—"I am fifty-eight years old and the mother of eighteen living children. We live on a farm and I am a very healthy mother considering that I have such a big family to work for. The druggist first told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have depended on it for many years.

When I had this picture taken, the photographer was telling me about his wife's ailments and after I told him about the Vegetable Compound he went to the drug store and bought her two bottles."—MRS. BERTHA SALLENBACH, SR., Cardston, Alberta.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:—

Now that you have been told so much about yourself by Nyrna, who does "not mean to be critical really" (the unkindest cut of all) perhaps you are feeling in a somewhat chastened mood!

Well you know the old admonition about casting pearls before swine. Anne, don't you know that you cannot tell these moderns anything? For why; because they know it all and their word is the final authority. Nyrna remarks that "most young people are no fools." I wonder. Wherein does wisdom consist anyway? At any rate we have learned our lesson, that we must "suffer fools gladly if we are not to be termed has-beens" or "old fogies."

As I recall it, we used to have quite good times not so long ago without the aid of two or three drinks, or even one. Indeed I often wonder if these moderns know the meaning of true enjoyment. I gather that now-a-days it consists in thrills. Well, any intellect that can find enjoyment only in things that are considered a bit daring or smart, has not a very solid foundation. Methinks one hour of solitude would drive such to hysterics. This hitting on high and the constant craving for excitement is responsible for the frayed nerves of a great many young people nowadays. It's like an insidious drug that gains control of the body more surely as it is indulged in. Anne, if you wish to remain young and bright and interesting, soon you must forget the rudiments of good taste and breeding in a certain set.

To me there is something utterly vulgar and promiscuous in the spectacle of one of the boys with one of his arms draped negligently over the shoulders of a girl in public. It's just about as disgusting as this modern word "necking" that our hard-boiled moderns make use of. I'm no prude. But is it any wonder that the age of chivalry is past when we consider the feminine of our day? Not all of them! That would be rank intolerance to make so sweeping an assertion. I'm all for a lot of the new ways and maidens. I don't expect 1900 ways in 1930. Nor do I see anything particularly admirable in Prudence sitting by the fire with her tatting or reading Elsie's Girlhood.

Do you think woman's newly-gained emancipation from old fetters is only a question of long or short dresses, Anne? To me it is rather a matter of the spirit and the outlook on life. It is not the right to make oneself a subject of disgust by being daring or displaying an unsightly length of limb. High time it is for longer dresses when we consider the thin spindling lower extremities that have been on parade for too long. 'Twere a kindness to conceal them and an improvement on the landscape.

The new styles are not kind to the flat boyish figure I believe, but that is just a matter of foregoing this ridiculous dieting craze. Young girls of eighteen not daring to eat sufficient for fear of putting on a pound extra to cover their poor, frail forms.

"Our little Peterborough" comes in for a nastly little slap, too, from Nyrna. I daresay she will not condescend to favor us with her broad-minded presence much longer, and then what will become of us? People are pretty much the same the world over down underneath the varnish, Anne! There's more of them in some towns than others, that's all. I, for one, think our poor little city a pretty nice place with plenty of people who are "not so dumb." I'd take off my hat any day to the old-fashioned pioneers who helped to make the place to which we can "point with pride" to-day; our fathers and forefathers who had vision and courage and hardihood such as we would seek in vain for among the "smart" folks to-day! It's true they had to get along the best they could without having school girls carry flasks and cigarette cases. Such conduct would have called for a good, old-fashioned spanking in those days! They didn't have radios, or high-powered cars or airplanes, couldn't conceive them. But they did have something that we may look in vain for to-day. We wouldn't want to go back to those days. But we may learn something from them even in this enlightened age to our advantage. Their works do follow them and they are "yet speaking."

Let those smoke and take a drink who will. It is all a matter of good taste, refinement to me. I never yet saw a girl who looked attractive with a cigarette between her lips. She either looked self-conscious or elaborately unconcerned, not at all natural. It's considered smart. That's the idea back of it, say what you will. To me, the memory of my mother would lose some of its respect and tenderness if I had been constantly seeing her as a young woman in my own childhood either nonchalantly tossing off a drink or two or puffing clouds of smoke from her tender mouth, that only spoke to say what was loving and wise. Women cannot ape some of the habits of men to their own advantage, Anne. I'm still old-fashioned enough to value a man's respect more than his admiration for me as a producer of thrills.

Well, Anne, I know I am boring a lot of people—good, bad and indifferent. I cannot think either that anything I may say is of sufficient importance to call down any fireworks on my defenceless old-fashioned head. I hope I have not given the impression of intolerance towards the opinion of others. There is room enough in the world for all of us, I presume, even in "little Peterborough."

One hopes you will take steps to right that faulty religious perspective" of yours now that it has been pointed out to you. Also to consult an authority about the "wrongly-developed gland." Then you will be able to play on the instincts (and patience) of people and "understand their reactions" or what have you. I dare not say what my reaction to all this sophisticated high school superiority attitude of Nyrna's was. You see the advantage of education!

Yours truly,
Adastia.

I do like the longer skirts for afternoon and evening wear, Adastia, because I think they make us look much more feminine. Of course, we still have the shorter skirts for sport wear—we must have for sports; as we all know, is here to stay.

Dear Anne:—

I felt I must just write a few lines to you. I have read all the letters from neighbors and found all very interesting, but one to-night, who calls herself Nyrna, and I felt disgusted with it. I am like you; I do not care to see women drink or smoke; I think it is a terrible thing to see a woman smoking and she loses all respect. They think men like to see them do it, but that is where all the evil of to-day is—through women aping men.

I am not a prude, but I should not care for drink and women smoking at my parties. I have a daughter married to a very clever fellow well up in this world, and they give some very delightful parties, but no strong drink or smoking is there. Her husbands always says it was because she was different from a good many girls of to-day that he married her. If only the girls of to-day would be like the girls years ago, there would be happier marriages. For if the wife of to-day drinks and pets, her husband is going to do the same. And how can one respect the other? I pity her for all she says in her letter; she has not a contented happy mind and for the party she attended, it does not speak very well for the morals of those present. Anne, I felt I must write this in defence of you.

Happy.

Dear Anne—Since writing my first letter, I have been thinking of a dear young friend of mine, shortly to be married who has kept her lips pure for the man she is marrying. Her husband-to-be has travelled much and said he would not marry a girl who petted or drank or smoked; for he could not respect her, and what sort of a wife would she make to bring up his children? It is not so long ago I was a great traveller and have mixed with different kinds of people, but nowhere is the woman respected by men who care for the life she quoted.

Happy.

Thank you, Happy, for your opinion on this grave subject. You didn't send your address that I might have it for my files—it isn't compulsory, though I like to be able to write them personally sometimes.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

SPINAL CURVATURE.

Your heart is saddened when you meet the individual with a curved spine.

You realize that he is handicapped for life, and that life is often a short duration.

It was my privilege in years past to see a number of cases each year which were just at the 'beginning' stage of spinal curvature.

They were boys from 10 to 16 years of age, and under the direction of an efficient physical director we were able to correct most of these cases within one or two years.

However, these were mild cases, mostly due to carelessness.

The very severe cases you see on the street are mostly due to infantile paralysis or to some hereitary condition.

Our method of treating these cases years ago was to use a 'hanging' apparatus which suspended the youngster by the neck. After 'hanging' for short intervals during a period of 15 to 20 minutes, he would lie on his abdomen and the director would put his arms in 'key' position, bring the spine into as straight a line as possible, and have him try to raise his head and shoulders high off the floor a number of times.

Then he would hang by his hands on a pair of rings, one of which was higher than the other, thus helping to correct the curvature. After this in severe cases a plaster cast was applied which was worn for months.

Now despite these efforts there are cases where results cannot be obtained without an operation. The operation consists in cutting down to the spinal column and by the use of a chisel cutting out a groove alongside the little 'knotty' processes which you can feel when you run your finger down the spinal column.

Little splinters of bone 2 to 4 inches long and about one-sixteenth of an inch thick, taken from the patient's shin bone, are placed all the way down the spine, and the patient remains in a cast for a number of weeks. This whole process of exercise, casts and operation, takes at least a year, but the results are certainly worth it.

If you have a boy or girl with a beginning curvature get it under treatment at once.

If a severe case, and you haven't much money, take your youngster to any large hospital where orthopedic work is done, and it will receive the utmost care.

You owe this to your child.

OUR CHILDREN

PUNISHMENT AND CORRECTION.

Wise parents and teachers speak of correction, not punishment. Punishment carries with it the idea of revenge. Because you did this wrong thing I must do this to you. It is the old old notion, the primitive notion, an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. We have grown wiser. We know that the new law, Love more, is what is needed.

When a child makes a mistake we wish to set him right in order that he may grow into the consciousness of right. We do not correct him for our own satisfaction, to suit our mood, our taste, our whim. We move only to aid the child to find himself. Never to make him feel our power.

We know that humanity tends to do right. The great group of people are kindly, well meaning, good. They keep the laws and lend a hand to their neighbors. They would rather do right than to do ill. They know that happiness lies in keeping in harmony with what we call the right. The inner meaning of that is keeping in harmony with the spirit of the universe which is love, good, rightness.

When a child goes wrong he is not in harmony with that idea. He missed it because of his ignorance and inexperience What he needs then is teaching, instruction, wise guidance. As long as he must be guided he needs us . It happens often that we have to substitute one experience for another. Because he has not the long view of the adult we have to supply the experience that will bring it closer to him. We may make his error inconvenient for him, we may correct him, we may so adjust his experiences as to make him very uncomfortable. But we must work in the light of the idea that we are helping to make the child happier, not punishing him for his sins.

Can you do that without being hypocritical? Of course. You deal fairly with the child and honestly with your own conscience. If you are in harmony with the idea of the universe which is goodness you will not act selfishly, you will not domineer, you will not thwart a child. You will help the child because you love him.

A child is quick to feel affection. Quick to feel sympathy and understanding and strength. If you have dealt with him in that spirit, if you have been sparing of words and lavish in affection, sparing of punishment and generous with rewards, consistent in following righteousness and eschewing justice, the child will have abiding faith in you and great love for you and he will follow whever you lead. Have no doubt about that.

Force will not correct error. Love which is the expression of rightness, will correct error. I am not speaking of the soft kind of love that is rooted in selfishness but of that greater love that sees clearly the good for the other soul and serves it gladly. That love is like steel. It can be tried but it will be true.

You may deprive a child of a privilege, you may say hard sharp words to him, you may thunder a terrific NO at his head because it is your duty to do so. And he will still love and follow you because your affection for him is rooted in the love that is the law of righteousness. Never mind the punishment. Life takes care of that. Attend to the correction in the spirit of helpfulness and the child will profit and learn and grow in grace.

MRS. GEO. SIMPSON RECEIVES INJURIES

Two Cars Collide on Marmora Streets at Sunday Noon Hour.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, March 4.—Shortly before noon on Sunday, two cars collided at the intersection of Burstall and Matthew streets, resulting in bad injuries to Mrs. Robert Simpson of Hastings. It appears that Robert Simpson with his mother and a lady friend were on their way to visit Mrs. Simpson's daughter, Mrs. Charles Airhart, and coming to the intersection, Mr. Simpson had to swerve with his car in an endeavor to avoid striking a young lad who suddenly ran across the road. Through so doing, a car driven by Frank Clemens of Marmora township came into collision. The young lady was thrown out, receiving minor injuries, while Mrs. Simpson in some unaccountable way had two ribs broken.

After medical attention, Mrs. Simpson was able to return home. The occupants of the other car escaped injury.

A very deep and lustrous tone of dark green velvet trimmed with monkey fur makes this afternoon coat which is to be found in the Redfern collection.

I have chosen velvet which is one of the most regal of all fabrics, for this afternoon coat, in a very deep and lustrous tone of dark green, trimming it with black monkey fur. There is a simply cut frock of the same velvet, with a skirt which flares a little in the front. For customers who do not find green becoming, I have made up the same model in other shades, and have substituted a dress of crepe de chine for the velvet.

From the electroliers hung long pendant shades in silk, in the two colors, with gold tassels, and the orchestra stand was decorated with panels in similar shades and topped by two large arches edged with gold and latticed in purple and mauve paper.

An interesting local touch in connection with the address on "The Romance of the Great Lakes" given to members of the Women's Canadian Club in the Public Library auditorium yesterday afternoon, by Dr. O. J. Stevenson, head of the English Department at the Agricultural College at Guelph, was the remembrance by one member of the audience, Miss F. Burnham, that her grandmother was the only lady who ever sat at the table of Colonel Talbot of Port Talbot, near St. Thomas. The Rev. Mark Burnham, afterwards a resident of Peterborough, and his wife, were visitors at Colonel Talbot's home at Tyrconnell. Their host was an eccentric gentleman who founded a great settlement in those parts. A gay dog in his younger years, he became embittered against women in older life. Dr. Stevenson alluded to the story of Colonel Talbot who came out to Canada as secretary to the first governor of Upper Canada, Governor Simcoe, as one of the most romantic episodes in the history of the early settlement around the Great Lakes.

ROMANCE OF GREAT LAKES SUBJECT OF ADDRESS BY GUELPH COLLEGE PROFESSOR

Speaker Describes Great Barren Wastes of Older Days in True Pictorial Fashion.

EARLY FRENCH PIONEERS.

Interesting Lantern Slides Conclude Address Given Women's Canadian Club.

History of a generation back, in the manner of its teaching, was an affair of dry, hard, unassimilable facts. It is probable that the members of the Women's Canadian Club, listening in the Public Library auditorium yesterday afternoon to Dr. O. J. Stevenson, head of the English Department at the Guelph Agricultural College, as he spoke on "The Romance of the Great Lakes," grasped more of the significance of Canada's early days in that region than they did when sitting in school and learning of Talon, the great Intendant, of LaSalle and his gentleman adventurers, of Comte de Frontenac and his diplomatic overtures to the Iroquois.

Dr. Stevenson had a very evident wide grasp of his subject and also an evident great love of it. He spoke in pictorial fashion; those who listened could almost see the great, barren land of that older time, when voyageurs from France and zealous missionaries came out to a new world to stand in amazement at its breadth and length.

Early French Pioneers.

He spoke of Samuel de Champlain and his journeyings, that ended in twenty years of retirement under the cliffs at the Habitation in Quebec; of Maisonneuve and his men, building a little village on the Island of Montreal; of the Recollect Missions and the massacre of the Hurons by the Iroquois; of that romantic adventurer, Radission, and the heroes of the Long Sault, who gave their lives to the last man to stem the ferocious tide of advancing Iroquois.

Then in 1657, came Talon from France to head the new colony and to send Joliet to Lake Superior in search of copper mines. There was LaSalle, that dreamer with a vision of an unconquered world on which he might be the first white man to tread, his two companions, the Jesuit priests who mapped out for the first time the Great Lakes, as they conceived them to be; the gallant Pere Marquette, and then Comte Frontenac, that great Frenchman who knew instinctively how to treat the war-like Iroquois, and who made the Great Peace with them.

In 1791, came the first Governor of Upper Canada, Governor Simcoe, to Kingston, where there were fifty frame houses and one stone habitation. To Navy Hall, where the Governor and Lady Simcoe lived, journeyed the great men of the day: the Duke of Kent, father of Queen Victoria, Joseph Brant, the great Indian chieftain, Robert Hamilton, founder of the city which bears his name, Osgoode, after whom Osgoode Hall is named, and Talbot, his gay, dashing secretary, who drew so much enjoyment from the life of the New World and later became the founder of the famous Talbot settlement near St. Thomas. Thirty-five townships were settled by Colonel Talbot, who lived a lonely existence in his old age at Port Talbot, and died there, a "courtly, eccentric and arbitrary gentleman." A little excerpt from one of the Colonel's letters was quoted by the speaker. In it he speaks of the Scotch as "being a stupid, ignorant and obstinate people."

Interesting Views.

The views which were flashed on the screen, at the conclusion of Dr. Stevenson's address, were very interesting. They were old scenes that illustrated the conception of Niagara Falls, as it was in those days, of the wet-marshy spot called Little York, now Toronto, with a few lonesome trees and several frame houses; imaginary pictures delineating the features of LaSalle and his confreres, as they were painted by those who had heard them described; pictures of Talon and Frontenac and Pere Marquette, of Governor Simcoe and his lady, of Joseph Brant and Talbot. A view of the Champlain monument at Orillia was shown, the speaker remarking that the English sculptor had rigged the great man up as he would never be dressed in this land, giving spurs, for instance, to one who possibly never rode a horse after his departure from France. The views ended with a fine screening of the picture of Mrs. Moodie and of Peterborough's early poetess, Isabella Valancy Crawford.

Miss Margaret Hamilton, president of the club, introduced the speaker and voiced the vote of thanks at the close of his interesting and graphic address. V. R. Henry, M.A., operated the slide machine.

MARRIAGE BUSINESS BOOMS

WELLSBURG, W.Va., (U.P.)—This "Gretna Green" for elopers of the tri-state district achieved a new record in 1929—3,360 couples having secured their licenses from the bureau here. Even the record cold day of the year—the Saturday following Thanksgiving Day—when the frigid blasts seemed unbearable, 17 young, hopeful couples made their appearance and secured the necessary permits to wed.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

IT HAS BEEN said that you can tell the kind of day's work a person does by the sort of breakfast he eats. Of course this statement merely refers to the degree of effort involved and not the field in which it lies.

• • • • • • •

I often wonder about some of the breakfasts which the business girls of Peterborough eat. Every morning you see them hurrying to and fro and many of them, I fear, do not take time to eat properly proportioned breakfast.

• • • • • • •

Many of us, I find, think more of that extra half-hour of sleep than a good breakfast! A breakfast has to be very tempting to attract us when we arise in the morning!

• • • • • • •

But there is more than a grain of truth in this statemenmt. In order to be fortified for difficult tasks one should not slight the first meal of the day. We will find many against this, though, for they will say they can do just as good work without any breakfast at all as they can if they ate a four-course one.

• • • • • • •

Some persons, however, mistake stimulation for nourishment. The two are not all synonomous. The so-called Continental breakfast which consists of coffee and rolls merely supplies the stimulating element. It needs to be augmented by some more substantial items, such as eggs, bacon, or at least cereal if it is to supply the necessary energy without permitting the nerves to be overtaxed, when the person partaking of it engages in genuine work.

• • • • • • •

Either this, or the chance to eat something in the middle of the morning, is essential to health.

• • • • • • •

If a person's health needs building up, as is the case with many at this time of the year, attention to the breakfast table or tray is in order. The appetite which needs to be coaxed will sometimes respond to the delicious appearance of, an orange-colored breakfast. A small glass of orange juice, and a poached or scrammbled egg.

• • • • • • •

Anyone who has seen the breakfast table as it is laid in a farmer's household must realize how absurd the slimness of many another working man or woman's breakfast must appear.

• • • • • • •

True they have sometimes done almost "a day's work" before the hour of breakfast, and there is no need to actually duplicate the rations of meat, potatoes, etc., which are so often found in their menu.

• • • • • • •

But, despite the hard hours they keep and strenuous tasks they perform, their good health is often better preserved than that of other people. This is due in part to the out-or-door life, but some of the credit of it also belongs to the fact that genuine nourishment and not mere nervous stimulations is included in the breakfast dishes which they eat.

Hamilton Club Stars Win Marshall Sprint Series

PARIS GREENSHIRTS SCORE IN OVERTIME TO COP TITLE

Tieing Round in Regulation Period, Winner Sinks Two Counters in Extra Session.

NICKLE BREAKS TIE.

GALT, Ont., March 4 (C.P.)—Giving one of the greatest exhibitions of the "never-say-die spirit" ever seen in an Ontario Hockey Association series, the Paris Greenshirts did what to many seemed the impossible last night, when they tied up Walkerton in the regulation time by notching three goals and then in the first five minutes of overtime went out and grabbed a two-goal lead and the Intermediate championship. Paris won the game 5—0 and the round 8—6, Walkerton having won in Toronto Friday night 6—3.

In winning the honors last night, the John Ross Robertson Cup goes back to Paris after an absence of 27 years. The Valley Town having won the trophy in 1903 with a team which included Fraser, Munn, Duff, Adams, Roy Brown, Tex Gillard and Taylor, and of them Fraser, Adams and Brown saw the Green Shirts repeat last night.

An almost capacity house saw the game, the attendance being the largest at a game here since the days of the Big Six. Paris had over 700 lusty-lunged rooters, while Walkerton also had 400 or 500 followers.

Schneuker Stars

Paris can attribute their victory to Bill Schneuker, their goalie, who gave a phenomenal exhibition. He was cool under fire and made some brilliant saves, and a couple of times when he was the only one to beat came out to nicely block shots.

Green Shirts are champions because of their all-round superiority as a team. They outplayed Walkerton every way, and while Schneuker's goal tending was an outstanding feature, the forwards back-checked nicely and completely demoralized Walkerton's front line combination. Paris were also much more accurate in their shooting.

Oberle, in the nets for Walkerton, proved the goat of the series. While he did some nice catching, the three goals that tied up the round were all long shots, but he could not be held for the tying goal, McCarthy having deflected it into the nets off his gloved hand. Walkerton lacked fight.

The Northerners forced the play at the start of each period, but then seemed to fade. Play had been in progress only a couple of minutes when Trushinski and Walker collided in centre ice. Trushinski suffered a bad gash about the eye, and Walker was knocked out when he hit his head on the ice and had to retire for a few minutes. The period was 13 minutes under way when Nickle, intercepting a pass at his own blue line, rushed and with a terrific shot from outside the defense registered. The same player repeated his performance after 16 minutes in the second period. In the third period, Woods, Nickle's partner on the defence, rushed, but he shot from centre ice, and McCarthy, trying to block the speedy shot, sent it into the twine. In the last two minutes of play Paris missed two chances to even it up. Von Zuben only having to lift the rubber on his great effort to tally.

In the overtime, Walkerton sent four men up on the attack at the start. After 2 minutes and 27 seconds, Nickle rushed and when checked at the defense passed to Von Zuben, who was unguarded, and beat Oberle from 15 feet out. That sent the Parisians in a demonstration. Two minutes later Kempthorne, intercepting a pass on a four-man Walkerton rush, broke away fast, circled the lone defense man, and, drawing Oberle to one side, scooped the rubber into the other corner of the net. Paris then played defensive hockey and succeeded in protecting their two-goal lead.

Play Superior Hockey

For the champions it would be hard to pick the star, outside of Schneuker. They all played good hockey. Nickle was prominent with his two goals and assists. Von Zuben gave some great exhibitions of stick-handling. Kempthorne and McCutcheon worked like Trojans and back-checked hard. Mann, a junior, was a veritable pest when on the ice.

For Walkerton, Trushinski was the best puck-carrier. Reibould, in centre, showed a nice fake pass and did some useful poke checking, but was weak defensively. Bluhm and Walker shone on the attack. The Paris players were much more accurate in their shooting.

The teams:—

Walkerton—Goal, Oberle; defense, McCarthy and Trushinski; centre, Reibold; wings, Walker and Bluhm; subs., Grant, Pickard, Ellinghaussen and Krampps.

BABY COLTS BEAT RANGERS

Juvenile Team Continues Winning Streak to Cop Mackenzie Trophy.

FINAL COUNT 6-2.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, March 3. — A very snappy game of Junior Hockey was played on Thursday night in the Lakefield rink between the Baby Colts and the Trail Rangers. The Colts won the first section of the Juvenile League and by winning on Thursday night have won the second section, and also the Mackenzie trophy offered by Rev. A. W. Mackenzie to the champion juvenile team.

There was a good crowd of interested spectators who were enthusiastic and the youngsters gave them the worth of their money. There was a very good exhibition of combination play and also individual activity. Kennedy and Blewett were the stars of the Baby Colts, while O'Neill and Tanner were the outstanding players of the Trail Rangers. Mr. Braden Blewett was referee and handled the game in a manner satisfactory to both sides.

Between periods Messrs. T. D. Chaplin and H. R. Wagar entertained the crowd and incidentally gave the goal minders some practice.

The first period saw a hard won battle with no scoring despite strenuous efforts on both sides to pop in a counter. Lennox, Matthews and Graham drew penalties.

In the second period the Colts manager, Mr. Chaplin, moved Kennedy, who was the most brilliant player on the ice to the forward line, and from that vantage point he scored the first goal of the game and later assisted Lennox in getting past Pearson's vigilant eye and stick. Blewett earned two brief rests in the penalty box.

The third period was marked by a veritable orgy of scoring after the first two periods, when there were only two goals scored. Tanner and O'Neill were the only Trail Rangers who got past Webster's splendid defence of his goal, while Kennedy scored three times and Lennox once for the Colts, giving a total score of 6-2 for the Baby Colts and a season of victories behind for 1930 has been a real season for the Colts, unmarred by a single defeat. The line up was as follows:

Colts.		Trail Rangers
Carson Webster	goal	Reg Pearson
Joe Blewett	r. def.	Garnet O'Neill
Rollie Kennedy	l. def.	Roy Matthews
Robert Chittick	centre	Theo. Graham
Percy Payne	r. wing	Gray Kemp
Herrick Brown	l. wing.	Chas. Tanner

Guelph Leafs Clinch Canadian Loop Lead

TORONTO, Ont., March 4 (C.P.)—Guelph Maple Leafs practically clinched first place in the Canadian Hockey League standing last night by defeating Brantford Indians, three to nothing, at Guelph. The Indians, facing elimination from the play-offs played clever hockey and but for the fine goal-keeping of the Guelph netminder would have won decisively. Two of the winning goals were of the fluky variety.

OKEMEN DEFEAT CATARACTS 2-1

Eddie Rodden, of London Panthers, Leads International League Scoring List.

SORRELL SECOND.

TORONTO, Ont., March 4 (C.P.)—In the battle of tail-enders, Toronto Millionaires defeated Niagara Falls, two to one, in the only International Hockey League game scheduled last night. Only a handful of fans turned out to see Toronto pull the Cataracts down into a tie for last place by scoring two rapid-fire goals in the first five minutes of the contest. Niagara scored their lone counter less than two minutes later and from then on the rival goalkeepers kept their cages intact.

Eddie Rodden, star centre player of London Panthers, leads the league in total points collected to date. Statistics just released show Rodden has scored 13 goals and made the plays for 28 others, giving him a total of 41. His fiery teammate, Johnny Sorrel, is second with 40 points, having beaten opposing goalkeepers 29 times and assisted in the scoring of 11 other markers. Frank Carson, Windsor Bulldogs' scoring ace, has 28 goals to his credit and 11 assists to occupy third place, while fourth position is held by the midget of the league, Kenneth Doraty, Cleveland sniper, who has notched 22 goals and assisted with 13 others.

To-Night's Games

Three games are scheduled to-night and two of them have an important bearing on which teams will finish in the play-offs. The league leading Cleveland Indians entertain the fourth place Detroit Olympics, while the second place Buffalo Bisons go to Windsor. The Bulldogs are in fifth place, but victory to-night will aid them greatly in their quest for a higher berth. In the other contest Toronto and Hamilton play in the latter city.

DOGS MUST BE CHAINED

Order in Force in City and in the Four Surrounding Townships.

IRKSOME TO CANINES.

Wonder what the dogs think of these proclamations that have taken away their freedom in Peterborough and four surrounding townships.

Authority has put its foot down and the dog has been banned from the streets and highways in Peterborough and the municipalities of North Monaghan, Otonabee, Douro and Smith. Officers of the law have orders to strictly enforce these proclamations to the last letter.

According to these orders, if my pup desires to pay a personal visit to your dog, he must first break the chain that secures him and then, clandestinely, at the risk of a ten dollar fine to owner, traverse back alleys to your house for the interview. No street corner meetings will be tolerated.

The dogs have ruled so long in Peterborough that these regulations must be truly irksome to the canines.

Certainly it cannot be said that the city is going to the bow-wows. Dogs must Hamilton Flash Wins 50, 60 and 70 Yard Dashes at Manhattan College Games.

Miller won the 50, 60 and 70 yard sprints of the series, with Chet Bowman of the Newark A.C. second in each instance.

McGILL IS BARRED FROM COMPETITION

College Champions Cannot Compete in the Allan Cup Hockey Series.

DUNNVILLE, Ont., March 4.—(By the Canadian Press.)— The application of McGill University to be permitted to enter the Allan Cup hockey play-down, as winners of the Inter-Collegiate division, has been refused.

In a telegraphic vote of the various branches of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, over the week-end, the edict of W. A. Fry, president of the Association in declaring McGill ineligible, was upheld by eleven votes against one.

Mr. Fry had previously ruled McGill as ineligible for admission to the series on two counts.

He had based his decision on Association regulations, one of which stipulates that each member of the Association in order to qualify for all cup play-downs must have at least three senior teams. This year the Inter-Collegiate branch was represented by only two teams— McGill and Toronto Varsity.

Another regulation which affected the ruling reads: If a college team competes in a Provincial schedule of games in addition to the Inter-Collegiate schedule, the Inter-Collegiate member with which said team is affiliated shall advise the secretary of this Association before playing a game in either schedule, as to which schedule will be completed by said team to determine its eligibility for inter-branch competition.

McGill, it was pointed out by Mr. Fry, did not elect in accordance with this regulation and the question of eligibility was not raised until after McGill had been eliminated in the Quebec branch of the Senior series.

The O.H.A. regulation, the president said, was adopted to avoid any team having a second chance at winning the cup.

CURLING

AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, March 4 (Examiner Staff Correspondent).— The play-offs in the local bonspiel were in full swing last night, when keen ice gave all rinks a better showing. In the Consolation event, C. Palliser clashed with J. P. Archer, but met with defeat by a score of 6—16. F. C. Bonnycastle was placed against F. J. Smith and pulled off the game with a 7—5 count. This left a grapple between Bonnycastle and Archer, which went to Bonnycastle with a score of 11—5.

This leaves Bonnycastle to play off in the finals against Meyers, who fell before Denike in the Victoria Cup. This game will be staged on Thursday.

WEST TORONTO BEATS VARSITY IN FIRST GAME

Winners' Scoring Machine Finds Obstacle in Blue and White Defense.

TIGERS TIE ROUND.

Sensational Playing of Morris in Queen's Net Features Hamilton Game.

TORONTO, Ont., March 4. (Canadian Press)—The sensational comeback of the Paris Greenshirts in defeating Walkerton, five goals to nothing, and wiping out a three goal deficit to win the Ontario Hockey Association intermediate championship, was the outstanding feature of the playdowns last night.

In the first contest played in Toronto, Walkerton outplayed and outscored the Parisians, six goals to three, but the Paris team was not daunted and last night checked the Walkerton team to a standstill as they scored a goal in each period to tie the round. During the 10 minute over time session Paris notched a brace of markers to take the championship back to the little Brant county town for the first time since 1905.

Paris will now meet Iroquois Falls, senior champions of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, in the first of the Ontario Allan Cup playdowns. The first game will be played in Toronto, March 6, the second contest at Galt, March 8.

Queen's Tie Round

Queen's University gave a great display of defensive hockey to hold Hamilton Tigers to a one to nothing score in the return of their two games series for the Ontario Senior "B" championship at Hamilton. Queen's won the first contest in Kingston two to one, and the round is now tied, requiring a "sudden death" game to break the deadlock.

This will be played at Oshawa, March 5.

Goalkeeper Morris was the individual hero from a Queen's standpoint. He gave a great exhibition throughout and probably saved his team from a severe defeat as the speedy Tiger forwards broke through the Tricolor guard with great regularity. As it was, the only goal to beat him was of the fluke variety, the puck caroming into the net off a Queen's player after "Blondy" Hayhoe, Tiger winger had shot from the Blue line.

West Toronto Drops Varsity

In the junior playdowns, West Toronto defeated University of Toronto, two to one, in a listless game. The winning team's second goal was questionable, the puck having been knocked into the Varsity cage off a West Toronto player's shoulder. The return game will be played March 5, and the winner of the round will meet Niagara Falls in the final, the first match at Toronto March 8.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association final, Sault Greyhounds decisively defeated Cobalt juniors in the first of a two game series. The score was 13 to 2 for the Greyhounds giving them an eleven goal margin for the return at Cobalt. The winner of this series travels south to meet the O.H.A. champions in the Memorial Cup playdowns.

EASY VICTORY FOR McLARNIN

Ring Generalship and Defensive Tactics Saves Mandell From Knockout.

TITLE NOT AT STAKE.

CHICAGO, March 3 (C.P.)—Jimmy McLarin, the Dublin dynamiter, gave Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, the most convincing defeat of his career in his ten-round battle, fought in the Chicago Stadium Saturday night.

McLarnin, a leading contender for the world's welterweight title, won every round, forcing Mandell on the defence from start to finish.

Mandell's title was not at stake as the battle was fought at catch weights. The expected difference in poundage in the two men diminished surprisingly, however, when they scaled at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. McLarnin had only a 2¾ pound weight advantage, scaling 142¾, with the lightweight champion weighing in at 140, five pounds above the lightweight limit.

McLarnin had Mandell in evident distress twice during the blistering ten rounds, but was unable to knock him to the floor. Mandell's marvelous ring generalship and defensive tactics pulled him out of a dozen tight spots and possibly saved him from a knockout. Mandell, thoughly beaten, made such a courageous finish in the tenth round that the crowd of 16,000 jumped to its feet in a thunderous roar of applause.

This last minute rally, when he threw defence to the winds and traded punch for punch with his heavier foe, probably was the only bright spot for Mandell during the fight. For the major part of the time he was on the receiving end, going from one corner to another, of backing into the ropes, in an attempt to escape.

McLarnin, the terrific punching Vancouver baby-faced youngster, came booming out of his corner at the opening bell, throwing both fists to the head and body. He took command of the fight right at the start and never for one second relinquished it. He utterly disregarded Mandell's one-time efficient left hand, brushing it to the side as he tore in, always forcing the fight with Mandell in retreat most of the time.

COLTS WINNERS OVER THE GROVE

Town Team Battles Through Seventy Minutes of Hockey to Take 6-4 Decision.

FOR CASEMENT CUP.

LAKEFIELD, March 3 (Examiner Correspondence). — The second game of the District Hockey League was played on Friday evening between the Colts and The Grove, and it took ten minutes' overtime to decide the contest, which was keen throughout the entire game. The colts were minus their crack defence player, Wingett, and in the first period showed in many ways that they were not up to strength, but in the second and third period they tightened up and won the game with a count of 6-4.

J. Gray was the referee, and handled the game in his efficient and capable manner.

Both teams were keen, well balanced and speedy and the spectators had a good time and a game worth seeing. To particularize players as stars would almost seem unfair, as there were no duds, and every man played his hardest and best. Defence and attack were alike clean and fast, and while the second period saw a bevy of penalties, they were all of a minor sort and few if any deliberate offences. Young Wishart played a remarkably fine game as a sub for The Grove, while the Macraes, Stuart and Elmsley were up to their best form. The two goalies were superb, and saved many a goal, McFadden was brilliant, as he was bombarded most vigorously, and held his position like Horatius at the bridge. Jewell, Kennedy, White and Wannamaker were especially effective for the Colts.

White scored the first goal after 15 minutes' hard play and one minute later Stuart made it a tie and Macrae (i) added another to The Grove score two minutes later. Kennedy drew the only penalty of the period.

The second period saw but one goal scored and that was put in by White for the Colts after ten minutes' play. The second was a period of offences, if not of goals, and Macrae (ii), Macauley, Elmsley, Abrams, Stenner and Kennedy each had a brief rest in the penalty box to reflect on their sins of commission.

When the third period opened with a tie score, it was anybody's game, and so it was at the end of the period for each side scored two, Macrae ii. (2 minutes), White (2 minutes), Stuart (10 minutes), and Wannamaker (2 minutes). Kennedy drew the only penalty.

After a discussion of the matter between the teams, their managers and the referee, a ten-minute overtime period was put on, the first goal was scored by Wannamaker in 3 minutes and the second by Jewell in 2 minutes, with Wannamaker the only penalty of the overtime.

The line-ups were as follows:

Colts — J. McFadden, goal; W. Adamson and O. Abrams, defence; H. Kennedy, centre; H. Jewell and G. Stenner, wings; O. White, J. Blewett, and R. Wannamaker, subs.

The Grove — Disney, goal; Carson and Macrae ii., defence; Macrae i., centre; Elmsley and Stuart, wings; Wishart, Wright, and Macauley, subs.

FEED SHORTAGE IN SOME DISTRICTS

Farmers Await Annual Influx of Cattle Buyers to Relieve Situation.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BURNBRAE, Feb. 28. — While the feed shortage is not as acute in the Burnbrae section as in some districts, yet a number of farmers who were short on the 1929 hay crop are beginning to have visions of a dent in the bankroll for spring feed, and for most farmers this same bankroll is pretty small after 1929 and its short cheese yield.

The usual influx of American cattle buyers has not commenced yet, and many farmers are overstocked, while owners anxiously await the arrival of a buyer to help relieve the feed situation. Prices have been rather above the average for the few carloads that have been shipped throughout the winter.

Feed dealers everywhere report a small demand for commercial feeds, much smaller than the shortage of coarse grains on most farms would warrant. It is the general belief that farmers are holding back in the purchasing of feeds until they can no longer avoid it, as money is very scarce. The recent rise in the hog market may stimulate feed purchasing as farmers endeavor to rush their hogs to take advantage of the market.

BASEBALL TEAM FOR PORT HOPE

Hopes Entertained Lake Shore Town May Enter Central Ontario League.

AMALGAMATION SOUGHT.

Now that there seems every possibility of Deloro dropping out of the C.O.B.L. this summer, and as there remains the old-time objection of taking the Kingston team in, owing to the long jump east for the Peterborough and Oshawa teams, it seems clear that before long there will be a move made to get a team in a more central position to accept the franchise which has been held by Deloro. The possibility is that an attempt may be made to get a team from Cobourg or Port Hope, or perhaps a team jointly representing the two towns. It is pointed out that a team from either of these towns would be well-placed from a travel point of view of the other teams, that the old idea of the C.O.B.L. for the purpose of serving the Central Ontario area would be preserved by the inclusion of such a team. The matter has not gone past the discussion stage yet, but the near approach of the organization days makes it clear that it will shortly engage the attention of the baseball promoters throughout the district.

Just how such a proposal would be viewed here is problematical. It is true that last year's intermediate team did well in its group. It is equally true that there was a strong feeling that as many of last year's players are eligible for junior O.B.A.A. this year and for a couple of years to come, the future interest of Port Hope would be best served by organizing the eligible ones into a junior team and enter it in the O.B.A.A. junior series. That many if not all the available players are now anxious for that culmination is evident to those who are close to the baseball prospects. Many of the players feel that they would have a better chance to develop if they were playing the junior company and, in this, they are not mistaken. If they were playing in too fast company last summer this would be in too high a grade if they were again put into intermediate company and they assuredly would be in too fast company in the C.O.B.L.

Would there be enough former players to get together a team to take up the Deloro franchise? It does not seem so, and that view leaves open the possibility of an amalgamation with Cobourg to make up a good team which might not the first year set the C.O.B.L. on its ears but which with new players and with those who would be going up from junior ranks, would grow and develop. Viewing the situation from that angle it does seem to offer possibilities which are worth while investigating.

The change might be brought about in this district baseballistically through the opening which is coming in the C.O.B.L. should engage the early and careful investigation of the promoters here and in Cobourg. It may mean much for the future of the players who are deserving of better chances to get somewhere in the game than they have been getting in past years.

But it does not solve the future of the younger set who are still available for junior ranks. Their interests should be given careful attention, and they will do well if they take steps among themselves to start an active canvass of the potentialities.—Port Hope Guide.

WELL BALANCED TEAMS.

The game was well balanced throughout and the School Girls showed just enough superiority in their offensive operations to put over their win. At half time the score was 11-4.

Helen Cole got 8 points and Evelyn Armstrong 6 points for the winners. Olive Elcome was strong on the defense line. Sybil Ecobichon and Helen Foster nicked two baskets each for the Elementaries.

PICTORIAL GOLF

PICTORIAL GOLF INSTRUCTION LET THE CLUBHEAD FOLLOW THROUGH NATURALLY.

When we hit a golf ball from the tee we should make up our mind to let the clubhead do its share of the work. If we keep this thought in mind, we will not have to worry about the follow-through and the distance that goes with it.

The follow-through is not an after thought in swinging a club, but a part of it. If we permit the clubhead to come down to the ball almost from its own efforts it would be inclined to follow-through from its own iniative or its own momentum. Most of us try to guide it and sometimes unconsciously bring the club up thinking that we are helping to make the ball rise to its proper height.

Try letting the club swing around naturally and freely and you will get the movement of the proper swing.

SCHOOL TEAMS OUT TO BREAK DEADLOCK

Young Peterborough will stampede into the Brock street arena between five and six this afternoon to view the final struggle between King George school and Prince of Wales school for the Public School Hockey crown. Playing a brand of the game that promises much for future Peterborough teams, these two midget squads played to a 2-2 tie in the first game on Saturday morning. The players kept their positions, passed the rubber and stick-handled to perfection.

The championship of both series of the City Hockey League should be known to-night. The Tool Room enter the final affray in the senior three-goals up on the DeLaval, while the result of to-nights fixture will decide the title in the Junior between the C.G.E. office and the Canucks, last year's champs. Some of the best hockey talent in the city wears the jerseys of these teams, and the games to-night should attract a capacity house.

SUMMER SPORTS COMING TO FORE.

Now that hockey is about finished it is not too early for the other executives in other branches of sport to begin lining up for the spring and summer campaigns. A lacrosse league formed of Millbrook, Port Hope, Campbellford and the C. G. E., was suggested last year, and all but Campbellford were directly favorable to the proposal. Campbellford was not directly approached, but it can almost be assured that Johnny Sutherland would have a team in such a league. Now is the time to get busy on its formation.

IS THE AMBLING ALF WEAKENING?

Primo Canera must be weakening. It took him six rounds of mauling to knock-out an unknown Philadelphian negro by the name of "Ace' Clarke last night. The Italian giant knew that he was in a fight, too, because Clarke bounced two hard rights of Primo's left eye, and it was closed and swollen to egg-like dimensions when the next round came along. This is the "Ambling Alf's" eighth straight kayo victory, but in all his other entertainments he put his opponent hors de combat before the second round was concluded.

Leigh Miller, sprint ace of the Hamilton Athletic Club, added to his laurels in New York last night by winning the sprints in the Manhattan College games. He won the 50, 60 and 70-yard sprints against the best the American Eastern States could produce.

In Miller and Percy Williams Canada has two outstanding speed demons for the sprints. Some great running with perhaps altogether new records being set up, should be seen at the British Empire games where these two will complete this summer.

TOUGH LUCK FOR WALKERTON SQUAD.

In losing 5-0 to Paris last night, Walkerton suffered their first defeat of the season, and lost the Intermediate O. H. A. championship. Going into the battle with a three-goal advantage, Walkerton was favored to win the series, but the Paris Green Shirts came through in sensational fashion. During the regular playing time they scored the three goals to tie the round and in the first five minutes of overtime added two more.

The playdowns of the Intermediate series this year has attracted great attention and the competition was as good, if not somewhat better than for several years back.

The West Toronto juniors came through with an easy victory over Varsity in the first game of the O.H.A. Junior semi-finals last night. Bill Hancock's West Toronto team hasn't lost a game since Parkdale eliminated them from the S.P.A. series.

It was probably a good omen for West Toronto that it did not win the Sportsmen's Cup. In the past teams winning that trophy have failed to gain the O.H.A. title, Marlboros being the only exception to the rule. The Dukes upset the precedent two seasons in succession.

Niagara Falls, this season's S.P.A. junior champions, will enter the O.H.A. junior against the winner of the U. of T.-West Toronto series. The Cataracts were picked early in the season to win the O.H.A. silverware, but West Toronto and the Blue and White juniors were not as good then as they are now, and it is believed hereabouts that they may fall in the finals, although the lads from the Roar City have a great team. It is thought, however, that they will miss the generalship and all-round good playing of Obe Heximer, who turned professional with the New York Rangers when the S.P.A. series was completed. This Heximer was the play-maker and star of the sextet.

of it." He urged that the forces of welfare in the parish be organized.

"It is a splendid thing that a men's club such as this can meet each week for recreation. But recreation must be based on service if the parish is to move towards its objectives.

"The church is a great brotherhood and I believe that more and more we have come to recognise the social aspect of the church. The church grows by what it gives, not by what it gets."

Reverting to another matter which he claimed was one in which the hand of the church is needed, he deplored the conditions evident even in Peterborough in which small children take on the burdens of life that should rest upon the shoulders of adults only.

The church is helping people to help themselves, he said not trying to establish a permanent dole for those needing help. In the problem of the mentally deficient, he continued, the unfortunate are being treated more and more as subjects of sickness. He spoke optimistically of the increasing attention that is being given to parole systems in efforts to improve crime conditions.

Canon Vernon closed with an appeal that the workers of the church recognise the scope of the work they must face and the immense possibilities before them.

The toast to the King was proposed by F. D. Kerr, K.C., at the commencement of the program.

Toast To Church.

A toast to the Church was proposed by Dr. G. S. Cameron, who stressed the importance of the human side of the church manifested in gatherings such as the one he addressed. In the course of his remarks he referred to "two outstanding experiments" that are going on in the world at the present time. One was the attempt being made by the Soviets to "dethrone God and set up Atheism in its most tyrannical form." The other he spoke of was the activities of the League of Nations in trying to bring about a brotherly love among nations.

Replying to the toast to the church, Rev. E. R. James, curate of St. John's church, said the church is made up of divine and human factors. The object of the church is to raise humanity to its highest degree of perfection, he said.

"The Catechism directs that man be true and just in all his dealings," he stated, speaking with regard to the English church. He enlarged on the thought defining "true" and "just" and illustrating the application to the daily life of each individual.

SILVER TROPHIES PRESENTED TO SUCCESSFUL COMPETITORS

Allen Cup and Waddell Trophy Change Hands for the Season.

ENJOY OYSTER SUPPER.

MILLBROOK, March 4 (Examiner Correspondence).—A gathering of peculiar interest to the members of the local curling club took place at the Jeffrey-Whyte restaurant last Friday at 6.30 p.m., when the annual oyster supper was enjoyed, and at its conclusion the handsome silver trophies, won during the season of 1928-29, were presented to the successful competitors.

C. C. Garside, vice-president of the club, in a neat speech, presented the Allen Cup, which is put up for inter-rink competition each season, to the winning rink, skipped by R. H. Edmunds, the other members being: A. Johnson, S. Sloan and R. F. Gray.

Accepting the trophy on behalf of his rink and himself, Mr. Edmunds, who is a veteran at the curling game, expressed their gratitude, their pleasure in the honor achieved, and in the good sportsmanship which the play had afforded. The other members of the rink also spoke briefly.

Waddell Presentation.

Howard Lancashire made an appropriate address in presenting the Waddell Trophy to the winners of the Scotch doubles competition, Stanford Sloan and T. Howard Collins, both of whom made suitable reply. Reference was made by all of the speakers to the generosity of the donor of the cup, the late R. M. Waddell, of Peterborough, who had been honorary president of the local club for the past few years, his loyalty to the "business of curling" being specially mentioned, and regret because of his recent decease being feelingly expressed.

The Gillott Trophy, won by J. H. Tait in the thirteen point games, was presented by the donor, W. J. E. Gillott, who was among the guests at the supper, and who expressed his pleasure in being able personally to place the cup in the keeping of the successful competitor, and added his hearty congratulations to those of the others present to Mr. Tait upon his good play during the season of 1928-29.

Others who spoke, in addition to the list already mentioned, were: H. R. Scott, president of the curling club, and Reeve P. Stinson.

Curling Schedule Concludes To-night

The finals of the season's scheduled games at the curling rink will be played to-night. The semi-final round for the first and second prizes at seven o'clock finds Ray Best pitted against Jack Bacon in one game and Tommy Donaldson against Dick Davidson. The winners meet in the final at nine o'clock not only for the prizes but also the rink championship.

For the third and fourth places Jack Wylie and Jim Connal are the contenders in one semi-final and M. Cruthers and J. Howden in the other. The winners in this, play at 9 o'clock. These games should provide an interesting evening for the curling fans.

ST. JOHN'S MEN HEAR REV VERNON

Third Annual Banquet of Men's Club is Held in Parish Hall.

GREAT BROTHERHOOD.

Rev. Canon C. W. Vernon of Toronto, secretary of the Council of Social Service of the Church of England in Canada, addressed the third annual banquet of the Men's Club of St. John's Church in the Parish Hall of the church last evening. He spoke on the parish of the church, its social responsibilities and problems.

The gathering of members of the club was large. It was presided over by William Ashby, president. Women of the church provided the banquet and the program included instrumental and vocal musical numbers.

"One of the most important things we have to remember about our religion is that it is not an individual religion but a social religion," Canon Vernon said in his opening remarks. He suggested the possibility that if it had not been for Christ there might not yet be such community institutions as schools and hospitals. "The church has made possible the most modern institutions of self government," he said.

Depends On Each Parish.

"The success of our church," he continued, "depends on the individual parish." He referred to the social responsibilities of the parish.

"The responsibility of each parish rests on the shoulders of each individual man. Each parish has a missionary responsibility, an educational responsibility and a social responsibility. We must know our parish. We must know the history of it and we must know the geography

Canadian Wonder Girl

Here to-day and gone to-morrow seems to be the fate of the sprinters who reach world fame. Stella Walsh, the Cleveland girl who is the latest addition to the roll of the sprinters' hall of fame, has the distinction of being the first woman to have her name on the Rodman Wanamaker International Trophy which is awarded annually to the outstanding athlete of the Millrose games at New York. Among those who have had their names inscribed on the trophy are: Paavo Nurmi, Charles Hoff and Dr. Otto Peltzer. Miss Walsh, who was declared to be unbeatable, has had her first setback at the hands of a little Canadian girl, Miss Kay Griffiths of the Canadian Ladies A.C. At the recent Buffalo meet Miss Kay showed her heels to the feminine track wonder in the 75 yard event to breast the tape first by a few inches. At the break Stella was away first, closely followed by the Canadian girl who, with only a few yards to go, gave a terrific burst of speed and beat the Cleveland girl by inches. It was the surprise of the meet and will be long remembered.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE POPPED WEASEL

"Wonderful!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"So loud and clear!" exclaimed his wife.

"Why," squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, "you'd think Mr. Twistytail was right here in the room with us."

"Indeed, yes," agreed Uncle Wiggily.

"But I don't want to hear Mr. Twistytail grunt," said Baby Bunty. "I rather hear a bedtime story. Please, Unkie Wig, won't you turn on a bedtime story?"

"Oh, yes, a bedtime story!" cried many other little rabbit boys and girls who were sitting around Uncle Wiggily in his hollow stump bungalow. For Mr. Longears had just bought a new radio and was trying it. And it happened this same evening, that Mr. Twistytail, the pig gentleman, was broadcasting from station PORK, which is in Woodland near the Orange Ice Mountains. So Uncle Wiggily had tuned in to hear his pig friend tell about how good sour milk was for fattening little piggie boys and girls.

"All right," said Uncle Wiggily with a smile which was almost as bright as his pink, twinkling nose, "you shall hear a bedtime story."

The rabbit gentleman turned the dial of the machine and the voice of Mr. Twistytail faded out. Then came another voice saying:

"Once upon a time!"

"Ah, there's the bedtime story!" cried Baby Bunty and she and all the other rabbit children listened while in the bedtime story they heard how, once upon a time there was a great, big elephant who used to cuddle down in his trunk and sing himself to sleep. And this is one of the songs the elephant sang.

The rabbit turned the dial.

The monkey chased the cobbler's wife
All around the steeple,
That's the way the money goes.
Pop! goes the weasel."

"What did the monkey chase the cobbler's wife around the steeple for, Unkie Wig?" asked Baby Bunty, sleepily when the bedtime story had ended.

"Oh, I suppose he wanted her to mend his shoes," answered Mr. Longears.

"Nonsense!" exclaimed his wife. "Don't tease the children. You'll get them all waked up and they'll want to listen to more broadcasting and it's time they were in bed. Come now, off with you!" and she made them all go upstairs while Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane tuned in on some music.

"Yes, the radio is wonderful!" said Uncle Wiggily. I'm glad I have this new one. And Twistytail did his broadcasting very well."

Now outside the hollow stump bungalow, just at this time, was Slim Jim the weasel. He was sneaking around and around.

"What are you doing here, Slim Jim"? hooted a big, horned owl who was flying about the bungalow in the moonlight, flapping his wings which were so soft, with many feathers that they made scarcely a sound.

"I'm trying to find a way to get in so, when Uncle Wiggily is asleep, I can bite him!" snarled the Weasel.

"Oh, don't you like Uncle Wiggily?" hooted the owl.

"Yes, I like him so much I would love to eat him!" said the Weasel. "Look at me! Only just now have I been able to get out of the frozen chunk of ice I turned into when I was trying to lead that rabbit into my woods." Slim Jim told how he had pretended to be a dwarf with a red nose like a crimson blossom, to fool Uncle Wiggily. And in turning to look and see if the rabbit was following him, the weasel tumbled into a puddle of water which at once froze around him so he was like a chunk of ice.

"So, to pay Uncle Wiggily back, I'm going to get into his bungalow tonight and bite him!" whispered Slim Jim.

"Well, I wish you luck!" hooted the owl. "I'm hungry myself. I wouldn't mind catching a nice, fat rabbit," and away he flew to look for his supper, while Slim Jim, sneaking around the bungalow, looked for some hole through which he could crawl.

At last he found one. About midnight, when every one was asleep Uncle Wiggily was dreaming about his new radio set, there was a noise down stairs. It was made by the weasel stumbling against the new radio set. And, in stumbling this way Slim Jim must have turned on the radio, which was tuned to a distant station that was broadcasting. And, all of a sudden, out of the loud speaker came a voice saying: "The monkey chased the cobbler's wife all around the steeple. That's the way the money goes, Pop! goes the Weasel!"

"Oh, don't pop me! Please don't pop me!" cried Slim Jim and, not knowing it was only the radio, out of the window he jumped and ran away.

MIKES AT PARTY

LONDON (U.P.). — The "Sweet-nothings" and gossip whispered into pretty pink ears by dashing young blades at Miss Leonora "Snorks" Wodehouse's party here recently, remained as much of a secret as a chorus girl's romance. Microphones installed by the beautiful daughter of "P.G." famous humorist, in Wodehouse so all guests could hear the orchestra, were responsible for a situation that brought a loud, but, of course, well modulated giggle from staid London society.

Don't let the priceless years slip by

BECAUSE Forhan's is so frequently recommended by dentists, many people wrongly conclude that this dentifrice should be used only where some trouble exists.

It is far better to prevent trouble than to treat it—the mouth of youth needs the double benefits of Forhan's. When used with massage at the time of brushing, it not only cleans the teeth, but firms up the gums as well, and helps to keep them in sound, good health.

Don't wait for middle age. Adopt Forhan's now as your dentifrice—35¢ and 60¢—a few cents a tube more than the ordinary toothpaste and exceedingly well worth it. Forhan's Limited, Montreal.

NEW TROOP FORMED AT SACRED HEART CHURCH.

The realm of Boy Scouts received another impetus in the city a short time ago, no later than Friday of last week, when a troop was initiated in the south end. For some time past the position of the 4th troop has been unoccupied and to fill this vacancy local officials of the scout organization visited the church of the Sacred Heart, at the request of the church authorities and were the means of instituting the troop with the title of the 4th Peterborough Troop of Boy Scouts.

Nucleus Formed

There was an encouraging turnout of lads, all anxious to become affiliated with this branch of boys' activity and on the advice of representatives, the number was limited to 13 with Scoutmaster Alec Kirkcaldy and Assistant Scoutmaster John Armstrong in charge of the detail. This was deemed a sufficient nucleus for about six months for purposes of training that when future youths joined a well-trained number could be of great assistance to the newcomers.

Encouraging Send-Off

The initiation was held in the basement and much interest was manifested in the unique ceremony of "swearing in". Added to the keen enthusiasm of the boys in fulfilling the scout law is the stimulating influence and co-operation of the parish priests Rev. J. J. O'Brien and Rev. Father Moloney, who have promised help to the boys in their initial steps towards attaining scout efficiency. Words of hope and encouragement were voiced by several of the scout executive of the church and the officials of the movement, and thanks of the boys was tendered for assistance given.

Scout Strength in City

In perusing records and in conversation with the local commissioner recently much data was gleaned regarding the strength of the Boy Scout organization in Peterborough. It was learned there are now six troops in the city. The numerical strength of each varies, but all told there are 173 rank and file and scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters, made up as follows:

Scouts— 108.

Two Wolf Cub troops—48.

Leaders (S. M. and A. S. M.)—17.

This total of 173 is very encouraging, and shows an increase of 42 members compared with the previous year. Hope is high that before very long the number of troops will be added to, thus bringing the local body to a new standing in its history, which dates back to at least the year 1910, when the ranks contained the names of Reg. Stratton, Fuller, Powell, and others, under S. M. James Milby. Attached to the troops was a fife and drum band, which reached a high state of efficiency, and assisted the boys on the march or hike.

Interest of Parents

Scoutdom in Peterborough is in a flourishing condition just at present remarked the commissioner, and points to a splendid future, with an interest worthy the movement.

Another aspect mentioned in the past that parents know so little about the work of the troops to which their own and other boys are attached. To fully appreciate the tasks and duties and the curriculum, fathers and mothers of the boys are urged to visit the meeting places of the several troops and become acquainted with the doings of the scouts. They have periods of education and times of sport and fun, all helping to build finer boys and better men.

In addition, specialists in boys or professional hobbies are invited to lend their aid and knowledge on behalf of the scout work, a service which will go far and be appreciated by every lad.

Six Troops in the City.

Following are the troops and meeting places and time of meeting:

No. 1—St. John's (S. M. Garfield Johnson, Assistant S. M.'s Warren Turner and Reg. Howden. Meet on Friday evening in Parish Hall.

No. 2—St. Luke's (S. M. George Groombridge). Meet on Friday evening in hall.

No. 3—Community (S. M. Frank Taylor). Meet at headquarters, Simcoe Street, on Friday evening.

No. 4—Sacred Heart (S. M. Alec Kirkcaldy, Assistant S.M. J. Armstrong). Meet in church basement on Friday evening.

No. 5—All Saints' (S.M. H. G. E. Choate). Meet in Parish Hall on Tuesday evening.

No. 6—Knights of Columbus (S.M. Ernie Wolff). Meet on Tuesday evening at Headquarters, Simcoe street.

Minature Jambouree

Plans are being discussed by the officials in Peterborough and Lindsay whereby a general muster of Boy Scouts might be held in the city on May 24. The contemplated "Jambouree" would be the means of inspiring a new spirit among present and intending scouts and at the same time allow our citizens to have first hand knowledge of the splendid achievements wrought by scoutcraft on the rising generation of Scouts. The Lindsay troop, strong numerically, and the local body could make a showing, inspiring and interesting and add considerably to the spirit of the patriotic holiday.

BANQUET AT LINDSAY

The seventy-third birthday of Chief Scout Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwall (this was title chosen by the chief when knighted by King George, out of compliment to the rendezvous of last year's great Scout Jambouree in England) was honored by many troops throughout the world one week ago. As in former years No. 1 Troop, Lindsay, held its "annual" on Saturday evening last, the banquet being held in St. Paul's Anglican church, Marsh Memorial Hall. Seven tables were laden with good things, supplied and prepared mostly by the boys and their parents, of whom there was a large attendance.

Splendid Program

District Scout Commissioner John T. Hornsby (instrumental in bringing Lindsay No. 1 Troop up to its present high standing) now of Peterborough, was chairman of the gathering and kept a spirit of enthusiasm and gladness uppermost throughout the proceedings. A lengthy and varied program of speeches, toasts, and vocal and instrumental music—commencing with "the grace" by Canon Marsh to the closing notes of "The Maple Leaf." The addresses were given by orators representing service clubs, Girl Guides, the Scouts, the I. O. D. E., Women's Institute, and a young speaker all the way from Vancouver, Norman H. Sanders. Chief F. C. Irwin of Toronto, was also present and responded to the Lord Baden-Powell toast with a racy resume of the Chief Scout's inception of the world-wide movement.

Shows Much Progress

Since the retiral of Scoutmaster F. C. Jackson, Assistant Scoutmaster James Alcorn has "carried on" with splendid results, his own initiative and the co-operation of the troop all leading to the present happy conditions. Congratulations were showered upon Jimmy by all of the speakers, to which he modestly returned his thanks.

Presentation of Badges

Commissioner Hornsby merited a mead of praise for his continued interest in the No. 1 boys; and as a closing item of program the chairman called upon nine scouts, William Alsop, Milford Sleep, Angus Smith, Jack Tillcock, Bruce McKee, Gordon Sutton, Donald McKee, Ross Abbott, and Carl Hussey and presented 19 proficiency badges, including a King Scout badge (Jack Tillcock).

The final presentation took the form of the Boy Scout Shield to the Beaver Patrol, for general proficiency with ropes to each of the seven members.

Following the singing of "The Maple Leaf", the Scouts and guests adjourned to the upper hall, where over one hundred pictures depicting the departure of Scouts from Canada, life on shipboard, arrival in England, doings at Arrow Park, Birkhead, trips around the country and the return home, were shown and explained by King Scout Jim Groves, who was Lindsays representative at the great jambouree—this concluding another spendid banquet of Lindsay No. 1 troop.

Peterborough Executive

The following officers comprise the executive for Peterborough Council, Boy Scouts' Association:

President—J. E. Sullivan.

First vice president—Isaac P. McNabb.

Second vice president—C. S. Cummer.

Secretary-treasurer—A. L. Inch.

District Commissioner — John T. Hornsby.

Asst. District Commissioner—John A. McKone.

Tribute to Canadian Scouts

In a new American publication, "The Scout Jambouree Book", we find a pleasing reference to the Canadian Scouts at the Jambouree: "We arrived in the camp of our North American brothers, the Canadians. They were a picked bunch, with a wonderful camp. Their tents were all shipshape; their cook places in the best of order; and we at once got an impression of 'team spirit and efficiency'."

UNDER THE FLEUR-DE-LYS

Officers and Patrol Leaders are often at this time of the year stuck for new ideas to make up their programme for their Patrols. Here is a system that has been tried and found to work, giving help and encouraging lads in working for the various proficiency badges. Each lad is provided with an exercise book: on the first page he writes his name, rank and "group", etc., in large Scout signs. In the centre of the page he sketches the bird or animal sign of his patrol; at the bottom of the page add the date when he commenced his note book; this will be done either in morse or semaphore signals. Previous to the meeting the P.L. will decide which badge or badges they will first attempt and work his program accordingly. Here is a sample program which will keep you busy for 1½ hours:

7.30—Write out and memorise the Morse signals.

7.45—Physical drill (plenty of leg movements).

8.00—A few simple tests with the "buzzer". (Don't attempt messages at this stage, just keep to letters which are signalled by the dots or dashes alone).

8.15—Pathfinder's Badge. Part A. In all probability the P.L. won't know all the places and addresses required for this section of the badge. Yet each member of the patrol to write down what he knows, and then compare notes. If you find you are still guessing, bring one of the officers to your aid.

8.30 p.m.—Games: (a) Circular Tug-of-war. Representatives of each patrol hold an endless rope at equal spaces and "takes the strain". A hat is put about three feet out of the reach of each. First to pick up the hat wins. (b) Obstacle Race, relay. Each team line up at the end of the room. On the word "go" each leader starts off by passing under a form, and on reaching the other end of the room ties one of the "Tenderfoot Knots" and then hops back to the starting point, this time passing over the form.

8.55 p.m.—Troop formation, when the Scoutmaster will lead in repeating the Scout Laws.

9.00 p.m.—Dismiss and good-night.

If a bath you cannot get,
Rub down well with a towel wet;
Clean your finger nails and toes,
Clean your teeth and blow your nose.

THE JUNGLE
Patience

Whilst prowling around last week, I visited one of our local Wolf Cub packs, and I must say I enjoyed every minute of their company, but the most outstanding thing I noticed and admired was the patience of the Cubmaster and Assistant Cubmaster in dealing with their Cubs.

Patience is generally expected from a woman and not so often from a man, but both have it to a wonderful extent when they go a-Cubbing. It is like the patience of a fisherman, who waits all day for a chance to catch a fish, the Cubmaster waits weeks and months to catch a boy and make something of him. The little rascal nibbles, almost winks his eye at you, and then goes off in another direction. But you must keep casting your line, and one day you get the right mood and the right time, and the young rascal is caught. I hope he remains a young rascal, because I hate prigs; but there are rascals and rascals, and you know perfectly well what I mean.

The Chief Scout has wonderful patience. First as a Scout in the army, and later as a fisherman, he has shown that he knows how to wait. I once fished for about twenty minutes and then gave it up as I was in a hurry. I am afraid I have not got the patience I admire. We want the patience of a fisherman or an Oriental.

Cubmasters have the patience to train their Cubs and they have to let them go on to the Scouts and all their patience may, or may not, seem to result in nothing—therefore perhaps faith must go with patience. So you must go on in spite of some of your Cubs not turning out the Scout you had hoped, or not becoming Scouts at all. When this happens it is indeed such a sorrow that one's patience almost gives way, but you must remember what James Beattie, the Scout poet, said nearly a hundred years ago in The Minstrel—"Vigour from toil, from trouble patience grows" and so you must keep on.

I am pleased to see that the 5th Peterborough troop have just launched out on a drive for recruits, but what about the other troops in the city, surely they are not going to let the 5th put one over them. So why not an all round campaign and a bit of friendly rivalry all round, and in time we shall have in Peterborough groups of Scouts second to none: What says you Scoutmasters.

Good Scouting is the wish of Old Wolf.

CAUTEMPS 19TH SINCE WAR

Average Period of Cabinet Little More Than Seven Months

The fall of the Chautemps Cabinet marks the termination of the nineteenth government in France since the World War—a period which has calamitous reverses in the political history of the nation. The average period of duration of each government as a consequence, has been a little more than seven months, despite the comparatively long Ministry of Raymond Poincare from July, 1926, to November, 1928.

Although there has been several severe crises following the falls of French Cabinets, one of the most desperate and difficult occurred after the defeat of the Briand Government in October, 1929, when for ten days France was without a Premier, following the attempts of several statesmen to form Cabinets.

ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS

Mrs. H. Tremain is President of Queen Alexandra Home and School Association.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY.

At the meeting last evening of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association, when celebration of the society's tenth anniversary took place, the following officers were elected: Mrs. H. Tremain, president; Mrs. H. H. Graham, first vice-president; Mrs. F. H. Dearborn, second vice-president; Mrs. L. C. Deyell, secretary; Mrs. H. H. Tewsley, treasurer. Mrs. A. Mowat is honorary president, and Mrs. Karl Simpson honorary vice-president. Convenors of committees are: Mrs. H. Vance, Visiting; Mrs. S. Kingdon, Relief; Mrs. A. Wray and Mrs. R. Parnall, Social; Mrs. A. Clark, Flowers; Mrs. S. Purdy, Entertainment; Mrs. W. Hall, Telephone.

The ladies celebrated their tenth anniversary by service of dainty refreshments from a prettily decorated table.

At the meeting last evening, Mrs. W. R. Morris was present, as she was at the inauguration meeting ten years ago, assisting with the election of officers on both occasions. At the meeting a decade back, an enthusiastic and representative gathering of parents and teachers took place. Mrs. Morris outlined the general work of a Home and School Association, told of what had been accomplished by that society, and Miss M. Jory, the school nurse, also spoke of the help of such organizations in carrying out her work. The first president of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association was Mrs. H. A. Yenney. Mrs. R. V. Copping was first vice-president, Mrs. A. Mowat second vice-president, Mrs. J. Wearing secretary, and Mrs. Davidson treasurer.

At the meeting last evening much regret was expressed at the absence, through illness, of Mrs. A. Mowat, this being the first annual meeting which Mrs. Mowat failed to attend.

The attendance picture was won by Junior Fourth, F. H. Dearborn's Room, while the cup for record attendance went to M. H. Park's room.

THE DOG ROUND-UP

The rodeo starts to-morrow, or at least the annual round-up of dogs. It is a little earlier than usual, but it is necessary in view of the recent outbreak of rabies and the consequent proclamation which decrees that all dogs shall be kept in enclosure The order has not been very well regarded, many dogs are still to be seen at large on the city streets, but to-morrow Mark Pengelly will essay forth, not on a bucking broncho—likely on foot, but his work will be accomplished in the same thorough manner as is the round-up of cattle on a Western ranch.

WILL ADDRESS K. OF C.

William A. Wells, representing the Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus will attend to-night's regular meeting at which he will explain several changes in the insurance laws of the Order which were voted at the last supreme convention. He visited Lindsay council last night and on Wednesday will be in Cobourg. A large attendance of the local Council of the order is expected to hear Mr. Wells who will also refer to the boys' work program.

TABLET UNVEILED BY PREMIER KING

Distinguished Gathering Attends Service in St. Andrew's Church, Toronto.

CENTENNIAL OF CHURCH.

TORONTO, Ont., March 4. (Canadian Press).—In St. Andrew's church, where the Presbyterians of a new land have knelt in worship for a hundred years, the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, last night unveiled a tablet to the memory of his parents, long members of the congregation. The unveiling coincided with the centennial of the church and the Prime Minister made the informal ceremony the occasion of a tribute to the work and peace of the church in the fabric of society. Religion, he declared, was the very breath of life, without which the state and the other organizations of man's making, were doomed to be shallow and without force.

It was a distinguished gathering which attended the memorial unveiling and the celebration of the church's century of life. The Hon. W. D. Ross, Lieutenant - Governor of the Province of Ontario, was present with some of the most eminent of the Canadian clergy. It was hailed as a symbol of the new order of inter-church friendship that there sat on either side of the Prime Minister of the Parliament which passed the act of union of 1925, the acting Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada and the Moderator of the United church. Their presence was made the more notable by the fact that St. Andrew's was a storm centre of the bitter church union controversy which raged a few years back.

The brass tablet which Mr. Mackenzie King unveiled was erected by his sister, Mrs. Janet King Lay of Barrie, and himself, to the memory of their father, Dr. John King, M.A., K.C., and their mother, Isabel Grace Mackenzie, "with loving gratitude for their self-sacrifice and devoted lives and in hallowed memories of St. Andrew's Church."

County Free Cases Neglect and Cruelty

The County has been remarkably free from cases of neglect and cruelty among animals this winter, reports Dr. Thomas Johnston, county veterinary officer. Practically the only cases where action has been required in regard to the welfare of animals have occurred in this city.

Several journeys to the more inaccessible parts of the County have been made in the past few months by Dr. Johnston and on none of the trips did he find any cases worthy of note. The cattle, horses and other live stock as well as animal pets are being very well treated, he states, and suggests that credit is reflected on the farmers of the County by the state of affairs.

The cases in the city have been in regard to abused horses and injured and neglected dogs and cats.

Dirt motorcycle racing has been introduced into Germany.

OVER HUNDRED DROWN IN FRANCE WHEN TARN RIVER BURSTS DYKES FLOODING TINY TOWN OF MOISSAC

Many Die As Houses Collapse Upon Them—Others Trapped While Fleeing.

GARONNE STILL RISING.

Cadillac Citizens Move Out—Details Meagre, Communications Down.

TOULOUSE, France, March 5 (C.P.)—One hundred or more inhabitants of Moissac perished it was feared, shortly after midnight when the Tarn River, swollen by floods, broke through a dike and submerged the town. The disaster, if confirmed, is one of the worst flood catstrophes in France during the last century.

Residents Given No Warning.

Two quarters of the city—those of St. Martin and Ste. Catherine—were almost obliterated in the surge of flood water from the broken dyke. Residents were caught unawares. Many perished as their houses collapsed above them; others, fleeing, were trapped and drowned.

The City already was in darkness, the rising waters having destroyed its electric light facilities and cut its gas main. Sparse reports received here mentioned the intermingled roar of the flood, the dull cracking of collapsing houses, and the futile cries of drowing and trapped residents.

The exact number of victims could not be determined immediately, probably will not indeed be known until after the waters subside. Hope was expressed that the estimate of 100 dead would prove excessive. Aside from these at Moissac there were 26 known dead in the other flooded district of Southern France, with probability the total will be increased.

The waters in some of the smaller rivers subsided somewhat but the Garonne was still rising to-day. Inhabitants of Cadillac and other riverside towns moved out their goods and chattels hastily. Aged was cut off from the outside world. The last train left yesterday morning There was neither telephone nor telegraph, the post office being flooded.

600 Workmen Relieved.

Communication finally was established with Villemuc, on the Agout river. The water had susided there, relieving the plight of 600 workmen in a spaghetti factory. The factory, at first in considerable danger of collapsing, was able to withstand the torrent although much of its stock of macaroni and spaghetti was water-soaked.

The electric light and power plant there collapsed with damage estimated at 4,000,000 francs. Five houses crumbled and a bridge built only three years ago was swept away by

HEAD KEEPER STABBED TO DEATH BY PRISONER AT AUBURN PRISON

Unnamed Spaniard Launches Attack During Lunch Hour.

THIRD VICTIM.

AUBURN, N.Y., Mar. 5. (Canadian Press).—Edward Beckwith, principal keeper at Auburn prison was stabbed to death to-day at the prison.

Beckwith, although mortally wounded by the flashing knife held in Mortellito's hands, felled the Spaniard before collapsing. Warden John L. Hoffman was a witness to the killing. He stood directly behind the principal keeper and aided in the capture of the frenzied attacker.

Guards and State troopers rushed into the mess hall as word of the stabbing penetrated throughout the institution.

The entire prison soon resembled an armed camp, with every guard called to duty and the entire detail of sixty State troopers placed in positions of control.

Beckwith succeeded George A. Durnford, killed in the Auburn riot of Dec. 11, last.

Police who sent an investigator to the prison said a Spanish inmate whose name was not ascertained, stabbed Beckwith while the convict was on his way to the mess hall.

Police tried vainly to reach the prison. They reported all lines in use and they had not been called, the officer in charge said.

News Interrupts Trial

The news of Beckwith's death came at the height of the trial of Max Becker Brooklyn gunman, charged with the murder of Durnford. A hasty and dramatic adjournment of the trial followed.

Beckwith is the third Principal Keeper at the prison to meet death at the hands of the convicts. James H. Durnan, Durnford's predecessor, was stabbed to death about 2 years ago.

Man's Body Found Torn and Mangled In Barren North

Dr. Kurt Faber, Noted German Journalist and Scientist, Who Plodded Into the North Country Five Months Ago, Is Dead, a Victim of Northland Rigors.

MAN HAS BEEN SOUGHT BY POLICE PATROLS AND BY RADIO BROADCASTS FOR SOME WEEKS

Scientist Had Planned to Circle North and East of Fort Vermilion on a Journey of Almost 1,000 Miles, Most of Which Was to be Made on Foot.

EDMONTON, Alta., March 5 (Canadian Press). — Dr. Kurt Faber, noted journalist who plodded into the north country five months ago, is dead—a victim of the northland's rigors. A terse telegram from a Royal Canadian Mounted Police post in the North-West Territories tells of his body being found, torn and mangled by roaming wolves.

In last September the German scientist-writer had travelled north from Edmonton. At Fort Vermilion he planned to circle north and east on a journey of almost 1,000 miles, most of which he planned to traverse on foot.

Dr. Faber had been sought by police patrols and by radio broadcasts for some weeks in an effort to inform him that his mother had died in Berlin. Dr. K. Martin, German Consul at Winnipeg, had been requested from Germany to transmit the information to the globe-trotting reporter.

From Fort Vermilion, which he had reached by river-boat, to the Upper Hay River post, Dr. Faber had travelled by canoe, portaging from the source of one river to the origin of another in his struggle into the northern barrens. His death is believed to have occurred as he paddled north along the river toward the Great Slave. The meagre statement from the post of the Mounties may mean that the journalist fell exhausted or that his body was washed ashore after his canoe had been dashed to pieces in a rapids.

Discovery of the body was made only four days ago and information was hurried to Fort Resolution, where the nearest radio post is located. Dr.

40 CARS BURNED AT GRAVENHURST

Early Morning Blaze Wipes Out Three Business Houses and One Residence.

$200,000 DAMAGE.

GRAVENHURST, Ont., March 5 (C.P.)—The most disastrous fire to strike Gravenhurst since the town was wiped out 43 years ago, to-day destroyed three business establishments and a residence, causing damage estimated at $200,000. Carried by a high wind, sparks and embers were swept around surrounding buildings, and for a long time the whole business section was threatened with destruction.

The firemen's task was made more difficult by spasmodic explosions of gasoline tanks of some 40 motor cars stored in the Gravenhurst garage, a wooden structure covered with sheet metal. A meat market, confectionery store and a brick residence were also destroyed. A short circuit in the electric wiring in the garage is believe to have caused the fire.

15 Girls Injured at Brooklyn

This photograph, one of the first to reach civilization from the Eielson search flight, shows the wreckage of the airplane in which Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, Arctic fliers, lost their lives. The airplane as seen here, covered by drift snow and ice, was first sighted by Pilot Joe Crosson, after weeks of futile search on the Siberian coast. The wreck lies 90 miles southeast of Cape North, headquarters of the relief expedition. The bodies of the two airmen, Eielson and Borland, arrived at Nome, Alaska, Saturday, after being brought across the Bering Sea by airplane from the motorship Nanuk.—Photograph from Seattle by air mail. — Copyright.

LATVIA POLICE CAPTURE REDS IN CLEVER RUSE

Surprise Communists With Rifles as Test Alarm is Sent In.

WIDE PRECAUTIONS.

Berlin Forbids All Thursday Meetings—New York Issues Warning.

LONDON, March 5. (C.P.) — A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Riga, Latvia, to-day said that the Esthonian self defence corps at Revel had through a clever ruse ascertained the identity of some Communist leaders there.

In anticipation of Communist demonstrations to-morrow the corps arranged a test alarm in Revel at 4.00 a.m., to-day, ringing bells and blowing fog horns, thus arousing the population. The corps promptly occupied all the government offices, railway stations and public building.

Military patrols arrested several suspects and surprised a number of Communists who sallied forth with rifles under the mistaken impression that a military revolt had occurred.

Adjutant Killed.

"General Laidoner, who conducted the alarm, declared that all went satisfactorily except for a single accident when a military patrol fired on a Limousine which did not halt to show documents of identification. The limousine contained a major general of the staff and his adjutant. The Major General was wounded and his adjutant was killed.

Brutal Tales Told About Boys' School

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 5.—(Canadian Press).—Publication of charges of brutality at the Connecticut school for boys at Meriden, Conn., have led to the appointment by Governor Trumbull of a special commission to conduct an investigation. Independent investigations are underway by the State Department of Health and the State Department of Education.

The charges are based on stories told by former inmates to James S. Peck, farm superintendent of the school and the Welfare Department.

The charges include feeding of bread saturated with castor oil to lads confined in solitary cells, clubbings on their bare feet with hickory sticks, lashings with straps made of three thicknesses of sole leather held together by shoe nails, beating of boys in hospital wards, and kicking of offenders lying on the floor.

RUICH ON TRIAL AT FALL ASSIZES

Inspector Differs With Youth As To Manner of Shooting.

EVIDENCE REPEATED.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 5 (C.P.)—Steve Ruich, 16-year-old Hungarian, was to-day committed for trial at the Fall Assizes charged with the murder of Louis Miller on January 27. He appeared before Magistrate Fraser and evidence given at the inquest was repeated. The statement of Ruich that the occurrence was accidental was combatted by Inspector Miller of the Criminal Investigation Department, who claimed that it would have been impossible for the shot to have struck Miller as it did had the gun held by Ruich been in the position claimed. Ruich claimed that he had the gun on his arm and that two dogs were playing with him and one jumped up and the gun went off, hitting Miller in the back of the neck and killing him almost instantly. Ruich, in his statement, made more than a month after the killing, made a statement that it had been accidental. He had previously insisted that he had not been near the lonely Miller cabin for ten days previous to discovery of the body.

Youth Shoots Chum In Tussle on Bed

STRATFORD, Ont., March 5. (Canadian Press). — With less than an even chance of recovery William Woolf, 18, is in the General Hospital with a 32 calibre bullet lodged in the back of his head.

With another youth, George Andrews, 17, the pair were wrestling on the bed at a chum's home, and when Woolf put Andrew's down, the latter said "Ha, ha you haven't got me yet" with that he pulled the revolver from a holster which Woolf wore and the bullet pierced the latter's head.

The accident was purely accidental according to the police and no charge will be laid against the chum of the unfortunate youth, whose condition to-day is extremely critical.

TARDIEU'S CABINET FACES BITTER BATTLE IN CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES

Tumult Grows So Wild, Premier is Forced to Suspend Session.

WORST IN HISTORY.

PARIS, March 5.—(C.P.)—The appearance of the second Tardieu Cabinet before the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon with its ministerial declaration was the signal for one of the bitterest parliamentary battles the Chamber has ever witnessed, the sessions being suspended at one point. The Premier's declaration was interrupted by a tumult from the Socialist and Radical benches. The Opposition, smarting under its failure to regain power with the Chautemps cabinet, taunted the deputies of the left who had accepted portfolios in the new ministry, and drowned the Premier's voice.

Tardieu merely smiled at the demonstration and finished reading his declaration.

When M. Frossard, a Socialist and the first interpellator, took the floor, it was the turn of Tardieu's supporters to demonstrate. And they made so much tumult that Frossard could not proceed, the President being obliged to suspend the session to allow passions to cool off before the debatae could proceed.

COUNCIL PLANS TO TAX ALL HYDRO PROPERTIES

LINDSAY, March 5.—Two important by-laws were passed at the regular meeting of the Town Council Monday night. One was the by-law completing the agreement for the Consolidated Nation Combustion Corporation to take over the Boving plant for the manufacture of oil burners and other appliances as previously announced. The other was a rather unique by-law providing for the assessment and taxation of the lands and buildings of the Lindsay Hydro Commission. This was done at the request of the commission as its profits have been so large as to become somewhat embarrassing.

DOOR COLLAPSES THROWING THEM DOWN ASH HOIST

Seven Are Taken Critically Hurt to King's County Hospital.

DROPPED 25 FEET.

Young Victims Were at Play in School Yard—Great Crowd Gathers.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 5 (Canadian Press). — Fifteen girls, between the ages of 11 and 16, were injured, seven of them seriously, when a trap-door over an ash hoist in the playgrounds of Holy Cross Parochial School in Brooklyn collapsed to-day, dropping them into the basement.

Seven of the 15 girls who fell the twenty-five feet into the basement were taken to King's County Hospital in ambulances suffering from broken bones and severe cuts.

The children had just been released from school for a play hour and were frolicking in the sun in the playground when the trap-door of glass and reinforced steel gave way, dropping them screaming into the basement.

Two Ambulances Sent.

Teachers and passing citizens aided in carrying the children from the basement to the first floor where an emergency hospital was set up. The condition of several of the girls was so serious that the two ambulances which answered the first alarm were overloaded because of the necessity of quickly getting the girls to a hospital.

One girl, whose name was not learned, was bleeding profusely from a gash in the abdomen. Several were unconscious when loaded in the ambulances.

Word of the accident rapidly spread through the neighborhood, and police reserves were necessary to handle the crowd of excited mothers which quickly gathered.

HOCKEY PLAYER GOES ON TRIAL AT BELLEVILLE

Arraigned on Manslaughter Charge Under Two Counts.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Grand Jury at Belleville Returns True Bill on Manslaughter Charge.

BELLEVILLE, March 5 (By Staff Reporter). — A true bill on a charge of manslaughter was returned here yesterday afternoon against Fred Ingram, of Campbellford, by the Grand Jury sitting before Hon. Justice Logie in the Spring Assizes of the Supreme Court of Hastings County.

The manslaughter charge arises from a motor accident last fall on the Foxboro Highway, which resulted in fatal injuries to Albert Tearne. The car driven by Fred Ingram, stellar defence man of the Stirling hockey team, struck the buggy in which Tearne was riding. Tearne died later, and the manslaughter charge followed.

After being out for three hours, following the opening of the Spring Assizes at noon yesterday, the Grand Jury brought in a true bill.

When Court Clerk John A. Kerr put the usual question to the Grand Jury on their entrance, "Are you content, etc.," one juror replied, "I am not content. We haven't heard all the Crown's evidence. My idea was to bring in a no bill on the manslaughter charge and a true bill on the bodily harm."

It was explained by Justice Logie that all the Crown's evidence need not be given the Grand Jury, and that it was necessary for only seven to agree.

Bennett Scores Pension Bill

FAILS TO MEET NEEDS IS CLAIM OF TORY LEADER

Hon. R. B. Bennett Scores New Pension Bill As Introduced in House.

PAUPERISM IS BASIS.

Premier King Meets Oppose Onslaught Asks For Elimination of Political Partisanship.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 5. (By the Canadian Press).— The government proposal to establish a system of war veteran's allowances preciptated bitter debate in the House of Commons yesterday. After a discussion which lasted for several hours a bill embodying the proposal received first reading without division.

In brief the bill provides that war veterans shall be eligible for old age pension at sixty-five years of age or five years earlier than civilians. Also it extends the old age pension legislation so as to embrance veterans who have become totally and permanently unemployable before the age of 65 provided they are not taken care of by war pension or otherwise. The bill will go to the pensions committee of the House of Commons, where representatives of soldiers' organizations as well as members of parliament will have an opportunity to express their views with respect to it.

Pauperism Is Basis

Attack on the government was not based so much on this particular pice of legislation as on the ground of failure to meet the returned soldier's needs in an adequate manner. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, asserted that the prime minister had undertaken to care for the needs of the returned men as indicated by Sir Arthur Currie in his letter to the Legion. The legislation failed to do this. Instead of that it gave the veteran the benefits of a law which had pauperism as its basis. The old age pension scheme was based on pauperism. Was that the basis on which Canada was going to deal out justice to her returned men.

Premier Mackenzie King objected to the use of the word paupers. Recipients of old age pensions were not paupers, he retorted. Was there not such a thing as honorable penury.

The legislation before the house did not comprise all that the government proposed to do for the war veteran. It was introduced so that the pensions committee would have something practical to go on with, but recommendations of the committee would have the careful consideration of the government. He hoped that political partisanship would be eliminated in consideration of pensions matters.

Wily Monkey Leads Police Merry Run

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 5.—(Canadian Press). — Excitement reigned for a considerable time in the south end of Port Arthur City Monday afternoon while a section of the populace engaged in a hunt for a pet monkey that had escaped from the basement of the home of an Italian family named Kundurka. A small boy finally captured the simian by trapping it in a garbage can and captive was taken to the police station. A constable, seeking a peek at the monkey and lifting the lid, allowed it to jump out. The monkey tried to escape by running onto a steam radiator, burned its feet and then engaged in a series of shrieks that resounded through the building. From a window ledge the animal bounded to a sergeant's desk and calmly dipped its fire-nipped feet in an ink well. This seemed to give relief, and after a few moments the tiny animal walked across the desk and jumped to the floor, leaving inky footprints. After several more lunges and dives, rushes and counter-rushes participated in by officers and animal, it was returned to the garbage can receptacle.

LENTEN SEASON LATE THIS YEAR

From To-day Until Easter Sunday Period Will be Regarded as One of Penance.

To-day, known as Ash Wednesday, the Lenten season opens in the Catholic Church, when ashes are placed on the foreheads of the congregation whilst the invocation, "Man remember, thou art dust and unto dust shalt thou return," is said by the priest.

The entire period between Ash Wednesday and Easter Sunday is regarded as a time of penance and preparation for the feast of Easter. It is a time of fasting and abstinence, and while all who are engaged in laborious work are exempted from the duty of fasting, other methods of self-sacrifice are adopted to take the place of fasting, such as refraining from amusement and enjoyment, such as theatres, dancing, concerts, etc. Devotional exercises are held every Wednesday and Friday during Lent.

The season is also observed in the Anglican Churches.

Easter is late this year, but not as late as it is possible for it to be. The earliest that Ash Wednesday can fall on is February 4 and the latest March 10.

NEGROES DEMAND PROBE INTO KLAN ACT AT OAKVILLE

Mass Meeting in Toronto Draws Up Resolution For Attorney-General Price.

WILL NOT BE FOOLED.

Claim Mayor and Police Approve of Action—Want No Pious Condolences.

TORONTO, Ont., March 5. — (C. P.) — The action of the Ku Klux Klan last Sunday night in gathering at Oakville and parading to the home of a colored resident, and separating him from a young white girl with whom he had been living, was criticized at a mass meeting held here by negroes last night in protest against the Klan's action.

A resolution voicing indignation at the act and asking an investigation by Attorney-General W. H. Price, was unanimously passed ,and will be presented to Mr. Price to-morrow.

The resolution follows:

"Be it resolved, that we, the colored citizens of Toronto, do hereby voice our indignation and protest against this outrage, and request the Attorney-General of the Province of Ontario to take definite and immediate action in this matter by means of a thorough investigation, and to initiate the prosecution of the party or parties responsible for the violation of the law."

Denounces Klan.

Denunciation of the Klan was made in addresses by a number of speakers. B. J. Spencer Pitt, a local lawyer, said he did not condone the action of the Mayor and Chief of Police of Oakville. "They need not send us any pious resolutions. They need not try to fool us," he said. "We are suffering more than any other group in the world because we are too easily fooled. What we are face to face with is they approve of the action of the Ku Klux Klan. The organization had objected to intermarriage on the grounds of national purity. Let them unmask and say their fathers and forefathers have never contributed anything of impurity," said the speaker.

Continuing Mr. Pitt said: "If I make up my mind to marry a white woman, a Chinese woman, a Japanese woman, or any other, and the Ku Klux Klan attempted to interfere, they would have to take up my dead body."

NEW LIQUOR BILL IS GIVEN READING

Strong Belief Held That Measure Will Pass Upper and Lower Chambers.

UP AGAIN FRIDAY.

OTTAWA, March 5. (C.P.) — Legislation to refuse clearances to vessels carrying liquor to the United States was brought down in the House of Commons yesterday. Following a brief statement by Premier W. L. Mackenzie King, who introduced the measure, a first reading was given to the bill.

No further progress is expected on the proposed legislation before Friday. Second reading will likely be moved on that day, when discussion will probably take place on the principle of the measure.

Corridor gossip in the halls of Parliament last night strongly favors the belief that the legislation will be passed in the commons. The measure will then come before the Senate, and political signs at the moment portend the approval of the bill in the Upper Chamber.

Explaining the purpose of the measure in the Commons yesterday Premier King declared it was designed to authorize officials of the Dominion government having charge of liquor in bond and the granting of clearances to vessels "to refuse such liquor or to grant such clearances, where the granting of such release or clearance in any case would facilitate the introduction of intoxicating liquors into a country where the importation of such liquor is forbidden by law."

In the Legislature

Hon. Dr. J. D. Monteith, Provincial Treasurer, announced a surplus of $2,642,000 for the fiscal year 1929, when he made his annual budget speech.

S. C. Tweed, Liberal, North Waterloo, adjourned the debate until Thursday.

Supplementary estimates totalling $21,424,390 were tabled by the Treasurer together with the public accounts for 1929.

A. B. Smith, Cons., South Essex, introduced a bill which would enable threshers to take liens on grain in certain cases.

Private bills respecting Toronto, Sudbury, Chatham, Sarnia, and Ottawa were introduced.

LIBERAL PARTY STANDS BEHIND LLOYD GEORGE

Vote of Confidence Passed With Only One Dissenting Voice.

WHIP STAYS AT POST.

Ask Sir John Simon to Draw Up Resolution on Party Union.

LONDON, March 5 (C.P. Cable).—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, has held his post-mortem into the defection of the 12 Liberals, who saved the Labor Government in Thursday's vote on the coal mines bill and, apparently, the party stands just where it stood before.

Mr. Lloyd George remains in the saddle for a resolution of confidence in his leadership was passed with only one dissentient. And Major-General Sir Robert Hutchison, chief Liberal whip, one of the so-called "bolters," withdrew his resignation.

The leader presided at the meeting in the House of Commons last evening. Fifty-two of the party's 58 members of the Commons were present, the number including Sir John Simon and Sir Herbert Samuel—most prominent of the present-day Liberals—and nine of the 12 whose action was to be debated. Four of the 12, it will be recalled, voted with the Government and eight abstained from voting.

Mr. Lloyd George argued it to be the duty of every member of the party to abide loyally by the party decisions on its attitude in the House. From the outset, however, he met opposition, for this view was contested stronly by the Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, who was president of the Board of Trade as far back as 1914, and has long been a leading figure in the country's political and industrial life. Mr. Runciman, who was supported by Sir Donald Maclean, another of the 12, insisted upon the liberty to exercise free judgment and argued that Liberals had always claimed the right to independence of views.

The meeting, after confirming the Lloyd Georgian leadership and receiving the chief whip back into the fold, asked Sir John Simon to endeavor to draw up a resolution on party unity to which all could subscribe.

Perils in Chicago Worse Than Jungle

CHICAGO, March 5 (C.P.). — Perils of civilization proved greater than those of the jungle for I. Alexander Barns, the widely-known English explorer and author, who died last night in a hospital from injuries suffered early yesterday when he was struck by a street car and a taxicab. Barns was returning from a visit to friends in the Lincoln Park district, when a street car struck him at an intersection and hurled him in the path of the cab. The explorer, who recently came here from London, accompanied the Prince of Wales at one time on a trip to the African wilds. He had located here as United States agent for the Benguela Railway of South Africa. He was a member of the African Society, the American Museum of Natural History and the National Geographical Society, and led numerous expeditions on which valuable zoological specimens were collected for United States and British museums.

SMYTHE IS GIVEN $1,350 DAMAGES

Passenger Sues Driver of Car For Damages Following Accident.

SOUGHT $10,000.

(By Staff Reporter)

BELLEVILLE, March 5.—A passenger in a motor vehicle which figured in an accident resulting in the death of Charles D. Campbell, city engineer of Belleville, was yesterday in the Spring Assizes before Justice Logie, granted $1,350 damages from the deceased estate for injuries sustained.

The successful claimant was F. W. Smythe, sign-painter of Belleville and friend of the late Mr. Campbell. The claim was for $10,000, being btsed upon doctor's bills, pain and loss of business through the injuries.

The jury gave total damages to Smythe of $1,800 but they found him did not remonstrate with Campbell about the speed at which he was driving the car .

The fatal accident occurred on May 21, 1929 at 2.10 a.m. just east of Deseronto on a sharp bend in the road. Smythe stated that Campbell was driving at between 50 and 60 miles an hour. Provincial Constable Carey, who investigated the accident, said the car ran off the shoulder of the road for 118 feet, then struck a culvert, landing 27 feet away and came to a stop 19 feet further in the ditch.

Smythe said that he had often ridden with Campbell, whom he said was "a fast but safe driver." Dr. D. M. Galbraith, coroner, who visited the scene of the accident said that Smythe had said the accident was caused because "we were going too fast."

Defence counsel, C. A. Hughes of Toronto, argued that Smythe knew Campbell to be a fast driver and therefore rode with him at his own risk, and also he had failed to remonstrate about the speed.

DEFECTIVE CHIMNEY BLAMED.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., March 4 (Canadian Press). — Having completed a thorough inspection of the scene yesterday, Fire Chief Phillips said last night he was satisfied the fire, which broke out in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. Parr here late on Saturday night and resulted in the deaths of their three children, had been caused by a defective chimney, as the electric wiring had been found in good condition. He said he believed the children had been suffocated soon after the fire started, as it apparently originated in their bedroom.

The funeral of the victims will take place on Wednesday.

SIR GEORGE BADGEROW HONORED.

LONDON, March 4. (C.P.) — Sir George Badgerow, native of Toronto, now one of the greatest specialists in ear, nose and throat diseases in Great Britain, was invested a commander of the Victorian Order of His Majesty at the Royal investiture to-day.

The King chatted with Sir George for some minutes and took the opportunity to thank the Canadian for the attention he had given to the Duke of Connaught, former Governor-General of Canada.

Because empty milk cans on their trucks made too much noise, two drivers were arrested at Bristol, England, recently.

Lad Tells Police Pitiful Tale—Jealous Quarrels Before.

TORONTO, Ont., March 5. (Canadian Press).—Placing a length of insulated wire loosely around her throat in the cellar of her home here last night Mrs. Florence Stead, 28, pretended she was about to commit suicide in an effort to frighten the man with whom she had been living, but fate stepped in and she was striken and died on the spot.

She was found by her five-year-old son, who was sent down to the cellar by William Chew, with whom the woman had been living. Chew tried to revive the woman and then notified a physician who at first detected a slight repiration but no pulse or heart beat.

Chief Coroner Dr. M. M. Crawford was notified and several detectives assigned to the case, but it is understood, police are confident no foul play attributed to the woman's death. The body was removed to the morgue and a post mortem will be conducted in an effort to determine the precise cause of death.

The story of the woman's death as pieced together by police started when two women came into the house to look over furnished rooms in answer to a card in the window.

Chew and Mrs. Stead were showing the rooms to potential tenants. The former offered one of them a cigarette, which was accepted.

Became Jealous.

Seemingly aroused to jealousy by the attention Chew was paying to the two women, Mrs. Stead grasped her seven-months-old baby so tightly that he commenced to cry. Chew took the infant from her and she disappeared downstairs.

After the visitors had departed Chew looked for Mrs. Stead and learned that she had gone downstairs and sent the boy down to ask her to come up. She sent the lad back upstairs, however, and Chow again sent the boy down when he heard groans. The woman was found lying face downward in a pile of coal and ashes. She had, so far as Chew could see, strangled herself to death.

The boy told the police the first time he went down into the cellar his mother was sitting on a box.

Dr. J. Fleming Goodchild, who had attended the woman since she came here from Windsor nearly a year ago, said "she was a very neurotic patient as I noticed on several occasions. She was nervously strung, but I never noticed any heart weakness."

The mystery confronting the coroner on his arrival was the presence of wire about the woman's neck, and yet no marks of strangulation could be found. Later her face assumed a bluish-red tint, which suggested the possibility of an apoplectic fit.

It was learned on two occasions, at least, Mrs. Stead had in a fit of anger, pretended to commit suicide, the police stated.

After investigating the case fully, police late last night placed Chew under arrest, charging him with contributing to juvenile delinquency. The man is said to have a wife in Montreal. The woman left her husband two years ago.

MRS. DOROTHY WILSON

MOUNT PLEASANT, March 5.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The whole community was shocked with surprise on Wednesday afternoon, February 26, 1930, when the sad news came that Dorothy Paragreen, widow of the late Andrew Wilson, had suddenly passed away in Toronto after a brief illness.

Deceased was the second daughter of the late Mr. Stephen Paragreen and Mrs. Paragreen and was born in England thirty-one years ago, where she resided with her parents until seventeen years ago, when the family came to Canada and for the past number of years have resided at Mount Pleasant.

In November of 1928, deceased was married to the late Andrew Wilson whose death occurred in March, 1929. The late Mrs. Wilson was of a cheerful disposition and had made many warm friends, not only among the young people, but among the older people, who appreciate such courteous regard for them and her cheery greetings will be missed.

Heartfelt sympathy is extended to her sorrowing mother and sister, Mrs. George Wilson, the only surviving members of the family.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon from her late residence in Mount Pleasant. The service was conducted by Rev. J. Riddell.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Hubert Gardiner, Melville Handley, Gordon Ruth, William Kestle, Ira Lowes and Eric McLean.

Burial was beside her husband in St. John's cemetery.

Needless Pain!

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain.

Lots of suffering is, indeed, quite needless.

Headaches, for example. They come without warning, but one can always be prepared. Aspirin tablets bring prompt relief. Keep a bottle of them at the office. Carry the small tin in your pocket. Then you won't have to hunt a drugstore, or wait till you get home.

And do not think that Aspirin is only good for headaches, sore throats, and colds! Read the proven directions for relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic, and other aches and pains. Remembering, of course, that the quick comfort from these tablets is not a cure; for any continued pain, see a doctor.

Purchase genuine Aspirin. Protect yourself by looking for that name. Always the same. Always safe. Never hurts the heart.

Does this Modern Girl's Reasoning Appeal to You?

Life Savers, Limited.

Dear Sirs:

I presume the subject of unpleasant breath is pretty tiresome to you folks — but even though the advertising of mouth washes keeps up, there are still plenty of guilty people. And I believe this is why:

One doesn't carry a mouth wash with her — and no matter how strong a breath purifier may be, its effectiveness quickly wears off — and the likelihood of an offensive breath is always present.

Personally, I am terribly sensitive about it — for, as everyone knows, the guilty person is rarely aware of the offense. Just the other day, a girl friend and I were discussing it. She always carries a packet of Life Savers in her purse; I never thought they could become so indispensable to my every-day life. At any rate, I am safe from now on!

I find that Life Savers not alone overcome the slightest chance of bad breath, but soothe my throat and make my mouth feel cool and refreshed all the time — even after smoking! I think this thought would make a good ad: don't you?

Very truly yours,

LETTER OF APPRECIATION READ TO CHURCH PASTOR

Rev. J. H. Dudgeon Honored by Congregation Following Regular Service.

INVITATION EXTENDED

A pleasant feature which followed immediately after the Sunday morning's sermon in St. James' United church, was the reading of a letter of appreciation from the official board and a unanimous invitation to Rev. J. H. Dudgeon to remain their pastor during the ensuing year. E. R. Frost on behalf of the Official Board extended the kindly words of appreciation and the invitation which was most heartily endorsed by the entire congregation in a standing vote.

Rev. Mr. Dudgeon thanked his official board and congregation for their expression of trust and said that this morning would stand out in his memory as one of the brightest spots in his many years of service.

The letter which follows expresses only in a slight way the harmony existing between the pastor, the officials of the church and the large congregation, and the loyalty and devotion in which they hold him.

Letter to Rev. J. H. Dudgeon from his official board:

To Rev. J. H. Dudgeon, B. A., pastor of St. James' United Church.
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Mr. Dudgeon:

The first day of July, 1927 is a day to which we now look back with a great deal of pleasure and satisfaction for it was at that time that you, our congenial and ever-ready friend, leader and pastor came here to sojourn with us.

It did not take long to get acquainted and we soon felt like old friends for we were all deeply interested in a common cause. We were soon at work guided by our new found leader who was quick to sense the great work of our church and community and to see the need of a deeper interest therein.

Increased Attendance

Your pleasant manner, congenial spirit, and above all your ardent desire to win souls for the Kingdom soon manifested itself and results were apparent in the increased attendance at all our public services and the more active interest of the workers of the church. Your active work among those who did not attend regularly and many who had no church home, as well as your careful revision of our membership roll has aided us greatly in our work as well as increasing our members in good standing. Little personal touches here and there, although unnoticed by many of us, have brought forth their harvest and we are now reaping the benefit.

Having seen the need for a refreshing of the spiritual life of our church, you wisely secured the "Dibble Party" for special evangelistic services, which resulted in a great blessing to the entire community as well as to the city as a whole. As one direct result of those meetings we have our Bible Study Class which has done and is doing a great work in the community.

You have not only created a new interest in the affairs of our church but you have also shown a desire to honor your predecessors in office for the great work they accomplished and so we have the beautiful memorial window to Rev. Benjamin Greatrix which is largely due to your efforts.

The fact that our church now stands free of debt is due in no small measure to your untiring efforts and unrestrained enthusiasm.

Our Sunday night services have been interesting, attractive and inspiring due also to your splendid Junior Choir which is one of your innovations. Also our splendid summer services of last year stand out as an indication of what can be done when all are interested in the work.

In all the activities of our church you have done your best to make St. James the center of religious life in this community that it should be. Therefore, we, the Official Board of St. James' United Church wish to show by this letter of appreciation our heartfelt thanks for the keen interest and splendid leadership which you have constantly been giving during your pastorate here. We wish you to know that we do appreciate in no small measure the splendid service rendered by you and Mrs. Dudgeon since your coming among us.

Furthermore, we do unanimously invite your continuance of your pastorate among us for another year, and we hope and pray that God may abundantly bless you, your family and our church in the days that are to come.

Signed on behalf of the Official Board.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

$10,410,900 IS GIVEN TO HYDRO

Supplementary Estimates Are Tabled in Legislature By Hon. J. D. Monteith.

TOTAL $21,424,390.

TORONTO, Ont., March 5. (Canadian Press).—Supplementary estimates totalling $21,424,390 were tabled in the legislature yesterday by Hon. Dr. J. D. Monteith, Provincial Treasurer. They embraced every department of the government with practically one-half being set aside for hydro development in different parts of the province.

The hydro estimates totalled $10,410,900 and of this, $2,000,000 was needed, the treasurer said for development work at Chats Falls on the Ottawa river. The whole Niagara system called for expenditure of $7,260,000 above the regular estimates. The Georgian Bay system needed $300,000 extra and the St. Lawrence, Rideau, Ottawa and Madawaska systems the same amount. The Thunder Bay system estimates totalled $1,200,000, practically all of which was needed for the Alexander power development. The Nipissing system estimates totalled $50,000 and the Northern systems $1,300,000. The largest percentage of the latter figure was for development work on the Mississagi river.

These additional estimates meant that the government will go ahead in its plan of developing power sites in different parts of the province. Of these the Chats Falls site was considered the most important with the Carillon the Alexander and the Mississagi next.

Additional estimates for the Attorney-General's department totalled $163,050. Practically all of this was for the administration of justice in various parts of the province, salaries of jailers and other officials.

England has shortage of rural nurses.

22 HELD FOR BOMBING

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 5 (C.P.)—Twenty-two arrests have been made in connection with bombing of the principal hotel at Pirot, Jugoslavia, yesterday. Death of one of the thirteen wounded brought the number of those who lost their lives to two.

The Jugoslavian Minister in Sofia approached the Bulgarian Government and requested that measures be taken to suppress such outrages. It was believed the deed was in protest against a Bulgarian-Jugoslavian agreement.

INDUSTRIAL SITES.

In deciding to ask the ratepayers next January to approve a by-law authorizing the purchase by the city of sites suitable for factories, the Council is adopting a businesslike policy.

The community that has not an industrial area available when manufacturers are seeking a location is handicapped to a considerable degree, and in order to meet the competition of other centres which have had the foresight to provide themselves with a number of likely factory sites, it has become necessary for Peterborough to purchase suitable land in readiness for future applications.

Toronto has a large area available along its waterfront, and nearer home, Oshawa, where a by-law similar to that to be voted on here was passed last year, has twenty-four acres at its disposal.

An area of twenty acres was purchased last year, and already seven and a half acres has been taken up by a new industry, while at a meeting on Monday night the Oshawa Council decided to purchase another tract of land comprising eleven and one-half acres.

In dealing with new industries the Motor City will as a result have an obvious advantage over our authorities until the situation is adjusted by the creation of a local industrial area capable of taking care of a number of factories.

When the question comes before the people there should be no hesitation about giving the City Council the desired authority.

A SERIOUS SITUATION.

The situation in Middlesex and Lambton Counties as a result of the outbreak of hydrophobia there is serious enough to show that the appearance of the disease in this part of the Province calls for the exercise of every precaution and to stress the desirability of dog owners in the city and surrounding townships rigidly obeying the order as to the tieing up of their dogs until the danger is removed.

The attention of the Legislature was drawn to the conditions in Middlesex and Lambton last week by Fred. V. Laughton, the member for North Middlesex, who asked assistance for the farmers in those counties who are being quarantined by the Federal Government because of the presence of rabies on their farms.

These farmers have not only had their cattle destroyed, but are unable to sell other animals and fowl, and their loss is heavy.

And financial damage is not the most disturbing feature of the situation, when it is known that fifty persons in the district are under treatment to prevent the development of hydrophobia.

An outbreak of this nature is not a picnic; it menaces human life, threatens destruction of livestock, and inflicts heavy monetary loss when a strict quarantine becomes necessary.

In view of these certain consequences, the public should co-operate with the authorities in stamping out the disease in Peterborough and district.

A SWEEPING CHANGE.

Sweeping changes in the treatment of Canada's returned soldiers, that will make this country's provision for her veterans the most liberal in the world, are provided for in the legislation brought down in the House of Commons yesterday by Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions.

Briefly, the new plan aims at taking care of the burned-out war veteran who by reason of his war experience finds himself handicapped in the labor market.

Every ex-service man who saw active service at the front or who sustained pensionable disabilities as the result of service in England or Canada becomes eligible for a special pension when he reaches 60 years of age, or before that age, if he becomes unemployable, either directly or indirectly, because of war service, provided that if a married man he is not in receipt of an income amounting to $730 or if single his income is under $365 a year.

The maximum allowance in the case of a married man will be $40 a month, this to be subject to reduction by the amount the income he receives from other sources is in excess of $250 a year, while the maximum for single men will be $20 a month, less the amount his other income exceeds $125 a year.

Income from properyt, the assessed value of which is not more than $2,000, casual earnings or gifts which do not exceed $120 a year, and any war pension being paid on behalf of veteran's children is exempt is not to be considered as income under the new plan.

The legislation will make it possible to deal effectively with the many "problem" cases that the present pensions regulations have been unable to care for, and should go a long way toward ensuring a square deal for the men who fought and for their dependents.

THE PROVINCIAL BUDGET.

Outstanding in Hon. J. D. Monteith's Budget speech, delivered in the Legislature yesterday, were, of course, the announcement that the surplus or the fiscal year 1929 was $3,642,000, the largest in the history of the Province, and the Provincial Treasurer's statement that Ontario's borrowing power was never at a higher peak and that the debt retirement scheme would wipe out the current debt at the end of forty years.

Both revenue and expenditure last year were the highest on record, the revenue reaching the unprecedented total of $64,549,000, of which liquor profits amounted to $8,496,000, and the gasoline tax was responsible for practically the same amount.

It is interesting to note in this connection that the Provincial Treasurer expects a slight decrease in liquor profits during the present year, but, on the other hand, is counting upon the gasoline tax to pay into the treasury the sum of $11,500,000.

So long as the Government is able to balance its budget and show a surplus it would seem that the administration is satisfied and expects the people to show a similar reaction.

There is nothing to indicate the dawn of a period of retrenchment or any apparent relief from the burden of taxation.

True, Dr. Monteith claims that "the Government has not grown reckless and extravagant in the use of its money," and equally true, the people never tire of demanding new services from Queen's Park.

Yet when revenues are so buoyant prudence should dictate a policy of economy that would permit of a portion of the load of taxation being lifted from the municipalities and from the people in general.

Every available source of revenue is being tapped to bring in record revenues, and yet we are expected to rejoice because the expenditures do not exceed the total collected.

CANADIAN SEASONS.

This is the first day of March; already there have been warm days and early anticipations of spring. It is a pleasant time of year, when people begin to look forward longingly to the days of bright sunshine, to the beautiful spring flowers, the sweet-singing birds and all the other outdoor delights which make spring in Canada so enjoyable. The poets hail the season as the most welcome of the whole year, and most of us count the days as winter takes its departure. Yet, for young people especially, all seasons are pleasant. Who would be without the invigorating sports of winter—the skating, snow-shoeing, hockey games, etc.? No healthy boy or girl, surely. Canada has been greatly maligned on account of its cold climate, but we who live in southern Ontario, at any rate, have no reason to complain. There are people who seem to think it would be an ideal existence to reside in a country where the temperature was mild all the year round. But would it? Variety is the spice of life, it is said. The changing seasons bring their own special interest and enjoyment. How fortunate are we to have such varied opportunities for amusement and recreation, amid such glorious surroundings!

It is a wholesome thing, when we feel discontented, as all of us do at times, to consider the many things we have to be thankful for, and to compare our lot with those less fortunate. If one had free choice, what place could be suggested as being preferable to our own, for permanent residence? It is delightful to read about blue sea water and perpetually sunny skies, palm trees, sandy beaches and all the rest; but actual experience brings disillusionment. Those who have tried it tell of the loss of energy and the monotony of such existence. It is fascinating, too, to hear about life in tropical countries, with all its bright color and novelty. But the heat brings exhaustion and sometimes distressing illness and a yearning to get back to milder climates. Then there is the other extreme—the Arctic and sub-Arctic regions. No one would willingly move off to such places. In our own little corner of this great Dominion we have just what is needed for a healthy, happy, interesting life—vigorous winters, delightful springs, glorious summers and picturesque autumns. What more could be desired? We ought to be very grateful for our enviable lot.—Hamilton Spectator.

NO COUNTRY FOR A KU KLUX.

Whatever may have been the merits of the motive prompting a Ku Klux Klan demonstration in Oakville, there can be no compromise with a policy which leads a group of citizens to take the law into their own hands. Canada has all the machinery needed for proper and orderly government, and it takes its commands, directly or indirectly, from the people. When a cause is just, the people can be led to see it, and to have it promoted through the regular channels. There is no necessity for a section of the community to set itself up as an arbitrary tribunal acting as prosecutor and judge.

So far as known, the Ku Klux Klan has not made great progress in the Dominion. Where it exists its members may believe their objectives are worthy. If so, they will stand open discussion in daylight; they should not call for nocturnal visits and disguising costumes. The Klansmen would gain respect by putting their cards on the table and challenging opposition, but only as citizens applying citizenship privileges. There can be no respect for an organization going about the handling of public business in secret and through intimidation.

If the Ku Klux Klan can carry on, other organizations, with other motives, can adopt the same methods with equal freedom. This must be recognized by any body of broad-minded men. Chaos would then displace orderly government. The country would not be a fit one in which to live. Canadians do not want government by organized intimidation, such as characterizes some of the small republics of the American Continent.

It is regrettable that men of intelligence—such as many of the Klansmen are, presumably—would associate themselves with such a system for righting what they conceive to be wrongs. If they directed their energy toward law-making and law enforcement in an open and recognized way, they would be serving the country. By the Ku Klux Klan method they are countering the rule that the majority governs. They would be doing an infinitely better job by seeking to help the majority to govern properly and by building up respect for the established machinery.

The work the nocturnal visitors did at Oakville in separating a white girl from a colored man may be commendable in itself, and prove of benefit, but it is certain that the methods were wrong.—Toronto Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Ontario's surplus for the last fiscal year was the largest in the history of the Province. That should pave the way for substantial taxation reductions.

The new Saskatchewan Farmers' Political Association proposes to contest every riding in the Province in the next Federal election. The campaign in Saskatchewan should be one of the liveliest on record.

As the Globe puts it, British justice does not need the protection of the Klansman's mask.

British Columbia has joined the ranks of the Provinces that demand a 5c tax on gasoline. And the Coast Province goes further by levying a new tax on oil fuel.

This young Leigh Miller is a second Percy Williams. In the pair Canada would seem to possess the world's fastest sprinters.

The problem in the case of Primo Carnera is apparently getting opponents who have strength enough to stand up until the Italian giant gets a swing unlimbered.

The Canadian navy has started to reduce itself. The Thiepual, a mine sweeper, has been sunk off the British Columbia coast.

In the per capita consumption of electric power Canada stands second to Tasmania, but will achieve first place before long, says the Border Cities Star, unless folks remember to turn off the radio when they go to bed.

The usual warnings are being issued in regard to overloading trucks and automobiles during the next two months. And the usual destruction of Ontario's roads will go on just the same.

The annual commencement exercises of the Collegiate Institute were held in the Assembly Hall last evening before a crowded audience, composed of pupils and their parents. Roland Denne, chairman of the Board of Education, conducted the program in a faultless manner. Diplomas were presented by the principal of the school, H. R. H. Kenner.

To borrow $70,000 in order to provide for the utilizing of the surplus water power at the new water works dam was decided upon by the Committee of the Whole Council at a recent meeting and on Monday evening at the regular session of the council a by-law will be introduced authorising the sale of debentures for the sum mentioned above.

What To-day Means To You

"PISCES."

If March 5th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 9:50 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., and from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The influences for this date will tend to increase your self-assurance, and to give you the courage to "take the bull by the horns." Progress will be made slowly onward toward your desired goal. Exceptional happiness for those who are still enjoying their teens.

The child born on this March 5th will have a very easy going nature, and it will not fret if it cannot have its own way. It will be quiet, self-contained and proud. It will be very fond of out-of-doors activities.

A life of service is one which Fate has decreed for you, and one which you yourself choose. You are destined to bring help and comfort in more than one way to your fellow-creatures. There is a restlessness and uneasiness in your nature which inspires the desire to render assistance to others. If you are doing some one else a good turn, if you are easing their load—you are happy. There are few people who so seldom think of self as you do, or who grumble less. It is true, however, that in your unselfishness, you often burden your own back with a load which belongs elsewhere. Human parasites are ever ready to attach themselves to one of your make-up to sap a your physical, mental and nervous strength.

You have a strong, large-souled disposition—a blessing to you and to others. Trivial events sometimes quite upset you, but big difficulties draw out a power of resistance which must culminate in success. You are capable of handling large masses of people, and at some period of your life you should experience great publicity. Your success in life must come through personal merit, and not through hazard or chance. You will inspire deep love and tender devotion (Copyright 1930, by the Bell Syn., Inc.)

THE PRIME MINISTER'S EMPHATIC STATEMENT

To the Editor of The Examiner.
Dear Sir:

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson stated positively at Kemptville, "They can't beat me", and many people thought that he was merely putting up a big bluff to encourage his supporters. But not so. He knew exactly what he was talking about, and he had a very good reason for believing his statement to be correct.

He was fully aware from our experience in 1914, and again in 1926 that the great majority of Conservatives would simply vote for their party, the liquor men would vote for their business, and as independent thinking is a characteristic of Liberals, it was reasonably certain that the wet Liberals would leave their party, and vote for the L.C.A. The Prime Minister, therefore, did not require to strain his intellect greatly to conclude that he had behind him an irresistible combination, and that the counting of the ballots was merely a necessary legal gesture, a view which the subsequent event proved to be correct.

It must now be clear to all thinking people that until a statesman arises who has sufficient ability to handle the political situation in a way that will break up the present discreditable alliance this great, wealthy and influential province will continue to be ruled, so far as this one question is concerned, by a bunch of liquor dealers, their ideals will prevail, and the liquor business, which has been doubled in less than three years, will become a greater menace to the province that it has ever been before.

J. C. SMITH.

UNREST AND IRRELIGION.

Sir,—Unrest and irreligion with a conclusion, interpreted in a talk as between a Christian Missionary (C.M.) and a Christian Citizen (C.C.):

C.C.—"Sir, what did Christ mean when he said, 'I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unti me'? Surely in drawing near unto God, we must draw near unto each other. Conditions show that Christ has not yet been so lifted up, in either church or world. In past generations, habitual non-attendance at church services was disreputable, and affected but few. To-day, irregular attendance is fashionable, and includes many, even to office holders. To-day, great combines control business, the individual being considered chiefly as to what he will yield. Post-war expenditures for war are double pre-war."

C.M.—"These are signs of the latter days, when the faithful will be as the army of the Lord and of Gideon, obeying the command to 'Seek ye first the things which are of the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness, and these other things shall be added unto you.' Undoubtedly, Christ foretold His death on the cross and that such transcendant sacrifice, when understood, would have equally transcendant reciprocal effect in selflessness of personal lives and in co-operative commmunity life of His followers. Contact wth God would thus reveal the temporal church, in, but not of, the world."

C.C.—"Despair in the church's leadership as more savoring of the worldly fight for money, place, pomp, and power, raised up Bolshevism to stamp out religion, thereby confusing a lukewarm ecclesiasticism as the works of a faith in God and a negation of religion for worldly advantage. The Son of God, born with the humblest setting, surrounding Himself with the humblest people, occupied in worship and service, was an outcast, and crucified by the Church. 'The first shall be last and the last first.'"

C.M.—"With undivided allegiance to God, Christ was respectful to the Church. It had served its day and generation. Would that Christ's followers were fearlessly fired with zeal and enthusiasm to bring Christ's Kingdom as well as preach it. This age demands realism with the profession. The religion of Jesus must dominate everything, or be submerged before a rising tide of materialism. To very many, the economic battle so engrosses their lives as to make religion but platitude."

C.C.—"Has the Church the virility to fulfill her mission? If we cannot bring heaven here, we are not fitted for a heavenly hereafter. The common people, the ordinary business man, the small investor, finds in business much self-interest, but little religion. Thus is religion being stultified. Self interest was a secondary inspiration only, to many in the Great War, who fought and died to usher in a reign of peace. Men as these can be led towards establishment of a Christian economic system. Why preach brotherhood and continue a system of exchange which is of the jungle, making of life to many, a sacrifice to the god Moloch, rather than a paean to the God of Love. The sacrifices of multitudes bought their self-respect, and therewith a demand for equal sincerity and consistency from particularly the Christian leaders."

C.M.—"Religion in practice must unfold with the evolutionary advance of science and invention, or be submerged thereby. Money as basis of exchange is unnecessary to civilization. The system is breaking down. Millions are always workless, and millions more produce nothing, but have more than the workers. Crime is rampant, yet the masses have shown their devotion to duty, service and sacrifice. After nineteen hundred years of preaching, what more is needed to effect a social system which would bring brotherhood to man, and faith in God. If none will take advantage of a brother, then set all within reasonable ages to constructive work. All such work is essential, and would include production, fabrication, economical distribution and education, as recognized in the fields of religion, art, science, invention, and general. In payment, make an equitable distribution of everything to workers and dependents. As a first step, broaden Government banks everywhere, and finally control all finance."

C.C.—"Sir, would that Christian leaders, clerical and lay, could realize life as the great business, instead of business as being life. Christ fed the people in body and in soul. If the Church cannot give the same leadership, it is not of Christ, and will be, and is being, superseded. The foundation of the true Church is Christ, and the white lives of men and women are the only superstructure. Without this, the three-fold ministry and an ancient and beautiful liturgy avail nothing. For six days wages the battle of business, and strives to gain the seventh. Naturally the soul is too weary for worship, and is driven to the other extreme of pleasure and jazz. What you have outlined would make a Christian commonwealth, and the only complement of Christian preaching. The Church cannot ignore the economic situation, 'Give peace in our time, O Lord.'"

Yours faithfully,
JOSEPH S. BELL.

"PREPARATORY ATTITUDES."
Ash Wednesday.
"The Quiet Place."

SCRIPTURE:

Memory Verse: "Then was Jesus led up of the spirit into the wilderness" (Matthew 4-1).

Read: Matthew 4:1-11.

MEDITATION:

We begin to-day our annual observance of the six weeks which Jesus spent in the wilderness. It has been called the period of temptation. But it was more than that; it was a period of preparation—a time of concentrated thought and calm meditation. Never were quiet hours more needed than they are to-day. "Whirl is king," is truer than when Aristophanes uttered the words. Our minds have been likened to a railway waiting room where people bound hither and thither are assembled. It is hard for our distracted minds to attain unity of purpose and to select a destination. There is an old Russian custom according to which a person before starting on a journey sat down and spent half a minute in silence. We need daily quiet times that we may reduce life to order and reflect on whither we are going.

PRAYER:

Eternal God, who dost reveal Thyself to those who earnestly seek Thee, let our hearts be still that we may hear thee speak and may discern Thy wise and holy counsel for our lives this day. Amen.

THE GREENE MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

CHAPTER 18.

"Why do you think Rex remained in bed silent, and pretended to every one he was asleep when he heard the shot fired at you?" Markham attempted to suppress the keen interest Ada's information had aroused in him.

"That's what I don't understand. He wouldn't tell me. But he had some reason—I know he did!—some reason that terrified him. I begged him to tell me, but the only explanation he gave was that the shot was not all he heard * * *"

"Not all!" Markham spoke with ill concealed excitement. "He heard something else that, you say, terrified him? But why shouldn't he have told us about it?"

"That's the strange part of it. He got angry when I asked him. But there's something he knows—some awful secret; I feel sure of it. * * * Oh, maybe I shouldn't have told you. Maybe it will get Rex into trouble. But I felt that you ought to know because of the frightful things that have happened. I thought perhaps you could talk to Rex and make him tell you what's on his mind."

Again Ada looked beseechingly at Markham and there was the anxiety of a vague fear in her eyes.

"Oh, I do wish you'd ask him—an try to find out," she went on, in a pleading tone. "I'd feel—safer if—if * * *"

Markham nodded and patted her hand.

"We'll try to make him talk."

"But don't try at the house," she said quickly. "There are people—things—around; and Rex would be too frightened. Ask him to come here, Mr. Markham. Get him away from that awful place, where he can talk without being afraid that some one's listening. Rex is home now. Ask him to come here. Tell him I'm here, too. Maybe I can help you reason with him. * * * Oh, do this for me, Mr. Markham!"

Markham glanced at the clock and ran his eye over his appointment pad. He was, I knew, as anxious as Ada to have Rex on the carpet for a questioning; and, after a momentary hesitation, he picked up the telephone receiver and had Swacker put him through to the Greene mansion.

From what I heard of the conversation that ensued, it was plain that he experienced considerable difficulty in urging Rex to come to the office, for he had to resort to a veiled threat of summary legal action before he finally succeeded.

"He evidently fears some trap," commented Markham thoughtfully, replacing the receiver. "But he has promised to get dressed immediately and come."

A look of relief passed over the girl's face.

"There's one other thing I ought to tell you," she said hurriedly; "though it may not mean anything. The other night in the rear of the lower hall by the stairs, I picked up a piece of paper-like a leaf torn from a note-book. And there was a drawing on it of all our bedrooms upstairs with four little crosses marked in ink—one at Julia's room, one at Chester's, one at Rex's, and one at mine. And down in the corner were several of the queerest signs or pictures. One was a heart with three nails in it; and one looked like a parrot. Then there was a picture of what seemed to be three little stones with a line under them. * * *"

Heath suddenly jerked himself forward, his cigar halfway to his lips.

"A parrot, and three stones! * * * And say, Miss Greene, was there an arrow with numbers on it?"

"Yes!" she answered eagerly. "That was there, too."

Heath put his cigar in his mouth and chewed on it with vicious satisfaction.

"That means something, Mr. Markham," he proclaimed, trying to keep the agitation out of his voice. "Those are all symbols—graphic signs, they're called—of Continental crooks, German or Austrian mostly."

"The stones, I happen to know," put in Vance, "represent the idea of the martyrdom of Saint Stephen, who was stoned to death. They're the emblem of Saint Stephen, according to the calendar of the Styrian peasantry."

TUESDAY'S GAINS ARE WIPED OUT

Bearish Feeling at Chicago Reflected on Canadian Market.

LITTLE EXPORT BUSINESS.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 5 (C.P.)—Wheat values lost the gains secured yesterday when the Winnipeg market opened lower to-day on weaker cables from Liverpool. Losses of 1¼ cents to 1⅞ cents occurred as trading got underway.

The May future eased 1⅜c to 1¾c at $1.12 to $1.11⅝; July 1¼c to 1⅞c at $1.14 to $1.13½, and October was ⅝c to 1¼c lower than yesterday's close at $1.14 to $1.13¾.

The Liverpool market was easier causing a bearish feeling at Chicago which was reflected here.

Prices moved gradually lower near the end of the first hour until quotations were two cents below yesterday's close. A little support entered the pit when commission houses made some purchases and this brought the sliding values back slightly. At 11 o'clock prices slipped once more to the low marks which were 1¾c below the previous close.

October wheat was two cents down at $1.13⅝; May 1¾c lower at $1.11⅝, and July 1;c lower at $1.13⅝.

Very little export business was accomplished last night, and there were no indications of foreign demand today.

NORANDA ACTIVE ON MINE MARKET

Price Changes Confined to Few Points in Dull Trading Session.

LINDSLEYS STRONGER.

TORONTO, Ont., March 5, (C.P.)—Strength in Internationsl Nickel and Noranda, which were fractionally above last night's close, gave a fairly bright aspect to the mining list during the early session to-day. Price changes were indefinite and confinedto a few points, however, and trading continued at a much reduced rate.

The Lindsleys stocks, which have been under pressure for several weeks, were somewhat stronger as a group, Falconbridge, Ventures and Sherritt Gordon moving up 5 each on light demand, while Sudbury Basin advanced 15 to $3.25 about noon.

Vipond easing 21 each, and the majority of the class remaining unchanged. Howey and Wright-Hargreaves were up a point at noon, and Hollinger and Teck Hughes gained 5 each.

The general list was relatively quiet, Barry Hollinger remaining firm at 23½ Amulet gaining 7 and Mandy 2. Pend Oreille dropped another 10 to $3.05 and Abana was off 2 to $1.14.

Lowery Pete registered a small advance of 5 to $2.15 following announcement of official results on the test of the well recently brought in. Home Oil was up 10, Alberta 9, Mayland 15 and Associated unchanged.

LIST RECOVERS AT NEW YORK

Fifty or More Issues Marked Up to New High Levels for the Year.

TRADING MODERATE.

By Stanley W. Prenosil (Associated Press Financial Editor.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 5.—The recovery in stock prices assumed rather impressive proportion in to-day's stock market despite the collapse in a recent pool specialty. Fifty or more issues were marked up to new high levels for the year, with gains of 1 to 5 points quite common, and a few high priced issues marked up 6 to 15 points. Trading was moderately heavy in volume.

Woolworth reported February sales slightly in excess of the same month last year, and the new J. C. Penney stock was put on a $5 annual basis, which is equivalent to $9 on the old stock which paid $7 a share. Glen Alden coal reduced the annual dividend from $10 to $8, and an initial quarterly payment of $1.50 was made on Tri-Continental Corporation cumulative preferred.

J. I. Case was again a spectacular feature, soaring 14¾ points to 279¾; after having sold down to 260 in the early trading. New York and Harlem, which sold as low as 180 this year, was marked up 12 points to 307. National Biscuit (old stock) jumped 8½ points to 220, and Worthington pump 7½into 92½ both new highs.

SMOKE BY-LAW BEFORE COUNCIL

Lindsay Town Council Gives New By-law Two Readings.

CONTROL NUISANCE.

LINDSAY, March 5—A smoke nuisance by-law was introduced and given two readings by the Town Council at its regular meeting Monday night. It was then agreed to allow it to stand over for a time before giving it a third reading.

This by-law, introduced by Deputy Reeve O'Reilly, is the standard on which is in force in a number of towns and cities at the present time. It provides that no person shall so operate a furnace or other fire so as to emit opaque black smoke for a longer period than six minutes in an hour.

Deputy Reeve O'Reilly said that there was no intent to be hard on anybody and that the by-law was a standard one in the interests of health and cleanliness.

Mayor Stewart stated that the idea was to have some regulation which would give the Council control of the situation and not merely to go and make things unpleasant for anyone operating a furnace.

It was agreed to give the by-law two readings and let it stand over for the present without further discussion.

debris brought down the flooded river.

Due to an almost complete lack of communications only a faint idea of the magnitude of the flood and its destruction was obtainable. It was said, however, that hundreds of square miles about Toulouse were inundated, with a tremendous property damage in addition to loss of life.

Property damage amounted to nearly 1,000,000,000 francs (about $1,400,000).

From Carcassonne came a report that the villages of Lastours, Citou, Lespinassiere and Cabrespine were ravaged and a number of persons drowned.

In one town a cemetery was washed away, the coffins joining other debris in the flood.

CORPORATIONS ON OUTLOOK FOR NEW LINES OF MANUFACTURE

Increase in Sales Volume With Consequent Increase in Profit Object of Companies.

SPECULATORS CANNY.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 5 (Special to Examiner.)—Corporations are on the outlook for new lines to add to those already manufactured, in this way hoping to increase sales volume with a consequent increase in profit. Some are going to extremes as instanced by one American piano manufacturer who has gone in for the manufacture of outboard motors. Canadian companies are quite active in adding to their products and new merchandise under old trade names is appearing daily. One distillery expects to go into the chemical business in a large way and thus make up for the possible loss of export business to the United States, while one other is producing attractive paper cartons to replace tin containers and to date the new packages have received a good reception from the trade. Research work is being carried out which will diversify products and permit of marketing without additional cost.

Want Dividend Stocks.

Canadian brokers report their clients are exercising utmost care in the stocks they choose for investment of surplus funds dividend and interest disbursements of over $21,000,000 at the first of the month, resulted in increased enquiries for well seasoned dividend paying securities and this demand is for the high class stocks with long and consistent dividend records.

Income returns is looked for but the mistake is not being made of purchasing stocks just because the yield is exceptionally high. Financial statements for year past are being looked over to disclose any weakness and the average invester is satisfied with a return of around 5 per cent on his money if the security offers safety of principal and some promise appreciating in value over a period of years.

Utilities Strengthened.

The shares of International Utilities have strengthened on the Toronto Stock Exchange following the unofficial report the corporation has sold the Kentucky Coach Company to the Insull interests on very attractive terms. There is also the question of earnings which have shown consistent growth over a period of years and in 1929 are expected to be well in advance of other years. In well informed quarters of approximately $6 on the class a stock is looked for compared with $4.03 in 1928 and dividend requirement of $3.50 a share.

Both the Toronto and Montreal exchanges have ruled that the rate to be charged the public on margin accounts for March is 7 per cent against 7½ since April 1929. This follows notification by the Canadian banks of a reduction from 6½ to 6 per cent in the bank rate as of March 1 and brings to an end the period of slightly higher money that prevailed for almost a year. The announcement has had no effect whatever on the market for the simple reason it noncerns speculators and not investors and the speculative interest has been at a standstill for months.

Stocks may not be necessarily lead to the conclusion that the market has anything to offer for the trader or that having fortified itself the market is prepared to make a strong advance. Most brokers are advising clients to pick up the good stocks on favorable buying opportunities but to exercise caution. In fact the technlial position stocks is even better than the statistical position of the trade just now. Even financing reports on such companies as International Nickel and Noranda meet but mild response market wise. The market is both sluggish and weary and it will take the concerted action of a number of the leaders to invigorate it and dispel the feeling of lethargy.

BIG WINTER SALE REACHES CLIMAX

Grafton Company Store is Putting On Some Real Bargains This Week.

BIG REDUCTIONS.

The Grafton midwinter sale of surplus stock has reached its climax, and ends this week. The big cut of one-third off the price of all men's and boys' overcoats, was eagerly taken advantage of by large numbers of men, young men and mothers of boys. This rare opportunity has now dwindled down to a final two days, which ends this great winter sale, and closes the winter season at the big double store. In addition to the overcoat special all other winter lines in the store are affected by the general sale reductions, and buying any clothing needs or men or boys at Grafton's sale, is practicing real economy. What they wish to emphasize at this time is the fact that the sale ends on Saturday

1,184 Fires During Month of January

The Ontario Fire Marshal's fire report for January, recently issued, places the total number of fires for that month at 1,184, a decrease of two fires over the corresponding period in 1929. The loss occasioned amounted to $1,198,696 compared with $1,822,151 in January, 1929.

Dwelling fires contributed the largest number, whilst stores came second, with factories and stores third and fourth respectively.

Four fires of serious proportions are recorded, the largest being the Mann Mansion at Scarboro, with an estimated loss of $175,000; Brown's Flour Mill, Norval, loss $85,000; Thornton, Smith and Company, Toronto, loss $44,126, and the Stores, Dunnville, loss $36,336.

Decided Setbacks On Chicago Wheat Market

CHICAGO, Ill., March 5. (C.P.)—Wheat underwent decided setbacks in price early to-day owing a good deal, to relative weakness of the Liverpool market. Besides Congressman Haugen, chairman of the house committee on agriculture, was reported as saying there was no chance congress would pass a bill at this session appropriating $25,000,000 to buy wheat for famine relief in China. Opening ½ A 1 3-8 down, Chicago wheat futures showed additional declines later. Corn and oats were also easy, with corn starting unchanged to 3-8 off and afterward sagging more.

LIBERAL PRESS PICKS HOLES IN BALDWIN'S PLAN

Guardian Claims Scheme Does Not Bring Food Taxes Very Close.

TORY PAPERS ENTHUSIASTIC

Imperial Trade Lifted From Ruts—A Master Stroke Says Yorkshire Post.

LONDON, March 5. (C.P.) — The Conservative newspapers hail the declaration of Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin yesterday—that a Conservative government would call for a referendum on the question of food taxes—as a master stroke. But Liberal newspapers are inclined to pick holes in the program.

"Baldwin has devised a dodge with which he hopes to buy off the two newspaper highwaymen who have held him up as he ambled along the political road," declared the Manchester Guardian. "For a referendum as a normal pact of the constitutional machinery, not a little may be said, but that is a very different matter from its sudden invention by a harassed party leader to relieve him of a particular embarrassment."

Form not Clear.

"It is not quite clear what form it would take. If Mr. Baldwin proposed to send post cards to Mr. Jones and Mrs. and Miss Brown, asking whether they would like taxes on food they will reply in the negative just as certainly as they would at a general election. If the referendum is on a detailed and complex fiscal law worked out by an imperial conference the electorate is quite clearly an unsuitable body to judge its merits."

"The Baldwin plan does not bring food taxes very close," the Guardian says, adding that Lord Beaverbrook, who has no personal grudge against Mr. Baldwin, prefers to interpret the Conservative leader's plan as a surrender at discretion.

The Conservative Yorkshire Post describes Mr. Baldwin's plan as a master-stroke lifting the whole question of Imperial trade out of the muddy ruts in which it appeared to be laboring. On the matter of a heferendum, the Post admits this would no doubt be something of a novelty in Britain's constitutional practice, "but it has become more and more obvious that economic issues must somehow be removed from the strife of parties" The Post says.

Policy Adopted

Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail today says Mr. Baldwin has 'definitely adopted the policy of the United Empire Party. But there are observers who remember that outside of the fiscal year question, the new party called also for alteration in the Conservative policy regarding the Palestine mandate, Indian Administration and reform of the House of Lords. On these matters Mr. Baldwin was silent yesterday. So too is the Daily Mail to-day.

The Daily Telegraph rejoices that the Conservatives have now not only a fighting policy but a practical policy. "Britain can offer the Dominions real advantages of a secure market for their primary products, and it is reasonable to suppose they in turn are ready to discuss reciprocal trade arrangements for freer admission of British manufacturers" the Telegraph says.

Like other papers the Telegraph professes a lukewarm enthusiasm for the referendum but thinks the present great constitutional issue one of the few cases in which it would be justified.

Bloodless Victory.

The Liberal Daily News declares Mr. Baldwin scored a bloodless victory without even putting out his tongue. "The United Empire party is as dead as a leg of Empire mutton" it says. "Its candidates and the sixpences and shillings of the little crusaders will probably accompany Lord Beaverbrook and Lord Rothermere back under the old umbrella now firmly held aloft by Mr. Baldwin who had rubbed out the faint label, 'Empire Free Trade,' and substituted the simple word 'Protection'."

The Times finds it difficult to visualize an Imperial conference debating plans and taking decisions which would necessarily be hypothetical until ratified by a popular vote. It suggests it would be wiser to substitute other less formal and more flexible means of negotiations. Nevertheless, Mr. Baldwin's main argument is sound and sure, the Times says. "He has given decent burial to a rival organization that has done little to merit such rites — an organization with neither roots to sustain it nor good sense to commend it, and among some of its converts, without even good faith to excuse it," the Times says.

CITY COUNCIL SEEKS TO HAVE RIVER ROAD IN DOURO IMPROVED

Resolution Seeking Action Will Be Sent to Several Municipalities.

BEAUTIFUL DRIVE.

A resolution seeking action on the part of the Townships of Douro, Smith, Burleigh, and Chandos, the village of Lakefield, and the County Council of Peterborough with regard to the improvement of the River Road from Peterborough to Lakefield was adopted by the City Council on Monday night. In the resolution it is asked that the municipalities interested vote money towards the improvement and seek aid from the County Council, the Suburban Areas Commission, the Department of Railways and Canals, and the Department of Public Highways.

"Whereas it is the intention of the aldermanic board for the City of Peterborough to pave at an early date the bus route in East City to the corner of Armour Road and Smith Street;

"And whereas one of Peterborough's important industries (The Canadian Woollens, Ltd.) and one of Peterborough's beauty spots (The Peterborough Golf and County Club's property) are situated on the River Road, a continuation of Armour Road;

"And whereas this road provides the east, in the Township of Douro, touching the edge of an eight-mile stretch of the Otonabee River and Trent Valley Canal, and provides access to the several dams, locks, power plants, and lockmasters' houses along the said stream;

"And whereas this road runs through a good agricultural district and provides access to and from a great many farms;

"And whereas this road provdes the shortest route to Lakefield, Young's Point, South Beach, Burleigh Falls, and Apsley;

"And whereas a great many tourists are attracted to this district, viz., the Kawartha Lakes district, where fish and game abound;

"And whereas this road would make a beautiful summer drive, as it is level, good bottom for road building, and would also make a good winter road as it is sheltered from drifting snow by the river;

"And whereas this road is now, and has been for a number of years, in a very bad state of repairs.

"Therefore be it resolved, that the several municipalities interested be asked to vote an amount towards the improvement of this road, and that the said municipalities so interested appoint a representative from each to wait on the County Council, the Suburban Areas Commission and the Department of Public Highways of the Ontario Government, and the Department of Railways and Canals of the Dominion Government with the object of soliciting grants towards making this drive worthy of the district and the importance of the route.

"That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Township Councils of Douro, Lakefield, Smith, Burleigh, and Chandos, also the Peterborough County Council, the Suburban Areas Commission, the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce and Trent Valley Development Association, the Department of Highways in the Ontario Government and the Department of Railways and Canals in the Dominion Government."

MAN'S BODY FOUND TORN AND MANGLED

Emil Bourget, of Resolution, is hurrying to the police camp.

Life Of Adventure.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 5 (C.P.).—"A short life, crowded with reckless adventure and colorful romance, has ended in the death of Dr. Kurt Faber," stated Dr. Kurt Martin, German Consul at Winnipeg. He referred to the tragic demise of a well-known German writer, whose body—mangled by northern wolves—was found beyond the upper boundary of Alberta.

From South Africa to Alaska Faber has roamed in his eventful life of some 40-odd years, according to the account of Dr. Martin, who has encountered the Berlin writer in Canada, South America and South Africa. Canoeing, walking, travelling by any mode presenting itself, Faber has circled the globe time and again Dr. Mratin went on.

Went To See Friends.

He started his latest adventure—and his last—because he wanted once more to see the barren lands of North-West Canada and once more be with the friendly peoples of that country, Dr. Martin contended. "His first introduction to the northland came when he ran away in Alaska with a tribe of Eskimos and came south along the Mackenzie River to Canada's provinces.

"How did he happen in Alaska—and only a boy?"

Dr. Martin, answering: "That Faber, always restless, he had run away from his home in Germany when just a boy and came to the United States. Like a tramp, he idled his way across the continent, reaching the wharves of San Francisco. Then he was shanghaied on a whaler, whose captain kept him as a workman when the ship docked in Alaska—that's how he came to know the Eskimos.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 5. (C.P.)—Foreign exchange steady; demand rates (Great Britain in dollars; others in cents): Great Britain 4.85 5-8; Canadian dollars at 15-32 per cent discount.

HOCKEY PLAYER GOES ON TRIAL

BELLEVILLE, Ont., March 5 (By Staff Reporter). — Very significant evidence that liquor was consumed by the occupants of the car driven by Fred Ingram, of Campbellford, defence star of the Stirling hockey team, on the afternoon of November 7, 1929, when on the Foxboro highway, seven miles north of here, he crashed into a buggy and killed Albert Tearne.

In the trial of Ingram on a charge of manslaughter in the Spring Assizes of the Supreme Court before Hon. Justice Logie here this morning, a Provincial Constable and a Highway Traffic Officer swore to having found beer bottles, full and empty beneath the Ingram car as it lay upturned in the ditch. J. Sharp, who drove the buggy, also said he picked up bottles from under the car. The accused, while lying in hospital the day following the fatality made a statement to Provincial Constable Hammer that he had not purchased beer on November 7 and had merely drank some home brew early in the morning before leaving Campbellford, although the constable produced a requisition from the local liquor store, which showed that Ingram had purchased a case of beer. Dr. S. R. McCreary, who had examined the accused on the evening of the accident, declared that Ingram was not under the influence of liquor and showed no signs of having been drinking.

Fred Ingram was arraigned this morning on the manslaughter charge under two counts: (1) That he, on November 7, did unlawfully kill one Alfred Tearne. (2) That he by an unlawful act or neglecting to do some act did cause grievous bodily injury to one Alfred Tearne.

Standing in the prisoner's box with his counsel, C. A. Payne, by his side, Ingram in a firm voice pleaded "not guilty," and said he was ready to stand trial. The prisoner exhausted his Challenges of jurors.

All Challenges Exhausted

A panel of 36 jurors was exhausted with only nine having been accepted for the trial jury. Before the jury was completed the prosecution had also exhausted its challenges.

Before the start of the case, Mr. Payne asked that Ingram be tried on only one count, but Justice Logie ruled that the two be tried together.

C. S. Cameron, of Owen Sound, prosecutor, in addressing the jury said, "This is one of those unfortunate motor accident cases." The accused with his brother and two young ladies were driving in an automobile on the Foxboro Provincial highway and they struck a buggy containing John Sharp and Albert Tearne, two laborers. The highway is wide at this point.

"The car," said the prosecutor, "came right across the road and struck the buggy, proceeded on a few feet and turned completely over in the ditch. Albert Tearne, a married man with two children, died of his injuries on the way to the hospital.

Found in the Ingram car were beer bottles, and Mr. Cameron said, evidence would be produced showing that Fred Ingram had purchased a carton of beer that same day.

65 Feet Wide

Walter Evans, Road Engineer, first witness for the prosecution, produced a map of the road which showed that its width was 65 feet and there was a clear view. The road was straight for about five hundred feet on either side of the accident and there was very little grade.

Cross examined, Mr. Evans said the travelled portion of the road was from 22 to 24 feet wide.

John Sharpe, laborer, said he lived on the highway one mile south of Foxboro. He in company with Albert Tearne, with a horse and buggy, had left the gravel pit at March Hill at 5.30 p.m. Witness said Tearne lit the acetylene lamp, which was produced in court, and placed it on the left side of the buggy. As he drove along he kept the right wheels of the buggy on the shoulder of the road. He overtook Ernest Gifferen about one quarter of a mile from the scene of the accident. He saw a car approaching when about 50 or 60 rods away. The auto came along to within about 120 feet, and then "cut across the road at my buggy."

"I tried to get out of his road," said the witness. "I pulled the horse into the ditch. The car struck the buggy near the front wheel."

"What happened to Mr. Tearne?"

"He was knocked into the ditch. I saw blood on his face, and I put his head on my lap. I stayed with him until they took him away. I spoke to him three or four times but he did not say anything," said Sharpe.

Saw Empty Beer Bottles.

"I didn't speak with anyone in the car but saw two empty beer bottles under the car. I picked up a full one and gave it to Provincial Constable Hammer."

There was laughter in the court room, and Justice Logie severely reprimanded the audience—"This is not funny. It is most serious. A man has been killed, and liquor was found beneath the wrecked car."

Cross-examined, E. Sharpe said the car's passengers seemed to be all right and he could not tell whether they had been drinking or not. He could not estimate the speed at which the car was approaching.

Asked by the judge about the kind of a night it was, witness said "It was a nice night, a little cloudy, the moon had just gone beneath a cloud when the accident happened."

Dr. S. R. McCreary, Belleville, who performed the post mortem on Tearne's body, said death was due to skull fractures. He also saw the accused that evening and observed no signs of intoxication or of his being under the influence of liquor.

Questioned by the Judge, the doctor said: "Had he been drinking he might have sobered as a result of the shock and excitement of the accident."

Car And Buggy In Ditch.

Provincial Constable H. T. Hammer, the next witness for the prosecution, when summoned to the scene of the accident, found both car and buggy in the ditch. John Sharpe had handed him a full bottle of beer and an empty one.

Following observations made at the scene of the accident, the officer went to Dr. Robertson's office at Belleville, and there interviewed Fred Ingram, his brother, Robert, and Nora and Thelma Nadoo. They told him that Fred Ingram was the driver of the car. The doctor said that Fred Ingram was in a shaken condition and he therefore did not bother about asking him further questions.

Later he saw Fred Ingram about three o'clock in the afternoon of the next day, and was given a statement by him concerning the accident. In this statement it said that except for two bottles of home brew in the morning at Campbellford, the accused had drunk no liquor. Ingram, in the statement, said he had bought no liquor in Belleville.

A small drinking glass was produced in court, which witness said he had found where the Ingram car had upset. He found also another empty beer bottle. In the car at the Foxboro garage he found a beer top. He also learned from the Liquor Control Board store at Belleville that Fred Ingram had purchased a carton of beer on November 7, the day of the accident. Later he was handed parts of a beer carton found in the car, making in all six empty and five full bottles.

W. O. Frink, highway traffic officer, who investigated the scene of the accident, was next called. He also saw the carton containing empty and full bottles of beer in the farmyard adjacent to the scene of the accident. This concluded the morning session, and the hearing was resumed at 2.15 this afternoon.

"Not a Single Ache or Pain," Says Mr. Cates at 80

Thanks Bon-Tone for Restoring His Health

MR. W. A. CATES.

Mr. W. A. Cates, 616 Parliament St., Toronto, is very well known, being a retired bricklayer and mason, and has operated a greenhouse for the past fifty years. In a recent interview with Mr. Sweet, the Bon-Tone man, Mr. Cates stated: "Due to a disordered condition and inflammation of the stomach I have been in a general run-down condition for several years. I was gradually losing all my ambition and strength and could only walk a couple of blocks and would then have to sit down and rest. As a matter of fact I felt tired all the time. I have always been fond of flowers and plant life, and for the past 50 years have operated a green house which gave me much pleasure. However of late I became so run down and weak I could work only a few minutes at a time and then have to sit down and rest. I had no desire for food, and the only thing I cared to do was sleep, and was becoming very discouraged. I read of a party who had practically the same symptoms as mine and who was benefitted by this Bon-Tone, so decided to try it and the very first bottle helped me a lot, and now after using several bottles of this remedy I haven't a single ache or pain and feel just fine. I have regained my strength and my stomach is in good condition, liver is normal and I once again enjoy taking long walks and can care for my plants and flowers as I used to. I will never tire of telling of the splendid results I obtained from the use of this great herbal preparation."

Start the Bon-Tone treatment today. Call or write to Bond's drug store, Peterborough, Ont., for more information about this great medicine, and ask for the free booklet, THE ROAD TO SUCCESS.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

JAMES RYAN IS NEW PRESIDENT

Encouraging Reports Read at Annual Meeting of Tweed Board of Trade.

MUCH GOOD WORK

(Examiner Correspondence)

TWEED, March 5.—James Ryan was elected president of the Tweed Board of Trade at annual meeting held recently, when reports given showed that much progress was made during the past year.

F. Hindle, secretary, presented his report showing that considerable improvement had been made in the appearance of the equipment of same. The grounds are now properly lighted and supplied with benches. Owing to complaints regarding behavior and the improper use of the property in a park, a supervisor was appointed.

A red granite gateway has been erected to the beauty of which the Horticultural Society has added by planting shrubs and flowers around it. All the buildings have been painted and a fine pavilion was completed last year, the basement of which serves as a boathouse. The upper part of the building is being fitted with dressing rooms, dance floor and promenade. The official opening of the park and pavilion took place on September 11, 1929, the opening ceremony being performed by the Hon. G. S. Henry, assisted by W. E. Tummon, M.P.P., J. F. Hall, M.P.P., S. B. Rollins, Reeve J. H. Stokes, Reeve of Hungerford, with W. S. Gordon, president of the Board of Trade, acting as chairman. A regatta was held at the conclusion of the speeches.

On Armistice Day the pavilion was the centre of attraction, when the service was attended by more than seven hundred people and forty veterans paraded to the service, conducted by the Corps of the town and assisted by a choir drawn from the different churches.

The camp ground and kitchen were made good use of, 705 parties being held, compared with 416 during the previous year.

On motion Mr. Hindle's report was adopted and the treasurer, A. Yule then gave his report. At the beginning of the year the balance in the bank was $19.72 and during the year receipts amounted to $848.72 making a total of $868.46. Expenditures during the year amounted to $746.90, leaving a balance on hand of $121.56.

Mr. Gordon, congratulated the Board on the very successful manner in which all the work in connection with the Board had been undertaken and carried out. Mr. Gordon said he has been president for three years and thought someone else ought to take hold. Although the work will now pass into the hands of a Municipal Commission, Mr. Gordon said there was no need for the Board to ease its efforts and could be of great help to the commission. The council now owns considerable property which could be gradually developed and he a vision of what the shore line up to the river would look like if properly developed.

The speaker took this opportunity of thanking the Board for its support during his term as president. Mr. Gordon refused to preside for another year and Mr. Ryan was chosen president. Mr. Ryan thanked the members for the honor bestowed upon him and moved a vote of thanks to the retiring president, seconded by F. J. Hunter.

On motion, Mr. Gordon was appointed honorary president. Other officers are: Dr. Dales, first vice president; Paul Rashotte, second vice president; the secretary and treasurer were returned to office. Mr. Hindle wished to relinquish the position as secretary but was not permitted to do so.

LAFLECHE FARMER BURNED TO DEATH

Former Resident of Victoria County Meets Tragic End at His Home.

LINDSAY, March 5 (Special to The Examiner). — Word has been received in town of the tragic death of a former resident of Victoria County in the person of Ernest Cathcart, of Lafleche, Sask., and formerly of Sebright. According to the information received, Cathcart was burned to death in his home. It appears that he undertook to start the fire with coal oil, when an explosion occurred and the kitchen was soon a mass of flames. His two daughters escaped through an upstairs window in their night attire. They tried to rescue their father, but were driven back by the flames.

A strange concidence in connection with the sad death of Mr. Cathcart is the fact that his wife was fatally burned about twenty years ago when her clothing caught fire from a box stove.

The deceased, who was in his sixty-second year, is survived by three daughters and three brothers.

Destruction of Deer By Wolves Continues

LINDSAY, March 5 (Special to The Examiner).—Stories are being brought to town by residents of Haliburton telling of the destruction of deer by wolves. The latter are said to be unusually ravenous this year and even approach the outskirts of the settlements in quest of food. Last Sunday a couple of Lindsay men who happened to be in the north witnessed the spectacle of a gaunt wolf dragging a deer out on to the ice on one of the lakes. The men were so close to the animals that the wolf took fright and made its escape.

The Dominion Government has decided definitely to withdraw from the field of constructive immigration and to turn it over to the Provinces. Hereafter the Dominion will function as a clearing house for the Provinces, and possibly join in settlement projects if asked to do so, but not otherwise."

TORONTO, Mar. 5.—Nine hundred and seventy-nine cattle, 436 calves, 1,388 hogs, 151 sheep and lambs. There were three hundred stale cattle added to the fresh receipts at the opening of the yards yesterday morning. Choice veal calves were selling at 13c to 14c a pound, with dressers 6½c to 7c.

Lambs on a short supply are selling steady at 9 to 12½c for plain to good quality with a few choice lambs at 13c a pound. Sheep are scarce, selling at from 4c to 8c a pound. Hog prices are unsettled with dealers bidding 12½c f.o.b. and 13¼c weighed off cars for bacon. TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, March 5—The local egg market remained firm yesterday, as far as the price to shippers was concerned, but quotations to retailers were down a cent on all grades. Monday's prices of 34c for extras, 32c for first, and 27c to 28c for seconds, were again in effect to country shippers for ungraded eggs, delivered, cases returned, but fresh extras, in cartons, to retailers we rdewo 12 222 40c; extras, loose, 38c; firsts, loose, 36c, and seconds, 33c.

The Chicago spot market for eggs was slightly weaker yesterday at 23c to 23½c for fresh-gathered firsts, ungraded.

As these American eggs are brought into Toronto at the rate of four and five cars, some days, the action on the market is easily seen. These cars can be in Toronto two days after purchase.

Jobbers were quoting 36c for extras, 34c for first, 33c for pullets, and 30c to 32c for seconds, to dealers, for graded eggs, free cases.

MONTREAL, March 5—Trading on the local dairy markets slackened somewhat yesterday, owing to the fact that many traders in the city are attending the annual Canadian Produce Association convention being held at London, Ontario.

The reduction in eggs prices made by a few dealers Monday was taken up generally yesterday and quotations ranged from 43c for fresh specials down to 34c for fresh seconds.

Butter was quoted to the retail trade at 37c and 38c by some dealers, although the reduction is not general, the former prices of a cent a pound high continuing to prevail in some circles. Wholesale prices range from 34c to 34¾c a pound in carlots, although the average is 34½c.

Cheese prices are nominally steady at 18¼c to 18¾c a pound for Easterns and 19c to 19¼c for Westerns. Potatoes ranged from $1.50 to $1.55 for New Brunswick Green Mountains and $1.45 for Quebecs, per 90 pounds in bulk in carlots, ex-track, here.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, March 5. — Suggestion that $25,000,000 worth of American wheat be handed over to starving Chinese by the United States Government yesterday halted the slide of grain prices. For the first time since last Friday the Winnipeg market recorded a rise. Advances ranged from 1¼c to 1⅝c per bushel.

Bearish sentiment had pounded down a market that was dull until the rumor floated in from Washington. Moderate overnight business brought some purchasers into the pit, but the result was more than offset by New York and Chicago interests selling. Weakness continued to mark quotations from Liverpool.

Ocerings were still light in cash wheat, while fair export business was reported, mostly by the Pacific Coast. Low grade oats and barley for the East again were the only coarse grain sales.

Cash prices—

Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.10¼; No. 1 Northern, $1.10¼; No. 2 Northern, $1.07⅛; No. 3 Northern, $1.02⅞; No. 4, 98⅜c; No. 5, 91⅞c; No. 6, 71⅞c; feed, 59⅝c; track, $1.10⅝; screenings, per ton, $5.00.

Oats—No. 2 C.W., 58¾c; No. 3 C.W., 49⅝c; extra No. 1 feed, 49⅛c; No. 1 feed, 48c; No. 2 feed, 45¾c rejected, 42¼c; track, 53¼c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 5—United States Senate notice of proposals that $25,000,000 worth of breadstuffs be supplied to relieve Chinese famine gave quick upturns to wheat values yesterday. Definite steps by the Senate Agricultural Committee looking toward authorizing use of part of the Federal Farm Board's revolving fund to purchase that amount of wheat and for China were reported and the wheat market made a prompt response, rising as much as 3⅝c a bushel, as compared with the day's lowest level. Earlier the price of wheat had been breaking as a result largely of persistent lack of export demand.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular at ½c under the top figures reached. The finish ranged from ⅝c a bushel net decline to 1⅜c advance for the day. Corn closed unchanged to ¼c lower; oats at a shade down to ¼c gain, and provisions varying from 5c setback to a rise of 2c.

FIRE THREATENS GRAVENHURST

GRAVENHURST, March 5 (Canadian Press). — Fire early to-day threatened to destroy the south west portion of the business section, including the Gravenhurst garage, and the Passmore Block, occupied by a confectionery store.

Fire equipment was called out quickly, but it was found impossible to save motor cars in the garage. The damage was estimated at $15,000.

TOMPKIN'S HIRED MAN

CAMPBELLFORD, March 5 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — "Tompkin's Hired Man," staged under the auspices of St. Andrew's Dramatic Club in the High School auditorium last evening, proved to be one of the season's events in dramatic circles here.

Under the able management of Rev. Dr. W. J. Mark and with a committee composed of Dr. O. C. Watson (chairman), Miss Grace Blue, R. J. Allan, H. T. Scott, J. W. Russell and Robert McGregor, it played to a large and appreciative audience.

The play, which is a three-act presentation, has a rural setting, all of the scenes being laid in the same farm kitchen. The story centres round Mr. and Mrs. Asa Tompkins, who has two daughters, one adopted. Mr. Tompkins, who cannot tolerate deceit, does not know that one child is not his own. John Remington appears as the manly young man who falls in love with the adopted daughter Louise, and is loved by Julia, the real daughter, and the spoiled child. Dixey, the hired man, is always on the scene. He is always ready to lend a hand to the girls.

Ruth, the vamp, plays opposite Dixey, and is equal to any situation that arises. And, of course, Jerry, the country lad, is always ready to get the mail and take messages.

John Patrick, as Asa Tompkins, presented a true picture of the clean living, honest farmer. Praising where praise is due and condemning wrong heartily, he proves his manhood in the last act, when he realizes his wife has deceived him for twenty years. The wife, played by Mrs. R. McGee, portrayed to perfection the embittered mother. Through the whole play she schemes to help her daughter in her matrimonial ambitions, but is woman enough to realibe at last her wrong.

Stuart Anderson, as Dixey, is the central figure of the play. The father of Louise, he is a millionaire masquerading as the hired man to see if his daughter, whom he was forced to leave at her mother's death is happy. He is the kindly man who is always helping and always ready to forgive. Full of humor, Dixey added the lighter touches to the story and executed some splendid acting. Julia, with Miss Mary McGregor in the role, was true to form as the villain of the piece and her mother's accomplice. She played with a snap and fervor that denotes the real artist.

Frank Rae as Jerry, was seldom seen, but when he did appear, was the right lad in the right place.

Donald Rutherford, cast as John Remington, was the lover to perfection. There appeared no doubt in his mind as to whom he wished to marry. Miss Dorothy Barnum as Louise, was the favorite of her adopted father. She accomplished some fine acting and handled a very difficult role well. And Miss Eva McKelvie as Ruth, helped with Dixey to keep things alive. She assists in untangling what appears to be a hopeless situation and ends the play in Dixey's arms. Miss McKelvie shows fine talent in the potrayal of her character.

The play was put across with a swing and snappiness that was pleasing. The musical portion of the program was under the direction of William A. Newcourt, A.L.C.M. During the intervals Mrs. Frannk DeCarroll rendered a vocal solo in a delightful and pleasing manner. A Hiwaiian guitar trio was presented by the Misses Leah, Grace and W. H. Blue, which brought a hearty applause from the audience. A vocal solo by Miss Helen McDonald with violin obligato by Master Kenneth Collinson was also given. Miss McDonald's rich voice and able rendition brought an encore from the audience, to which she responded.

St. Andrew's Dramatic Club have another treat in store. They will shortly present a play entitled "Uncle Ben Drake." This production is labelled "better than ever."

YOUNG PEOPLE PRESENT PLAY

Interesting Story By Youthful Actors in Comedy of Business Life.

IN CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 5.—(Examiner tSaff Correspondent.)—The Y.P.L. of St. John's United church featured on their weekly program on Monday evening a one-act comedy entitled "The Boob." The play, which was under the direction of F. Phillips, was a comedy of business life. Railroad competition proved the central theme, and the illicit obtaining of plans which was balked by the hero cause tense situations, interjected with humorous climaxes.

Morley Horsman, who took the part of Byron Young, the office boob, played his role to perfection. So considered a boob, he was smart enough to put over a big deal that worked to the advantage of the business concern and very smart in winning the affections of the president's daughter, Madge Clayton, played by Helen Thomas. Fred Palliser, portraying Clayton, the boss, played a difficult role well, and Martin, the efficiency expert played by Kendrick Hazel, proved an interesting villain. Harry McLaren was cast as Hartman, the confederate. The setting of the play was the private office of the 'Boss.'

Rev. R. E. Tate was chairman for the evening and a large audience enjoyed the presentation.

Other items on the program yere: A musical sketch, 'The Wedding of the Painted Doll,' by several of the girls; vocal solo, Mr. Lucy; reading, Lena McPherson; violin solo, Clarke McKelvie; vocal solo, Walter Henson; piano duet, Nellie Haig and Dorothy Henson, and a series of moving pictures.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the evening to a close.

Miss Nellie Haig leaves on Wednesday for Toronto, where she will attend the Shaw Business College.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION?

Countless remedies are advertised for constipation. Many relieve for the moment but they are habit forming and must be continued. Others contain calomel and dangerous mineral drugs, which remain in the system, settle in the joints and cause aches and pains. Some are harsh purgatives which cramp and gripe and leave a depressed after effect.

Avoid lubricating oils which only grease the intestines and encourage nature's machinery to become lazy.

A purely vegetable laxative such as Carter's Little Liver Pills, gently touches the liver, bile starts to flow, the bowels move gently, the intestines are thoroughly cleansed and constipation poisons pass away. The stomach, liver and bowels are now active and the system enjoys a real tonic effect. All druggists 25c and 75c red pkgs.

ANNUAL ORATORY CONTEST AT MILLBROOK IS BIG SUCCESS

Chairman Tells Audience Competitions Rapidly Becoming Popular in District.

TEN CONTESTANTS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, March 5 — The third annual oratorical contest, under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture, open to young men and young women between the ages of 16 and 28 years, residing in the townships of Hope, Cavan, Manvers and South Monaghan, was held in the Town Hall, Millbrook, on Friday, February 28, beginning at 8 p.m, the chair being taken by J. Y. Kellough, Agricultural Representative for Durham County.

Welcoming the audience, Mr. Kellough stated there had never yet been a full hall for the public speaking competition, but the standard of speeches presented was being raised year by year, the number of contestants increasing, and he believed "we will just keep on until public interest is sufficiently aroused to tax the seating capacity of this room."

Ten Contestants.

There were ten contestants on Friday evening, and in explaining the rules the chairman stated the three judges would do their marking on a 50-50 basis, consideration being (a) for preparation and arrangement of material; and (b) platform manner, enunciation and delivery. The handsome silver cup prominently displayed on the stage, was the championship award, and cash prizes were offered to the three holding highest places among both the girls and the boys taking part in the competition. The arrangement for the order of speaking was arrived at by placing all the names in a hat, and as each was drawn out the list was made up.

Clare Winslow, who won the cup in 1929, was the first speaker called upon, announcing his topic as "The Educational Value of Modern Exhibitions and Shows." Beginning with the rural school fairs, and the fine lessons there learned, Mr. Winslow went on to the extension of knowledge at the local or county exhibitions, and so led up to the great national and international shows, with a passing glance at the provincial plowing-match and machinery demonstration, referring to the 'big fairs' as "great finishing schools where world champions are turned out." Judging competitions also came in for recognition as vital educational factors in connection with modern exhibitions and fairs

Joseph Barnard.

Joe Barnard of South Monaghan, had chosen as his topic: "Why Young People Leave the Farm," and developed his theme along practical lines. More machinery was mentioned as one reason for the young folks not staying on the farm; the mistake of calling farm work drudgery; the lack of interest and of proper facilities for recreation and entertainment; the failure to let the young people have a real share by owning some of the poultry, a colt, garden plot, etc., and receiving the money therefrom; rural isolation, and an exaggerated idea of the advantages and attractions of the city, were some of the points listed. The dignity of honest labor, and the liberty and freedom of the farm came in for a share of attention, as did also the responsibility of parents in helping their children in choosing a vocation, giving them an education that will teach them to appreciate the farm, and avoid drifting. "Look upon the farm less as a place to make money, than as a place where one may live a simple, comfortable and wholesome life." In conclusion the speaker mentioned horticulture as a branch of agriculture that should be applied to the farm home, making it lovely and one of which the young people would have a right to feel proud.

Miss Bertha Lang.

Miss Bertha Lang, Millbrook, was the third speaker, her subject being one very much to the fore at present: "Music in Rural Communities," considerable emphasis upon the absolute necessity of teaching music in rural schools, and the responsibility of trustees in this matter, being developed as the topic was unfolded. Pointing out the need of training, the emotional nature of the child, as part of a well-balanced and thorough education, Miss Lang spoke of the grants available from the government, and put some responsibility upon the Women's Institutes to take this matter up as a community service. Vocal training also came in for a share of attention as a means of discovering and developing dormant talent, and the speaker concluded with quoting a poem on "Music" by Shelly.

A piano solo fittingly followed the address on music, Mrs. (Rev.) J. E. Whitham of Cavan, giving this number, which was heartily encored, and the fourth speaker, Elmore Scott, of Garden Hill, was next called upon, "Marketing," being his choice of a subject. The problem of selling direct from the producer to the consumer; the elimination of the middleman, and his share of the profits; the placing of goods on the market at the proper time; the many persons involved in the assembly, transporting, packing, selecting, grading, financing standardizing, and distributing of goods; the fact that grading expands the market, and that products of poor quality spoil the market for those of good quality; and the fact, too, that marketing is an important side of agriculture, were points brought out clearly, and expressed with suitable emphasis.

Miss Hazel Armstrong.

Miss Hazel Armstrong, Cavan, told in an interesting and humorous manner of the trip by boat which she and her sister had taken from Toronto to Prescott last summer, and Archie Deyell followed with a fine address, presenting the subject of "Agriculture" from the unusual side of the esthetic—"not the valley but the hilltop outlook." The number of allusions to classical history made by the speaker showed he had read and thought widely in preparing his material, tracing cultivation back to very early time, and developing the thought of strength from the soil, "which puts life into the seed, and into the back of the man who stirs it;" also that a "love for dirt," or fondness for the soil, and working with it as "sure to come back, though in far wanderings we have "eaten dirt," as that we are to go under it after all, and stay there."

Mr. Deyell closed with the poem, "The Soldier of the Plow," by Chas. Kingsley.

"The Beautification of Farm Homes" was the theme of the address given by Miss Margaret Gray of Perrytown, who urged the ill effect on passing tourists of fallen gates, neglected fences and lack of paint, "Making unattractive homes that drive the young people away from the farm."

In clear language Miss Gray pictured the home that is a credit to the countryside, mentioning a good situation with a background of trees; well kept hedge, shrubs and flower borders for the front, together with shade trees well placed so the road view is not obstructed; a vegetable garden, free of weeds, and with symmetry in its layout; barns, garage and other buildings in good repair, and painted; and with a generous hospitality as a feature of the home life. "Keeping a home like this, and passing it on as a legacy to succeeding generations, is a national service."

Miss Dorothy Hall provided an entertaining interlude with her clever recitation of "The Parson at the Hockey Match," responding to the demand for an encore with "Ould Kilkenny," and Ralph Staples followed with his address on "Agriculture," dealt with in an entirely different manner than any speaker who had preceded him. Mr. Staples devoted his time largely to the producers' end of the business of farming, pointing out that farmers to-day "have to change the type of some of our products or go out of business. 'What I like' is no longer the rule to be followed, but what is demanded; we must learn the right type to produce, and then do this constantly and consistently. The city housewife has more to do with what I shall grow on my farm than I have."

The final section of this interesting talk was given up to stressing co-operation in marketing, some of the big marketing organizations, such as the wheat pool, receiving detailed attention; the cutting out of the middleman as far as possible and "standing together" being emphasized.

Miss Van der Horne, whose quaint Dutch accent quite won her audience, next came to the stage, and spoke on "Our Home Markets," presenting concisely the fine ideal of Canadian consumers for Canadian products.

The final speaker, George McKnight, took "Farm Power" as his the use of "power" from the day when with a crooked stick man undertook to turn over the soil, up to the present time when "power farming" is becoming more and more an assured fact. Power indoors so the farm mother may have her tasks lightened was also given emphasis.

The judges for the contest were Dr. Reynolds of Port Hope, former president of the O.A.C. at Guelph; J. Watson of the High School staff, Port Hope; and A. J. Fallis of Millbrook, and while they were arriving at their decision as to the winners, Mrs. J. E. Whitham again favored the audience with a piano solo, and Mr. Kellough announced the dates when the Soil and Crop Train will be in the township—March 26 at Cavan, and March 25 at Pontypool; the train is open from 9 a.m., until 5 p.m., with lectures at 2 o'clock. All interested are invited to visit the train The time taken by the judges showed how difficult was their task. Mr. Kellough finally announced the winners as follows: In the girls' class 1 Miss Bertha Lang; 2, Miss Vander-Horne; 3, Miss Margaret Grey. In the boys' class: 1, Archie Deyell; 2, Ralph Staples; 3, Clare Winslow; 4, J. Barnard; 5, G. McKnight; 6, E. Scott. Championship: Miss Bertha Lang, who was then presented with the silver trophy, Mr. Kellough announcing that her name will be suitably inscribed on it in the immediate future. The cup becomes the permanent property of the one adjudged the best speaker of the oratorical competition, and Miss Lang who has a fairly wide experience in public speaking, was warmly congratulated on being its possessor. Last year at Cobourg, Miss Lang only missed by a very small margin being adjudged district winner in the Star competition, and being sent to Toronto to compete for provincial honors.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:

I have been a silent reader of your page for a long while, and have enjoyed reading the neighbors' letters. Many of them have contained such splendid ideals, and I have admired the way you have carried on the grand work begun by Marion. It takes a Real Woman to conduct such a page.

I was greatly aroused by Nyrna's letter and felt I couldn't keep silent any longer. I was so pleased that Quo Vadis appeared so promptly in your defense, Anne. I agree with every word in her letter except the suggestion that Nyrna might be a school teacher. I am sure our Normal Schools do not turn out such products, as I know by experience. It is unnecessary to remind Nyrna that the contents of a letter always show the character of the writer.

The requisites of a real lady are first and foremost courtesy, kindness and forbearance towards others. Some of our younger generation of today get a thrill out of doing something that would shock decent respectable people. There is nothing indulging in bad habits and questionable amusements.

If Nyrna will turn to her history she will find there plenty of proof as to the consequences which followed when individuals and nations have so indulged themselves. If any more evidence is needed have a few minutes conversation with our Police Matron of Peterborough.

Now as to Nyrna's statement that women will lose their freedom by the return of the long skirt, etc. Clothes have never made people intelligent or clever. Look at the women all over our country holding responsible positions—doctors, professor, lawyers, members of the House of Commons. We also have a Lady Senator who made her maiden speech last week to crowded galleries. I notice that she was gowned in a dress of the new mode. Because the long skirt has returned does not indicate that the clock of progress for women will be turned back.

In reference to that party, Nyrna spoke of, I am surprised that such good church people should compromise themselves in such a manner. I have been to many parties and had a splendid time without the accessories of drinking, smoking, etc. Real thrills come from good reading, good healthy invigorating sports, and also kind unselfish deeds.

Hoping my letter hasn't been too long for a first one and wishing you and your page every success. Keep up the good work Anne and never mind the troublesome mosquitoes. Here's to the true progress of women!

Bluenose

Indeed your letter isn't too long, and I do want to thank you for writing at this time when you had never written before. I think when Nyrna has read and digested all of today's Mail together with all of the other letters, she will not feel so harsh against us.

Dear Anne:

I was glad to see Quo Vadis come to your defense and was awfully sorry and shocked to read Nyrna's letter but like Quo Vadis I thought it must be the after effects of the gay party she mentioned. She certainly dressed up herself, but did not be little you Anne in the eyes of those who have respect and admiration for your sentiments. I read your article too, and it was just all right. How much more sensible are the longer dresses and how much nicer they look than the skimpy things that show the knees.

But to return to Nyrna's party — to me it seemed terrible that nearly all at that party were church people—one a choir leader, one a Sunday School teacher whose wife also teaches a class, one girl sings in the choir, another is a custodian of the collection plate—yet they smoked, they played cards, they danced and the girl at the piano had the thrill of the arm of some man around her —how deeply must they have drank in heavenly truths at church. Listen! One of the worst scandals and one of the worst tragedies Peterborough has known happened a year or two ago when a member of a church together with a Sunday School teacher committed suicide.

What constitutes a church? I can answer that question but first let me say what it is not. It is not a stone building nor a brick one, nor any material building—the Lord dwelleth not in temples made with hands. Man himself is a church if he has the Lord within, dwelling and ruling his life and conduct, such a man is a church in the smallest form and a company of such is a church in the larger form. In concluding, may I say that in the face of what Nyrna has revealed to us, and what our own eyes have seen with sorrow and dismay, let us have done with farce and let truly Christian parents teach their own children what is right and wrong and not trust their young minds to be influenced by adulterous men and women. Nyrna speaks also of good works, no one teaches above what they are—there are no good works apart from a good life they would all partake of the soil they were grown in. To do good because the Word asks this of us, and because we love our Heavenly Father and want to please Him, this is good works for it flows into us as into receptacles from Heaven. Let this suffice for now but if Nyrna wants more light along these lines well, as Quo Vadis says she can come back for it.

Thanking you, Anne, I am,

Yours very truly,

Water-Lily

A friend in need is a friend indeed —I can say that about all of our splendid neighbors—when a person gets such a (slam, shall I say) as Nyrna gave, it is just wonderful to know that all the neighbors are ready to help. Thank you Water-Lily.

Dear Anne:

I would like to slap Quo Vadis on the back, and give her a good hearty handshake. Because some of us are slow and slack, it is not that your side we do not take. Uncourteous, I think Nyrna as well as very unkind. Some folks who do the most boasting when found out, there's not so much behind so I cannot be sorry she got this roasting. Just as well the converse we did not hear, after the smoking and after the drink, we might infer the letter was a sample fair, and give us thoughts we don't want to think. Marion might wonder that she was such a friend! Perhaps you will get a letter after awhile saying, of your opinion she has changed her mind and still of you both be a friend.

Meta

I wish Nyrna would take your suggestion, Meta and write again — maybe she will after she reads the letters from the neighbors and will want to uphold her side of modern youth again! But I think she will find there are two sides to every story.

District Churches

TRENT RIVER UNITED CHURCH.

TRENT RIVER, March 5.—(Exam-Archer preached to a large congrega-Archer preacher to a large congregation Sunday afternoon, choosing his text from John 16 and part of the 13th verse: 'When the Spirit of Truth is Come He Will Guide You Into All Truth.' The first sermon on Christian truth was 'Prepare ye the way of the Lord'. The way is a thorough line as John Bunyan said, 'The way to the Celestial City.' There is a path which leads to the foothills of peace. If we travel on the sea, a chart is necessary. If by car a road map is necessary and if by train we should have a time-table. If a man is going to safely arrive at his destination he must be willing to yield to the directions, he must know where he is going and keep going. Charts mark out the dangerous places. If we sail the seas of the guidance through our Bible we will not come to wreck. If we watch the road map we cannot go astray. We have a road map to go by in the Good Book and we scarcely ever look at it; sometimes people lose their way because they haven't studied the road map. In using the time-table we might get mixed up and go the opposite way, but no danger of that if we study the time-table. Do we give the Book a chance? Have we found the foothills of peace? It is straight and narrow, be glad because it is straight and narrow. If we are going to enter the straight gate we must be able to see. Some say I cannot see any harm in this or that, I cannot see any harm in taking the Sabbath day as a holiday. There is something the matter with the eye. The sanctity of the Sabbath day, let us take care of it. What do we see in the church that Jesus died to establish? So many set themselves on a pinnacle apart to criticize the church Christ established. No man can put himself on a pinnacle apart and criticize the church. If our vision is as it ought to be there are wonderful things in anniversary of days throughout the year. Take time to be holy, take time to take observations to find out where we are, obedience to the road map and obedience to the Book. We have the Book for guidance. Life is something like a mountain railroad. They that do His commandments shall enter into His way, this is the end of the wya, rule of the road, keep to the right. That is the road rule applied to the Bible. Two rails or lines keep the locomotive on the track. There is two lines laid down for us. Faith without works is dead. He that doeth righteousness is righteous; it requires both lines to follow that we keep to the right. We must follow the gleam and listen to the voice within.

FASHION SERVICE

Bluish green crepe silk frock shows unique drape at front with circular flaring back that accents normal waistline.

The straight unbroken line at right side of the front is what gives this smart dress its chic lengthened line. The left side of the bodice is caught with plaits at normal waistline beneath the bow trim. These plaits fall in folds and achieve a lovely soft effect that detracts from width. The one-sided jabot rever with the opposite side finished with applied band is interesting means of minimizing width.

Its even hemline makes it suitable for street as well as afternoons.

This chic Paris model. Style No. 3300, is obtainable in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust

Tomato red crepe silk is a favorite with smart young things who are choosing their frocks now with an idea of wearing them later for Spring.

Printed crepe silk in dark green tones with rever collar, applied band, hip bow and lining of drape of plain green crepe in harmonizing tone is attractive.

Pattern price 15 cents. Be sure to fill in size of pattern. Address Pattern Department. Our new Spring Fashion Magazine is 15 cents, but you may order a pattern and a Fashion Magazine together for 25 cents.

DON'T SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION

Prevent It This Pleasant, Healthful Way

Beware of the frequent headaches, the listless feeling, bad breath and sallow complexion.

If allowed to continue, constipation may get its grip on you and serious sickness can result.

The poisonous wastes in your system must be removed. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to do this—safely, completely. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—recurring cases, with every meal.

Doctors recommend Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Because it is ALL-BRAN it brings complete results. Far better than habit-forming drugs or pills that are often dangerous. VARIETY COSTUMES AT ICE CARNIVAL

Mrs. Lottie Nichols and Milton McMillan Act as Able Judges at Roseneath Gathering.

ROSENEATH, March 5 (Examiner Correspondence).—The ice carnical on Friday night proved more successful than anyone had expected. Owing to the extreme mild weather previous which made the ice soft and the prospects looked a failure until the frost came Wednesday, when the manager of the rink, Walter Mason, and his assistant, Jim Eddington, worked hard and steady to get the rink into skating condition for Friday evening, and their labor was duly appreciated by the crowd present to enjoy the sport on the ice. Although the attendance was not as large as at the January carnival or was there as many in costumes, yet the society is highly pleased and grateful to those who took part in the event.

Rev. M. R. Brown and C. W. Varcoe were directors in charge, while Messrs. W. J. Jibb of Fenella and Milton McMillan and Mrs. Lottie Nichols were the judges for the contests and who found their task somewhat difficult in solving out the prize winners. One prize only was awarded in each class, made it hard to strike the final decision.

Prize Winners

The prize winners are as follows: best dressed gentleman, Hillard O'-Kathleen Barrie, as St. Valentine; best dressed gentleman, Hiillard O'-Connel of Harwood, very stylish he looked in full dress suit, silk hat and carrying a cane. Best dressed single, 15 years and under, Allen Pacey, making a good substitute for St. Patrick, wearing green vest and trousers with a black swallow-tail coat and high silk hat. Most original costumes in couple, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Leach of Fenella representing a Red Cross Nurse and her patient. Best comic costume was Satan, and won by Frank Nill of Fenella. Best comic couple, Lorne Thackeray and Olive Pacey. Best clown, Alvin Kelly. Best skating couple, Edwin Morrison as "Queen of Hearts." Boys' race, 15 years and under, Arthur Beaver of Alderville. Ladies race, Bessie Turner. Best novelty costume was won by Marguerite Burrison, who did well in acting an aged and feeble old lady walking on ice.

The wheelbarrow race made great fun with three entries, Clifford and John Nixon; Fred Simpson and George Blaker; Lloyd Covert and Charlie Darling. After considerable rolling and tumbling with each other it was finally mastered by Lloyd Covert and Charlie Darling.

The open race was thrilling, having many on the list it was necessary to divide the number, when Edgar Carew and Edwin Morrison were the winners and had to race for final results. Edgar Carew got leading nicely but unfortunately slipped and fell, thus giving Edwin Morrison first place as a winner.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Grigg were exceedingly charming in pink and blue gowns of the latest fashions, while Jessie Mouncey, a groom, and Ruby Blodgett, a bride, played their part well. Mrs. Delbert Brisbin, as Old Dutch Cleanser, Jenny Covert as a farmerette and carried a milking pail and stool; Lawrence Jameson as "Amos," and Mrs. Jameson as an aviatrix.

These are only a few of the many who were in costume.

The proceeds of the evening amounting to nearly forty dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Jameson, Mr. Edwin Morrison and Miss Gladys Coburn of Camborne attended the ice carnival here on Friday night, also a number from Harwood, Fenella and Burnley were present.

Mrs. Lily Turner and son Edward paid a short visit to friends at Albany, N.Y., during the past week.

Miss Mildred Lapp, Menie, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Annie Lapp.

Mr. Lewis Roberts is progressing favorably after his serious illness, and will be unable to perform his duties at teaching for some time. Fortunately he has secured Mr. Marcena Davey to take charge of his school.

Mr. Flex McMillan is taking a vacation and visiting friends in Peterborough.

The many friends of Mrs. Robert Mouncey will be sorry to learn she is confined to her home and under the doctor's care. A speedy recovery is hoped for.

Mr. David McGrath has again returned to our village to operate the saw mill; having the log yard nearly filled, and his helpers are exceedingly busy.

WEDDING SHOWER

Jolly Social Evening Held in S. S. No. 2, Smith Township —Good Program.

A wedding shower was tendered John Albert Young of Outlook, Sask., and Miss Isobel Ruby Young of Peterborough, by the members of S.S. No. 2, Smith township, in the school building on Monday evening, March 3. T. H. Graham, a former school trustee, occupied the chair. Mrs. James A. Young, a former teacher, directed the program. About seventy or eighty people gathered for the occasion. The chairman opened the meeting with a few appropriate remarks. "The Maple Leaf Forever" was then sung by the entire company. A sing-song lead by Mrs. Young included the Swanee River, Old Folks At Home, Smile, When You and I Were Young Maggie. This was followed by a sketch, "Scholars as they now appeared". Among the former scholars taking part were Russel Darling, Charles Westlake, Mrs. Westlake, May Scott, Mrs. Flett, Mrs. Brakenbridge, Eva Westlake, Mrs. Murray, Florence Humber. Little Jean Metcalfe impersonated the bride. The Rev. W. E. Edgar, pastor of Gilmour Memorial church, gave a brief but amusing speech, congratulating the bride and bridegroom on their coming marriage and in the name of the company wishing them much joy and true prosperity in their married life.

A wagon load of beautiful gifts was then brought in. The former married pupils (male) sang "Those Wedding Bells are Breaking up that Old Gang of Mine". Contests were then engaged in. The bride then suitably replied to the speeches of congratulation inviting the company to visit them. Light refreshments followed and a pleasant evening was brought to a close.

ALBERT HAZEL GUEST SPEAKER

Delivers Interesting Talk at Campbellford Rotary Club Luncheon.

MUSIC THROUGH AGES.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 4.—(Examiner Correspondence.) — At the weekly Rotary luncheon held in the St. Lawrence hotel yesterday an interesting address was delivered by the guest speaker, Albert Hazel, who took for his subject, "Music." N. A. MacColl occupied the chair.

Mr. Hazel traced the love of music in mankind from the beginning of human history. There had always been some attempt on the part of primitive man to express himself in musical terms. "Music seems to be a part of man's nature," said the speaker, "by which he expresses his emotions."

Although many records of the old music of the Far East have been lost, yet the Chinese claim that their country gave birth to it 3,000 years before Christ. What knowledge we have of music of the early years comes to us from the monument writings of Persia, and the Hebrews, who had a knowledge of both vocal and instrumental music.

Almost Inseparable.

Mr. Hazel went on to show how music and the dance are almost inseparable. "Dance is usually dramatic or ceremonial," he said. "The symbolic and the choral ode are the foundation of music and drama." It was from the Greeks that our kind of music really came. They developed a rational scale of system based on the knowledge of acostic laws. This system has came to us unbroken through the early Christian age, Rome, the middle ages to the present time.

Of the fellowship of music and poetry, Mr. Hazel drew a graphic picture. 'Most of the poems that have been read by the public have been written under the inspiration of music," he said. Practically all of the major poets possessed musical knowledge. The greater poets, such as Browning, Tennyson, Milton and Campion, wrote their poems to music.

"We accept music as one of the commoplaces of life," said Mr. Hazel, "as we accept the air we breathe. If we were suddenly to be deprived of this great joy of life, the world would undergo a sort of soul stagnation impossible to describe."

In thanking the speaker for his splendid address, Mr. MacColl pointed out that he had not mentioned the dangers of music, for if the adage is true, when there is trouble in a church, it always enters through the choir.

Germs of decay are glued to teeth—do this

Remove [illegible] daily. Ordinary brushing methods fail. Employ this special way

GERMS cause tooth decay. Germs plus tartar are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Virtually every common disease of teeth and gums results from germ infections.

There is but one way known to fight germs and safeguard teeth and gums. You must remove a slippery, stubborn film that glues bacteria to the tooth's enamel. Film forms in crevices and clings so tenaciously that ordinary brushing fails to remove it successfully.

Today dentists are urging patients to turn from other ways to the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent. You will note the difference from ordinary tooth pastes the instant it touches your teeth. No pumice, no harmful grit or crude abrasive, but a scientific action that recommends it for the most sensitive teeth and gums.

. . . And no other way can make teeth so dazzling white. Write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 191 George St., Toronto 2, Ont.

Parisian Foibles

This interesting black tweed coat lined with blue wool and worn with a dress of mixed weave in black, white and blue is to be found in the Schiaparelli collection.

BLACK TWEED IS EFFECTIVE COMBINED WITH COLOR.

By Madame Schiaperelli.

Of the many tweeds now being presented, I consider black the smartest of all, particularly when combined, as it is in this instance, with other colors. This black tweed coat, which is cut on the simplest of lines, is lined with blue wool.—the tweed dress is in a mixed weave of black, white and blue. Trousers worn underneath the skirt do away with all need for petticoats. The wide fitted girdle, molding the hips and marking the high waistline, is a feature I sponsor for the sports costume.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

MOST HOUSEWIVES spend so much time with the routine duties they must do, that they have very little time to cultivate an attractive skin, and yet this is a very important thing.

• • • • • • •

You, as a housewife, may think it is not essential to have a nice clear skin, but it really is and everyone can possess an attractive skin if they desire.

• • • • • • •

Anyway, the least you can do to encourage its beauty is to refrain from abusing it.

• • • • • • •

I do not want to intimate that you abuse your skin on purpose. The majority of women do this very thing, without even realizing they are doing it.

• • • • • • •

One of my acquaintances, a lady who spends her vacation at the same place I usually do, used up many bottles of skin lotion on her hands during her vacation and did not know that such a necessity would be reduced if she washed her hands in cold or even cool instead of warm water.

• • • • • • •

It is an absurd thing to wash in warm water in warm weather, yet such a thing has come to my notice many, many times.

• • • • • • •

And even in cold weather, one should not wash in hot water. By using hot water on one's hands or face, its sensitiveness to exposure is greatly increased.

• • • • • • •

You can seen, then, how very essential it is to eliminate this danger, especially in the cold weather experienced in Peterborough during the last two or three months.

• • • • • • •

Many women with beautiful complexions do not cleanse their skin with anything but cold water. And I have read of some cases where beautiful women washed in jersey milk.

• • • • • • •

Of course everyone's skin would not respond to the same treatment in the same manner but it is true of all persons that the chapping of skin is largely avoided by the precautionary method.

• • • • • • •

In writing this article, I have in mind particularly the women in Peterborough who do their own washing, for they are most subject to this.

• • • • • • •

Many housewives do not stop to consider what damage might be done by the cold upon their wet hands. They do not stop to dry the backs of their hands but go out with their hands all wet, with the result that their hands become dry and chapped.

• • • • • • •

Rubber gloves are a great protection to hands and even a pair of old fabric gloves which you have discarded, will help some. Anyway, it is worth thinking about.

• • • • • • •

After washing though, or even after washing the dishes, the hands are in an ideal condition to receive a manicure. Perhaps you say you haven't time for this, but you should make time.

• • • • • • •

The soaking which the professional manicurist gives in a small basin, has already been accomplished. The cuticle is softened around the nail and ready to respond to the orange wood stick's gentle pressure.

• • • • • • •

A virtue can thus be made of the necessity of resting the hands from housework for five or ten minutes and a step taken towards becoming better groomed.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

THE SECRET OF HELPING CHILDREN GROW UP.

There is a secret in child training. Once you posses it and turn it to account you have the heart of the matter in your hand. You can held a child to be whatever he ought to be. You can show him how to get what he wants, secure in the knowledge that it is right for him to have it.

The great secret is this: A child will put all he has of energy and talent and purpose into the thing he WISHES to do. In order to lead and guide and protect him you have to know what it is he most wishes to do and help him by putting all your weight of experience, knowledge, and affection on his side.

You can have faith in the child's desire if he is a healthy normal child. All such children tend to do right, that is they tend toward doing the intelligent thing. It is better to view a child's conduct in the light of intelligence, not in righteousness. Righteousness is highly developed intelligence. Anything that bends from that standard is to be regarded as less intelligent, not as wicked. Children are never wicked. They desire to do well and when their intelligence is developed by right experiences they do well.

The rule is clear, but discovering the child's wish is not so clear. The best way of discovering it is watching the child in action. What he does, speaks more clearly of what he wishes to do than what he says. He is likely to trim his words to suit his idea of what you wish. His actions are more likely to be his own expression.

Little children express wishes. Very simple ones at first. Maybe it is a wish to play ball, to look at books, to build, to explore. Watch for his positive ideas and follow his lead. Supply him with the best environment possible for his wish and stand out of his way.

It is important to remember that by developing each wish as it shows itself in positive mood we help the child's growth toward the next stage of development. From wish to wish, exactly as he climbs the stairs, the child progresses. If he does not gain power for the first three steps it is certain he will not wish, nor have the power, to climb to the top.

As the children grow from babyhood to post adolescence they express a long series of wishes. As they advance these wishes take on new color and gradually tend toward a common end, an aim, which becomes the life work, or the basic idea of life. That becomes the moving power and controls all action, mental and physical.

It is then highly important to catch the deep wish of the child, to live with it, foster it, direct it so that there is harmony between teacher and children. Only by mastering this principle of training is it possible for any teacher, any parent, to truly help a child.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

PREVENTING DEATHS FROM CANCER.

When our statistics show that at the present rate 1 in every 10 adults now living, will die of cancer, it naturally causes a shudder. And yet at the present rate of increase of cancer, the number of deaths in adults will actually be 1 in every 8 by 1940.

Now why is the profession unable to cope with cancer when malaria, yellow fever, typhoid fever, tuberculosis and other ailments, that formerly swept away thousands of lives, are now under control?

Simply because the cause of cancer has not yet been discovered.

We know that it may attack any tissue or organ where there is a surface that is exposed to irritation such as the lining of the stomach, or intestine. That it occurs also where there are old sores, scars, or lumps of any kind.

Because after all, cancer is just an overgrowth of tissue, as if something from the glands of the body stimulated the cells of certain parts to grow too much.

However, although we don't know the cause of cancer, we do know that if the parts in which cancer has already started, are removed, that we might get rid of the cancer. That is if the growth is removed early.

If it is not removed early it spreads to distant parts and it then becomes impossible to remove all the growth.

Now how are you to know if cancer is getting a start in your body?

Dr. C. A. Hedblom, Chicago, tells us that if a patient is to be saved, he must know something about the symptoms of cancer.

The earliest symptom may be a loss of weight, loss of appetite, gradual loss of strength, when the stomach or intestine is the seat of the trouble. Lumps in the breast, sores that are slow in healing or are gradually increasing in size, are forerunners of cancer.

Now there are all sorts of 'cures' on the market, but the only treatment of cancer is the complete removal of all the growth and the glands adjoining it by the use of the knife, X-ray, radium, or burning by cautery.

Don't hesitate to go to your physician if you have reached or are getting toward middle age, and get a complete examination.

The figures showing the terrible death toll are absolutely correct. However, the figures showing that practically all cases of cancer can be cured by being treated early, are also absolutely correct.

PALM BEACH DANCE FROCKS HAVE A MOONLIGHT QUALITY

NEW YORK, Mar. 5.—(U.P.).—In tune with the romantic era of fashion which is being revived are descriptions of "moonlight night frocks" which are being sent up from the southlands. This phrase conjures up a charming picture of the sheen of satins in pearly tints such as are worn for dancing in moon-bathed patios. White leads, so go the reports, and it is important to note that the white is white—not one of the off-white shades which there has been such an enthusiasm. Soft, pink and peach shades are also frequently mentioned in any reports of Palm Beach night life. That white lapin coats are liked at this resort is not particularly surprising since ermine has always been a favorite there.

Interest in flowered chiffons for evening is being revived by enthusiastic reports that smart women are invariably including dance frocks of this character in their southern wardrobes. While floral motifs quite naturally lead, there are many charming prints employing other designs, the leaf motiff being among the one most frequently mentioned.

As is consistent with the mode, the frocks worn south as well as north are extremely long, and have a deeply cut decollete. The temptation to add dignity and grace with the inches is indulged in to the extent that trains are again both a problem and a delight.—(Copyright.)

Visiting Housekeeper Was Initiated After Survey Revealed Need.

PROVING GREAT SUCCESS.

During the Great War, when great numbers of compassionate women in Canada, from the Red Cross, the regimental auxiliaries, or other social agencies, undertook the visiting of thousand of homes of men at the front, it became very evident from their experiences and observations, that one of the most fundamental and urgent requirements of present day life is the trained visiting housekeeper.

Many of the women assisted, knew little or nothing of thrifty buying, of right feeding of themselves, babies or children, of good plain cookery, or of simple, scientific care of the sick. They needed trained help to fit them for their jobs.

Therefore, in 1921, a large joint committee of social workers met to consider how such assistance might be offered and obtained. With the co-operation of the Toronto Red Cross Society, which provided the necessary finance, the old Beverly Street Mission was acquired. Miss Lexa Denne, an experienced graduate in Household Science, was placed in charge, and a real training centre for visiting housekeepers was established.

Since then, it has been busily at work training carefully selected women intensively, and sending them into an ever-widening field. To-day, the service reaches not alone the homes of the needy, but many of those of the prosperous, who are willing and able to pay for just this skilled, practical type of temporary assistance in times of stress.

So highly useful, indeed, has the service proven, that recently the housekeeping centre has been taken over in Toronto by the Federation for Community Service. The Ontario Red Cross, however, has visioned a still further extension of the idea, which created this unique corps of workers.

Following a survey of the needs throughout the Province, made at the instance of Mrs. H. P. Plumptre, the chairman of the committee, a director has been appointed in the person of Miss Margaret McCready, a centre has been established, the first intensively trained housekeeprs are already available and ready to be sent into the field, and organization facilities have been provided in three localities, which have applied for local centres.

The duties of the visiting housekeeper, who is neither a trained nurse nor the old-fashioned "servant," are to take charge of homes where illness or disaster have fallen, to prepare the meals, care for the children, keep the house in order, attend to the marketing and laundry, while, in not too serious illnesses, giving careful bedside attention to the invalid. Her hours of labor and wages are governed by the Centre.

Every woman in Ontario is interested in this service which, when established, may provide just the type of help is needed in many homes. The slow, but sure, development of this latest undertaking of the Ontario Red Cross will be watched with great eagerness by thousands of women, who have hitherto been unable to command such skilled and reasonably priced assistance, when it is most needed.

TOOLMAKERS IN THE PLAY-OFFS

No. 2 Team Defeats Armature Winders 2-1 in Sudden Death Battle.

IN C.G.E. LEAGUE

Tool Room No. 2 hockey team, champions of Group 2 in the C. G. E. Shop Hockey League advance to a place in the finals Monday night at the Brock Street Rink when they clashed with the Armature Winders, group 3 winners in a sudden death semi-final game, to stage a very close 2-1 decision, in a battle that bristled with exciting plays from gong to gong.

The game opened at a fast clip, the Winders carrying the fight into Tool Room territory, and notched the first tally of the game, when Hines flipped the puck out from behind the net to Sutherland who beat Hollingsworth from close-in. The Winders worked in close on several occasions in this period but found Hollingsworth unbeatable, but towards the last of the session the Toolmakers started to hit their stride, and when Calladine and Perry were penalized, leaving the Winders only three men, Earle evened the score from a scramble. L. McGillen missed a splendid chance when he hit the goal post with a sizzling shot from the blue line, but failed to follow it up, and the rebound was wasted.

The second period was a scoreless, close checking session, that taxed both teams to the utmost, neither one having much of an edge, although the Winders were the most aggressive. Bannon in goal for the Winders was forced to come out when Craig, broke through on a solo effort, but the goalie cleared. The Toolmakers were finding it very difficult to work the machine-like combination which has been a feature of their playing in former games, due to the persistent checking tactics of their opponents, who were putting up a great fight. Milliken and Graham worried the Armature forwards with an effective style of backchecking.

The Toolmakers opened the third period with a spurt that kept the play inside the blue line and after eight minutes of play, Connors and Milliken combined in the nicest rush of the game, the latter taking the pass inside the blue line and coasting in on Bannon, giving the latter no chance and netted the goal that won the game. For the remainder of the game Calladine, Sutherland and Hines, effectively bottled up the Toolmakers and were it not for the sensational net minding of "Red" Hollingsworth in the Toolroom citadel, they would have scored.

In the dying moments of the game the, Winders threw five men on the attack and held the play inside the Tool Room blue line but were unable to beat Hollingsworth.

On the general play there was little to choose between the two aggregations, the winners boasting a goal-minder of outstanding ability and a more finished brand of combination, while the Winders showed more aggressiveness, and in Calladine and Sutherland have a sterling defence pair. Bannon's work in goal was very creditable.

The teams:

Tool Room No. 2—Goal, Hollingsworth; defence, Connors and Griffin; center, Craig; wings, Graham and Milliken; subs, Hughes, Earle and Muir.

Armature Winding—Goal, Bannon; defence, Sutherland and Calladine; center, Hines; wings, L. McGillen and Jerry; subs., Menzies and C. McGillen.

Referee—Bill Jackson.

Teams Tangle For Right to Represent Ontario in Allen Cup Playdowns.

TORONTO, Ont., March 5 (C.P.)—Teams competing in the Ontario Hockey Association playdowns resume their struggle for supremacy to-night in the Senior and Junior series.

Oshawa, Queen's University and Hamilton Tigers clash for the third time to settle the championship of the Senior "B" series. Each team has won a game by the odd goal and to-night's contest will be fought to a finish.

The winner of this game will meet University of Toronto, champions of the Senior "A" series, for the right to represent Ontario in the Allan Cup playdowns.

University of Toronto and West Toronto come together in the second of their two-game Junior semi-final series at Arena Gardens. The latter team defeated Varsity two to one, in the first game, but there are many who dispute West Toronto's triumph on the grounds their winning goal was knocked into the net illegally.

Iroquois Falls, Senior champions of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, have arrived in Toronto and practiced in preparation for their series with Paris, O.H.A. Intermediate champions, which starts in Toronto on Thursday, with the second game at Galt on Saturday.

BULLDOGS KEEP IN THE RUNNING

Victory Over Buffalo Gives Windsor Chance For International Loop Play-offs.

OLYMPICS FOURTH.

TORONTO, Ont., March 5.—(C.P.)—As defeat meant their elimination from the play-offs Windsor Bulldogs fought a gallant battle to defeat Buffalo Bisons two to nothing and stay in the running for a play-off berth in the International Hockey League last night.

While the Bulldogs were playing to keep in contention, Cleveland Indians clinched a place among the first three by coming from behind and deadlocking their match with Detroit Olympics at three all. In the other scheduled fixture Toronto Millionaires held Hamilton Tigers to a two-all stalemate and moved out of the cellar position in favor of Niagara Falls.

Clever goalkeeping by Abbie Cox, Windsor net-minder and the assistance of Dame Fortune, were the main factors in the Bulldogs' victory over Buffalo. Jack Duncan put them in the lead late in the opening period by scoring on Hinsperger's pass while two Bisons players were in the penalty box.

Detroit had a golden opportunity to tie London for third place in their game with Cleveland, but they were unable to withstand the concerted attacks of their opponents and saw a two goal lead garnered in the first 30 minutes dwindle to defeat. The Olympics are in fourth place, closely pressed by Windsor and they started the contest as if the much-needed victory would be easy of attainment. They outscored Cleveland two to one in the first period and added another counter to their margin half-way through the second. At this stage the Indians came to life and scored. They added another in the third to tie it up and then played strictly defensive hockey for the balance of the contest.

CRICKET TESTS IN ENGLAND

Aussie Cricketers Expect to Sail From Australia on March 12.

SOME NEW PLAYERS.

LONDON, March 5.—(By The Canadian Press)—England is awaiting with more than customary interest the arrival of the Australian cricket team, which is to endeavour to wrest from the old land the mythical championship "ashes." The team leaves Australia on March 12. It is practically a new team and English cricketers are asking themselves; who will oppose it? This winter there has been no absence from the sporting pages of reports of cricket matches as English teams have been touring New Zealand and the West Indies. The doings of these teams have been watched very closely for evidences of new test match-material. In New Zealand Prince Duleepsinhji, who was played last year against South Africa with no success, has been putting up splendid scores while the veteran Frank Wolley has been good with both bat and ball. A bowler of promise has turned up in M. J. C. Allom, the Surrey amateur. The West Indies tour has been a series of triumphs for Pat Hendren, the old England and Middlesex player, whose retirement from international cricket has been freely predicted. English cricketers are reconciled to the breaking up of the great first wicket combination of Jack Hobbs and Herbert Sutcliffe by the retirement of the former. Though Hobbs led the English batting averages again last year it is known he is willing and anxious to give way to a younger man. No one turned up last season in the tests against South Africa capable of filling his place. Wally Hammond, who accomplished such wonders in the last tour in Australia, is the ideal man for a second wicket stand though he and Sutcliffe team well together. He may be promoted to first wicket but to do this will mean changing a dashing batsmen into a stonewaller. For the balance of the batsmen England has a wealth of material. Hendren's great West Indies showing may earn him a place and Leyland of Yorkshire will be sure to be chosen. There will be a difficult task before the selection committee when it comes to picking a wicketkeeper, but a very useful batsman. England's old battery of bowlers is available, including Maurice Tate of Sussex, Harold Larwood of Nottinghamshire and White of Somerset.

England's captain will present another problem. Chapman led England to victory and the recovery of the "ashes" in 1926 and their retention in Australia in 1928-29. He played very little last season and Carr, skipper of the Nottinghamshire club, county champions, led England against South Africa, succeeding White. Carr was superseded by Chapman in 1926.

Australia is pitting against England the youngest team ever sent across the seas with the exception of the 1880 side. At this date is looks as if England will have to rely very largely on old timers.

DELAVAL SEXTET DROPS 4—3 DECISION IN FINAL GAME TO LOSE ON ROUND

Winners Lose Many Chances to Pile Up Score By Poor Shooting Around Nets.

LOSERS GOOD IN FIRST.

Electric Plant Players Successful Also in Copping Junior Loop Title.

The C.G.E. Tool Room hockey team won the City League hockey championship last night at the Brock Street Rink, when they battled the speedy De Laval sextet to a 4—3 decision, giving themselves a clean slate of two wins in the final games and a 4-goal margin on the round, as they trimmed the Separator team 4—1 last week.

The Toolmakers deserved their win as the issue was never in doubt except in the first period of last night's game when the losers ran in two goals in quick succession to reduce the Toolmakers' lead to one tally. The latter came back strong in the second frame, however, and despite a well organized and determined offensive by the De Laval, more than held their lead. This is the second time in three years that the C.G.E. crew have won the City League honors, as they eliminated the Maple Leafs two years ago in a strenuous series.

C.G.E. OFFICE ALSO WINS

The C.G.E. Office also won their tilt with the Canucks, thus bringing the Junior City League trophy as well as the Senior, into the Electric plant. The score was 5—2, the C.G.E. players have a noticeable edge throughout the whole of the game.

The Senior battle started, with the De Laval crew taking the offensive, and flashing a series of determined attacks on the Tool Room citadel in a determined effort to wipe out the three goal lead of the Toolmakers. This they almost succeeded in doing as their fierce sallies nettled two counters in less than eight minutes of play and when the period ended the C.G.E. team were only one goal in the net. Eddie Williams beat Jones with a close-in drive to register the first De Laval marker, while the second came as the result of a neat Dallin to Dundas play. The brilliant rushing of the De Laval aggregation seemed to confuse the Toolmakers, who made several inaccurate passes and missed several chances around the net. As the finish of the period approaching the C.G.E. players began to hit their stride, and Killoran was robbed of a goal, when Meyette rushed out of the De Laval nets and blocked him. Aggressiveness and a smooth brand of combination gave the De Laval team the edge in this period.

More Even in Second

Play was more even in the second session with the winners breaking in better formation, and threatening Meyette in the De Laval citadel with dead-on shots. Killoran broke through on a rush that looked like a sure goal, but E. Williams tripped him and was penalized. Ray Epps tallied the first C.G.E. goal from a face-off, dropping the rubber in the nets on a speedy shot that baffled Meyette. Two minutes later, H. Epps missed the open net on a close-in shot, which should have registered. Swanger and Hadlock combined on the Tool Room defence, to present a solid wall that shattered most of the De Laval attacks and forced the latter team to do most of their gunning from outside the blue line. Dallin and Dundas on the De Laval wings were a dangerous pair and exhibited brilliant playing during the whole of the game, both packed wicked shots and whipped the puck at Jones with speed and accuracy. The Toolmakers had the major part of the play in this frame, and on several occasions penetrated the De Laval defence with well-timed attacks that were executed in finished style. Killoran tied the score with two minutes to go, when he stickhandled his way through alone on a beautiful rush and flipped the puck into the upper corner of the net. Swanger missed a good chance when he failed to nab his own rebound, but the Toolmakers forged ahead shortly after anyways, when Killoran passed to H. Epps, whose high shot bulged the twine.

Jones Good in Nets

Stan Jones in the Tool Room net blocked a host of shots in the third period, when the De Laval launched a four-man attack. Dundas hit the post twice, while Jones was also hard put to weather a scramble, all coming in quick succession. Mickey Williams and Corkery were the stars of the second string forward line for the Tool Room, the former doing a great deal of effective checking, while Corkery starred as a play-maker. Eddie Williams was outstanding for the Separator team, while the rearguard, Lackey and Evans, both played spendid hockey.

The final stages of the game were featured by some clean-cut combination work by the De Laval forwards, which resulted in another counter, when Er. Williams passed to Dallin, the latter scoring when the puck hit Jones' pad and bounced into the net. Killoran got this one back two minutes later when he staged one of his characteristic rushes and won his way to the goal mouth, to give Meyette no chance.

The teams:—

De Laval.—Goal, Meyette; defence, Lackey and Evans; centre, E. Williams; wings, Dallin and Dundas; subs., Mahood and Jones.

Tool Room.—Goal, Jones; defence, Swanger and Hadlock; centre, R. Epps; wings, Killoran and Hatton; alternates, Mickey Williams, Corkery and H. Epps.

WORLD TITLE BOUT

(By Jimmy Thompson.)

It is understood that the probable date for the big bout for the world championship will be June 26 in 15 round fixture. Max Schmeling, the German boxer, received the news of the bout calmly and expressed his joy over the results, saying, "What happened at Miami proves I was right in not wanting to box Scott." Through his American manager, Schmeling expressed his eagerness to box Sharkey, the Boston Boy, and denied all rumors that there was any injury to his thumb that would prevent him from appearing next June.

As one sporting writer has already put it, the Miami fiasco was a necessary evil, and Frank J. Bruen of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, was the only one to get socked in the whole affair. Bruen has stated emphatically that so far as Scott is concerned the Garden Corporation considers him a total eclipse and the Sharkey-Scott bout the last straw. The Gardens lost considerable in the bout the way is clear now to a world title bout. In England some of the higher scribes of sport viewed the decision without much criticism, but in the majority of cases Scott was considered to have been robbed.

KING GEORGE SCHOOL DEFEATS PRINCE OF WALES ON ROUND 5-3 TO CAPTURE THE LEAGUE HONORS

Williamson Sinks Two Goals For Winners on Individual Rushes.

SECOND GAME 3-1.

Nosing out the Prince of Wales squad by the count of 3-1 in the last of two play-off games at the Brock Street Rink yesterday afternoon, King George won the hockey championship of the city public schools. The score on the round was 5-3, the first meeting having resulted in a 2-2 tie last Saturday afternoon.

The King George youngsters have "Stew" Williamson, diminutive blonde left winger, to thank for their victory. Three times without assistance in the first two periods, he carried the puck into Prince of Wales territory and beat Gordon Clark with his swift shots. He led the offensives of the winners at all times.

Williamson hung up his first success very shortly after the puck was thrown to the ice at the opening of the contest. He took a pass from Lipsett at center and skated down the left side and shot at close range into the corner of the cage. That was the only goal scored during the period.

After getting the one-point lead the King George lads worked hard to follow up with further counters. They carried the battle well up the rink but could not get through Weir and Wilson for anything better than a few weak shots which Clark turned aside with no difficulty. Williamson and Ross Epps, husky defense, worked in combine on these efforts. Horace Fisher and Ben Wilson offered retaliation on the part of the Walesmen but their attempts were also smothered. Fisher was the outstanding figure of his squad, his red head towering above those of his teammates. Hill shot a couple at Clark but was beaten.

See-Saw Battle

End to end scrambles opened the second session. After 10 minutes' battling Williamson rushed down the left side after taking the puck from the boards and shot fast into the net after drawing Clark out. The battle sped along faster after the face-off and after a mix-up, both Williamson and Weir were put in the penalty box by Crawford.

King George got their third and last goal 4 minutes after the second counter was rung in. Again Williamson worked his favourite play. He picked up the puck in a scramble at center and stick-handled right through to the mouth of the enemy cage around the left end and registered with veteran precision.

The count stood at 3-0 when they took the ice for the last. By the offensive which the King George lads staged after the face-off it looked as though their opponents were going to suffer a wash-out.

However, the Prince of Wales men were not through. They rallied and soon began to throw some hard attacks at the defense of Trevor Miller's boys. Five minutes in the period their offensive met with success. Weir skated to the blue line and shot long. The puck sizzled by Hunter into the corner of the net. Fisher, Robertson and Kingdon worked hard to repeat but failed. In the last few minutes of the game neither squad was able to make any headway.

The line-ups:

King- George—Goal, George Hunter; defense, Ross Epps, Floyd Thornley; wings, John Hill, Stuart Williamson; center, Clarence Lipsett; subs, Harry Hoy, Ralph Holland, Dan. Loescher

Prince of Wales—Goal, Gordon Clark; defense, Bob Weir, Ben Wilson; wings, Ross Robertson, Horace Fisher; center, Harry Kingdon; subs, Harry Doughty, Sid Ferguson.

Referee—D. Crawford.

FIRST OF C.G.E. FINALS TO-NIGHT

Tool Room No. 2 and Draftsmen Clash in Brock Street Rink.

Hockey fans are promised an interesting time to-night at the Brock Street Rink when the Tool Room No. 2 team clashes with the Drafting Room in the first of a two game series to decide the championship of the C.G.E. Hockey League, the game being called for seven o'clock.

The Toolmakers defeated the Armateur Winders on Monday last in a sudden-death semi-final game, thereby qualifying to meet the Draftsmen in the finals, and the fact that they have not been defeated so far this year augurs well for their hopes against the classy Drawing Markers who were champions last year, and boast one of the strongest line-ups in the city.

The following is the line-up:

Peterborough.—Goal, Macdonald; defence, Stabler and Ward; centre, Kingdon; wings, Robertson and Weir; subs, Stinson, Wright and Gatfield.

The Grove.—Goal, Disney; defence, Wright and Macrae; centre, Biggin; wings, Carter and Anderson; subs, Macdonald and Magill.

EAGLE JAMS LIGHTS

LYONS, France, (U.P.)—Three villages in the Savoie Valley near here were plunged into darkness when an eagle flew into the overhead electric cables which serve the district with power. Workmen spent a whole night trying to locate the cause of the breakdown and in the morning found the bird electrocuted just outside the village of Longefroy which, with Tessens and Macot, had been without power.

Y.M.C.A. House League Opens Second Schedule

Y.M.C.A. House-League basketball goes out into the second half of its schedule to-night. Joe Cooper's Wildcats sailed right through the first half and ended in top position and to-night at the "Y" they will attempt to peg their first win of the second half when they meet Hec McLeod's Spartans. The bill will be completed with a clash of the Bohunks and the Curvin Rats. This will be an exhibition of big time basketball. The Bohunks are piloted by Scotty McLeish and the Rats by Vert Reynolds.

The first game will get under way at 8 bells.

BENEFIT NIGHT LAKEFIELD RINK

Bachelors Vs. Benedicts Ice Battle Feature of Popular Program.

JUNIOR HOCKEY TILT.

LAKEFIELD, March 5 (Examiner Correspondence). — Saturday night was the special night devoted to the Citizens' Band at the Lakefield Rink and is the annual band benefit night. Postponed from last week owing to the very mild weather, the weatherman did his worst on Saturday, with a fall of soft snow on Saturday morning and a heavy rain in the afternoon, but the evening turned out well with stars and a lower temperature and there was a large attendance and everyone had a good time. The first part of the evening was given over to a hockey match, Bachelors vs. Benedicts and this attracted a specially large crowd, with the Reeve and one member of the Council playing, prominent business men and the flower of the village bachelors, even an O.H.A. game could hardly attract a larger crowd.

Most of the contestants were playing their first game of the season, in fact of several seasons, and it was with a deep sigh of relief that they heard the last gong sound.

The pace was fast and the game furiously contested by both sides, the defence men were inclined to move forward to aid the front line, while the goalies were often left to act in the dual role of defence and goalie. Braden Blewett was the referee and spent a busy half hour. The game consisted only of two fifteen minute periods and the Benedicts were victors with a score of 3—1.

The Bachelors got their only counter in the first period, while the Benedicts got all three of theirs in the second stanza.

The referee dealt out penalties with a generosity which kept the penalty box resembling a sardine can, so tightly were the offenders packed in. The line up was as follows:

Bachelors.—Goal, F. Payne; r. defence, K. Tate; l. defence, J. R. Hill; centre, M. Wannamaker; r. wing, F. Wannamaker; l. wing, T. Hampton; sub., E. Ruttle.

Benedicts—Goal, F. Hill; r. defence, E. H. Northey; l. defence, J. R. Robinson; centre, G. Scriver; r. wing, T. W. Chaplin; l. wing, S. Trude; sub., C. S. Tanner.

Following the game the Citizens' Band provided an excellent program of music for skating.

PICTORIAL GOLF

HIT THROUGH THE BALL.

Many golfers fail to get the most out of the swing by hitting at the ball instead of hitting through the ball. When you observe a player swinging at the ball and pulling the left foot back from its original position at the address you have seen a serious error committed.

In this case the golfer has pivoted on the right leg in the back swing and on the same leg in the downward swing and the finish. This shows that he has not permitted the clubhead to go on through. This comes from self taught golf as a rule, sometimes it is a habit that one acquires.

FIVE FISHERMEN DROWN

STOCKHOLM, March 5. (C.P.)—Five fishermen were drowned to-day a short distance from shore when their boat suddenly capsized. Most of the men had large families and their death is something of a catastrophe to the inhabitants of the tiny hamlet on the Cattegat near Gothernberg where they live.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FIRE ENGIGE.

"Don't you want to come adventuring with me to-day?" asked Uncle Wiggily of his wife aone morning. "Vome on! Hop along! I get a bit tired of going off by myself so much."

"Really, Wiggy, my dear, I'd love to go with you, though I don't care for adventures," answered Mrs. Longears. "But there is so much to do around the bungalow this morning—the children left everything so upset when they ran off to school and—"

"Now you hop right along! squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, whisking her tail around the legs of a chair to knock off some dust. "I'll looks after the bungalow. I'll wash the dishes, I'll straighten up the rooms. You go along with your husband, Mrs. Longears, and have an adventure. It will do you good. Husbands shouldn't be allowed to go off by themselves so much. Once in a while they should take their wives."

"Of course!" said Uncle Wiggily quickly. "That's what I'm doing."

"Well, I don't know," murmured Mrs. Longears, doubtfully. But Nurse Jane put an end to it by saying:

"Hop along, now, both of you!"

So Uncle Wiggily and his wife were soon hopping over the fields and through the woods. It was rather a warm day for the time of year and the snow was melting, for it could not be more than a month until spring. Of course in such lovely places as South Carolina and California, where some rabbits live, there never is much snow to melt away for spring.

'Oh, ho! Two rabbits for me!'

"What sort of an adventure do you think you'll have this morning, Wiggy?" asked his wife as they hopped along over the melting snow.

"I never can tell until the adventure happens," Uncle Wiggily answered. "But let's hop down this lane between the evergreen trees. I think there may be something here."

"Why Wiggy you aren't going to buy an adventure, are you? Asked his wife as he saw her husband stop in front of a toy store kept by a kind old dog gentleman.

"Oh, no, indeed!" Mr. Longears answered. "But I always like to stop and look in this toy shop window. It gives me something to think about. Just see those lovely jumping Jacks, and the balls and the boat with sails. And my goodness! There's a red fire engine!" cried the rabbit, and he started for the door of the store.

"Wiggy!" cried his wife, "you're never going to buy that red fire engine, are you?"

"I—er—oh, no, certainly not—I just want to go in and sort of look at it," stammered the rabbit gentleman, who was almost a boy yet, in some ways.

"Well, I'll go in with you and see what you don't do anything so foolish as to buy a toy fire engine, even if it is painted red," said Mrs. Longears to herself. She followed her husband into the shop in time to hear the jolly old dog gentleman say, as he took the toy engine from the window.

"Yes, that's a fine machine. It has a little rubber hose on it, as you see, and when you wind up the spring it squirts real wate."

"You don't tell me!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Real water? No!"

"Yes!" barked the dog. "Here, I'll show you!"

He wound up the spring of the pump, put some water in a little tank to which a small rubber hose was fastened, and—there! Real water squirted out across the store, spraying into the goldfish bowl.

"Why, that's wonderful!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I'll buy that fire engine. Here, wrap it up for me!" and Uncle Wiggily took out his purse.

"Wiggy!" cried his wife. "You're never going to be so silly, at your age, as to buy yourself a red toy fire engine that squirts water!"

"No, I'm not buying it for myself," said Uncle Wiggily, firmly. "I'm getting it for Buster and Custer and some of our other boys. They need a toy like this to make them brave and strong. Come along now, we'll hop home and try it."

"Well, of all things!" said Mrs. Longears. All the way home she was wondering what would happen next. Then, all of a sudden, out from behind a bush sprang the Fuzzy Fox.

"Oh, ho!" barked the fox, "Two rabbits for me! Let's see, which shall I eat first, Unvle Wiggily or his wife?"

"You will eat neither of us!" bravely cried Uncle Wiggily. Quickly he filled the tank fo the red fire engine from a puddle of melted snow water. Then the rabbit gentleman started the spring pump and out of the hose squirted a stream of cold water straight in the eyes, nose and mouth of that bad fox. "Take that!" cried Fireman Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, wow! I've had enough!" Goodnight!" howled the wet fox, and away he ran. Then Uncle Wiggily took the fire engine home and his wife never said another word about him buying it. She was glad he had.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

To Neutralize Acidity and Fermentation. Prevents Indigestion, Sour Gassy Stomach.

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried pepsin, charcoal, soda and various digestive aids and got little more than slight temporary relief—sometimes not even that.

But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat. You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion

APPEAL FOR FAMILY

Donations of Fuel and Provisions Would Be Most Welcome.

Friends are making an appeal for a family that is greatly in need at the present time. Neither of the parents are in good health, and the father, who is a laborer, has heart and lung trouble. There are three children, the eldest six years of age.

Donations of fuel or provisions would be most welcome. A little clothing is required, but the main necessities of living are fuel and food.

Telephone calls to 1771 or 2044-F in this connection would be appreciated.

COUNTY ORANGE LODGE HEARS ADDRESS FROM NATHANIEL BELCH

Mistaken Conception of Orangeism Held By Many People Has Impressed Secretary.

PRINCIPLES OUTLINED.

The following address was delivered by Nathaniel Belch, County Secretary at the County Orange Lodge meeting of East Durham at Millbrook, recently.

Wor. County Master and Brethren,—

Through the will of an all wise and kindly Providence we are again permitted to assemble at our Annual meeting to transact the business that comes under the jurisdiction of this County Orange Lodge and to once more renew the acquaintances and enjoy the fraternal fellowship of the brethren from the different Primary Lodges of our County.

During the past seventeen years that I have acted as your County Secretary, in fact since I joined the Order, I have been impressed with the mistaken conceptions that many people had concerning Orangeism and the Orange Order.

Outside of the signs, symbols and pass words whereby the breathren though strangers, they may be, may know each other as Orangemen when they meet and whereby only those who have been duly initiated can gain admission to an Orange Lodge. Outside of those signs, symbols and pass words there is nothing secret about the Orange Order. And yet with over 3000 Orange Lodges scattered across British America from Newfoundland to British Columbia, the Orange Order has been very much misunderstood and misrepresented and as this year marks the one hundredth anniversary of the institution of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America, I have felt it a duty to try to deliver to the brethren here assembled representative of the fifteen Primary Lodges of our County, a message on the mission of the Orange Order to this Dominion.

I am quite conscious of the fact that many of the breathren in this County Orange Lodge are better qualified to deal with this subject than I am and I may not be able to tell you anything that you already do not know but I hope my words may be the means of inspiring within us all an enthusiasm that may help in some little way to raise the light of Orangeism from under the "bushel" in order that its principles may be better understood and more fully adopted throughout our Land.

The principles of Orangeism are principles that the Great Teacher of Humanity proclaimed and taught to an almost hopeless and intolerant world, a world where down through the centuries empire after empire had risen and fallen and the fruits of their civilizations largely falling with them, a world the history of which reeked with superstition, war and bloodshed, where the followers of one religion could not tolerate the followers of another and waged war against them.

This was the world that the Great Saviour and Teacher of mankind came to deliver and teach the Way of Life, the Gospel of Love, Peace on Earth and Good Will toward all men, to bring the Kingdom of Heaven down on this Earth to dwell in the hearts of men. This was the Saviour that defined the Law between the temporal and Spiritual realms or between Church and State: "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."

Taught World Toleration

This was the Teacher that taught the World toleration. When His disciples saw a man casting out devils in His name they forbade him because as they said "he followeth not with us"; but Christ said "Forbid him not for he that is not against us is with us."

It was an intolerant world ground deep in the cold, hollow, heartless, religious formality of the day that could not stand up in the Light of the purity of the Gospel that rejected and crucified the Saviour of mankind, a world for which the Christian martyrs whose Light shall never grow dim, from the first century up to our modern times bear silent but undeniable testimony.

The history of manhood is one long story of intolerance of the great struggle for civil and religious freedom.

Since the beginning of the Christian era we see the rise of Islam where Mohammed by the sword seriously threatened the very existence of Christendom, sacrificing millions of lives in the wake of his triumphal march. All must become followers or perish by the sword. We see the Crusaders who later battled with the Mohammedans for the possession of the Holy Land. We see war after war and revolution after revolution, including the French revolution and later the Red 'Internationale or Soviet in Russia.

In contrast to the intolerance of the times I would refer you to that great champion of Protestant Europe, William the Silent, grandsire of William III of England, who so heroically resisted and defeated the forces of the Spanish Inquisition led by Philip of Spain. This Dutch Prince exhibited a tolerance toward his conquered foes that rarely existed previous to his time. He sternly held his followers from persecuting or interfering with the religious convictions or religious practices of those who were of a different religion.

And so as Orangemen in memory of the House of Orange and of this broad-minded, tolerant patriot we are pledged to respect the religious convictions of our fellowmen and to protect them if necessary in the exercise thereof.

Struggle for Freedom

I might also refer you to the great struggle for freedom in England waged for centuries and culminated with the coming of William III and the Battle of the Boyne, a battle which in comparison with the magnitude of modern military engagements was but a skirmish but when compared with the great issues involved and the results achieved, was one of the greatest in British history. It was not in the true sense a victory of Protestant over Roman Catholic but one that terminated the autocratic pretension of the Divine Right of Kings and settled the foundation of British Democracy.

And I believe if our Roman Catholic brethren understood the full significance, the far-reaching results of that victory on the future of the British Empire and United States where Roman Catholics and Protestants alike enjoy the fullest civil and religious freedom they would feel like joining with their brethren in celebrating that memorable day when William met James at the Boyne.

And now coming down to our own day; the world has passed through the greatest war in history, the most terrible in destruction of life and property, a war for which generations yet unborn will never live to pay all the penalty. And the nations of the world brought this great scourge upon themselves simply because they failed in their international relations with each other to imbibe the Spirit of the Great Teacher in their hearts and settle their differences in accordance with the principles of His inspired Word.

"Peace on Earth and Good Will Toward all men" is perhaps the highest goal to which the nations of Earth can hope to aspire. And while the question of universal peace demands and occupies the great statesmanship of the world, we as humble citizens of our fair Dominion in our own little spheres hold no small responsibility and can each play our little part towards making this Canada of ours, a united Canada where its citizens may live and continue to be at Peace and in Good Will one with another.

We are told in the Good Book that "where there is no vision the people perish." We who are advancing on in life have an experience. In years to come our lessons of experience should be a guide to our actions in the future and for the guidance of our future national life we refer to history which is the record of experience of the nations and of the individuals. We all know that history repeats itself. What has taken place in the past under similar circumstances will very likely occur again.

Leave for Land of the Free

Going back to the time when revolution and war was rampant in several countries of Europe we find refugees fleeing from persecution to embark to America to find new homes in the "Land of the Free" where every man could worship his God unmolested according to the dictates of his conscience. In years later after the revolutionary war when the Fathers of the United States of America drafted out a new Constitution and adopted a new form of government we get a glimpse of their vision. Looking back with their memories fresh from the experience of persecution they look upon a Europe of many nations and states, of many races, of many languages and of many religions, each nation with its own political aspirations and its own peculiar laws and customs; a veritable Babel of conflicting humanity. They foresaw the entry of their shores of the incoming millions of all nationalities and of all creeds and they resolutely made preparations to receive them. They or their successors adopted one official language for all, the English language and one national non-sectarian school where the children of all these nationalities and creeds met together and received their education in common and thus we have seen in United States of America, "the melting pot of the nations", the greatest example of solving the Immigration probelm and that of National Unity that history has ever given us and now the richest and the greatest industrial nation in the world.

And in passing, I might just mention that European nations from this example, who have witnessed the rise of the American Republic, called a conference some few months ago to form a United States of Europe for economic purposes.

And now coming to our own Dominion of boundless potential wealth and almost unlimited natural resources we see a vision that calls for the very best that the Church, the State, and all patriotic organizations and individuals can offer in order to reach its attainments. We stand to-day in population where United States stood one hundred years ago. We see where they have triumphed and we can see where they have failed. From all the great history of the past, we learn how to plan for the future, ever remembering the truth contained in the Holy Word that the nation and the individual that forsake their God and will not return no matter how high they soar are eventually but surely running to their fall.

It is the great mission of the Church to minister to the spiritual and moral welfare of the people and Orangemen as members thereof are morally responsible; it is the duty of Orangemen in political field to try to put the principles of Orangeism into practice in the government of the Country for the mutual benefit of all.

In every Orange Lodge the open Bible rests on the Altar and a portion of it is read at every Primary Lodge meeting. The Orange Ritual, the degree work and all the ceremonies are religious in character. And while the Order is a religious Order it also has a political sphere. Its politics are not party politics although Orangemen are found in all political parties.

The planks of the Orange platform are: Loyalty to the Throne and to the Union Jack, the flag of the Empire, Unity of the Empire, the preservation of British Democracy in this Dominion and a United Canada with equal rights to all classes and special privileges to none.

These are the political principles that the Orange Order has been contending for since it was first established in this country and the Orange leaders of the past with the great vision of the future before them, with the view of the many millions of newcomers of many races and creeds that would eventually seek homes in our Land and with the great lessons of history to guide them became firmly convinced that in order to make this country a great British Democracy and a United Canada we should adopt one official language for all, the English language and one school where the children of different nationalities and of different creeds are taught together from the same text books, where they play together, form friendships and an understanding of each other that rarely occurs when they are educated in separate or sectarian institutions. It is also very essential that teachers be of good moral and religious character who by example and precept in the study of history and literature especially, should try to instil the principles of true manhood and womanhood into the minds and hearts of their pupils, teaching only the principles of religion that do not conflict with the religious views of the parents of the children concerned. Further than that, and otherwise leaving the teaching of religion to the Home, the Church and the Sunday School.

Official Language

The English language is the official language of the Empire. It is the great language of the North American continent and is fast becoming the official, the great universal language of the world. With the completion of the transoceanic telephone cable across the Atlantic in 1932. With the vast improvement in the talkies, in the radio and radio television that is bound to come in the future and sure to be adopted throughout the Land and when English is the universal language then it is most desirable that all Canadian should understand it in order to reap the benefit.

For over one hundred years we have lived in peace and harmony with our great neighbor to the south and that is attributable to a very large degree to the fact that we have a common language and a common literature and thus a much better understanding of each other. And coming from the mouth of one of the great American statesmen here recently who was engaged to take part in the great London Conference which is now open and which was called for the purpose of reaching an agreement by the nations for the reduction of armaments; he said in words to this effect, "We expect Canada to be our arbiter, to interpret our view point because Canada understands us best.

On the Twelfth of July in every year many thousands of Orange Brethren near the border between Canada and the United States join together from each country to hold their celebrations. Many other great fraternal bodies and other organizations come to Canada to hold their annual conventions and it is expected that in this coming June, three hundred thousand Mystic Shriners will gather to convene in the city of Toronto.

All these fraternal gatherings strengthen the bond of fellowship, of understanding and of Peace and Good Will between the two countries and all attributable to a very large degree to the medium of a common language.

It would be the height of intolerance and presumption and entirely contrary to the principles of Orangeism for the Order to say to any citizen, "This is the language you must speak and no other." The Orange Order is not opposed to any citizen speaking the language of his mother country and it is not opposed to the teaching of other languages as subjects in our schools, but it does contend after viewing the history of Europe with all its various nationalities, languagues and creeds in contrast to that of United States that in the interest of National Unity and mutual good will and understanding between the different nationalities and creeds in this Dominion that we should have one official language that as far as possible all should learn that they might be able to converse one with another.

The Orange Order is willing to abide by the terms of the British North American Act providing that our opponents show a desire to do likewise. But apparently there is a movement under way to put the French language on an equality with English making it one of the official languages throughout this Dominion and it has been contended by many, the truth for which I cannot vouch, that the French ideal by the fecundity of their race is to become dominant in this Dominion and regain what was lost at Quebec on the Heights of Abraham in 1759. Now if such be the truth, we have a future before us for which there should be the most grave concern.

Many Warnings

The pages of history are full of warning. They fail to reveal to us a single instance where a nation continued to exist in peace and harmony within a nation or in other words no two nationalities with conflicting ideals can dwell at peace and in harmony in the one country. "A house divided against itself must fall."

Should that be the ideal of the French Canadian and it would ultimately lead to a struggle, then it is within the close range of probability that our powerful neighbor who would have billions of dollars invested in this country and who has been arbiter in the past of the Spanish republics to the south of him would have to come in to protect his interests (perhaps encouraged) and so annex us all.

But it does not seem reasonable to me to think that a people who have produced a Cartier and a Laurier could hold such a short-sighted vision or ideal.

In the days of persecution on the continent, thousands of the French people fled to England and America as the French names of the people of those countries of to-day plainly testify and contributed their full share of the developments and progress of the two countries. They did not hold a national ideal but accepted the language of the country of their adoption and contributed their full share to its achievements and prosperity.

No true Orangeman would for a moment wish to detract from the heroic and self-sacrificing history of the French race in Canada.

In the early days they crossed the Atlantic and in constant danger of their lives endured almost unbearable hardships in order to build up a New France on the eastern shores of America and on the banks of the St. Lawrence. They hewed homes out of the forest, cleared the wilderness and made it produce food in abundance. The French missionaries brought the story of the Cross to the heathen and hostile Indians and the names of the martyred Father Brebuf and Father Lalemont will ever live to bear testimony to their heroism and self-sacrifice.

And so I look into the future of the prolific French race of this Dominion with its fast overflowing population from the Province of Quebec to all parts of the Country. As I view in the past what the French contributed by assimilation in England and America to the great development and attainments of those countries, I appeal to the French people of Canada on their own behalf, for the benefit of their children of their future generations to throw in their lot and co-operate with the other citizens of this Dominion in the cause of National Unity, Peace and mutual good will and understanding.

I have like the Rev. Bro. Ward Whate of Toronto, a good word to say of the French Canadian. Over eighteen years ago while out in Saskatcheean, during the harvesting and the threshing season I had for a friend a French Canadian who came somewhere previously from the Province of Quebec to make his home in the prairie Province. He was in my opinion one of the finest young men that I have ever met. He could read the English language but he had great difficulty in speaking it. For some years after I kept up a correspondence with him. He wrote me in French and I answered his letter in English.

He was employed by an orangeman and made his friends of Orangemen. He was a faithful attender of his church, the Roman Catholic, and no one found any fault with him for being so. He was strenuously trying to learn to speak English and adapt himself to the ways of the Country. And I firmly believe that if the compatriots of this young French Canadian showed the same spirit that a truly United Canada would be in sight and I believe that the French race in this Dominion would share an incomparably higher destiny.

The Orange Order in Canada has always stood for the unity of the Empire and the maintenance of our British Democracy. There are those to-day that would try to divide it up and cut all the ties that bind us to the Motherland. They want to pull down the Union Jack, the flag of the Empire, the emblem of British justice and freedom and put something else in its place. We have men to-day preaching and advocating untried and perhaps insane theories of government and while our present democratic system may be in some respects defective and far from perfect, we should not throw away what has taken centuries to build up for something that perhaps originated in Russia but rather as our duty here in Canada endeavour to develop and improve it as the years go by.

When men like the late Lord Botha and the present General Jan Christian Smuts as valiant foemen as ever faced the British arms, when men like these will fight for the defence of the Empire and its British Democracy and afterwards consecrate their lives to its unity and through it work for the universal peace of the world then I say that we, as Canadians should value dearly our British Democracy and feel justly proud to live under the Union Jack.

I always feel grieved when I hear people criticizing the Church or casting any reflections upon it by pointing at some weak and erring brother and I feel likewise concerning the Orange Order.

Several years ago when the Great War was on and many thousands of our boys were in training in this country and exposed to temptations many times greater than what those in civilian life were, some people and perhaps with some reason were prone to criticize their actions but if it had not been for those boys and many more like them in the world, we to-day would not be living in our own Canada.

And so it is with the Orange Order. If it had not been for the Orangemen and many more people with similar convictions, if it had not been for the vision of our leaders of the past, we would not be enjoying the peace, security and freedom we have to-day.

And to the opponents and critics of the Orange Order I would like to ask, "How do you expect to get National Unity and Peace and Good Will in this Country if you do not try to remove the obstacles that are in the way of securing it.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of Liberty."

Not Extremists

Are Orangemen extremists, bigots, or fanatics when they oppose the spread of Bolshevik and of other seditious propaganda in this country, when they are endeavoring to help solve the Immigration problem and when they are in favor of allowing only those to enter our Dominion who can be readily assimilated and who are willing to abide by our laws and become good Canadians.

Were Orangemen extremists, biots, or fanatics when they supported the Liberal Premier, Hon. T. C. Norris in his campaign for the English language and one school in the Province of Manitoba and when they Orangement of Ontario sent their two Grand Lodge organizers out to take the platform throughout the Province in his support.

Were Orangemen extremists, bigots, or fanatics when they secured the election to the Premiership of the Province of Saskatchewan of Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, a man who holds the highest degrees that a Canadian university can give, a man who has written books on Education, who has spent his life in teaching and in studying the educational problems of this Country. Were Orangemen extremists, bigots, or fanatics when they supported him on the School and Language question. I think not. They had firm convictions that the principles for which they were contending were for the best promotion of future Peace and National Unity in the Dominion.

And ato all the brethren who may come within sight of sound of these words I want to reassure you in my own humble way of our high and noble mission.

We have had in our ranks, Fathers of Confederation, Federal Prime Ministers, Provincial Premiers, Cabinet Ministers, Provincial Premiers, Cabinet Ministers, Clergymen, Judges, Doctors, Lawyers Merchants, Farmers, and men of all other professions and trades from the highest to the most humble, all imbued with the one great purpose of maintaining the principles of the OrangeAssociation in the promotion of the highest welfare of our Dominion.

And as Orangemen we go back to our tomes and some of us travel to other parts of this Dominion, we can all more or less be ambassadors on that high and noble mission—to secure a United Canada and Peace and Good Will towards all men. I would admonish you to steadfastly hold to these principles, slow to take offense and offering none. Let "No Surrender" be our watchword and by our example and daily life, in provihng to our fellowmen their worth, exert an influence that will draw others to us so that we may reach the attainment in our great Dominion of that high and noble mission.

World Unemployment Day

Tomorrow, Thursday, was set as World Unemployment Day by Communists at an international meeting here recently, the Communist leaders expressing hope that the jobless in every country will make demonstrations sufficiently serious to give the Bourgeoisien "something to talk about."

The Communist newspaper, Rotefahne, reminded its readers that street meetings were forbidden in Berlin, but admonished them to "show the fighting spirit of the proletariat despite police ordinances."

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, March 5 (C.P.)—A communist meeting fixed for Thursday has been forbidden. Two Communist papers in the Provinces were suspended.

Suspect is Held

LEIPSIG, March '.—An employee of the Reichswehr, German National Guard Association, is under arrest, charged with collusion with Communists in disappearance last week of 30 machine guns and rifles from the Reichswehr barracks.

The case is regarded as further evidence of Communist activity within the Reichswehr.

Demonstration in New York.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 5.—(C.P.)—Police precautions of a nature that usually characterize May Day will be in force to-morrow when an unemployment demonstration takes place in Union Square.

In addition to a strong force of foot and mounted police at the scene of the meeting, guards have been assigned by Commissioner Whalen to public buildings, cathedrals and the homes of wealthy and prominent persons.

Mayor James J. Walker has announced that the right of the demonstrators to free speech and petition would be respected but has warned that no disorders would be tolerated.

Samuel Darcy, Communist organizer of the demonstration, said an attendance of 60,000 persons was expected with forty speakers. W. Z. Foster, as National Secretary of the Trades Union Unity League, declared tomorrow's demonstration would be followed by further mass mobilization measures. He said the League has decided to call a National Conference on unemployment to be held in New York on March 29, to be followed by a mass convention in Chicago in the near future.

ANOTHER!

Reports of robins have been as scarce in the past week as niggers at a K.K.K. gathering, but at last another one has come in. At noon to-day, John Barnes of 5 Cottesmore Street spied one of the red-breasted creatures in the vicinity of his house. It won't be long now, some say, until the sight of a robin will be no novelty.

FIREMEN EXERCISE.

Responding to an alarm from 140 Robinson Street last evening, members of the City Fire Department arrived to find nothing worse than overheated stove pipes. Another alarm at 11.02 p.m. sent the Brigade away down at the rear of the C.P.R. freight sheds, where some rubbish afire on the city rubbish dump was causing a possible menace to adjoining property.

ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Following the plan of the Kiwanis Club to arrange for members of the club to speak to the Collegiate students from time to time on the different lines of business engaged in by the members of the Club with the idea of giving information to the students which may help them in deciding upon their vocations in life, Mr. Joseph Wearing, City Solicitor, gave an address in the Assembly Hall this morning on the subject, "Law, and its opportunities."

FIRE IN CLOTHES CLOSET.

Aroused from her sleep by the pungent odor of smoke, Mrs. H. S. Elliott of 346 Mark Street investigated, to find that a clothes closet on the ground floor was on fire. Reaching for the telephone she summoned the Fire Department, and within a few minutes firemen were pouring the contents of a 35-gallon chemical on the flames, with very good effect.

Slight damage was caused to the woodwork and a few articles of attire, which, it is understood are fully covered by insurance.

GEORGE ADAMS RETURNS TO CITY AFTER 37 YEARS

Old Peterborough Boy Returns Home After Long Absence.

LIVES IN ALASKA.

Lives Now Within 150 Miles of Present Gold Strike, at Ruby.

After an absence of thirty-seven years, packed with romance and adventure, George Adams, a brother of the City Treasurer, stepped off the train here on Tuesday last, just having completed a journey from faraway Alaska, which commenced on January 23.

He must have been a little bewildered as he drove up Peterborough's main thoroughfare after such a long exile, and noted the radical changes which have taken place. Crossing the Hunter Street Bridge, Mr. Adams said he was very much impressed by the beauty of it, that structure was, of course, not even contemplated in the far-off days when he bid goodbye to the then thriving little town, since grown to such proportions, and still growing, with the dignified status of a city.

"I have spent most of the time in Ididarog, in the Fourth Division of Alaska," said Mr. Adams in telephone conversation with The Examiner, "where I have been engaged in numerous pursuits, mining, hotel keeping, and running a general mberchandise store.

"Ididarog, a little settlement of 250 persons, is a typical backwoods community. There is no farming carried on there, but it is situated in a rich mineral belt and mining is the chief occupation. It is a town which boasts neither doctors, churches, lawyers or police, situated five hundred miles from the rail head at Fairbanks."

Communication with the outside world is established with radio and newspapers two or three days old, also afford one a glimpse of civilization.

Mr. Adams' journey commenced on January 23 with a 500 miles flight by plane to the rail head. Here he took the train, travelling down to Seattle where he stopped off for a time, later taking up the journey and stopping off at various places en route, including St. Paul, Rochester, Minn., American and Canadian Saults, and so to his old home town.

He plans to stay here for two weeks and says there are lots of places and people that he knows, but that he has not yet had time to get properly acquainted even with his own family.

Asked if Ididarog was anywhere near the spot where the recent gold strike was made, he said that it was about 150 miles away, and as he came out in January people were commencing to rush in to Ruby in a frantic endeavor to be the first to strike out their claims.

I saw Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advertised as being good for the expectant mother, and it built me up, gave me an appetite and strengthened me. I kept up my strength to the very last, was able to do all my own work, and my baby has been fine and healthy from birth, is now six months' old and has never had a sick day." — Mrs. Constance Tomsett, 322 Douro Street.

WAR VETERANS HAVE PROMINENT

of the committee in the persons of General Ames Ross of Kingston, C. D., C.M.G., and General J. A. Clark, C.M.G., D.S.O. General Ross was a strenuous investigator into the cause of sickness to which exposure in the trenches made the soldiers peculiarly liable. He was the first to discover a preventative for "trench feet," a malady induced by long hours of duty in the water-logged trenches.

General Clark commanded the 72nd Battalion, the Seaforth Highlanders, before he took over the 7th Infantry Brigade. His regime as commander saw the brigade finishing the war where, for the British armies in France, it had begun. On the night of November 10, 1918, the 42nd Highlanders and Princess Patricia's, "sneaked" through the darkened streets of Mons where, on August 24, 1914, the old Contemptibles had had their first battle with the Germans. Armistice Day saw Mons in the hands of the Canadians, the 7th Brigade, in full possession.

Major Sanderson Member.

Major F. G. Sanderson, chief Liberal Whip, is also a member of the committee. Serving in France with the 87th Canadian Battalion, Major Sanderson's function was one of the most thankless of the whole service; he was paymaster.

Lieut.-Colonel James Arthurs (Con., Parry Sound) raised the 162nd Battalion, which was dispersed in England. Colonel Arthurs, however, attached himself to the 1st Canadian Infantry Battalion, and served with them with distinction.

Hon. R. J. Manion (Cons., Fort William) was a medical officer in the French Army during the early days of the war, but eventually "fetched up" in the 21st (Eastern Ontario) Battalion. Dr. Manion won the Military Cross at Vimy Ridge.

Two Canadians who served in the Imperial Army were Dr. Peter McGibbon (Cons., Muskoka) and Major J. T. Thorson (Lib., Winnipeg South Centre). Dr. Murray MacLaren (Cons., St. John-Alberta) served in the Caandian medical services. Dr. F. W. Gershaw (Lib., Medicine Hat) also was a medical officer in the Canadian Corps, while M. F. Hepburn (Lib., Elgin West) served in the Royal Air Force.

Sir Eugene Fiset was Deputy Minister of Militia.

H. B. Adshead (Prog., Calgary East) lost two sons, one an orginal member of the 10th Battalion, who was killed less than a month from the landing of the 1st Canadian Division in France. The other son, who had served in the 89th Battalion, died of wounds subsequent to the war.

Prince May Resume Hunting on Sunday

LONDON, March 5 (Canadian Press). — The Prince of Wales has recovered so rapidly from the sub-tertian malaria which brought him down last Friday that he will resume his hunting on Sunday.

A despatch to the Daily Mail from Nairobi, Kenya Colony, said he probably would go to Entebbe, Uganda, on Lake Victoria, and use a lake steamer as a base for his expedition.

No more bulletins on the Prince's condition will be issued at Nairobi. It is said he is virtually himself again, although finding it necessary to take things easy until the end of the week.

There is general gratification in London at his recovery although not unmixed with surprise that the malarial attack has ended so rapidly.

WEDDING BELLS

GRADY—SPARKS.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at six o'clock yesterday morning, at the Church of the Sacred Heart, when Rita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sparks of Toronto became the bride of Victor Grady, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Grady, of 122 Park street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. J. Moloney.

The bride was gowned in a lovely dress of grey georgette, with hat, shoes and hose to match. She wore a fur neckpiece of red fox and carried a bouquet of Columbia roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Alma Fontaine, was in a dress of beige crepe, with matching hat, shoes and hose, red fox scarf and carried a bouquet of Columbia roses.

The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Joseph Jones.

After a dainty wedding breakfast, served at the home of Mr. W. Brioux, Lake street, Mr. Grady and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Toronto and Buffalo. On their return, they will live at 147 Lake street.

STOMACH TROUBLE

A prominent and well-to-do man was on his way to New York, his passage booked for Carlsbad, after unsuccessful efforts in this country to cure stomach trouble. On the Pullman he met a man near his own age with whom he became confidential, at least to the extent of confiding the nature of his trip and what he hoped to accomplish in the way of health.

This new friend, who had the appearance of a hard-headed business man, became interested because he had suffered a like condition. He advised the sick man to cancel his steamship bookings and return to his home and consult a Chiropractor. He knew from experience that the sick man's cure was not in Carlsbad. His personality was such as to compel the ailing man to take the advice. It turned out that the stomach trouble which had baffled the skill of specialists responded to CHIROPRACTIC TREATMENTS. The cure for which this man was seeking was in his own city. Had he but investigated he could have spared himself much discomfort.

THE MORAL IS: INVESTIGATE CHIROPRACTIC AND GET WELL AT HOME. OTHERS HAVE DONE IT—WHY CAN'T YOU?

INGRAM NOT GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

FAMOUS ADMIRAL OF GERMAN NAVY CALLED BY DEATH

Alfred Von Tirpitz Was Instigator of Terrible Submarine Warfare.

DIFFERED WITH KAISER.

Spent Last Years Retired at Villa on Stranberger Lake —in 81st Year.

EBENHAUSEN, Bavaria, March 6 (Canadian Press).—Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz, Lord High Admiral of the German Navy during the war and father of Germany's submarine warfare, died in a sanatorium here at 2:30 a.m. to-day after a brief attack of bronchitis. He would have been 81 years old on March 19.

Termed "War God"

The aged gray-bearded warrior who sometimes was termed a German odin or war god, of the seas, was in good health until about a week ago when the bronchial ailment took him down. He seemed to recover but when his heart action became weak he was brought from his home at Feldafingn on the banks of Starnberger lake, to this place a suburb of Munich.

At Feldafingn he had been leading the life of retired soldier, occasionally lifting his voice in defense of the German republic. In 1925, while a deputy in the Reichstag, he went to Hanover and persuaded Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg to accept candidacy for the German presidency.

Two years ago he wearied of Parliamentary life and declined renomination for the Reichstag in a rather bitter letter to the German Nationalist Party in which he opined the party was making too many compromises. The party then made him its honorary chairman, but he played no political role, merely writing articles occasionally on topics of the day.

From the time he was twenty until he broke with the Kaiser in 1916, Admiral Von Tirpitz' life was one of the most intimate association with the German navy. In 1897 he became Secretary of State for the Imperial Navy, and held it until his quarrel with Wilhelm. Generally he is given credit for instigating and organizing it, to its high peak of efficiency.

Parted With Kaiser Over Subs.

He and Wilhelm were said to have come to the parting of the ways on the very submarine warfare which afterwards led the United States into the war. Wilhelm was for a less vigorous submarine offensive than Von Tirpitz.

In his last years at a small villa on Starnberger Lake, Admiral Von Tirpitz liked nothing better than the company of a few genial companions;

Verdict of Guilty Returned by Jury On Lesser Count

Sentence Will Be Delivered By Mr. Justice Logie at Close of Sessions of the Spring Assizes — Strong Recommendation For Mercy Made.

JURY WAS OUT FOR ONE HOUR AND 15 MINUTES
21 WITNESSES HEARD FOR CROWN AND DEFENSE

Crown Asked For Conviction Under Three Heads, Intoxication, Failure to Keep a Look-out, Driving Car With Faulty Brakes—Girls Were Not Called.

BELLEVILLE March 6 (By Staff Reporter). — Fred Ingram was late last evening acquitted by the jury of the manslaughter charge arising from a motor accident last fall on the Foxboro Road, in which Albert Tearne was killed, but was found guilty of doing grievous bodily harm. In finding young Ingram guilty on the second count, the jury brought in a strong recommendation for mercy because of his good character, youth, and because it is his first offence.

Hon. Justice Logie did not comment on the verdict, and he will withhold sentence until the end of the session of the Spring Assizes of the Supreme Court of Hastings County now sitting.

Out An Hour and Quarter.

The jury was out one hour and fifteen minutes in coming to a decision. At 8.45 p.m. the jury retired, and at 10 o'clock the knock sounded on the door, indicating that the jurors had reached a unanimous verdcit.

A subdued almost inaudible sound of handclapping on the part of some in the well-filled court room followed the reading of the verdict.

Twenty-One Witnesses.

The hearing of the case lasted from 9.30 in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Sixteen witnesses for the Crown gave evidence and five for the defence, including Fred Ingram, the accused.

The two counsels addressed the jury for two hours, recess being called at 7 o'clock. At 8 o'clock court re-opened, and Hon. Justice Logie made his address.

Judge Sums Evidence.

He said in his address that manslaughter could be found where homicide resulted from the omission on the part of the accused to perform some duty. Misadventure could be made a lawful excuse, but if there was present gross recklessness, or wanton or gross misconduct, then there could be no lawful excuse. It is not necessary that there exist intention to do harm; mere inattention may constitute manslaughter.

The Crown was asking for a conviction under three heads, he continued: (1) intoxication, (2) failure to keep a lookout, (3) driving a car with faulty brakes.

In summing up the evidence, Justice Logie said that John Sharp might be considered a careful driver and an honest witness, and also it could be concluded that the buggy was on the right side of the road and the light was lit.

Smell But Not Drunk.

Several witnesses, he said, had sworn to smelling liquor from the accused, and no explanation was given of who emptied the beer bottles. Two doctors who had examined the accused shortly after the accident, however, stated that they had observed no evidences of intoxication. Where sufficient liquor had been consumed to bring about faulty judgment or impair the judgment, then intoxication must be considered, said the Judge.

Witness Not Called.

He made comment upon the fact that neither of the girls who were in the car had been brought into court, although excuses for their non-appearance were offered. Robert Ingram was not called, nor was any reason offered.

Fred Ingram's evidence in so far as it touched his leaving the car in a garage in Belleville was "burdening the credible of the jury," said Justice Logie. "This garage man said to have fixed the car, is within

MURDER SUSPECT IS GIVEN REMAND

Partner of Goldberg Questioned Two Hours—No Bullet Found.

MYSTERY GROWS.

TORONTO, Ont., March 6. (Canadian Press).—Abraham Steinberg, arrested early today on a charge of vagrancy, following the investigation into the mysterious shooting of Samuel Goldberg last night, was remanded for a week to-day when he appeared before Magistrate Browne in police court. Steinburg is a partner in the firm of Goldberg brothers monument works in which the dead man was one of the principals.

Samuel Goldberg was found dead in his office last night with a bullet hole through his dead. His face and parts of his body and hands were badly charred from a fire which apparently started in the office and did about $500 damage to furniture and fittings.

Coal Oil on Clothes.

Goldberg's clothes, police stated today, were almost saturated with coal oil. Throughout the night and to-day detectives assigned to the case have pursued their enquiries, and while the mystery became more complicated they announced that they were working on a theory of murder.

GANDHI MAKES HIS FINAL PLEA FOR INDEPENDENCE TO VICEROY

Do All in Power to Avoid Fight But Will if No Other Way Out.

FRIEND OF ENGLISH.

AHMADABAD, India, March 6 (C.P.).—The ultimatum of Mahatma Gandhi to the British Crown asking for Indian National Independence, and threatening in lieu of that a campaign of intensive civil disobedience, was made public here to-day.

Gandhi, venerable Indian Nationalist, after a vehement attack on British rule in India, which he says, "has impoverished the dumb millions, says, "On bended knees I ask you to ponder this phenomenon."

The Ultimatum

The ultimatum is addressed to the Viceroy, Lord Irwin, and begins:

"My Dear Friend.—Before embarking upon civil disobedience and taking risks which I have dreaded all these years, I would fain approach you and find a way out. My personal faith is absolutely clear. I hold British rule to be a curse, but I do not intend to harm a single Englishman or any legitimate interest he may have in India."

The ultimatum then enumerates circumstances in which his hope that a round table conference in London would furnish a solution of the problem has been frustrated. Gandhi declared that as the plan for an interview at New Delhi miscarried there is no option but to carry out the solemn resolution of the National Congress.

"The resolution for independence should not cause alarm if the phrase 'Dominion status' in your announcement was used in the accepted sense, for have not British statesmen admitted that Dominion status is virtual independence? Since that an-

ALEX ELLIOTT ELECTED PRESIDENT OF KINSMEN

The Peterborough Kinsmen Club Elects Its First Slate of Officers.

Alexander Elliott, a member of the law firm of Gordon & Elliott, was last night elected the first president of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club. Mr. Elliott has been acting president during the organization days, and his election was only a small token of the high respect in which his fellow-Kinsmen hold for him and of his untiring energies in the organization of a club in Peterborough. Other officers elected were: G. Wilson Craw, vice-president; "Rod" Davis, secretary; Emmett Sheehy, treasurer, John Taylor, registrar; and Herbert Mason, Murray Smye, and Dr. R. Honey, members of the executive.

Two new members, Eric Roberts and Martin Chenhall were welcomed, and plans were made for the holding of an "All Kinsmen Night" on March 20

Nude Paraders Are Freed From Prison

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., March 6 (C.P.).—One hundred Doukhobor prisoners, men and women, were released from Okalla Jail last night, following the completion of six-month sentences they had served for having staged a nude parade on the Provincial highway near South Slogan last August.

The released prisoners, members of the "Sons of Freedom,' were loaded on two special coaches in the railway yards here soon after their release and were started on their journey to their farm settlements near Brilliant, in the south-east interior of British Columbia.

Rakip Murder Trial Takes New Angle

ALBANIAN CHEF RELATES STORY OF FATAL FIGHT

Claims Murdered Man and Companions Refused to Go Into Dining Room.

ALL WERE DRUNK.

Pushed Westaway When He Declined to Move—Interpreter Used.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., March 6 (C.P.)—Through an interpreter, Sherif Rakip, Albanian chef, on trial before Justice McEvoy and a jury at the assizes here on the charge of the murder of Alfred Westaway on last Easter Sunday morning, to-day related in detail the story of the altercation in the Palace Cafe kitchen that ended in the death of Westaway. The interpreter came from Toronto overnight on orders of Justice McEvoy, who declared Rakip's knowledge of English was too limited to give him a hearing or the court a fair idea of his testimony.

Men All Drunk.

Rakip said Westaway and his three companions, all drunk, came into the kitchen through an alleyway door and demanded sandwiches. He asked them to go into the dining-room, and when they failed to comply, Musa Shaker, proprietor, ordered them out. They attacked Shaker, he said, and the latter ran back into the dining-room and ordered the waiter to call police. Then Westaway, standing alongside Rakip, was asked to move out of the way, and when he refused, Rakip said he "pushed him lightly, because he was drunk and I was afraid he would fall." Westaway resented this, called Rakip a vile name and threatened to kill him, said the witness.

"Westaway looked worse than a madman, his eyes were red and he bared his teeth like an animal," Rakip swore.

Held Bayonet-Like Knife.

When the attack was made Rakip says he held a long bayonet-like knife in his hand, preparatory to cutting bread for sandwiches.

One man kicked Rakip on the leg and he slipped on the zinc flooring and fell with Westaway on top of him. As he fell, Rakip said he grabbed the right side of Westaway's coat with his left hand while the knife was still in his left hand, under Westaway's left arm. When Westaway lifted himself up a bit Rakip says he pulled his arm and knife free.

BROKERAGE FIRM SHUTS ITS DOORS

Mowat and MacGillivray, Ottawa, in Receiver's Hands on Creditors' Petition.

BRANCHES IN EAST.

TORONTO, Ont., March 6.— (By the Canadian Press.)—The brokerage firm of Mowat and MacGillivray has closed its doors and their head office in Ottawa and 20 branches in Eastern Canada will not be open to business today. Assignment was made here yesterday, upon the petition of a creditor, before the Provincial Registrar in Bankruptcy, and the accountants' firm of T. R. C. Clarkson and Sons was appointed as interim receiver.

The firm, whose principal scene of business is the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, was organized in Ottawa in 1924 and branched out since. Most of its branches are in the Maritime provinces and the Ottawa Valley. Besides being members of the Standard Exchange Mowat and MacGillivray are members of the Montreal curb market and the Vancouver Stock Exchange.

No Loses Expected.

"It is hoped according to a brief statement issued last night by D. A. MacGillivray, partner in the firm, that the assets will be found to equal liabilities. Mr. MacGillivray said the assignment was made to conserve the assets in the interests of the creditors. He indicated that, with additional capital, it might be found possible to continue the business.

The firm of Mowat and MacGillivray, it is understood, does a strictly sectional business. It has no offices in Toronto nor Montreal and the assignment was made in Ontario owing to the fact that the head office is in Ottawa. No government

Youth Averts Terrible C.P.R. Wreck By Discovery of Barrier on Tracks

BELLEVILLE, March 6 (Canadian Press). — Roaring along the main line of the C.P.R. near Robindale Station, a few miles east of Napanee, passenger train No. 91 avoided catastrophe by the mere matter of minutes. But for cool-headedness and quick thinking on part of Clarence South, young farmer, of Cabindale, one of the worst wrecks in the history of railroading might have resulted. South was working in a bush about a mile out of Robindale yesterday, when he saw three men acting suspiciously along the tracks. They picked up three large ties and deposited them on the tracks, and completed the barricade with large rock. The young man, rushing to the tracks and working feverishly, succeeded in removing the obstacles before the train was due to pass that point. The Provincial Police in Napanee were notified, and they rushed to the scene. The police have combed the entire district, but have been unable to apprehend the men, although they are in possession of a good description.

BRITISH NAVAL ESTIMATES ARE CUT £4,126,000

Trimming of Building Program Produced By Briand-Kellogg Pact.

17 VESSELS CANCELLED.

Future Depends on Conference —Personnel is Reduced 1,750.

LONDON, March 6 (C.P.)—British naval estimates for 1930, made public to-day, show a net total of £51,739,000 against £55,865,000 for 1929, or a reduction of £4,126,000. The British pound has a value of about $4.86.

Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, in a statement accompanying the estimaets, said the substantial decrease was due principally to reductions which the Government felt justified in making in the shipbuilding program of 1928 and 1929, in accordance with a policy already stated in Parliament—that is, trimming of naval building to meet decreased needs produced by the Briand-Kellogg Pact and other peace instruments.

5 of 1928 Ships Cancelled

He summarized the reductions as follows: Five vessels of the 1928 program have been cancelled, namely, two cruisers of the 10,000 ton type with 8-inch guns, two submarines and one submarine depot ship.

Twelve vessels of the program of 1929 have been cancelled, namely, two cruisers, four torpedo-boat destroyers, three submarines, two sloops and one net-layer and target-rowing vessel. One of the cruisers cancelled is of the 10,000-ton type with 8-inch guns.

He said that in addition decision that the three remaining submarines of the 1929 program are to be proceeded with has been deferred until after the London Naval Conference.

Mr. Alexander claimed that the effect of changes in the full program for the preceding two years is "to reduce expenditure on new construction in these estimates by over £4,000,000."

With regard to future shipbuilding he said the Government had decided not to formulate any proposals until the results of the Naval Conference had become known and had been fully considered. "No provision," he said, "therefore is included in these estimates for commencing any further new construction in 1930.

"As soon as the Government is in a position to inform Parliament of their intentions, a statement will be made on the subject and if necessary a supplementary estimate will be submitted.

Decide on Subs. After Parley

It should be noted, too, that in the case of three submarines which will remain in the program pending a final decision after conclusion of the Naval Conference, these estimates do not provide for any expenditure.

"If it should be found necessary to proceed with them, Parliament will be asked later to make an additional provision as required."

Reduction in naval personnel also was forecast. In all there were 99,800 officers and men, but as a result of economies that number now proposed to be reached by April, 1930, is 97,050. This is expected to fall to 94,000 by April, 1931.

Regarding new construction, it was stated that the revised 1929 program consists now of one 8-inch cruiser, one leader, four destroyers, four sloops, and one tender to H.M.S. Vernon.

While camping near Weymouth England, the Warwickshire Territorials, a military organization, cleaned the famous White Horse statue representing King George III on his famous charger, which was overgrown with weeds.

LEGION REQUESTS FURTHER CHANGE

Would Have Pensions For Parents Dependent on Sons Killed Overseas.

MANY NEEDY CASES.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 6 (C.P.)—While there has been considerable discussion in Parliament as to the question of pensions for war veterans and widows, one of the other classes for which the Canadian Legion is seeking redress in its legislative program, to be presented to Parliament, is that of dependent parents. This class consists of parents of members of the Canadian forces who were killed on active service, or who died as a result of service disabilities, leaving them in a dependent condition.

Might Have Aided Parents

The first suggestion the Legion makes in reference to this class has reference to the production of evidence to show that had he lived, the deceased member of the forces would have contributed to the maintenace of his parents. This clase has proven a stumbling block to some deserving and needy cases, because of the difficulty of proving that a deceased soldier would have maintained his parents had he lived. In order to remedy this, the Legion is asking for the amendment of the Pension Act, to provide that a pension may be granted to parents in this class unless the Commission obtains or has produced to it substantial evidence of estrangement or of definite intent to withhold support.

In this request for remedical legislation, the Legion is placing some reliance on the statues both of Ontario and Quebec, which make it compulsory for son or parents in needy circumstances to contribute to their support. The Legion claims this should be recognized in principle in the legislation governing pensions for the dependent parents or deceased members of the Canadian forces.

POLICE IN MANY CITIES OF WORLD CLASH WITH REDS WHO ARE STAGING UNEMPLOYMENT DEMONSTRATIONS

Five Injured in London in Melee on Tower Hill—Berlin Watchful.

PARADE IN TORONTO.

New York Police Use Tear Gas Bombs—Fight Outside White House Grounds.

TORONTO, Ont., March 6 (C.P.)—Communists and thousands of unemployed gathered to-day in all parts of the world in a great mass demonstration against unemployment. Already disorders have broken out in many cities with numerous injuries being reported as police strove to stem the Red tide. In London, New York, Chicago, Berlin, Vienna and other centres, police were mobilized late last night and early to-day, with special guards being mounted over homes of prominent citizens and public buildings.

Five Hurt in London

Five persons were injured when police dispersed a meeting on Tower Hill, within the shadow of the Tower of London.

Police armed with tear gas bombs broke up a gathering outside the White House at Washington.

In New York City 25,000 police and firemen are awaiting a mass meeting that has been scheduled in Union Square.

Six thousand police are in constant patrol in Berlin. The Saxon Government has banned "open" air meetings. Prague, Reval, Vienna, Bucharest and other capitals are guarded, and in Rome, too, police are awaiting.

3,000 In Parade

LONDON, March 6. — (Canadian Press).—Five men were injured in a skirmish with police this afternoon during a demonstration of unemployed attended by more than 3,000 persons on Tower Hill adjoining the famous Tower of London.

Unemployed had planned to march to the Mansion House after the meeting in hope of interviewing the Mayor but the police refused permission.

Thereupon the demonstrators formed a procession a quarter of a mile long and marched in a circular course around the Tower Hill area. Their band playing a variety of airs from "The Red Flag" to dance tunes.

TORIES PREPARE ATTACK ON GOV'T

Baldwin and Churchill Will Move Vote of Censure Next Thursday.

Deplore Trade Depression.

LONDON, March 6. (Canadian Press)—A concerted Conservative attack on the Labor Government's tariff policy to-day was set for next Thursday in the House of Commons when a vote of censure will be moved by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin and Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill.

The motion they have prepared reads:

"That this house deplores depression in trade and the increase in unemployment resulting from the policy of the present Government and regrets the refusal of the Government to not only extend safeguarding or imperial preference but even to declare their intentions with regard to maintenance of the existing safeguarding and McKenna duties on sugar, silk and key industries, thereby increasing uncertainty and distress.

Don is Confident Of Setting Record

NEW YORK, March 6.—Another carefree, smiling Briton is in the United States yesterday to challenge death and man-made speeds in steel-hard sands of Daytona Beach. This time it is Kaye Don, crack British race driver, who will follow his famous British predecessor, Major Sir Henry Segrave. Last March, on the Florida sands that have cost two speed kings their lives, Segrave drove his roaring Golden Arrow Sunbeam to the amazing record of 231.36 miles an hour.

EXHIBITION BOARD INTERVIWS PREMIER

Sixteen Members of Board Present Case of Peterborough Fair to Premier Ferguson and Hon. J. S. Martin

Sixteen members of the Peterborough Exhibition Board, headed by Mayor Denne, yesterday interviewed Premier Ferguson and the Hon. John S. Martin in Toronto, in behalf of the Exhibition, its standing and also its increasing influence in the development of agriculture and its allied branches throughout this section of the province.

Mayor Denne said this morning that the deputation was cordially received by the Premier, who listened intently to the review of the growth and the work of the Exhibition as presented by William Knox. The tangible results of yesterday's engagement with the Hon. Mr. Ferguson are not likely to be known for the present, Mayor Denne remarked, but he has strong hopes that in the near future a very favorable reply will be forthcoming.

12,000 FOUND TO BE HOMELESS AS WATERS RECEDE IN FRANCE

Dead Are Estimated As More Than 400 in One of Country's Worst Floods.

VILLAGES DAMAGED.

TOULOUSE, France, March 6.—(Canadian Press).— Straight across Southern France from Beziers and Narbonne almost to the mouth of the Garonne flood waters to-day slowly receded, leaving behind them a spectacle of ruin and desolation that seldom has been equalled in French history.

At Least 400 Dead

The dead were estimated at more than 400 with between ten and twelve thousand others homeless, many of them with their entire possessions swept away. Property damage ran into billions of francs. Hundreds of towns and villages have been ravaged, thousands of houses destroyed, factories razed and vineyards and farms covered with a thick black slime of mud.

Hundreds of those driven from their homes to-day were still marooned on the roofs of houses. There were other little groups on bits of high land or even in branches of trees. Many of them have not had food for nearly 50 hours while relief workers have tried to get to them before another day ends.

Town Virtually Destroyed

The valley of the Ttarn, where the town of Moissac virtually was destroyed, and Montauban, which lost nearly a quarter of its buildings destroyed or badly damaged were described by rescuers as much like the war-time devasted degions of France and Belgium.

It was the worst hit of all regions, with dead at Morriac estimated at from 100 to 200. There were another

KLAN'S LETTER SAYS SENATORS ARE MEMBERS

Objects Strongly to Criticism in Editorials—Works With Law.

BACKS ANGLO-SAXONS.

Price Claims Action in Matter Rests in Police Hands.

TORONTO, March 6. (C.P.) — "Our cards are on the table and we welcome any challenge from any opposition whatsoever," is one statement from the Ku Klux Klan, in connection with the Klan's action in Oakville last Sunday night in separating a white girl from Ira Johnston and the consequent reactions to the incident among local colored people.

Contents of Letter.

Referring to an editorial in one paper the letter says: "Take notice that in answer to your statement, 'The Ku Klux Klan has not made great progress in the Dominion,' that it is a pitiful statement to be made by an outsider, who is making statements at random, as the fiery cross shines on many of the heads of our Senate and Parliament to-day, and our growth along with discipline commands thousands of Klansmen in all parts of the Dominion in one hour's time, if necessary, to be called for the protection of our country, the British Crown, our government, and the duly qualified officers of the law in the performance of their legal duties."

Continuing, the statement says:

"Canada being a British Protestant Dominion, where it is evident British immigration is limited to a great extent in favor of foreign immigration, where again we see the minority controlling the majority, this organization must of necessity protect the interests of the Anglo-Saxon Protestant people against the ever-increasing menace arising from Communism, Bolshevism, Reds and Orientals, and the peril of racial impurity, together with the international corruption and vice that has moved the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, as the knights of old, to march forward and fight against foreign domination, crooked politicians, criminals, bootleggers, white slavery, libertines, home wreckers, girl ruiners, and all such people.

Reason of Secrecy.

"The reason of our secrecy of membership is in the fact that we are impelled in the light of true patriotism to the British Empire and its faith, to for ever protect and defend it against all foreign domination and internal treason through our widespread secret service organization.

"Remember the Klan is at once and always ready to co-operate with the administration of law and order, peace and justice."

Attorney-General Price said last night no action has been taken by his Department into the action of the Klan. The matter comes under police jurisdiction, he said.

CHAPLIN OPPOSES TALKIES.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 5. — Charlie Chaplin has not given up his opposition to the talking pictures. He announced tentative plans to-day for the formation of a company to spend between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 annually on silent motion pictures. Chaplin asserted pantomime was one of the greatest forms of expression, and reiterated he never would appear in the "talkies."

FERGUSON HALTS SPIRITED ATTACK BY LIBERAL HEAD

Speaker Rules Out Remarks Regarding Col. Price's Relatives.

FRAUD ACT UNDER FIRE.

Financial Papers Had Great Part in Rise and Fall of Stock Market.

TORONTO, Ont., March 6.— (By the Canadian Press).—W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., Liberal leader again carried the attack to Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General on his administration of the Security Frauds Prevention Act when a bill to amend the Act was up for second reading in the legislature yesterday.

As a climax to the most spirited flare-up and cross chamber exchange of the session, Col. T. A. Kidd, the Speaker, ruled that the Liberal Leader could make no mention of innuendoes that certain close relatives of the Attorney-General's were connected with the mining and brokerage business in Toronto as it had nothing to do with the principle of the bill under discussion. It was on the appeal of Premier G. H. Ferguson that the Speaker's ruling was made.

Mr. Sinclair had confined his whole address to an attack of the administration of the Security Act by the Attorney-General's Department. He challenged Col. Price to deny that in one certain instance he had failed to investigate complaints received from Eastern Ontario men. He read a letter written to him by John R. Byce of Forrester's Falls in Renfrew County which said that letters written by him (Byce) by M. J. Galligan of Pembroke and by R. Gould of Haley station in which complaint was made of the activity of a salesman of spurious stocks were not answered by the Attorney-General. According to the letter, $24,000 had been taken from that neighborhood by the salesman before he made his escape to New York.

Nixon To Criticize Act.

Hon. Harry Nixon, Progressive leader, adjourned the debate. He intimated that he also would attack the adminstration of the Act by the Attorney-General's Department.

Turning to the question of relatives of Col. Price being connected with the brokerage business in Toronto, Mr. Sinclair had uttered only a few words when Premier Ferguson, on a point of order, submitted to the speaker that only the principle of a bill could be discussed when it was under consideration by the House.

"The Attorney-General should be the one to take exception," countered the Liberal leader.

"Not at all. Any one can see that the rules of this Chamber are observed and that certain ethics are upheld," shot back the Premier. "There are plenty of ways in which a matter of this kind may be introduced—through a motion, for instance—but not at this time."

Mr. Sinclair—"I see that Mr. Speak-

GRAND JURY BRINGS IN TWO TRUE BILLS

Two Criminal Cases Still Await Assizes at Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, March 6 (By Staff Reporter).—The Grand Jury yesterday brought in true bills in two serious criminal cases awaiting trial in the Spring Assizes of the Supreme Court of Hastings County, now in session here.

On the second count of attempting an indecent assault on July 22 last upon a woman, Thomas Shea, lumber foreman, of Pembroke, was indicted and will stand trial.

True bills were brought in on all three counts, conspiracy to defraud and obtaining money from two district banks by fraud, against Walter Lister and Fred Brunner, both of Toronto.

It is alleged that these two men, along with two women, who are now serving sentences in Toronto, conspired to defraud and did obtain $600 by fraud from the Bank of Montreal at Trenton, and also victimized the Royal Bank here.

They were serving sentences totalling two years in Toronto for similar "jobs" there, when ordered to be brought to Belleville to stand trial for their alleged offences here.

CHARRED BODY FOUND BEHIND LOCKED DOOR

Bullet Wound in Head, Yet No Firearm is Found—Inside Bolt On.

TORONTO POLICE BAFFLED.

Blaze in Room Centred About Victim—Can of Coal Oil Found.

TORONTO, Ont., March 6 (C.P.). —Samuel Goldberg, 35, was found dead in his office on Dundas Street by firemen called to extinguish a small fire in the building last night. Goldberg was found sitting at his desk, a bullet wound in his head, and no trace of a firearm in the office, the door of which was locked on the inside.

Police admitted last night they were puzzled as to how Goldberg met death. His body was partially burned by the fire, which was only of minor proportions. The blaze, however, apparently centred about the man's body. His face and hands were badly burned, while the desk was only partially destroyed, and the wall behind was barely charred. The remains of a fur-lined overcoat rested about him.

Fire Marshal Probes.

Chief Coroner Dr. M. M. Crawford and detectives, after a fruitless effort to determine the origin of the fire, left the matter in the hands of the Provincial Fire Marshal.

When the Coroner first inspected Goldberg's body it was thought he had been suffocated, as he apparently had made no effort to get away from the flames, but the autopsy conducted shortly after revealed a bullet wound in his head. A thorough search of Goldberg's office failed to produce the weapon which caused the wound. Two small tins, one containing coal oil and another motor oil, were discovered near his desk.

JURY BLAMES GIRL'S DEATH UPON FATHER

Find Violet Clark Died From Effects of Cyanide Poisoning.

Engineer Where Clark Works, Claims He Gave Parent Cyanide of Sodium.

TORONTO, Ont., March 6 (C.P.)—A coroner's jury investigating circumstances surrounding the mysterious death of Violet Clark, 15, at her home, Feb. 8 last, from cyanide poisoning, last night returned a verdict "that circumstantial evidence points strongly to the father's responsibility for her death."

The jury returned their verdict after deliberating one hour. Previously they had spent more than seven hours listening to evidence on one of the most mysterious deaths to occur here. They found the girl died from cyanide poisoning.

On the witness stand Mrs. Florence Clark, mother of Violet, admitted she had been separated from her husband, Ernest Clark, over alleged unnatural offences committed by him against her daughter. Since a reconciliation had been effected last June, however, there had been no more trouble, she said.

The Clarks have been married 17 years and have had three children; one son, Ernest, 17, being the only one alive.

When Clark, Sr., was called to the stand, he admitted his wife had left him because of his conduct towards his daughter.

Describing the actions of their daughter the night she died, the Clarks said they returned from shopping about 9.40 o'clock. Violet, who was a member of the Canadian Girls in Training, had been out that afternoon and evening at a social function and returned home about 10.30 o'clock. She was in the habit of taking salts, her mother said, and soon after arriving home had taken a dose, cleaned her teeth and shortly afterward commenced to complain of pains which she attributed to the salts. She went upstairs and sank to the floor beside the bed and did not speak when asked what was the matter with her. A physician was called but the girl died shortly after.

The can, in which the salts were supposed to have been contained, was given to an analyst by the Crown, but in his testimony he stated the

COL. PRICE ASKED TO TAKE ACTION AGAINST KLAN

Delegation of Toronto Negroes Waits Upon Attorney-General of Ontario.

JOHNSON NOT A NEGRO.

Minister Says Episode is Being Investigated By Oakville Authorities.

TORONTO, Ont., March 6.—(C.P.) —Pressing on the government the need of stern action against the Ku Klux Klan for its recent demonstration at Oakville, a large delegation of Toronto negroes, headed by Rev. Lawrence McNeil, waited on Col. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, yesterday. They reported a most sympathetic interview with the minister, who informed them they, they said, that the episode was being investigated by the Oakville authorities.

When informed that Ira Johnston, who was separated from his sweetheart, was not of Negro blood, but was an Indian, Rev. Mr. McNeil said that did not alter the case. Mob rule, he said, must not gain a hold in Ontario.

Is Not a Negro.

Johnston reported yesterday that he did not have a drop of Negro blood in his veins, as was reported following the Klan demonstration at Oakville when the white-cloaked members invaded his home and separated him from his white sweetheart, an Oakville girl. His maternal grandfather, Johnston said, was Rev. Junius Roberts, white, who preached for many years to various Negro congregations in Ontario, particularly in Guelph, Oakville and Hamilton. The mother of Rev. Mr. Roberts was a Cherokee Indian half-breed.

On his father's side, Mr. Johnston said, his grandfather was John Johnston, who was a half-breed Cherokee Indian and the mother an Irish woman. Ira Johnston's maternal grandmother was a Cherokee Indian and his maternal grandfather of Scottish and English parentage.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 5. — Morphine valued at about $500,000 was seized on Pier 57, North River, foot of West 15th Street, leased by the French Line, late last night, in two large trunks, apparently owned by a first-class passenger on the Ile De France, who had left the vessel a few minutes before it was learned to-day. No arrests have so far been made.

HOOVER DENIES REPORT.

QUICK WAY TO END COLDS NOW ADVISED BY DOCTORS

Home Use of Pleasant Hospital Method Helps Many Here End Head Cold, Cough, Chest Cold

An entirely new method that ends colds quickly—often in just a few hours—is now prescribed by doctors in numerous hospital cases and is also establishing a most unusual record in Peterborough homes.

Albert H. Blake, for example, was examined for an acute head cold which had congested the air passages of his nose and chest. Then the doctor gave him surprisingly quick relief with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral — a hospital certified remedy composed of wild cherry, terpinhydrate and other ingredients approved by the most modern cold clinics.

With the first pleasant swallow he felt comforting, healing warmth. Almost immediately congestion and fever began to subside. By morning he was breathing freely through his nose and his cough was alleviated. Examination on his visit to the doctor next day showed that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral had rapidly cleared up every trace of the threatening cold.

Cases reported daily in this paper by the attending physician show that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is ideal for adults and children. It is pleasant, quick and positive in action. Peterborough druggists guarantee satisfactory quick relief or prompt return of the small cost. Endorsed by A. G. Harris and all leading druggists.

The auditors, Messrs C. W. Thompson and E. T. Williams were present and having completed their work the Reeve called upon them to give their report which was read in detail by Mr. Thompson.

The receipts for the year totalled $39,670.90, and expenditures of $32,798.74, leaving a balance of $6,871.86, in general account.

The total assets of the village as shown by the report is $175,765.02, with liabilities of $45,262.00.

Suggestions Made.

In their report they recommended that all important books and papers of the corporation be kept in a place of safety; also that a safe be purchased for the treasurers use with the same in view.

Mr. H. C. Martin representing the fire brigade, was present regarding a fire alarm system, stating that the one suitable for a town of Stirling's size, would cost approximately $500; of this amount the firemen would contribute $200.

The council approved of the move but desired further information before action was taken in the matter.

The matter of a police magistrate for the village was brought up but no definite action taken.

The installing of "talkies" in the theatre was discussed at some length resulting in the possibility of the change being made at an early date. Messrs. Montgomery, West and Meiklejohn in the meantime to get further information to what Mr. Sprentall had already given.

Mr. West, proprietor of the Stirling creamery, also the principal milk vendor of the village, spoke regarding the licensing of the sale of milk. The council were nearly all agreed that Mr. West should have some protection but no action was taken.

The acoustics of the theatre were discussed and this trouble is to be remedied at an early date, the Women's Institute having paid their annual instalment of $200, money is available for the purpose.

Social Evening.

Messrs. J. N. West, R. G. Rodgers and Ted Gould were sponsors of a very successful dance in the community hall on Monday night. Music was furnished by the Rosebank orchestra. Lunch was served shortly after twelve o'clock by the ladies, with the dancing continuing for some time afterwards.

Guild Meeting.

The Guild meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church held on Monday evening, was largely attended, and the program, a missionary one, was arranged by Mrs. W. L. Anderson. Mrs. Joseph Whitehead had charge of the meeting. The Scripture lesson was read by Miss Rosa Spry and Mrs. Harper Rollins led in prayer.

Cathie Simpson, Ruby Stapley, Helen Ward, Iva Chambers, Winnie and Lenora Ward gave a missionary dialogue, "Canvassing for Missionary Money," Messrs. Williams, Eggleton, Anderson and Rollins sang a missionary hymn. The topic on Formosa and the work done by the first missionary G. L. MacKay, was given by Miss Willmore Morton, and the Rev. A. N. Reid contributed a missionary contest. The Mizpah benediction concluded a most interesting meeting.

St. John's A.Y.P.A.

The A.Y.P.A., of St. John's church, met in the vestry on Monday evening and was opened in the usual manner. As it was a social evening the program consisted of games, relays and contests.

The "Paper Bag" relay was won by team II; the "Peanut Chase" by Mrs. John Bateman, the "Green Word Contest" by team III., and the game "Irish Arms" by Miss Bertha Cranston.

Mr. Craven put on an interesting new contest, "Story and Forfeits," which was followed by an original "Diary" game A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Hamel Cooke, Miss Louie Faires and Mr. Craven for the interest they had shown in preparing the program.

Mrs. Henry Cooke drew the lucky ticket for the prize donated by Miss Dorothy Alger. The next meeting will be a missionary one. The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a conclusion.

er has received a note from the clerk of the House."

The Premier—"Again I say there are certain ethics to be upheld by this House. It must be obvious that the discussion of the Attorney-General and his family has nothing to do with the principle of this bill."

Mr. Speaker then upheld the point of order, telling Mr. Sinclair that he must confine himself to the bill.

Immediately after Col. Price rose and said he had no objection to any member discussing the relationship of his family to the brokerage business.

Mr. Sinclair — "Youfr admission comes too late."

Creates Furor.

The Liberal leader created a mild furor earlier in his speech when he said he did not believe it proper for two members of the Legislature to act as bondsmen for two of the Toronto brokers now on bail on conspiracy charges under the Security Frauds Prevention Act and against whom more serious charges may be laid.

C. McLean, Cons., Toronto-Eglington and General D. Hogarth, Cons., Port Arthur, both rose in their places and admitted they were the members to whom reference had been made. Each said that the brokers for whom they were acting as bondsmen were personal friends, and whether members of the Legislautre or not, they had the right to go bond for whom they chose. It was a privilege ,they said, that could not be denied them.

Col. Price led off the debate by explaining the report of the Inter-Provincial Conference which met here during the week of February 10 to discuss amendments to the Security Fraud Prevention Acts of the various Provinces, which would give them more rigid control over brokers and their transaction.

The Attorney-General declared that financial papers in Canada had been a contributing factor to the spectacular rise and collapse of the Canadian stock market. Two years ago, and as late as last September, the financial papers were advising subscribers, he said, that the country was expanding so rapidly that the price of stocks would remain constant or even advance. He quoted several instances of this and said that he "could go on ad infinitum."

Many Things Probed

In dealing with the report of the conference, and upon which the proposed amendments to the Security Frauds Prevention act were based Col. Price said that many things were unearthed when the brokerage situation as a whole was investigated. Brokers in some instances kept only scanty records; orders were filled at the high for the day and sold at the low price for the day; brokers were selling against their clients.

The Standard Stock and Mining Exchange in Toronto had adopted all but one or two and by-laws incorporating the remainder were being drafted, he said. The Toronto Stock Exchange had adopted all but three or four.

Col. Price believed that when the present amendments to the Act were passed and when all the regulations recommended by the conference had been accepted by the exchanges, the money of the investigating public of Ontario would be properly safeguarded.

Col. Price denied the laxity which had been levelled at him by the leader of the Opposition. He cited numerous cases of companies being investigated and in some instances men being sent to jail through the activity of his department.

After the market crashed, it was only natural he said for people who lost money to run to the Attorney-General and ask for an investigation." He had received numerous anonymous letters, he said, making complaints but "unless there was some positive statement to work on there was no action."

BROKERAGE FIRM

action has officially been taken in regard to the firm, it not being one of the "big five" whose business was for a time suspended by the Provincial government here.

The firm of Mowat and MacGillivray has conducted its trading operations on the Toronto Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, the Montreal Curb and the Vancouver Stock Exchange.

The company was organized in March, 1924, in Ottawa. Since that time operations of the firm have been extended throughout the Ottawa Valley and the Maritimes, with additional offices in Belleville and Brockville, Ont.

The branches in the Maritime are located at Halifax, Sydney, Yarmouth, New Glasgow, Glace Bay and Windsor, in Nova Scotia, Saint John and Moncton in New Brunswick.

The Ottawa Valley offices are located at Hull, Que., Cornwall, Pembroke, Perth and Hawkesbury, Ont., with the head office in the city of Ottawa.

TAFT RALLIES SLIGHTLY.

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 5. — After a very good night, William Howard Taft was stronger and more alert this morning. Doctors said he continued to take more nourishment and recognized those about him. They are amazed at his vitality, but hold out no hope for his recovery.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, March 6.—Because no one seemed to care, wheat values slipped downward on the Winnipeg market yesterday 2½c to 2¾c per bushel. No particular selling pressure was evident, but even less buying support came into the market. Operations were mostly local and decidedly uninteresting in character.

Liverpool's failure to reflect Tuesday's strength and the reported statement of Chairman Alexander Legge of the United States Farm Board that an embargo on grain might be placed in the future were the bearish factors. Moreover, Broomhall stated overseas millers were paying little attention to offers of cheap Canadian and Argentine wheat.

Cash prices: Wheat—No. 1 hard $1.07¾; No. 1 Northern, $1.07¾; No. 2 Northern, $1.04¾; No. 3 Northern, $1.00½; No. 4, 96½c; No. 5, 89½c; No. 6, 69½c; feed, 57c; track, $1.08¼; screenings, per ton, $5.

Oats—No. 2 C.W., 57⅛c; No. 3 C.W., 48c; extra No. 1 feed, 48⅛c; No. 1 feed, 45⅜c; No. 2 feed, 44⅛c; rejected, 40⅝; track, 51⅝c.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, March 6.—As expected the local egg market took another drop yesterday, both in the prices to country shippers and to retailers. Country shippers were quoted for ungraded eggs, delivered, cases returned, from one to two cents less on all grades, the prices being, 32c to 33c for extras; 30c for first, and 25c to 27c for seconds. The retailers were quoted, 39c for extras in cartons; 37c for extras loose; 35c for firsts, loose, and 31c for seconds, loose.

Receipts Doubled

The lower market was not entirely due to shipments of American eggs, but to the fact that receipts from Ontario shippers this week have been almost double last week's receipts. The Chicago spot market yesterday, for fresh gathered firsts, was a little firmer at 24c, but this was only an increase of ½c over Tuesday's market, and of course local dealers could buy there and bring eggs to Toronto cheaper than they could buy the Ontario product. Between six and ten cars of American eggs have been delivered in Toronto this week. Brokers are quoting dealers, for Ontario eggs, 35c for extras; 33c for firsts; 31c for pullet, extras, and 30c for seconds; graded, free cases.

If the price goes much lower to the Ontario shippers it will not pay the dealers here to import eggs.

Butter and Cream

The butter market was nothing to boast about yesterday, and very few sales were made by brokers. They were still receiving demands for finest New Zealand, but the price remained 33¾c. Halifax, duty pair, and local brokers refused to do business at that price. The quotation to shippers was the same as Tuesday, 34½c to 34¾c for creamery, pasteurized, No. 1, and 34c to 34¼c for top scoring No. 2. Some poorer No. 2, was being bought at cheaper prices.

Churning cream prices remain unchanged at 38c to 39c for special; 37c to 38c for No. 1, and 34c to 35c for No. 2.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Montreal, March 6. — The first arrivals of New Zealand butter from aboard the S. S. Surrey, which docked at Halifax last week, were reported here yesterday a total of 1700 boxes being recorded. Local butter prices were unchanged however, being quoted at from from 34¼c to 35½c a lb., the average price being 34½c. To the retail trade solids sold at 37c and 38c a pound and prints at 38c and 39c.

Prices of eggs were unchanged with some 1200 cases of American eggs reported among the arrivals. Fresh specials were quoted at 42c to 43c a dozen, fresh extras 40c, fresh firsts 37c and fresh seconds 34c a dozen. Other markets were unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, March 6. — Emphasis given to possibilities of an embargo on rural shipments of wheat to domestic terminals had more or less bearish influence on wheat values yesterday. Explanations from Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board that congestion of wheat in terminal markets was the chief cause for change of the board's buying policy, and that withdrawal of loan value prices was expected to slow of shipments sufficiently to hold off a threatened embargo were somewhat overlooked.

Farm Board auxiliaries apparently did not support the wheat futures market and with no other aggressive support evident prices headed downgrade. Wheat closed unsettled, 1½c to 2c a bushel net lower, with corn ½ to 1c down, oats unchanged to 3-8c off and provisions showing 5 to 15c decline.

VERDICT OF GUILTY RETURNED BY JJURY ON LESSER COUNT

stone's throw of the court-room, and yet he was not called nor was he even identified."

He also commented on the fact that Joseph Phillips, with whom Ingram said he had drunk a pint of beer in Belleville on the afternoon of the accident, was not called by the defence.

About Statement.

In regard to Ingram's statement made to Provincial Constable Hammer, while lying in hospital the day following the accident, the Judge said, "It is an intelligent statement." Only in where it related to the consuming of liquor had its correctness been denied by the accused in the box.

The Judge suggested that Ingram, after making the statement in which he denied buying beer in Belleville on the day of the accident or consuming any, had learned that the Provincial police had traced his purchase made that afternoon at the Government brewery warehouse, and hence the reason for the change. In all other respects Ingram's evidence to-day was exactly similar to the detailed facts as given in the signed statement.

Bought Case of Beer.

Opening the afternoon session, Jack Sargent, witness for the Crown, swore that Ingram had bought a case of beer on the day of the accident from him in the Government Brewery Warehouse. This was admitted by the defence..

Russell Morgan, of Roslin, a truck driver, came upon the scene of the accident and he noticed three persons there—Fred and Robert Ingram and a girl. Fred Ingram was trying to get a girl out of the car .

"Fred Ingram said there wasn't any light on the buggy, and I said there was," said witness. Asked about Ingram's condition, witness said he smelled of liquor.

Liquor on Breath.

J. H. Cole, next witness for Crown, a truck driver, said that in assisting Fred Ingram to get one of the girls from the car he thought he smelled liquor. The other girl was on her knees over by the fence. Her hair was down and she was rocking back and forth.

"The other girl lay on her back in the car, kind of restless, and she did not seem to care what became of her," said witness.

"What made you think she had been drinking?" asked Justice Logie.

Not Concerned.

"Well, I thought if she nadn't been drinking she would have been concerned about the accident."

Cross-examined, witness admitted that the girl might have been injured and that might have caused her to act strangely.

"I think the smell of beer came from Fred Ingram's breath," said the witness when defence counsel suggested it might be from his clothes.

Ernest Gifford, resident of Foxboro, in the box said he came to the scene shortly after the accident. J. Sharp and Albert Tearne passed him in the buggy on the road and the light was on their buggy. The buggy was travelling on the right hand side of the road.

Ingram Been Drinking.

Describing the scene of the accident he said the car was upside down.

Q.—What did you observe?

Ans.—I saw Jack Sharpe pick up a full bottle of beer from under the car.

Q.—What else?

A.—I saw that Fred Ingram had been drinking.

Q.—How close were you to him?

A.—Right beside him.

Q.—What happened then?

A.—Fred said there was no light on the buggy. I said there was when it passed me.

Justice Logie asked: "How about the condition of Robert Ingram as to sobriety?"

A.—He seemed quiet. I wasn't close to him.

Q.—What about the girls?

A.—They looked as though they had been drinking.

Witness said the girls were close to Fred and he could hear what they said.

Talked Loudly

"The girls were talking loudly, very loudly. They were swearing," said Gifford. "By the way the girls talked, they must have thought the farmers had no business on the road."

This was entered in records subject to defence Counsel's objection.

Henry Audley, next witness, was in a nearby barn doing chores on the evening of the accident. He saw one of the Ingram boys with a flashlight and when he flashed the light into the car, witness saw a box, which looked like the beer carton produced in court.

George Ellis, resident of Hoard's Station, said he was one mile west of the scene of the accident on November 7. He was driving a team and John Sharp passed him in the buggy. He observed that Sharp's buggy carried a light and it was burning.

Heard Wrangling

William Clarke, resident of Foxboro, was on the scene of the accident and heard a great deal of wrangling between the occupants of the car and Gifford concerning whether a light was on the buggy or not. The two ladies were using bad language, said witness.

"Did you call them ladies?" asked Justice Logie of defence counsel, C. A. Payne.

"Yes, my Lord," was the reply.

"Well, in that, our opinion differs," said the Judge.

Mr. Payne: "You forget that these ladies had just gone through a very trying accident."

His Lordship: "Next witness."

Provincial Constable James Sylvester said he was with Constable Hammer when Fred Ingram made his statement in the hospital.

This closed the case for the Crown.

Defence Opens Case

The first witness for the defence was William Hopkins, garage owner of Foxboro. Dr. Ward gave instructions to move the damaged car into witness's garage and this was done about 7 o'clock that evening. The front of the car was severely damaged; the left front tire was cut, and the windshield broken.

The car had four-wheel brakes and the brake on the left front wheel was rough and had been grabbing. He said this condition of the brake was not caused by the accident.

Suffering from Shock

Dr. J. J. Robertson of Belleville, said that Fred and Robert Ingram and the Nadoo girls were brought to his office about 7 o'clock the evening of the accident.

Fred Ingram, said the doctor, was suffering from shock and collapse; his pulse was weak and he was pale. He couldn't help himself and had to be lifted unto the operating table. He was suffering from marked concussion. The witness did not observe or recognize any signs of intoxication about Fred Ingram. He said the shock might have over-ruled any evidence of intoxication if there had been any. Later at the office an x-ray was made of Ingram's head.

The doctor said that he told Officer Hammer that in his opinion Fred Ingram was not in a condition to make a statement.

His Lorship—"Ingram was suffering from a semi-comatose condition but he could be roused to make a statement and an intelligent statement?."

Not Intelligent Statement

Dr. Robertson—"Not an intelligent statement. I don't think anyone in this semi-comatose condition could make an intelligent statement."

James E. Salisbury, garage man of Stirling, came upon the scene of the accident at 6.10 p.m. He observed the gauge marks on the road.

The accused, Fred Ingram, next took the box in his own defence. He gave his age as twenty-one and Campbellford as his home at the time of the accident.

On the day of the accident, Ingram swore he went with his brother and Norma and Thelma Nadoo in order that Robert might purchase a marriage certificate for Norma Nadoo, whom he has since married.

After letting his brother and the girls out of the car, he said he went and bought a carton of beer at the brewery warehouse. He left his car in a garage to have the brakes adjusted. He then visited the Hydro office. Later on the street he met Joseph Phillips and went with Phillips to his home and each had a bottle of beer. At 5.30 p.m. he rejoined his brother and the girls and left in the car for Campbellford.

Describes Accident

Coming to the point of the accident, Ingram state:

"As I was rounding the curve I noticed this dark object ahead of me about twenty or thirty feet. I couldn't tell what it was. I put on the brakes very quick. I realized then it was a horse and buggy. As I went to turn to the right the car swerved to the left. It struck the buggy. Then we lande d in the ditch."

Justice Logie—"Where was this dark object you found to be a buggy?"

Answer—"It was on my left near the centre of the road."

"I didn't see a light on the buggy" stated the accused.

Who Drank Beer

He said that after purchasing the beer he had placed it in the back of the car. He could not account for the empty bottles or did not know how they became empty. It was his brother's car and he could not explain the presence of the drinking glass.

New Car, Working Well

Cross-examined, witness said the car had been purchased new that summer and was working well. On the way to Belleville the car hadn't given any trouble until Trenton was passed. Then he noticed the left front brake was grabbing and it pulled the car slightly to the left.

He did not have occasion to use the brakes hard again until coming into Belleville.

He could not name the garage or the man with whom he left the car to have the brakes adjusted. The garage, he said, was near the market square. He paid seventy-five cents for the brake adjustment.

The lights were working well and he could see plainly for 200 feet ahead.

"Didn't See It"

"I proceeded on my right hand side. Then when almost on top of it I noticed this dark object. I couldn't see that it was a horse and buggy" said witness.

"Had you been looking straight ahead could you have seen this light ahead?" asked the prosecution.

Answer—"I was looking straight ahead and didn't see it."

His Lordship—"Can you say the light wasn't lit?"

Answer—"I'd say it wasn't lit."

"I didn't see the buggy until about Thirty-five feet away" said witness.

Later Happenings a Blank

The witness declared that everything following the accident was a blank to him, he could not recall any of the happenings or discussions.

He could not remember being in Dr. Robertson's office or making the statement in the hospital the next day to Provincial Constables. He recognized his signature on the statement.

Prosecution read the statement and witness said the parts about not buying liquor in Belleville or drinking in Belleville and of having home brew at Campbellford before starting the journey were incorrect, but he agreed with the rest of the statement's details.

The witness said Thelma Nadoo is now married and resides in the United States, while Norma, his brother's wife, is ill. Neither of the girls were present in court.

Automobile Engineer

Clarence Hastings, automobile engineer, graduate of University of Toronto, stated that the accident could not cause the brake to grab, but the grabbing of the brake would cause the car to swerve.

This closed the case on both sides and the arguments of the counsels were heard.

Gave Clark Cyanide of Sodium

Thomas Jeffery, chief engineer in a local candy factory, where Clark is employed as machinist, testified he had given Clark several cakes of cyanide of sodium, with instruction to be careful of it and use it in hardening metals in the machine shop. This incident occurred about a year ago, he said, and several months later he was told by Clark the latter had tried some of it to harden a soft steel tool which they had had difficulty in tempering.

Questioned on the witness stand about the matter, Clark swore positively no one had ever given him any quantity of cyanide of potassium or sodium cyanide and that he had never used any in his business.

"I place Palmolive first among soaps because its vegetable oils protect and soothe as well as cleanse" says

Mme. ELIN DAHLSTRAND

foremost beauty specialist of Stockholm

The pure vegetable oils in Palmolive Soap are nature's most effective safeguard for lovely skin.

"Time can do nothing to a skin that is safeguarded by Palmolive Soap and my special products. But remember that it must be Palmolive Soap, if you want to obtain these results. It cannot be done with ANY kind of soap."

Elin Dahlstrand
HAMNGATAN 10
STOCKHOLM

In the treatments given by her assistants, Madame Dahlstrand finds that Palmolive is most beneficial.

"HOWEVER successful I am with my beauty treatments, all my efforts would be in vain if my clients did not continue the treatments in their own homes," says Mme. Dahlstrand. "My principle for home treatments is first of all to keep the skin clean, the most vital condition for beauty, and Palmolive Soap is my valuable assistant in the service of beauty."

In all Sweden there is no more important beauty shop than that of Mme. Dahlstrand, of Stockholm, who gives this interview on beauty. Her salon is housed in a magnificent marble palace, and her beauty theory was learned in Paris, center of the cosmetic arts.

"This fine facial soap," she goes on to say, "keeps the surface of the skin well protected. It is bland and neutral. Use it with warm water, for careful cleansing; then rinse with cold water or ice to prevent relaxation of the skin."

The great specialists all over the world, 19,800 of them, agree on the efficacy of Palmolive Soap. They may differ on dozens, hundreds of other theories. But on this one facial treatment they all agree.

Recommended by those who know

Could there possibly be a more authentic recommendation than this approval of 19,800 professional experts?

Palmolive owes its natural green color to palm and olive oils . . . to no other fats whatever. The fresh odor of these oils makes unnecessary the addition of heavy perfumes. It is a pure, vegetable oil soap, safe for the most sensitive skin.

Take Mme. Dahlstrand's advice and begin this very day to use Palmolive.

19,813 of the world's beauty experts advise one soap—and only one—Palmolive!

IMPROVING THE RIVER ROAD.

It is to be hoped that the movement started at the last meeting of the City Council by Ald. Dan Holland to have the River road between this city and Lakefield improved will be crowned with success.

There are few prettier drives in this part of Ontario than offered by the roadway which for miles on the east side of the Otonabee closely follows the beautiful river, and it is a pity indeed that in recent years the road has been allowed to get into such a condition that most of the traffic has been shifted to the road through Smith Township.

The River road, with its scenic delight, is an asset worthy of development; it can readily be imagined that in some districts its possibilities would have long since been realized and traded upon.

The effort that is being made to secure the co-operation of the municipalities interested in this road is well worth while and deserves to succeed; the City Council should persist in its campaign until definite action has been secured.

THIS CLAIM SHOULD BE PRESSED.

The City Council is quite justified in passing a resolution, already endorsed by many other municipal bodies, that the municipalities of the Province should be given a share of the revenue obtained from the gasoline tax.

From this source the provincial administration expects to derive the sum of $11,500,000 during the current fiscal year, and the municipalities in all fairness should be participants in this huge revenue, at least to the extent of being assisted in the maintenance of those streets that form the connecting links of provincial highways.

Under the existing system municipalities have to pay a portion of the cost of provincial highways and suburban roads for a considerable distance outside their limits, and the whole cost of the streets within the municipal boundaries, despite the fact that these have to carry a heavy through traffic.

They get no assistance in their own road-building and have to pay part of the cost of provincial road-building, yet the Province steps in and collects millions from the owners of motor cars without a dollar coming back to the municipalities.

And the gasoline tax, remember, is paid even in the case of motor vehicles that rarely leave the municipal limits.

The municipalities should press their claim for consideration with a vigor that will impress the justice of their claim upon the Provincial Government; the pressure of public opinion offers the only hope of a readjustment of a condition that is manifestly unfair.

CONTROLLING LIQUOR EXPORT.

The amendment to the Export Act introduced by Premier King on Tuesday will if carried—and undoubtedly it will command the support of a majority of the House—give the Federal Government absolute power to control the export of liquor from this country.

It authorizes officials of the Dominion Government having liquor in bond and the granting of clearances to vessels to refuse to release such liquor or to grant such clearance in all cases in which the liquor is destined for delivery in any country into which the importation of intoxicating liquor is prohibited.

The amendment strikes a body blow at the rum-running traffic, and more important from the viewpoint of the Canadian people, it frees Canada of the charge that it has been a profit-sharing partner in a conspiracy to violate the laws of a neighbor country.

There are some persons who say that the United States is not really sincere in trying to enforce prohibition, and that, therefore, we should not concern ourselves with the question at all.

We, however, are not considering what the United States is doing or should do; our business is to disassociate ourselves from the official recognition of a traffic that is illegal.

The Export Act amendment does that very effectively, and it should be adopted by Canada's Parliament, in accordance with the wishes of the majority of the people of the Dominion.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM.

A Toronto deputation which waited on members of the Federal Cabinet this week, asking assistance in dealing with the unemployment problem, was advised by Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, to go back to Toronto and ask Premier Ferguson to pass an unemployment insurance measure.

That advice, most people will feel, was an inadequate reply to the request of the deputation.

In the first place, nobody should know better than Mr. Heenan that even if his suggestion were carried out it would take a long time to get the necessary machinery into motion, and nobody again should know better than Mr. Heenan that assistance, to be of any value in the present crisis, must be forthcoming at once.

Secondly, there is a considerable difference of opinion as to whether or not this country would be justified in adopting a policy that Great Britain has found to be a source of weakness.

And lastly, if unemployment insurance is to be accepted as a solution for the problem of unemployment, it is difficult to follow the line of reasoning that seeks to place the responsibility for inaugurating such a policy upon the Provinces.

Surely unemployment insurance, if it is established at all, should be established on a Federal basis so that a Canadian citizen no matter where he lives should be on exactly the same footing as any other Canadian.

The mistake that was made in passing the buck in the case of old age pensions to the Provinces should not be repeated in the introduction of unemployment insurance.

It will require more than the mere statement of the Federal Minister of Labor to convince the people of Canada that the problem of unemployment is a provincial rather than a national problem.

THE TERROR IN RUSSIA.

According to a statement made by the "society of the godless" in Moscow, the Soviet Government has closed 3,370 churches in ten years. Of these, 1,370 were shut during 1929, which seems to verify the report that the drive against religion has of late acquired greatly increased ferocity. In an address before the Chamber of Deputies in Paris on January 29, Paul Milliukoff, eminent historian, and Minister of Foreign Affairs in the first Russian Revolutionary Government, said that the Bolshevists no longer persecute only the Greek Orthodox Church. To-day all religious bodies are under attack, and open resistance is punished by death. The sacred pictures are burned, the bells are removed and the buildings are turned into factories and movie resorts. The Leningrad Soviet has just decided to remove all crosses and monuments from the cemeteries. According to the official plan, there will be no religion in Russia by 1933. That is only three years hence, so that there is not much time to lose, which probably accounts for the speeding up of the onslaught on religion.

The speaker declared that "the Terror" as a means of compulsion is part and parcel of the Soviet system, constituting indeed an essential condition of its existance. Lenin himself defined the Soviet state as an instrument for the suppression of one class by another. "The welfare of the Revolution is above the law, and the courts must take this into consideration, and must be guided not by the letter of the law, but by the Revolutionary conscience." This conscience must dictate the decision of the judge. Not only this, the Soviet Criminal Code regards as criminal every act of omission or commission socially inimical and contrary to the existing order. Bucharin's "A.B.C. of Communism" maintains that "all Soviet authority is transferred from the top to the lowest rung of the administrative ladder." The Terror therefore, is a deliberate system of violence from above instilling fear and compelling obedience below. The Terror is exercised by Stalin and his small governing minority over about 180,000,000 Russians, distributed over Eastern Europe and Siberia.

The forms of the Trror are innumerable. Besides taking a purely physical form, it is a moral torture, leading to the enslavement of the mind and soul. The death penalty is threatened for non-payment of taxes, for failure to supply a given number of horses, for speculation, for lack of politeness towards Government officials, for suspicion of counter-revolution.

Above we have the intoxication of power, unchecked by fear that those in authority will be called to account. Below are the masses who live under fear of punishment, in silent hatred.—Ottawa Journal.

SLANDERING THE SOLDIER.

(From the Montreal Star)

Public Opinion in the Old Country has become greatly incensed against a certain type of war book, in which the British soldier is represented as drenched in vice, drink and blasphemy, as murdering prisoners and as thoroughly degenerate. Men of prominence in various walks of life and who participated in the war are voicing their denunciations in no uncertain terms. One of the most emphatic is Major Beith, better known as Ian Hay, the novelist. In an address delivered recently in Coventry Cathedral he said:

"The soldier is not merely slighted, he is being insulted. To-day we are being submerged by a flood, an epidemic of so-called war books, which depict the men who fought for us in the war as brutes and beasts, as living like pigs and dying like dogs, disillusioned, drunken, and godless.

"Some of these books are just ordinary dull dirt, conceived in dirt and sold for the profit that dirt brings. We need not worry about them. But others are undoubtedly sincere. They are written from the most morbid and pessimistic point of view; they breathe hopelessness, apathy, revolt."

This is no exaggeration of the case. Indeed, Major Beith could have gone considerably farther and still have been well within the truth. Perhaps he is underrating the effect of the books he calls "just ordinary dull dirt." They have a most unfortunate effect upon readers other than those whose patronage they were originally designed to attack. But the serious books with the mistaken outlook are unquestionably dangerous, for these are translated into foreign languages and they are apt to create a most erroneous idea in the minds of foreigners as to the trend of post-war opinions.

Another most regrettable effect of such books is pointed out by the Rev. P. B. Clayton, Founder Padre of Toc H, who says, in a letter to a London paper:

"Passages intended to portray with unflinching crudity the wretchedness or desperation with which some soul was burdened become the pages constantly consulted, thumb-marked and dogs'-eared in a small boy's hands. The young love war books still, and thus the upshot of the present tendency is gravely perilous. Such books, perhaps, were meant to wean men from war. They finish by defiling children's minds."

Curiously enough, nobody seems to have made any appeal to the booksellers to band together against the sale of these books. It would, of course, be difficult. But the individual bookseller who holds his business as something more than a matter of dollars and cents, who recognizes that he has a distinct responsibility to the public, can do his share in helping to restrict the circulation of such books, particularly among the younger class of readers. They have just as bad an influence in the Dominions as in the Old Country, and what applies over there has equal force in Canada to-day.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Now that the Federal Government has passed the buck to the Provinces, we should be able to struggle along without a Minister of Immigration.

At least the people of Ontario can be grateful that no new taxation is included in Hon. Dr. Monteith's Budget proposals.

"It is an open secret," says the Globe, "that the liquor business is not as good as it was." There should be no complaint from anybody on that account.

If the Naval Conference lasts a little longer Hon. Dr. Ralston might as well come home, for Canada will have no more navy left to reduce.

The size of the surplus reported by the Provincial Treasurer makes some of the anti-Government campaign advertising in the last election decidedly amusing.

FAILURE

There could hardly be a more dismal confession of moral and intellectual failure than to admit that our leisure hours hang so heavy on our hands that we must needs escape from our own empty-headedness by betting on a football match or a horse race.—Dean Inge.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
March 6, 1905

Yesterday the Sunday school anniversary services of George street Methodist church were held and the special preacher for the occasion was Rev. E. B. Lanceley of Port Hope, who occupied the pulpit at morning and evening services, both of which were largely attended.

What To-day Means To You

"PISCES."

If March 6th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m., and from 10:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7 a.m. to 8 a.m., and from 4 p.m. to 4:50 p.m.

The astrological indications for this date are none too favorable. An unsettled feeling will prevail and a certain anxiousness as to what is to happen. It would be best to move slowly until the fog of uncertainty lifts—sunset should bring a change for the better.

Children born on this March 6th will be persistent, ambitious, and actuated by high ideals. They will be sociably inclined, and pleasure loving. They will have great adaptability, and will feel at home anywhere and with any one.

You should have both a happy and healthy life, for you are always busy. You are seldom puzzled over the questions of what to do, for your interests are too varied and too vital to permit either idleness or boredom. Yours is not the sort of "busy-ness" that innumerable people exhibit, by rushing about in an aimless way and exhausting an enormous amount of energy. You work systematically and with a purpose. You have many creative hobbies which fill up your so-called leisure hours. Although you concentrate on the thing of the moment, yours is not a one-track mind. Your many avenues of thought and action give you the required exercise to keep mentally and physically fit. You do not, however, have enough relaxation. You never completely "let go", and you can never "just sit."

You are not lacking in veneration, and you have a great regard for customs. You are strongly interested in all that is beautiful, ideal, sublime, and have respect for religious observances. Your horoscope shows that you have a deep love of home, family and society. You do not have a suspicious nature, and you are always ready to give everybody the benefit of a doubt. Your friendships are seldom broken, and you will acquire very few enemies throughout your life. (Copyright 1930, by the Bell Syn., Inc.)

THE GREENE MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

"I don't know anything about that, sir," answered Heath. "But I know that European crooks use those signs."

"Oh, doubtless, I ran across a number of 'em when I was looking up the emblematic language of the gypsies. A fascinatin' study." Vance seemed uninterested in Ada's discovery.

"Have you this paper with you, Miss Greene?" asked Markham.

The girl was embarrassed and shook her head.

"I'm so sorry," she apologized. "I didn't think it was important. Should I have brought it?"

"Did you destroy it?" Heath put the question excitedly.

"Oh, I have it safely. I put it away. * * *"

"We gotta have that paper, Mr. Markham." The sergeant had risen and come toward the District Attorney's desk. "It may be just the lead we're looking for."

If you really want it so badly," said Ada. "I can phone Rex to bring it with him. He'll know where to find it if I explain."

"Right! That'll save me a trip." Heath nodded to Markham. "Try to catch him before he leaves, sir."

Taking up the telephone, Markham again directed Swacker to get Rex on the wire. After a brief delay the connection was made and he handed the instrument to Ada.

"Hello, Rex dear," she siad. "Don't scold me, for there's nothing to worry about. * * * What I wanted of you is this: In our private mail box you'll find a sealed envelope of my personal blue stationery. Please get it and bring it with you to Mr. Markham's office. And don't let any one see you take it. * * * That's all. Rex. Now, hurry and we'll have lunch together down town."

"It will be at least half an hour before Mr. Greene can get here," said Markham, turning to Vance; "and as I've a waiting room full of people, why don't you and Van Dine take the young lady to the Stock Exchange and show her how the mad brokers disport themselves. How would you like that, Miss Greene?"

"I'd love it!" exclaimed the girl.

"Why not go along too, sergeant?"

"Me!" Heath snorted. "I got excitement enough."

Vance and Ada and I motored the few blocks to 18 Broad Street, and taking the elevator passed through the reception room (where uniformed attendants peremptorily relieved us of our wraps), and came out upon the visitors' gallery overlooking the floor of the Exchange.

There was an unusually active market that day. The pandemonium was almost deafening, and the feverish activity about the trading posts resembled the riots of an excited mob. I was too familiar with the sight to be particularly impressed; and Vance, who detested noise and disorder, looked on with an air of bored annoyance. But Ada's face lighted up at once. Her eyes sparkled and the blood rushed to her cheeks. She gazed over the railing in a thrall of fascination.

"And now you see, Miss Greene, how foolish men can be," said Vance.

"Oh, but it's wonderful!" she answered. "They're alive. They feel things. They have something to fight for."

"You think you'd like it?" smiled Vance.

"I'd adore it. I've always longed to do something exciting—something * * * like that. * * *" She extended her hand toward the milling crowds below.

It was easy to understand her reaction after her years of monotonous service to an invalid in the dreary Greene mansion.

At that moment I happened to look up, and, to my surprise, Heath was standing in the doorway scanning the groups of visitors. He appeared troubled and unusually grim, and there was a nervous intentness in the way he moved his head. I raised my hand to attract his attention, and he immediately came to where we stood.

"The Chief wants you at the officeright away, Mr. Vance." There was an ominousness in his tone. "He sent me over to get you."

Ada looked at him steadily, and a pallor of fear overspread her face.

"Well, well!" Vance shrugged in mock resignation. "Just when we were getting interested in the sights. But we must obey the Chief—eh, what, Miss Greene?"

But, despite his attempt to make light of Markham's unexpected summons, Ada was strangely silent; and as we rode back to the office she did not speak but sat tensely, her unseeing eyes staring straight ahead.

It seemed an interminable time before we reached the Criminal Courts Building. The traffic was congested; and there was even a long delay at the elevator. Vance appeared to take the situation calmly; but Heath's lips were compressed, and he breathed heavily through his nose like a man laboring under tense excitement.

As we entered the District Attorney's office Markham rose and looked at the girl with a great tenderness.

"You must be brave, Miss Greene," he said, in a quiet, sympathetic voice. "Something tragic and unforeseen has happened. And as you will have to be told of it sooner or later—"

"It's Rex!" She sank limply into a chair facing Markham's desk.

"Yes," he said softly; "it's Rex. Sproot called up a few minutes after you had gone. * * *"

"And he's been shot—like Julia and Chester!" Her words were scarcely audible, but they brought a sense of horror into the dingy old office.

Markham inclined his head.

"Not five minutes after you telephoned to him some one entered his room and shot him."

A dry sob shook the girl, and she buried her face in her arms.

Markham stepped round the desk and placed his hand gently on her shoulder.

"We've got to face it, my child," he said. "We're going to the house at once to see what can be done and you'd better come in the car with us."

"Oh, I don't want to go back," she moaned. "I'm afraid—I'm afraid! * * * *"

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

"THE RABIES SCARE"

To the Editor of The Examiner,
Dear Sir:

I hope you will publish a letter on the above subject, as during the past few years I have had the misfortune to be living in different townships where we had a "rabies scare", and some of the people were stampeded by government inspectors.

Proclamations have been issued through your paper during the past week from the reeves of three townships surrounding Peterborough, couched in almost the same language, which proves "that the proclamation was handed to them by one of these government inspectors, whose business it is to do this kind of thing and it is done to keep down an epizooty (which means an epedemic influenza, prevailing among animals, especially horses".)

Now in order to put such proclamation into force it must be passed by the city, town, village or township council. The writer was in a certain township some time ago, where a dog was shot and the government inspector came and ordered the council to pass such by-law, but they refused and no rabies developed. I consider Mr. Editor "that the proclamation issued is one of the most heartless ever heard of (the reeves are not to blame for that). Just to read it will prove this, "Securely tied with steel chains," "and placed in a building, where if the steel chain breaks the dogs cannot get out." Why the steel chain, if the dog cannot get out and why a steel chain at all? "It almost seems as if some one were going to get a rake off in steel chains" and then for "three months". A prominent Vet says "this is heartless cruelty" to tie a dog up like that, which would be worse than death, and lead to madness. Oftimes these dogs would be left without food and water. This Vet adds "that all that is necessary is to inject the proper serum and there would be no danger."

Now, it has been demonstrated that rabies is an extremely rare disease and very difficult to detect. If a dog has it and is shut up, it will be dead in ten days. Then why cut off their heads and send them to be examined, when the report comes back in almost every case "A bad case of rabies". A gentleman about two years ago offered $1,000 and afterwards increased it to $5,000 if any one case where the head was sent could be proven to be a case of rabies and added "that the head of a dog killed in an accident was sent and the report came back "A very bad case of rabies."

There are no cases of rabies in England, and why should there be in Canada, if it were not for an agitation that is being kept up. Most supposed cases of rabies are caused by worms or distemper. Some time ago I patted a stray dog on the head and it licked my hand and wagged its tail and ten minutes afterwards it was shot because it was mad. (A bad case of rabies).

Two weeks ago, a town in Western Ontario passed a by-law to have stray dogs shot at sight, and appointed a man to do it. He shot one and the citizens were so incensed that the council were compelled to recind the by-law.

Are there any rabies in Otonabee, Douro, or Smith townships? If not, such a proclamation is an outrage and all dog lovers should protest, and get in touch with the dog lovers of Peterborough and hold a mass meeting and give these government inspectors to understand that the people have some rights, and that even a dog has some. What happened at Brockville this week? A man went to the bottom of the lake and a police dog dived and seized his clothing and brought him to the surface and his life was saved, whereas if the dog had been tied up with a steel chain, he would have been drowned.

The proclamation issued does not have sufficient specifications. The chain should be at least two inches thick and made of chilled steel and fastened to a steel post three feet in the ground and the dog should have a steel collar and the enclosure should have bars of steel all around it, for some of those toy dogs which weigh about two pounds might gnaw through these bars and soon be at large and chase some one's pet cat, which would be awful.

Mr. Editor this whole business reminds me of something Jack Miner once said to me. He was showing me the wild ducks and geese, and when I noticed how tame they were, he said, "My friend it is not the animals and birds that are wild, but man is wild."

Yours truly,
A LOVER OF DOGS

"The Meaning of Life"

SCRIPTURE

Memory Verse: "What is your life?" (James 4:14).

Read: James 4:13-17.

MEDITATION

This is the question of questions. It will engaged us during this Lenten season. The answer we give to this question will determine the answer we give to all of our other questions. James does not answer it. To be sure, he gives a sort of answer. He says that it is a very transient thing, like a morning mist that the sun carries away. But to say that life is short does not tell us what it is. Precious things are often little things in space and time. Jewels are not large. The Bible nowhere defines life but it uses many symbols of life. The Book of Revelation calls it "a river of water." It springs from hidden depths, is replenished from the sky, and flows down its winding course making the valley green, quenching men's thirst and giving them life. The question for to-day is: What is your life?

PRAYER

O Thou, from whom life comes and to whom it returns, we thank Thee for our lives. Grant us to know better than we do life's divine meaning and majestic purposes, to the end that we may not live in vain but become Thy profitable servants. Amen.

GENUINE CACTUS PLANT IS SCARCE

Artificial Specimens Come as Result of Mexican Embargo.

FINE DECORATIONS.

Adding an effective and striking touch to the tastefully decorated window, Wainman, the jeweller, has on display this week some beautiful specimens, artificial and real, of the Cactus plant.

The use of these plants are the latest addition to the decoration of the modern home and the demand has been so great in Canada and the states that the Mexican Government has prohibited export, which means that the genuine plant savoring of the hot and deserts of that rebellious little republic to the south is now extremely rare.

In conversation with J. H. Callander, a keen and enthusiastic cactus collector, it was learned that he possesses about 150 of thees plants which include several different species, and that as soon as he has disposed of this stock it will be impossible to procure any further consignmenst from Mexico.

The cactus plants which adorn the Wainman store window include some specimens from Mr. Callander's hothouses whilst the plants in bloom are artificial, although that would hardly be known by the uninitiated, such perfect reproductions are they.

The artificial cactus has arisen as the result of the Mexican embargo placed on these plants and is also evidence of the favor which they are finding as a modern means of house decoration.

hundred dead at Montauban. Little was known of the fate of inhabitants in the outlying villages, vineyards and farms.

Anguish, fear, and terrible uncertainty for the future was everywhere prevalent in the stricken regions and appeals for help were sent far and wide.

Woman Carried Off in Torrent.

A brook which became a might torrent at Mascabardes wrecked everything in its passage. The wife of a gendarme who sought to save her paralytic father was carried off by the torrent. The father was rescued by gendarmes.

When dawn to-day revealed something of the desolation wrought by the waters tired rescue workers who had been steadily employed in some cases for more than 48 hours faced a task which seemed almost hopeless. Road and rail communication was practically impossible. Even movement by small boats was slow and dangerous, because of the swiftness of flood currents.

From every untouched spot there came offers of assistance. Bakers throughout the district, some of them with their ovens only a foot or so out of water, worked without ceasing to provide bread. This was rationed strictly, for even with generous donations from all over France, food is scarce in the stricken area.

Launches and other power craft came up the Garonne from Bordeaux, picking up hundreds of those marooned and taking them safely to dry ground. The rescue work was not without its casualties. At least 12 were known to have abandoned their own safety and given their lives in an attempt to save others.

Filled With Debris.

The waters of the Tarn and the Garonne were filled with debris, which made navigation dangerous. Although many bodies were taken from the two streams many others were seen from the banks but could not be reached. Domestic animals perished by the hundreds.

Fourteen productive departments of France lay in the flood districts, swept by the rivers Tarn, Aude, Garonne, Agout, Correze, Dordogne, Lot, Aveyron, Orb, Lirou, Bexere and many other larger streams. With the exception of the Garonne, which is still mounting in its lower reaches the floods generally receded to-day with absence of rain. Promise of fair weather for the next few days gave hope that the worst was over.

nouncement, however, many things have happened which show unmistakably the trend of British policy.

No Alteration Planned

"It is as clear as daylight that responsible British statesmen do not contemplate any alteration of British policy that might adversely affect British commerce with India or that would require impartial scrutiny of Great Britain's transactions in India. If nothing is done to end the process of exploitation, India must be bled with increasing speed.

"The party of violence is gaining and is making itself felt. Having an unquestioning immovable faith in the efficacy of non-violence, it would be sinful on my part to wait longer. This non-violence will be expressed through civil disobedience which, for the moment, will be confined to the inmates of Saygrah Ashran (Gandhi's College) but designed ultimately to cover all those who join the movement.

Start on Salt Tax

"If you cannot deal with these evils and if my letter does not appeal to your heart I shall, on March 11, proceed with such measures as I can take for disregarding of the provision of the salt tax, which is most iniquitous from the poor man's viewpoint, and which never should have disfigured the Statute Book.

"It is open to you to frustrate my design by arresting me, but I hope there will be tens of thousands ready in a disciplined manner to take up the work after me."

Referring to the communal problem Gandhi said:

"You have unnecessarily stressed the communal problems which unhappily affect this land. Important though they are in the consideration of any scheme of the Government, they have little bearing upon the greater problems which are above communities and which affect them all equally."

Probe Liabilities

Elsewhere in the communication Gandhi said, "It must be the duty of free India to subject all her liabilities to strictest investigation and to repudiate those that may be adjudged by an impartial tribunal to be unjust and unfair.

Writing in his paper Gandhi referred to the letter he sent the Viceroy, saying: "I am not intent on a fight. I am leaving no stone unturned to avoid it, but I am ready for it the moment I find there is no honorable way out of it.

He added that his letter was not an ultimatum but a friendly if also frank communication from one who considers himself a friend of Englishmen.

LEGION REQUESTS FURTHER CHANGE

Would Lift Time Limit of Application For Pensions By Widows.

ACTS AS PENALTY.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 5 (C.P.)—The Canadian Legion in the legislative program it is placing before Parliament, requests the removal of what the Legion regards as discrepancies in different sections of the Pension Act. The Legion seeks to have removed Section 13, which deals with the time limit of applications for pensions for widows and dependents of deceased war veterans. This section provides that no pension can be awarded in respect to the death of an ex-service man unless the application has been made within three years from the time of his death, or within three years from the date of which the applicant has fallen into a dependent condition. Since the amendments of 1928 removed all time limit on applications for pension by war veterans, the Legion asks that same action be taken with regard to widows and dependents, and that this three-year time limit also be removed.

Time Limit Penalizes

The time limit, Legion appeals believe, penalizes those who have subsisted on a partial livelihood and have made no application for pension, either through ignorance of the law, or on account of a desire to remain independent. The attitude of the Legion is that if a pension claim is established on every ground, it ought not to be refused on account of the time at which application has been made.

If this request is granted, it will also mean the removal of another time limit for widows' pensions, that contained in Section 32 of the present Act, which provides that widows' pensions shall only be paid if the pensioner dies within 10 years from the date of his discharge or retirement from the forces, or from the date of commencement of pension, thus bringing these sections of the Act into uniformity with those providing for no time limit on first application for disability pensions.

Home Winner Finds Many to Share It

DETROIT, Mich., March 6 (C.P.)—G. Cecil Covill, bachelor, whose winning of a $20,000 "ideal home' at a real estate exhibition brought him condolences because he had no wife to make a real home for him and flooded his mail with offers from unmarried ladies, broke down and confessed yesterday that he is engaged to be married to a Scotch lassie, Miss Margaret Graham, who lives in St. Thomas, Ont.

Covill announced he became engaged more than a year ago before coming to Detroit from St. Thomas. He said he made the announcement to stop the flow of letters.

When he was awarded the "ideal home" Covill said he didn't even have a girl friend.

'What a pity!" said everyone.

But folks in St. Thomas knew better, and yesterday, confronted with their version, he said, "We will be married some day! Maybe saying that will stop this flood of letters."

Covill is a compositor.

LONDON, March 5 (C.P.). — The Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, yesterday held out the olive branch to the Beaverbrook-Rothermere party, which, under the banner of Empire Free Trade, had threatened to make inroads upon the southern counties, backbone of the Conservative strength. Mr. Baldwin promised that, should his party be returned at the next election, he would immediately summon an Imperial economic conference to thrash out the problems of Empire trade, and more, would submit the question of taxes on foreign foodstuffs to the British people.

Last night Lord Beaverbrook received the Conservative leader's statement with acclaim.

Close Up Ranks.

"We must close up our ranks and fight shoulder to shoulder," was Baldwin's exhortation before the National Union of Conservative and Unionist Associations earlier in the day, and as the sun sets and Beaverbrook's reply is before the public, it seems as though the divided ranks were in a fair way to being joined together. At least a reconciliation seems to be in sight.

"We are greatly encouraged by Mr. Baldwin's speech," says Lord Beaverbrook's statement to the press. "We are profoundly grateful to him for his plain, straightforward words. I regard his statement as a perfectly satisfactory acceptance of the main purpose for which the Empire crusade was launched—the bringing about of the economic unity of the Empire and the restoration of the industry of Britain."

In the Legislature

Debate on second reading of the amendments to the Security Frauds Prevention Act continued by Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, and W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., Liberal Leader. Hon. Harry Nixon, Progressive Leader, adjourned the debate.

The Liberal Leader attacked the administration of the Act under the Attorney-General and claimed that in one specified instance he had failed to investigate a complaint lodged by three separate Renfrew County men. It hinged around the activities of a salesman of alleged spurious stocks.

Col. Price defended his administration and blamed certain financial papers for continually advising subscribers to buy stocks when the market was at its peak.

Second reading was given Bills relating to Hamilton, Stratford, and Harrow and to an amendment to the Vital Statistics Act.

Third readings were given Bills relating to New Toronto, Oshawa, New Liskeard, Leaside, Frood Mines, St. Thomas, Galt, Chatham, Niagara Falls, The Canada Conference Evangelical Church, and Albert College.

CHURCH DEBATE IS BIG SUCCESS

Affair Conducted by Combined Efforts of Societies of Lakefield Churches.

GOOD PROGRAM

LAKEFIELD, March 5.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The debate put on by the combined efforts of Knox United Church Ladies' Guild and Regent street United church Ladies Aid on Thursday evening, February 27, in the school room of Regent street church, was an outstanding success in every particular. It afforded an evening of profitable entertainment to the large and attentive audience, and to the ladies who had worked so hard to prepare for the debate and each succeeding so admirably in her presentation of their points, is due a great measure of thanks and appreciation.

In the absence of Reeve Tanner, who was out of town, the chair was taken by Mr. J. A. Porter, who announced the object of the meeting and excused himself from giving a chairman's address on the grounds that the program was so rich in good things.

Misses Helen Porter and Dorothy Sutton played a piano duet which was well worth hearing and Miss Cora Charlton contributed a reading which evoked much amusement as she cleverly recounted a breakfast table episode, which is common in many homes where the morning paper arrives early. Miss Loretta Northey also contributed a piano solo, which was much appreciated.

Mr. Porter announced the debate and called the six ladies who were taking part to the platform.

The subject was, "Resolved that the pioneer woman has contributed more to the welfare of the home and community than the modern woman." Knox church, represented by Mesdames W. W. Yale, J. A. Porter and C. S. Tanner had the affirmative, while Regent street church represented by Mesdames J. E. Milburn, W. W. Leonard and E. H. Northey upheld the negative.

Mrs. Yale, the leader of the affirmative, was the first speaker, and in her presentation of her case, she affirmed that the pioneer woman showed her modern sister how to do things and that modern women are as a rubber stamp compared to the pioneer.

There is no contribution to the community and home greater than sons and daughters and pioneer mothers had larger and healthier families, kept so by a greater amount of exercise and greater nourishment because the bread was made of the whole wheat prepared by the mother who also used the fresh garden vegetables for her family while the modern mother depends for her bread on the village baker, bread, made from wheat which in the refining is robbed of its greatest health giving properties. It is said that the modern family would starve if the can opener should be lost so common is the use of canned vegetables.

The pioneer woman was clothed with regard to the rigors of the climate and did not risk her health by insufficient clothing as does the modern women.

The pioneer women had greater thrift, modesty, and reverence than the modern product, also she had a better sense of values and the social gatherings were practical as well as profitable, the paring and quilting bees being examples of jolly meetings. The modern woman lost her halo when she lost her crowning glory, her hair, but there is a dim shadow of a halo still to be seen as the smoke of her cigarette is wafted upward.

Negative Side.

Mrs. Milburn, leader of the negative, stated that there were many large families today, we have just read of the appointment of Mrs. Wilson, the mother of eight children, to the Senate of Canada. Many mothers bake bread and they have gone further than the pioneer women in perfecting the art of canning so that fresh vegetables can be served the year round and if some modern women are addicted to cigarettes the pioneer women (many of them) took great comfort from the corn cob pipe and the use of snuff.

This speaker devoted her attention to the health question and domestic side of the subject. This generation is the healthiest generation and that is in a great measure due to the study of food values that the modern mother makes and practices. The modern woman can lay out money to better advantage and assisted by the labor saving devices can give more time to exercise her influence in her home and give her companionship to her children and discuss with them other problems. The results are more artistic homes, greater appreciation of good reading and music and more efficient direction of the children's amusement. The modern woman has gained respect everywhere and the government and insurance companies provide for her if she is left a widow. Among modern women who have done much for health is Dr. Helen McMurchy who says the infant mortality is decreasing due partly to the greater knowledge of fresh air and sanitation of the woman of today who, with her short skirt and bobbed hair, is less hampered and better able to serve her family than the pioneer.

Mrs. Porter, the second speaker for the affirmative, stressed the courage, patience and originality of the pioneer women in the days when the country was a dense forest peopled with wild animals and savage tribes. Many of our pioneers came to this country seeking political and religious liberty, and brought the story of the cross to the natives. The pioneer woman rose above her environment and statistics show that tuberculosis is more prevalent now than in the pioneer days. The speaker stressed the hospitality of the pioneer days when the door was never latched and when there was always a welcome for visitors, picturing in a most attractive manner the log house set in the clearing with the happy family life going on, in the nurture and fear of the Lord. Lord.

She quoted Samuel Cunard, Sir William Dausi, Sir Oliver Mowat and Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Bonar Law as among distinguished Canadians who owed much of their success in life to the influence of their mothers.

Mrs. Leonard, the second speaker of the negative side, dealt mainly with the modern woman in social and religious activity. The women's organizations are among the most efficient in the church today, we have also the Y.W.C.A., the Salvation Army, the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion, the Women's Institute, Girls' Institute, Camp Fire Girls and Girl Guides, the Rebecca and Eastern Star Lodges all doing a wonderful work along social lines. She also cited several cases of modern women who have made a remarkably fine contribution to the religious and social welfare movement, viz. Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, the founder of the Christian Science movement; Frances Willard, who in 1892 foumded the W.C.T.U.; Miss Jane Adams of Chicago, a social worker; Lady Aberdeen, founder of the Aberdeen Association for the distribution of good literature to settlers.

Women's Work in War.

Women's work in the Great War was stressed, also the progress in the scientific upbringing of babies, also women now do not allow themselves to become dowdy and frumpish in dress and personal appearance but remain attractive and young looking—a pleasing contrast to the pioneer. Women of today have broken down the barriers and have proved that their mental capacity is quite the equal of the men. The speaker closed with a reference to Our Blessed Lord's commendation of Mary, who listened and learned at His feet while Martha was absorbed in household tasks. "Mary," said He, "has chosen the better part."

Mrs. Tanner, the third speaker of the affirmative side, said that the pioneer woman was known by her sons, mentioning Sir John A. Macdonald, Dr. Egerton Ryerson and Alexander Bell, Sir Oliver Mowat, Sir Herbert Falconer, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier as men whose success in life was largely due to their mother's care and training. The pioneer woman took her marriage vow seriously and she personally saw to the religious education of her children. It is said "better an ounce of mother than a pound of clergy." Among the pioneer women who had rendered conspicuous service to their country might be named Laura Secord and Madeline Vercheres, whose patriotism cannot be over-estimated. To the thrift and loyalty of Canada's pioneer women may be attributed much of the credit of Canada's splendid part in the Great War.

Mrs. Northey, the third speaker on the negative side, refuted the argument that infant mortality was greater than in the pioneer days stating that women were learning how to feed and care for their babies and were not dosing them with parogoric as did the pioneer women. Modern styles were healthier and what women would want to go back to trailing skirts, the bustle and tight corset. Women in these days have more system in their housework than the pioneer women.

Mrs Northey dealt with the modern women in profesional, political and business life. In professional life we have Miss Duff, a modern woman, whose kindly influence has been felt in our own community in her long career as a teacher in the village and who has given outstanding service to her country. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools in Chicago, the founders of the Montessiri system of education, the kintergarten all have done much for the welfare of the whole community Among physicians we have Dr. Jessie Birnie of Peterborough, Dr Emma Connor, surgeon of Belleville, Dr. Maud Abbot of McGill, Madame Currie, the discoverer of radium We have women in the nursing profession Florence Nightingale who was honored by being given the Order of Merit, we have the Victorian Order of Nurses, the outpost hospital (as they have in Apsley), dental nurses, school nurses and international congress of nurses. Women are successful in pharmacy, a profession involving the compounding of prescriptions, when a life may hang on a single error. In literature there are such women as L. M. Montgomery, Nellie McClung, Jean Blewett and Pauline Johnson. Kathleen Blake Coleman was the first woman war correspondent. Women are also making a success of such careers as dieticians, analytical chemists, chartered accountants and lawyers. Dr. Margaret Patterson, judge of the juvenile court in Toronto and Judge Emily Murphy who holds the same position in Edmonton. In sculpture, music and painting modern women are making a greater contribution to the welfare of their country.

In politics we have Mrs. Pankhurst, one of the outstanding women in the suffrage movement and only within the past few weeks there has been paid to Mrs. Norman Wilson of Ottawa, the highest honor ever given to any woman, the appointment to the Canadian Senate and in her maiden speech she said her appointment was due to the efforts of five Alberta women, Judge Emily Murphy, Mrs. Nellie McClung, Mrs Louise McKinney, Miss Irene Parlby and Mrs Henrietta Muir Edwards. We have in politics also Agnes McPhail, Lady Astor (who has done much for women and children and peace). Mrs. MacDonald was recently elected Reeve of Cobourg, Mrs. W. R. Morris of Peterborough is a member of the school board in Peterborough. In business women are making great strides and are showing great aptitute for every line of business life.

Mrs. Yale was given a few minutes to reply before the judges left the room to make their decision. The judges were Miss B. Graham, Messrs. G. G. Connell and J. F. Harvey and their decision was in favor of the negative. It was unanimous verdict that the modern woman had proved her case on every count and Mrs. Northey's presentation of modern women, well known by reputation, who were making conspicuously fine contribution to the welfare of the country proved a decisive factor.

Rev. S. A. Kemp made a few remarks of kindly welcome and announced a crokinole party for Tuesday, March 4.

Mrs. J. R. Hull sang a solo with a flavor of the days of chivalry in the "Long, Long Ago" and Mrs. McMillen followed with a modern song "You Can't Tell the Mother From the Daughter" The solos were much appreciated and aptly fitted in with the subject of the debate.

Mr. Porter paid a tribute to Mrs. Theodore Crawford and Mrs. J. H. Charlton, who had arranged the program and the details of an evening which proved so entertaining.

"Skinny! I Gained 11 Lbs. in 8 Weeks and Boy Friend"

"After trying several tonics tried Ironized Yeast. In 8 weeks gained 11 lbs., new complexion, round limbs; best of all a boy friend."—S. M. Salino.

Men and women are amazed at gain of 5 to 15 lbs. in 3 weeks. Ugly hollows vanish. Bony limbs round out. Sallow, muddy, pale skin gets healthy color like magic. Nervousness, indigestion, constipation disappear overnight. Sound sleep. New pep from very first day.

Two great tonics in one—special weight-building Malt Yeast and strengthening Iron. Pleasant little tablets. Far stronger than unmedicated yeast. Results in ½ time. No yeasty taste. No gas.

Don't go round "skinny," ugly, unattractive. Get Ironized Yeast from druggist to-day. Feel great to-morrow. Money back from manufacturer if not delighted with results.

EUCHRE PARTY.

Successful Affair Held Under Auspices of Lakefield Women's Institute.

LAKEFIELD, March 6.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The progressive euchre party held on Friday evening last under the auspices of the Woman's Institute was an unqualified success being the largest card party ever held in the village. Cards were played in the auditorium of the Town Hall and a pleasant evening was spent by everyone.

Prizes were won by Miss Vleita Preston and Mr. John Allen, while Mrs. H. E. Moore and Mr. Laurence Charlton won the consolation prizes.

Mrs. A. Davis, president of the Woman's Institute, presented the prizes and made a graceful little speech welcoming the visitors and thanking them for their co-operation in making the evening so successful.

Much credit is due to Mrs. Davis, convenor of the entertainment and Miss Edna Blewett, convenor of the refreshment committees. The receipts amounted to $41.00.

Fire Alarm.

At 11.30 on Saturday morning the fire department received the first call of the year to a chimney fire at the home of Dr. S. J. Gibson, Bridge street. The fire proved fairly obstinate and the men were on duty about an hour. The chimney, which is of brick, built from the ground, is a high one and while there was at no time real danger of its spreading, the brigade took no chances.

Wedding Shower.

Between seventy-five and one hundred neighbours and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dunford on Thursday evening last for a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Olive Dunford, who is a bride of this week. The bride elect received a large number of beautiful gifts, and in a graceful little speech she thanked her friends for their kindly recognition of her approaching marriage and extended a hearty invitation to them to visit her in her new home.

A.Y.P.A. Card Party.

The final card party of the A.Y.P.A. season was held on Thursday evening in the parish hall with eleven tables played. Prizes were won by Miss Phyllis Charlton and Mr. A. Coughlin, while Mrs. Stenner and Mr. G. E. Pearson won the consolation prizes. The prizes for the season were presented to those who had the highest score in the series and they were won by Mrs. Stenner for the ladies with Miss Amy Watson a close second and Mr. John Allen for the gentlemen with Dr. John Charlton the runner up. The series has been much enjoyed throughout the season.

WINNIPEG MART CLOSES STRONG

Market Fluctuated Four Cents a Bushel During Day.

CLOSES HIGHER.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 6 (C.P.). — The highly sensitized Winnipeg wheat market, lacking outside interest of any kind, fluctuated within a four-cent-a-bushel range to-day and closed ½ cent to 7-8 cents higher. At one stage it was down two cents, at another it had marked up an advance of slightly more than 2 cents, and while the high levels could not be held, the market was in a better position at the close.

May wheat finished up ½ cent at $1.11½; July was 3-8 cent to ½ cent higher at $1.13 3-8 to ½, and October showed a gain of ¾ cents at $1.15¼ to 1-8.

A report that the United States Farm Board would have an announcement after the close of the Chicago market resulted in short holders scurrying to cover, which brought prices from their extreme low marks to the day's high.

Only a small export business was reported and no renewal of foreign interest was forecast. Demand for cash wheat was better, but spreads remained unchanged.

BIG SALES INCREASE SHOWN FOR LAURA SECORD LIMITED

Operations of International Petroleum Company in Colombia and Peru Arouses Interest.

REVERT TO OLD MACHINERY.

TORONTO, Mar. 6. (Cpecial to Examiner.)—February was a good sales month for Laura Secord Candy Shops, Limited, and the increased total for the month went a long way in wiping out the decrease for the first five months of the company's fiscal year. Sales in February were valued at $160,477 compared with $157,179 for the correspojding month of 1929, an increase of $3,297. In the first five months of the fiscal year October to February inclusive, total slaes amounted to $809,381 as against $982,233 in 1928—1929 or a decrease of $1,851. Should the current monthly period prove as satisfactory as the preceding one, Laura Secord Candy shops will enter the final half of their year with increased sales.

International Petroleum.

The Imperial Review for January-February contains a very interesting article on the operations of International Petroleum and Tropical oil in Colombia and Peru. In Colombia all the newest and most up-to-date methods and equipment are used and natural handicaps have been overcome in a manner and a scale that is amazing. Negritos field owned and operated by International Petroleum, in northern Peru, is notable as one of the few fields in the world where modern rotary equipment has had to give way to old fashioned cable tools. Following success of rotary equipment in other fields this type of machinery was imported and tried out in the development of certain sands. This experiment was brought to an unsuccessful conclusion and the rotary equipment shipped to Colombia about six months ago. International normally operates around 50 strings of cable tools; but, as a result of the flooding of the petroleum markets of the world, activity was reduced during 1929 to 35 strings. This total does not include 12 or 13 star machines, which are being operated in the drilling of shallow wells. Active development of the Negritos field was commenced by British interests in 1898 and the operating companies later bought out by International Petroleum, although more than 1600 producing wells are in daily operation, development of the property is probably not half complete. The concession is some 50 miles square, and the limits of the several productive areas are still being extended from time to time. Geological studies indicate that it may be possible to drill from 1500 to 2000 well in pools already discovered.

Exchange Seat Sale.

Transactions in seats on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange have become active in the past week and to-day the sale of another seat is reported, the third in a few days time. Geo. C. Williams of G. C. Williams and Co., had purchased a seat from D. S. Patterson for $20,000.00, Mr. Williams was formerly a member of the Standard Exchange but sold his seat a few years ago. On Wednesday a sale to F. J. Crawford was reported and last week Frank O'Hearn of F. G. O'Hearn and Co., purchased a seat from one of the members of Solloway, Mills and Company. The present price of around $20,000 has created quite a demand for seats and no less than five bids at this amount are on the street.

DULL SESSION TORONTO CURB

Brazilian Traction Most Active Stock in To-day's Trading.

NICKEL EASES.

TORONTO, Ont., March 6. (C.P.)—Action of the market on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning was another repetition of the featureless days lately when fluctuations are limited to a small fraction and carry no meaning to the trader, whether they be on the side of the advance or retreat.

The "almost" is used to describe this morning's transactions because of the standout position occupied by Brazilian Traction. The stock was quite the most active on the board with transactions heavier than in any other issue. Buying operations commenced right at the outset and continued intermittently through out the first couple of hours. The high of 40 was only a point below the best price for 1930 made when the stock was the object of insistent demand a few weeks back. Blocks of two and five hundred shares appearing on the tape to-day indicated strong interests are behind this latest move.

Nickel eased fractionally in a wearisome market, for did Noranda make any progress. Implement stocks, the merchandising group, steels and such pivotal stocks as Ford and Gypsum swung idly. Oils came out firm and maintained their position, though without attracting fresh buying.

GOOD COPPER FIND IN COBALT MINES

Cornish Singing Quartette From Timmins Entertains Mining Engineers.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 6. (Special to Examiner.—Last night's smoker and concert of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, which is usually considered the real get-together of members at their annual conventions, clearly showed that when mining men play, they do not fool. The elaborate program arranged and the spirit of good fellowship displayed will not be forgotten for some time.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of the "Four Cousin Jacks", of Timmins, brought from that town for the occasion. Dressed in mining clothes as though they had just stepped off shift with miners lamps burning on their hats, the quartette sang a number of well known mining song, they are Cornishmen and members of the Cornish Choir famous throughout the north, which originated when Hollinger imported a number of Cornish miners several years ago.

To-day's market performance of Cobalt contact would appear to indicate the buying which has made the stock the centre of attention for several days has been discontinued for the present, at least.

The Cobalt Contact Mines manager, J. M. C. Dunlop is in town and reports the find of copper Cobalt ore was made while drifting on a silver vein in the Keewatin formation below the conglomorate in which ore has been encountered up to date. The new ore which runs approximately 15 per cent copper and 7 per cent Cobalt has been opened for a distance of 80 feet and will be examined in the near future by metal lurgists with a view to treatment.

This class of material has been found very complex in the past. Speaking of the institute luncheon yesterday Hon. Charles McCrae declared the major part in the mining industry rests with the prospectors and urged that operators and mining men generally give them the fullest co-operation. He promised every accommodation would be given by the government. "The ground in the mining industry has merely been consolidated in the past, "he said, "and developments of mineral resources of the country is still in the early stages."

According to the report of the department of mines for 1929 Hollingers gross income from production during the year was $9,455,289 showing an average grade of $6.10 which is slightly below the 1928 average of $6.28. An important development is the fact that quality of the ore improved greatly with final quarter averaging $7.30 per ton of gold against 5.64 for the first nine months. Net profits from metals on same cost basis as 1928 would be $3,098,314 or 63 cents a share with income from investments looking after depreciation and taxes.

TRADING LIGHT ON MINE MARKET

Chief Interest Centres in High-priced Base Metals Stocks.

COBALT CONTACT WEAKENS.

MARCH 6. (C.P.)—Trading was Toronto, Mar. 6 (C.P.) Trading was light and price changes confined to a narrow range on the mining market during the early session to-day. Chief interest being centered in the higher-priced base metal stocks and in a few independent issues.

Cobalt Contact, which has featured for several days, weakened under some evident liquidation, easing 2 to 28 at noon. Noranda and Hudson Bay were also softer, both stocks dropping 40 to $40.60 and $12.60 respectively. International Nickel which displayed late weakness yresterday, firmed 10 to $38.90 to-day.

Sudbury Basin, whose annual report was published yesterday, was weak, selling down to a low of $2.95 and standing off 12 at $3.03 at noon. Moving sympathetically, Falconbridge and Ventures were off 5 and 4, respectively.

The golds were firm, Vipond showing the only loss at $1.03, off 2 from last night's close. McIntyre and Teck Hughes moved up a few points and Howey gained a point to 86. Pacific coast issues were also relatively strong, Base Metals and Pend Oreille gaining 10 each and Big Missouri a point.

Small gains predominated in the general list, Barry Hollinger, Mining Corporation, Abana and Waite all standing a little higher at noon. The oils were mixed, Home Oil and Mayland gaining 5 each, and Southwest 2½, while Ajax eased 5, Dalhousie 4 and Associated 2.

Opening unchanged to 1½ off, Chicago wheat futures afterward pursued an irregular downtward course. Corn, oats and provisions were also weaker, with corn starting ¼ to 7-8 off and subsequently declining more.

THREE DIE IN FIRE.

BOSTON, Mass., March 6 (Canadian Press). — Three persons an unidentified man and woman and a nree-year-old boy, lost their lives in a fire which swept through an apartment house here early to-day. A dozen persons were taken to the hospital.

FAMILY OF SEVEN LEFT HOMELESS

Fire Completely Razed Home of Mr. and Mrs. John Roche, 32 New Chamberlain Street.

Fire which completely razed a two-storey frame dwelling-house at 32 New Chamberlain Street Broke out this forenoon in the absence of the tenants, rendering Jack LaRoche, his wife and five young children homeless and dependent on the shelter of kindly neighbors until such time as the insurance adjustments are made.

The blaze was first noticed by a small boy Raymond Collins, who saw smoke curling suspiciously from the eaves and chimney. He immediately notified Mrs. LaRoche, who was in a nearby store with her three youngest children, the other children being at school and her husband at work. The whole neighborhood was at once aroused to action, a bucket brigade was formed, and about four separate telephone calls were sent in to the Fire Department. The call was received at the Fire Hall at 9.15, and within a few seconds the chemical truck was speeding out to the scene of the fire, which is in the suburban area. On arrival it was at once realized that the fire had the upper hand and the attentions of the fire fighters were almost wholly concentrated on the adjoining property, No. 36, which was in imminent danger of suffering destruction. The heat from the fiercely blazing mass of what was once a home, and which represented several years of honest toil, broke the windows of the adjoining house whilst firemen mounted to the roof and sprayed it with chemicals.

Mr. LaRoche, who had been called from work, stood watching the cruel flames consume his little home and its entire contents. He had a hammer in his hand, the handle of which was badly charred, and which represented amongst a few other tools the only articles which were salvaged.

House Insured.

He informed The Examiner that his furniture was barely covered by insurance, whilst the house, which was owned by John Gibbs, of Stewart Street, was fully covered. He has been the tenant for the past two years,and said he has worked hard, putting his home in good repair, and was getting on fine—and now . . . . He ended up with a hopeless gesture.

Mr. LaRoche went on to explain that the fire insurance policy was burned along with everything else, including two tons of coke and a cord of wood. His eldest child is 7 years old, while the youngest is but sixteen months. They possess only the clothes which they were wearing at the time of the disaster which overwhelmed them.

The scene presented a sad spectacle, busy firemen, a little group of people standing by helpless to assist in any way, watching the flames steadily and greedily consume the structure which was very soon razed level with the ground. The outhouses at the rear stood untouched, but the heap of ruins bore mute testimony to the dread swiftness of the merciless fire fiend. They were surmounted by a pump which had apparently stood in the kitchen, whilst at the rear of it could be seen the two-ton pile of coke glowing redly, as the gentle breeze fanned them into flame.

Fire Chief George Gimblett directed operations, but was handicapped by the absence of hydrants. The efforts of his men, however, were wholly responsible for saving the next property.

POLICE CLASH IN MANY CITIES

large section broke away and dashed down the steps at the lower end of the square, the police rushing in to cut them off. One man was taken to a hospital in a taxicab and mounted police then shepherded the crowd into one corner of the square.

Tear Gas Bombs Used.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Police used tear gas to-day to disperse a gathering of "unemployment day" demonstrators in front of the White House.

Several were injured in a struggle with the police, when Bert Lawrence, leader of the demonstrators, climbed to the top of the iron fence separating the White House grounds from Pennsylvania Avenue, and attempted to speak.

The police construed this attempt as a violation of President Hoover's instructions, which said that there was to be no interference so long as the demonstration confined itself to the public street.

Two policemen, one in plain clothes, forced Lawrence from the fence back to the sidewalk.

A youth of about 18 years, wearing a flaming red sweater, grasped one of the police from behind and a general melee started.

The youth in red fell with the policeman to the pavement and another policeman pulled his revolver and released a charge of tear gas into the demonstrators. They fled in all directions at once, but the close-packed group of spectators prevented their complete dispersal. Six of the leaders in the fight were arrested immediately, and escorted to a patrol wagon. The placards carried by the demonstrators were torn from their hands and trampled by the crowd.

Throughout the demonstration the President remained at work in his office a hundred yards away.

Police Showered With Bricks

BERLIN—Communists and police clashed this afternoon at municipal employment offices.

The most serious encounter was at the central office in Gormannstrasse, where a mob of 3,000 jobless blocked the streets.

Five hundred of the demonstrators crowded into the courtyard and emerged to attack the police with bricks and other missiles. The police using black-jacks, finally pushed the crowd into the yard and closed the gates. Minor riots occurred at three other employment offices when the unemployed paid no attention to police orders to move on. Riot squads were summoned and held the demonstrators in check.

TWO ARRESTS IN BELGIUM.

ANTWERP, Belgium. — Communists led a demonstration of unemployed in the Barbor district and in front of the city hall to-day, insisting that the Burgomaster receive them. Two Communists were arrested after a fight with the police.

WATERBURY, Conn. — Police using their night sticks freely to-day broke up a Communist demonstration in front of the city hall and arrested four persons, including one woman.

A crowd estimated at several thousand which had gathered to witness the Communists' advertised threat to "march on the city hall," was dispersed by the extra detail of police assembled for the occasion.

DUBLIN POLICE ACTIVE

DUBLIN, Ireland. — Four Communist leaders were arrested here today after the police had dispersed a crowd of demonstrators.

ALBANIAN CHEF

Westaway put his knee on Rakip's body and was holding him again and threatening to kill him and others were endeavoring to aid Westaway. Then some one kicked him on the head and pulled them apart. "The knife" Rakip testified, "must have gone into Westaway's body while he fell on top of me, and when my hand holding the knife was under his arm."

The first witness called by Mr. Sommerville was a new witness, Mrs. Mary Barkley, who resides in the apartment directly to the west of the White Palace Cafe, where the fatal stabbing took place. Mrs. Barkley swore that she was in the act of retiring when swearing and loud talking in the alleyway below her bedroom window attracted her attention. She said she heard a man say, "Come on, boys, come on in, and we'll make a clean-up on the old Greek."

Loud Knocking.

Mrs. Barkley testified that she then heard loud knocking and heard the rear door of the cafe opened and a male voice demand Hamburger sandwiches in a hurry. She swore that she heard more cursing and abusive language, and heard one man, who appeared to be doing most of the talking, threaten to place Rakip, the chef, on a red-hot stove, also to cut the chef in two, and to cut his heart out.

Mrs. Barkley said she then heard Mr. Shakir, the proprietor of the cafe, tell some persons to call the police, and after that there was a sound of a scuffle and of falling dishes, and then a lull. A man then staggered out of the rear door, holding his head, followed by another man who supported him. A third man came out, then went back into the cafe, and she heard him say, "Westaway is killed."

Saw Police Arrive.

Mrs. Barkley said she waited until a policeman and a doctor arrived, and then she went inside.

Asked by C. G. Frost, special Crown prosecutor, why she had not come forward before and told what she had seen, Mrs. Barkley said she had not desired to get mixed up in a murder trial.

DOMINION POWER IS OUTSTANDING STOCK

Toronto Mart Turns Into State of Lassitude as Trading Pace Slackens.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 6. (C.P.)—While operations for the rise continued in a few selected stocks on Toronto Stock Exchange today, the pace of trading over the whole list slackened and the market generally lapsed into that state of lassitude attributed to spring fever.

Dominion Power had been the outstanding stock on the advance Tuesday. To-day International utilities occupied the position of popular favorite. The "A" stock came out firmer at 40, rose steadily until at midday it was selling four points higher at 44. The "B" issue firmed fractionally in lighter trading.

International Nickel made a small fractional gain. However the volume of sales was small, there appeared little general interest in the action of the stock to-day and the advance passed without comment. Noranda followed much the same course at nickel. Brazilian was better at 38. The other pivotal issues on the listed section had nothing to commend them and outside of the oils curb transactions were sparsely scattered. Oil stocks merely retained the small gains made late yesterday. Absence of nearby demand kept them from continuing upward and, on the other hand, selling was not imminent. B. A. oil at midday was 36, Imperial oil 24⅞, International Petroleum 19⅞, Supertest ordinary 33, McColl 23½.

MINING BRIEFS

A Special Service to The Examiner

Barry-Hollinger continues active on the Standard Stock Exchange. The Financial News Bureau is informed officially that recent developments have been favorable. On the 27th level, 1,625 feet, the drift has advanced for over 75 feet, all in high grade ore. Sampling of faces indicates an average of more than $40 across the width of the drift, 5½ feet. At the beginning of the month the company did some side slashing towards the east and opened up a width of 11 feet of some of the best ore yet encountered. Further slashing operations have continued to disclose free gold. The mill is operating satisfactorily, treating more than 100 tons daily.

The sudden buying which has caused the recent strength in the stock is reported to come from Buffalo. An influential group, who bought into Barry in the 80's, is now understood to be averaging up at the market. H. C. Crowe, President of the company, will visit the property at Boston Creek over the week-end.

The annual report of the Corona Mines, Limited, for the year ended December 31st last, has been issued to stockholders. No work was done during the year on the company's property in Duprat Township, Quebec. The option held on the Quebec Malartic property was dropped, as surface work did not yield encouraging results. A number of properties were examined in the year in different sections of the country: a copper-nickel property at Shebandowan Lake, west of Port Arthur; another in the Sudbury district; zinc-lead properties in Dorian Township, north of the Sault; gold properties, on the Seine River, Larder Lake and Kirkland Lake.

Corona is interested in a property north of Sault Ste. Marie, which is being operated by the Mormac Development Co. Early work here has been favorable and diamond drilling will be undertaken shortly. The balance sheet of the company shows current assets of $36,047, as against current liabilities of $125.

Since the end of the year, Corona Mines and the Duprat Mining Company optioned a group of claims south of the Ventures' holdings in the Opemiska Lake field.

Sudbury Nickel and Copper Company is reported to be diamond drilling a group of claims in Trill Township, Sudbury district, about four miles north of the Sultana Mines. It is understood that Sudbury Nickel is taking this method of completing their assessment work.

The new mining plant at the central Patricia should be set-up in a few days, when sinking will be resumed. The shaft was put down to 50 feet by hand steel and when the plant is operating it will be rushed to 500 feet. It is estimated the objective will be reached this summer when crosscutting will begin on four levels simultaneously. It will be interesting to see how underground work will check up diamond drilling results. A total of 28 holes were put down on the vein, sunk at intervals of 50 and 100 feet. Of this total, only three were blanks while some yielded excellent ore

OIL GOSSIP

MERCURY

Mercury No. 3 rig is now being moved to Mercury No. 2, which is close to Mill City Pete, and when installed No. 2 well will be in a position to resume drilling from Dalhousie sandy lime. Judging from Mill City log lime should be reached in a few days of drilling.

INTERNATIONAL NICKEL

International Nickel's 1929 earnings were $1.47 per share, compared with $1.05 in 1928. Ore reserves are shown at 202,620,000 short tons. Of this the Frood is responsible for 134,000,000 tons, of which 43,562,000 are high grade. By midsummer Nickel will be drawing 4,500 tons daily from the Frood mine and by first of next year, 6,000 tons daily.

LOWERY

Latest reports from Lowery Pete well state lime formation and rocks still being blown from the well, but one separator will probably be attached shortly and a second separator is being rigged for use within a few days. Owing to portion of pipe being blown off at the surface by force of gas flow, official measurement has not yet been made, but estimated at between 30 and 35 million feet. Crowds of Calgarians motored to well and all are highly pleased.

BALTAC

Last official report from Baltac stated drilling was proceeding at 5,726 feet, a gain of 17 feet during the week-end. Depth in the lime about 244 or about 120 feet shallower than where Lowery ceased drilling. Field reports Monday afternoon indicated a hard band had been reached and would be drilled through before a bailing test was started.

WATCHING NINE WELLS

Barring unforseen drilling delays, at least nine southern Turner Valley wells are within sixty days of possible big lime production. These wells are: Baltac, Mill City Pete, East Crest No. 1, Homestead, A. P. Con. No. 2, Calmont No. 2, Hargal, Freehold No. 2 and Wellington. Two more, Mayland No. 2 and Mercury No. 2 are believed not far from lime, and Home No. 5 may reach the lime almost any time.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

Solloway, Mills & Company Through

NORANDA

Discussing Noranda's forthcoming report, a Northern Engineering service says officials would be perfectly justified estimating reserves at $180,000,000 and two-thirds of this would be straight smelting, high-grade copper ore. It is suggested that the coming report may show a small tonnage of lower grade concentrating ore regardless of the fact that enormous tonnages of 3 per cent. copper ore have been encountered, though not yet fully developed.

TECK-HUGHES

Teck-Hughes is reported as contracting for two new mill units which will step the daily tonnage up to 1,200 to 1,500 per day, and the good portion of this increased tonnage should be ready by September 1. This will step production up to around $7,000,000 yearly, but will hardly be shown in the annual report of the fiscal year, which ends in October.

LAKE SHORE

Lake Shore has now opened up its north vein for 1,400 feet length and of this 90 per cent. is high grade of $25 per ton and better. The width is at least that of the drift. Of the 2,200 foot level the vein has been opened for a length of 200 feet. Quite an extensive diamond drill campaign is going on at depth and on upper levels to locate paraller ore shoots. West of the shaft on the 1,600 foot horizon a hole was put down to 3,000 fot horizon, and it passed through the south vein at 2,000 feet and showed $12 value over 10 feet width.

McINTYRE

Development on McIntyre's lower levels, down to 3,875 feet, continues to show important ore. On the latter level, between the No. 6 and No. 11 shafts, an ore length of over 400 feet has been opened up, with some sections high in free gold and a general average well up to mine-run. On the 3,625 foot level there has recently been developed new ore east of the Jupiter shaft. This ore occurs some 500 feet from the Coniaurum boundary. On the 2,625 foot level ore lengths of over 500 feet have been developed, showing widths up to 30 feet.

SILVER AT 41c

Question is being raised as to whether Canadian mine operators whose main output is silver should not suspend with the price of silver at 41c. This decline from the 1928 average of 58.17c and 1929 average of 52.99c wipes out a good portion of their margin of profit.

Financial News and Briefs

A Special Service to the Examiner

SUPERTEST SHOWS LARGE INCREASE IN EARNINGS.

At the annual meeting of the Supertest Petroleum Corporation, held Monday in London, it was reported that net earnings for the year ended December 31st last amounted to $475,000. Having regard to the 8,000 shares of ordinary stock which were issued during the year on an outstanding agreement, the funds from which were not used in the company's operations during 1929, earnings on the common and ordinary shares amounted to upwards of $4.25 a share.

Earnings for the 14 months reported on in the 1928 statement amounted to $218,792, the equivalent of $1.52 per share on the stock now outstanding.

In commenting on the situation, J. G. Thompson, President, pointed out that the report issued at the end of 1928 covered 14 months, and therefore, in order to obtain an accurate impression of conditions during 1929, as revealed in the present report, it was necessary to keep in mind the different lengths of the periods compared.

"You will recall," he added, "that for the 14 months ending Dec. 31, 1928, sales amounted to approximately $2,200,000. By deducting November and December of 1927, we find that for the twelve months of 1928 sales amounted to approximately $2,000,000. During the past year sales reached a figure in excess of $2,600,000, in an increase of over 30 per cent.

"The year 1929 is a milestone in the successful career of your company, in that earnings for the first time have passed the half-million-dollar mark, and after setting aside liberal reserves net earnings are in excess of $475,000. This is an increase of more than 117 per cent, over the previous period of 14 months. We feel very pleased, indeed, and are led to look back a few short years, when, in 1925, net earnings amounted to but $44,000.

"During the past several years the company has maintained a position free from bank debt, and at December 31, 1929, cash and active assets amounted to $677,996, as against current liabilities of $114,168, showing a ratio of almost 6 to 1."

FALL IN WHEAT MAY HAVE REACHED END LONDON THINKS

NEW YORK—London present judgment on the violent fall and subsequent rapid recovery of wheat this past week is that no further serious break need be expected. Opinion is very difficult to form regarding European requirements, but the position appears to be that, before the wheat year ends, Europe will have to buy more from North American than she has done thus far in the season.

At the same time Canada, which has a much smaller home market than the United States will be compelled to export largely in order to liquidate the finances of the pools and make room at storage points for the next harvest. What the financial position of Canadian pools will be before normal conditions are restored is admittedly a difficult question. To the British trade, however, it seems highly improbable that they will emerge with a balance on the credit side.

Much adverse criticism has been heard of the action of the Canadian pool in holding back wheat at the new relatively high prices. Beerbohm remarks, however, that, it just be remembered that the Canadian organization is a "growers' pool," and therefore that it is their own and not other people's wheat with which they are speculating—making the operation very difficult from the old time attempts at cornering wheat. At the same time, the policy has been admittedly uneconomic; and it is reiterated that such operations have a tendency to react in "boomerang fashion" on their originators.

HIGH LIGHTS OF ANNUAL REPOR

Net operating income of Intaernational Nickel Co., of Canada for 1929 amounted to $26,624,949, and after deducting $2,241,383 for depreciation, $813,451 for depletion of ore, $886,051 for retirement system and $448,066 for interest on debenture stock and purchase money notes, net profits were $22,235,996, compared with a net profit of $12,399,317 in the previous year. This represented an increase of 80 per cent. Preferred dividends absorbed $2,040,501 and common dividends $12,375,703, and the balance carried forward was $7,819,781 from the year's operations, making the total earned surplus $24,958,970 carried forward.

The net amount left for common dividends was equal to $1.47 per share on the basis of 13,758,208 shares of no par value now issued, or issuable, as compared with $1.05 per share for 1928 on the 11,258,208 shares then outstanding, or issuable.

Additions to property, less recoveries, amounted to $24,479,608, and after dismantlement written off, the net amount was $21,175,351. The total property account, less depreciation and depletion, was $135,298,357, as compared with $59,860,441 at the end of 1928. Last year's figures included Mond Nickel company's properties.

The company has proven ore reserves of 202,620,000 short tons. This tonnage includes:

Frood Mines low grade	91,111,000	tons
Frood Mine high grade	43,562,000	"
Creighton Mine	5,503,000	"
Levack Mine	19,062,000	"
Garson Mine	3,193,000	"
Murray	22,490,000	"
Stobie	13,712,000	"
Crean Hill	3,028,000	"
Other Mines	959,000	"

Extensive sampling of the 43,562,000 tons of high grade ore below the 1400 ft. level thus far developed shows protesively richer ore as depth is attained. The average grade of proven ore below the 1400 level runs Nickel 2.39%, copper 3.62% or a total of 6.01%. It is of interest to note that over 10,000,000 tons of high grade ore were added to Frood reserves as a result of development work in the lower levels completed during 1929.

Recent work at the 2800 level is showing much greater widths and evidence of extensions along the strike both to the north and to the south and promises further substantial additions to the Frood high grade reserves.

Monthly output reached 37,600 tons in December last, about 2-3 of which came from development work and will increase month by month during 1930, as new stopes are brought to the producing stage. It is the management's objective to prepare the Frood to furnish at least 4,500 tons daily by midsummer of 1930 and to bring up the output to 6,000 tons daily by January 1st, 1931.

Progress on the new smelter and concentrator has been rapid. All the reverberatory smelting plant steel was erected and the plant closed in. Foundations were completed and the steel is being erected on the concentrator plant which will have a capacity of 8000 tons daily. Ore bins capacity is 10,000 tons and screening and crushing plant 8000 tons daily.

The expenditure on the new smelter and concentrator, at Port Colborne, Coniston and hydro electric plants has been nearly $30,000,000 and to complete plans in Canada another $10,000,000 will be needed.

PUBLIC OFFERING MADE OF MONTREAL POWER BONDS

An issue of $5,000,000 Montreal, Light Heat & Power Consolidated 5% bonds, due March 1, 1970, is being offered to the public by a syndicate composed of Wood, Gundy & Co., Alfred & Co., The Royal Bank of Canada and Societe DePlacements du Canada. The bonds are payable in Canada, New York and London.

The substantial growth of Montreal Power is demonstrated by the increase in net income from $8,649,000 in 1925 to $12,997,000 the last year, an increaseof over 50% in five years. This increase of earnings results from the large growth of gas and electricity consumed on greater Montreal, the number of electric consumers having grown from 187,000 to 231,000 during the last five years. During the same period the number of gas customers grew from 144,000 to 184,000. The increases in consumption have been accompanied by substantial rate reduction.

The issue is for the purpose of enabling the company to discharge its indebtedness to United Securities, under an agreement by which the company purchased all the common stock of Quebec-New England Hydro Electric Corporation.

Mr. J. A. Shook Tells Of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

CORBETTON, Ont., March 6.—(Special)—It is with true enthusiasm that Mr. J. A. Shook, a well known resident of this place, gives his opinion of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For the past thirty years I have been working at pick and shovel work—ditching, road building and section work. Pretty stiff work on the back, kidneys and bladder, with the result, a pain in the small of the back. A friend recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills. I used some with the following results—less pain and more work. That was some thirty years ago. Since that time I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills more as a preventative than a cure. I use them when I have hard work to do. Eat lots, work hard and use Dodd's Kidney Pills is my maxim. I am in my sixty-third year and can do a man's work yet thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

POWER FARMING GAINING FAVOR

Over Hundred Farmers Attend Tractor School Lectures at Millbrook.

INTERESTING TALK.

MILLBROOK, March 6.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The day of 'power farming' has evidently arrived on the smaller farms of eastern Canada, as well as on the larger areas of cultivated acres under individual ownership in the West, judging by the keen interest displayed by the one hundred or more farmers who attended the 'Tractor School' held in the Town Hall on Friday, February 28, beginning at 1.30 p.m.

Representatives of the Massey-Harris Manufacturing Company conducted the 'school,' including Wallace D. Stroud, inspector, and W. J. Crawford, manager, who explained the reels and slides, and gave the lecture material, while H. Miners, service man, of London, operated the moving picture machine and the lantern.

The pictures, both on reels and slides, were all from actual photographs, the first series showing large, privately-owned farms, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in every province of the Dominion, where tractors are used exclusively for cultivation, and all phases of farm work.

"Horses tire, but tractors do not," said Mr. Stroud, as he compared tractor operation and horse operation on the one-man farm, greatly to the interest of his listeners, and greatly to the advantage of the former.

The second reel of moving pictures, "The New Era", showed the tractor at work breaking land, plowing under brush, even cutting off trees just under the soil, a special arrangement of poles fastened with iron and coming to a point in front, protecting the machine and throwing the trees, which looked a fair size in the picture and which the speaker said could afterward be cut up for wood, to one size. Western and eastern grain fields and methods of operation were contrasted in the pictures, and plowing, discing, cultivating, harrowing, seeding and harvesting were all shown. The combined reaper and thresher," the machine that has done away with harvesters' excursions to the west," was shown in operation, and its advantages explained; sales of this harvest tractor, so far as his firm was concerned, the speaker stated, had increased from eleven in 1913 to a total of 7,700 in 1929. Eight of these 'combines' at work on one farm showed the immense advantage over old-time methods as the grain is 'cut today, and in the elevator by night'; trucks meet the tractor in the field, take off the threshed grain from the overhead tank, which has a 'capacity of sixty bushels, drive off with it to the elevator, and the work, halted for a comparatively short time, again proceeds.

The swather provides for occasions when the grain has not ripened evenly, cutting it at any desired length, and leaving it in windrows on the stubble to be threshed two or three days later at the will of the operator. It is one of the special attachments of the 'combine.'

Greater efficiency, lowered costs, less weather risk, and the elimination of hired help, were some of the points developed by Mr. Crawford in his lecture, following the "New Era" pictures, as he explained the difference in farming methods of east and west, "but with the same urge behind—more money; and if you can raise your crop at a lowered cost it is the same as receiving higher prices for your grain, and thus a distinct advantage even in a 'lean' year."

The speaker's contention was that power farming machinery, made by a reliable company thus saving breakdowns and costly repairs, is a good investment for the average farmer, the heavy, cumbersome type of tractor having now been replaced by a model lighter and more easily controlled, better built, and not so hard on fuel. "Some horses may always be used, but they are being replaced by machines, and wagons and horses are being gradually eliminated."

By means of charts, the work accomplished by two, three and four horses used in plowing was contrasted with that done by the two-plow and three-plow tractor, the latter covering a greater acreage at a reduced cost. "The beauty of the tractor is that work can be rushed when the land is in proper condition, thereby securing better tillage and eventually cleaner and larger crops; neither heat nor flies annoy it, and there is not the attention needed that must be given horses when brought in from the field."

Mr. Crawford concluded his talk with a demonstration of different parts of the tractor made by the firm with which he is connected, and the series of lantern slides that followed showed these in detail, with sections and cross-sections of the latest models of the tractor, stress being laid upon some of the high lights of the Massey-Harris machine. The evolution of the tractor from the old cumbersome model to the one of modern use was also shown on the screen.

Owing to the lateness of the hour the final series of moving pictures showing the making of a tractor, from start to finish, in the factory at Racine, Wisconsin, was not shown. Questions and discussion by the farmers in attendance showed how the idea of power farming is gaining a stronger hold especially in this day when hired help is a live subject. W. E. Ball, the local agent for the Massey-Harris Company, had charge of the arrangements on Friday.

The International Harvester Company held a similar moving picture and lecture demonstration here in recent weeks, so the farmers in this vicinity should be well versed in tractor construction, power and efficiency.

LEAGUE SERVICE.

Proposed Sleigh Riding Party is Abandoned on Account of Weather.

(Examiner Correspondence)

PETHERICK'S CORNER'S, Mar. 5 Weather conditions not being suitable for a sleighing party on Wednesday last, the proposed feature of the Zion League service was withdrawn and the regular league service was held at 7.30 with nearly forty present. Gladys Simpson social convener was in charge and following. The business and devotional sessions a short program was given featured by impromptu speeches on various timely topics by various league members. During the business session, a motion was passed to hold league at the usual Hour of 8 p.m.

After the service the members accepted the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Barnum to a hot-dog feast at their home and a most enjoyable evening was spent in games and music not to mention the consuming of vast quantities of hot dogs by some of the male members of the society. A nominal charge of ten cents was placed on the edible canines to cover expenses and the League treasury was enriched by six dollars with total receipts of ten dollars and eighty five cents.

Wood-cutting has been practically finished in this district and most of the farmers have their piles sawed about a month earlier than usual. The recent mild spell gave some bush owners a vision of sugar making but the dream has been effectively dispelled during the last few days.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:

I would like to say a few words in reply to a letter from a person signing herself Nyrna. I do not think Anne Wilcox will get all hot and bothered over it Nyrna. She will feel (as most of us will) rather disgusted. Are you jealous of Anne, that you wrote such a spiteful malicious letter? There was a person circulated a rumour that Marion was a man, was it you? Reads like it. I know who started that rumour and I also know what people thought of her. But it did Marion no harm and your letter will only rouse the neighbors to come to the defense of Anne Wilcox who is very ably filling Marion's place. You lay claim to reading a lot but I fail to see what good it has done you. Don't you know that the word kid and kidding is taboo among educated people? I do not think you have been recently married. If you were, you would be too happy to write such a letter. You speak of the emancipation of women, as if it consisted in smoking and drinking and promiscuous petting. Dear, oh dear, but you are away behind the times. You claim to attend church regularly. Would you tell your pastor or priest that you did all these things and expect him to approve. I think not. What sort of a page do you expect Anne to run — something like a confession magazine conceived in filth and printed for the filthey minded. Do you get any thrill out of worshipping God? From a lovely tree or beautiful sunset? From a good day's work well done?

I have attended these sort of parties 10 or 12 years ago, but I did not take part in them, and neither does Anne Wilcox. Strange as it may seem to you Nyrna we felt ourselves above it. I did, and I feel sure Anne did also. Was it your first affair of that kind Nyrna. My you must have felt quite sophisticated! I have turned down these sort of parties so often that now they know enough not to ask me. You say 'Of course, all were young.' You mean well on in the thirties, as I am, don't you?

And would you believe it Nyrna I think I've read all these books you suggested to Anne, and far from making me puffed up they made me humble. Ever read the Bible? Yes, but I mean really read it. Try it, it's good for what ails you, and that is, an overdose of self-conceit. It is very evident you have not travelled much as you would have had some of that knocked out of you.

You have no breeding for of all the ill-bred letters I've ever read yours is the worst. I think you took advantage of the page to write to Anne what you would never dare to say to her face. However, Nyrna you are not as clever as you think you are. Come on neighbors rally around Anne Wilcox as you did to me. I shall write a special letter in reply to all those who wrote in about being different. Thanking you all and Anne Wilcox especially.

Sincerely,

Ad Nauseam.

P. S.—I shall choose another pen name soon!

My goodness if you people don't stop blowing me up I don't know where I might land! Your letters have all been so kind. Thank you especially Ad Nauseam—I am delighted to hear you are going to change your penname soon.

* * *

Dear Anne:

After reading Quo Vadis' letter I felt as though I should drop a line or two also. Well Nyrna you certainly started something. I hope by now that you realize that you wrote a little too hastily, and may I add, too rudely.

I wrote to the page shortly after it was started. Judging from the articles and comments made on letters I must say that I do not see a great deal of difference in the work of Marion and Anne. There is some, to be sure, but the underlying principle of both seems to me to be helpfulness friendliness and an aim to promote good-will amongst the neighbors. I heartily congratulate both Marion and Anne on one thing that they were able to keep sarcasm and petty spite out of all their talks. I'm sure that at times it must be trying not to do so.

Quo Vadis, I do not agree with you that Nyrna is a school teacher. You see I was one too, and I cannot conceive that one of our class could write such a letter as the one Anne received, with such little cause. I am not hypocrite enough to say that I agree with all of Anne's comments, but I do believe that she writes according to her own beliefs and in all good faith. And after all isn't that what our page is for, for the neighbors to express their opinions? And we should be pleased after all that we have at the head of it, one who can differ with our ideas and do so with tact and politeness. We must remember that Anne was chosen to fill her position by those who could judge better than we. Perhaps if Nyrna would have the chance to conduct our page, and used her methods as she has shown us, she would find a few deserters.

For my part I do not believe in smoking or drinking. But I do believe everyone has the right to please themselves. And Nyrna real happiness is not the result of thrills. We can enjoy life without smoking and drinking, or else what use are our sports? I skate, dance, swim a little, play tennis and while I do not furnish anyone with thrills at least I have healthful enjoyment, and I do not believe that you at heart enjoy your parties!

No I'm not an old maid. I am twenty-three and married and I might add in passing, happy. I am hoping Nyrna that you will write again. I cannot believe it is the real you speaking. And if we have been a little hard on you remember that you brought it on yourself. Our page and the head of it has been very helpful to most of us, and we have to defend it.

Well I've said enough for this time. Did I hear someone say 'too much?' My pen has just rambled on, so if my thoughts are jumbled you will understand Anne. Thanks for your past kindnesses neighbors and I'll be dropping in again soon, and let's hear from you again, Nyrna.

Twinkletoes

I think we will hear from Nyrna soon again, Twinkletoes, and I'm quite sure there is another side of her which we haven't seen.

TOMATO CHOWDER

2 cupfuls Bordens St. Charles Milk.
1 pint hot water.
2½ cupfuls canned tomatoes.
1 medium sized onion sliced thin.
1 tablespoonful butter or butter substitute.
4 tablespoonfuls flour.
2 teaspoonfuls sugar.
3 teaspoonfuls salt.
3-4 teaspoonful pepper.
¼ teaspoonful soda.
6 water crackers split.

Melt the butter in the top part of the double boiler, add the onion, and cook it gently till yellowed, about five to eight minutes. Pour in the milk and water, set over the lower part of the double boiler and scald. Mix the flour salt and pepper with enough cold water to make a smooth cream; stir it into the milk, and cook about fifteen minutes, stirring occasionally. Heat the tomato with the sugar; when boiling, add the soda and combine it with the thickened milk. For serving, put a split cracker which has been dipped in warm water, in each plate.

BONEKA BIBLE CLASS ENJOY SOCIAL PARTY

Interesting Program Provided at Gathering in Millbrook United Church.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, March 6. — A social gathering, under the auspices of the Boneka Bible Class of Saint Andrew's Church Sunday School, was held in the basement of the church on Friday evening, the pastor, Rev. W. W. Jones, B. D., taking the chair, and the attendance being so large that seating room was at a premium.

The enrollment list of the Boneka class is an extended one, and largely made up of the married women connected with the school; hence little folk under twelve years of age were admitted free, the object being not so much to make money but to place the larger emphasis on the social side of the occasion.

Community singing fittingly opened the program, after the chairman had extended a warm welcome, on behalf of the class officers and members, to the large audience, and had mentioned some outstanding facts connected with the activities, objectives, and increasing membership of the Boneka organization.

An event of peculiar interest was introduced immediately following the opening singing and the chairman's address, the teacher of the class, Mrs. (Rev.) W. W. Jones, being invited to the platform and presented with a beautiful sheaf of carnations, the president, Mrs. W. O'Brian, voicing the appreciation of the members in a few well-chosen words, little Betty Thornton handing to Mrs. Jones the unexpected, and fragrant, gift.

Mrs. Jones, who was much touched by the kindly remembrance, replied suitably, and a brief prayer was offered by the minister.

A vocal duet by Mrs. H. W. Johnston and her sister, Miss L. Hansman, was much appreciated, and the main number of the program, a comedy entitled "The Old Maids' Association", was then presented. Those taking part all members of the Boneka class, were:

President, Mrs. David Lunn; secretary, Mrs. F. H. Smith; Minty Clovertop, Mrs. L. W. Smith; Mariana Plack, Mrs. W. Armstrong; Desire A. Man, Mrs. W. G. Rowland; Hepsibah Olds, Mrs. Weston Fallis; Ann Ellen, Mrs. Wesley Brown; May Haverman, Mrs. J. H. George; Charity Hopgood, Mrs. G. McDonald; Petunia Pickles, Mrs. E. Thornton; Serena Hasben, Mrs. Irwin Hatherly; Belinda Bliss, Miss Laura Crocker; Rachel Ketcham, Mrs. J. Willis; Professor Makernewx, Mrs. Thomas Douglas.

All of the 'old maids' who made up the cast were apparently most anxious to change their estate, the humorous dialogue being couched in old-fashioned language, matching the old-time costumes worn, the latter, however, being very attractive and many of them of beautiful material and design.

The arrival of Professor Makernewx created a flurry among the dissatisfied maidens, and after much excitement and discussion, they decided to accept 'his' offer of a new and wonderful invention that would make them all over new into modern, and beautiful maids, when each would reach the culmination of her heart's desire. Passing through the mysterious cabinet that enclosed the 'invention', the actors came out on the opposite side to which they had entered the 'mill', changed into the following, the name in brackets typifying the 'made over', and the next words the character desired:

Mrs. Hatherly (Mrs. P. Stinson).—a beautiful singer; Mrs. G. McDonald (Mrs. R. McDonald)—a nurse; Mrs. L. W. Smith (Mrs. G. Fallis)—a society girl; Mrs. W. H. Armstrong (Mrs. Edgar Fallis)—a good cook; Mrs. W. G. Rowland (Mrs. H. Lang)—an elocutionist; Mrs. Weston Fallis (Mrs. L. Davis)—a maid; Mrs. W. Brown (Mrs. Howard Lunn)—a school teacher; Mrs. J. H. George (Mrs. Austin Sutton)—a flapper; Mrs. Thornton (Mrs. M. Thexton) — a United Church minister's wife; Miss L. Crocker (Mrs. W. O'Brian)—a bride.

At the close of the program refreshments were served, and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed together, before the benediction, and the singing of "God Save the King".

The proceeds were something over forty dollars.

CLASS OVER-HONEST.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., (U.P.)—William Plumb, assistant instructor in physics in Morningside college, located here, sought to test the honesty of class by distributing 50 pennies when class opened. The box, placed by the door and opened after class had been dismissed, contained 53 coppers.

DANGER LURKS in Half-Clean Teeth!

Greatly magnified picture of space between teeth. Note how ordinary, sluggish toothpaste (having high "surface-tension") fails to penetrate deep down where the causes of decay may lurk.

This diagram shows how Colgate's active foam (having low "surface-tension") penetrates deep down into the space between teeth, cleansing it completely where the toothbrush cannot reach.

Decay starts when tiny crevices are left uncleaned... mere surface brushing is not sufficient protection.

Colgate's penetrating foam dislodges decaying particles from hard-to-clean places... cleans teeth completely. Don't risk the dangers of half-clean teeth. Play safe. Of course you want white, lovely teeth—Colgate's will polish them perfectly... but Colgate's does more. Its famous foam floods out the decaying particles hidden in tiny spaces between teeth and gives an antiseptic bath where ordinary dentifrices can't reach. Why not get these two advantages—each so vital? Buy a tube of Colgate's today—protect your teeth.

Colgate's is most economical—the 25c tube of Colgate's contains more toothpaste than any other nationally advertised brand priced at a quarter.

PETERBORO HEALTH ASSOCIATION CLOSES MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Organization is Doing Work of Great Magnitude in City Says President.

SPENT $2,668.65.

"Year by year this work has grown until this year we find our report reveals the fact that this association is in reality doing a work of great magnitude" stated Rev. Costello who presided at the 19th annual meeting of the Peterborough Health Association held in the Council Room of the Chamber of Commerce last evening.

"The association's work is limited only by the good health of the under privileged and poor citizens of this city. Its field extends to every underpriveleged citizen and whether it is a case of tuberculosis or otherwise, professional attention and expert care are rendered through the efforts of the association which employs a full-time nurse who makes her daily calls during the year to all those in need of her skilled attention. The Board places a car at her disposal.

"Realising the fact that the work of the Health Association is so extensive and at the same time so expensive, is it any wonder that the Board annually appeals to the City Council for a grant and to the public for their wholehearted support?"

"As your president I wish, on my own behalf and for the members of the executive, to thank His Worship the Mayor and his Council for their usual financial assistance; the Kiwanis Club who have again financed the Summer Camp at Jackson's Park and who have been responsible for scores of little children enjoying a healthy summer holiday. The thanks are due the Supervision Committee and the Association nurse for the very creditable manner in which they have executed their many duties during the past year and our gratitude is likewise extended to Dr. G. C. Cameron our secretary and E. J. H. Vanstone our late treasurer and C. P. Borland our present treasurer for the splendid manner in which they have carried out the duties of their respective offices."

"In vacating the president's chair, after having completed a second term, I wish to thank the members of the executive, one and all for the splendid spirit of co-operation shown in the affairs of this Association and may I bespeak for my successor in office the same unanimous support."

The treasurer's report showed a healthy state of finances and announcement was made that since the books were closed at the end of the financial year, a cheque for $3,505 had been received from the executors of the estate of the late W. H. Cluxton.

The finances for the year just closed were as follows:

Balance in bank	370.73
	$3039.38

There was only one donation received last year, remarked the treasurer in his report, that being from the estate of the late Alice Walsh, amounting to $250.

Miss Archer presented the report of the Jackson Park in the unavoidable absence of Mrs. D. M. Morrow.

"The camp was opened on July 9" read the report, "closing on August 31st. The weather during that period was excellent with the exception of five days. Miss Vickers the nurse and Mrs. Smith as cook had charge of the camp. The Border Transit Bus Company provided buses every morning and evening which proved to be less expensive than arrangements made in former years. Two hundred and sixty children attended with an average attendance of 62 each day."

"Doctors Hammond, Fraser, O'Reilly, Louden, Fitzpatrick, Scott and Dobson kindly gave their time to examine the children and found 79 with various physical defects."

Doctors Buchanan and Cragg operated on 28 children for bad tonsils and adenoids, whilst Dr. Cameron operated on two children for hernia. The work of these doctors is very much appreciated."

Doctor Scott was clinic doctor for the camp and while he was on vacation Doctor Cameron officiated in his place.

The following ladies were in charge for a week: Mesdames Aylmer, R. R. Hall, Gardiner, A. W. Turner, Rose, Taylor, Morrow and Miss Archer.

Several donations of toys, ice-cream, oranges etc., were donated by different people and the Little Sunshine Club, and were duly acknowledged in The Examiner. Also $10 from the Thursday Club and $50 from the Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E. which enabled ten children to undergo operations for tonsilitis.

Nurse H. M. Anderson in her report stated in part, that during the past year 1,624 visits were made. Of these almost 50 per cent were maternity cases.

"Apart from illness there is great opportunity for the Health Association along social service lines. One meets many cases of malnutrition—where an ounce of prevention might well be worth a pound of cure."

Nurse Anderson mentions one distressing case which came to her notice of a widow with four small children. She is in receipt of a mother's pension and after meeting the expenses for bare necessities such as rent, fuel, bread and milk, has $9 left with which to provide other food and clothing for herself and family. Such cases are thoroughly investigated and often the Health Association provides milk where the children are undernourished so they may grow up an asset and not a liability to the country. Tuberculosis patients receive both milk and eggs, and in very extreme cases, medicines and dressings have also been provided."

Miss Archer, secretary of the Nurses' Supervision Committee presented a report which said the committee meets the first Monday of every month when the nurses reports are read and the cases discussed. Mrs. R. R. Hall the president visits most of the patients to whom milk and eggs are given and in cases where she is unable to go herself she calls on some member of the committee to undertake the work. During the year five thousand six hundred and sixty quarts of milk and three hundred and nineteen dozen eggs and dressings to the value of $77.00 have been given out.

Following this came the election of officers for the ensuing term: President, J. J. Turner; 1st vice-president, J. J. John; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Coulthard; treasurer, P. Borland; Secretary, Dr. G. S. Cameron; Chairmen of Committees: Finance, P. Borland; Publicity, C. D. Cook; Nurses Supervision, Mrs. R. R. Hall; Medical Clinic, Dr. W. D. Scott. Executives: Mesdames Gardiner, Coulthard, Aylmer, Turner, Cameron, Morrow, Spence, Rose, McNulty, W. J. Hall and Miss Archer. Rev. Father Costello. Messrs. G. A. McDonald, E. A. Peck, R. Denne, W. Stocker, V. J. McElderry, E. F. Mason, J. Corkery, W. R. Breyfogle. Doctors: A. W. McPherson, F. C. Neal, W. D. Scott, G. S. Cameron.

Mr. Breyfogle spoke of R. M. Glover's generous offer to allow the association the use of The Examiner columns in a campaign for funds which they contemplate launching in the near future and also requested the secretary to write a letter of appreciation to the executors of the Cluxton estate.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

PERFUME BOTTLES, large and small are usually made in such attractive ways that to throw them away is sometimes difficult even after their contents has been exhausted.

• • • • • • •

It may please those who have this penchant for collecting them to know that their usefulness is not over, and that there is a practical purpose to which they can be put.

• • • • • • •

Especially are they helpful when a fitted suitcase is not among one's possessions. Indeed some prefer the method of carrying toilet accessories like the way I mean to the one afforded by the fully equipped suitcase which is somtimes heavier than desired.

• • • • • • •

One girl in Peterborough who has quite an array of old perfume bottles of the same size and shape gets them out whenever she is to make a little trip or week-end visit. Into one she pours her favorite hand lotion, from a bottle too sizeable to carry, into another goes a mouth wash, a third one contains an astringent for her face.

• • • • • • •

For travelling the ground glass stoppers usual to perfume bottles fit tightly and if carefully inserted insure against spilling. An extra precaustion can be exercised if desired, by wrapping the bottles in something absorbent.

• • • • • • •

The bottles too because of their diminutive size and shape can be packed to advantage. When brought forth and arrayed upon the dresser in hotel or home, they are far from unsightly. They have the air of having been part of the outfit of the careful traveler, who has an eye to exquisite accessories.

• • • • • • •

Should one so desire, a specified number of such bottles could be determined upon, if one is faithful to the same perfume, and a little colored flannel case be made to hold them.

• • • • • • •

This would have a compartment like the containers for silver spoons, into which the bottle could be inserted. Any danger of any being spilled could be taken care of in this way ,as well as having the bottles, from which the labels may be washed, appear to be a set.

• • • • • • •

I thought this was a wonderful idea for use when travelling and I intend to make use of the suggestion which she gave me, just as soon as I can, for it is often hard to find room for everything one wants to include when packing for a trip.

• • • • • • •

It won't be so very long before we will be packing up for summer vacation and I'm sure some of you have suggestions like this one which would be a help to some of the other neighbors.

• • • • • • •

Maybe the idea was original and you hesitate to lend it—all the better if it is original for then you will in your own way be helping someone solve a sometimes difficult problem when packing.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

Cannot be Rubbed Out — The Trouble Must be Treated Through the Blood.

The pain of rheumatism is something that you cannot rub out. Every sufferer from rheumatism has been advised to rub this or that linament or oil on the affected part, but after all the rubbing the pain remained. Thin blood and rheumatism come together and if they are properly treated will go together. Anaemia means thin blood, and thin blood is something than can be corrected, so why not build up the blood until the rheumatic poisons are driven out?

This is exactly what is done in the treatment of rheumatism with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Rheumatism in any form shows improvement as the thin blood is built up, and when the poisons in the blood are overcome and driven out rheumatism disappears and does not return so long as the blood is kept rich and red. The great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the treatment of rheumatism is proved by the case of Mr. Thomas Martin, of Novar, Ont., who says:—"For some years I was so badly troubled with rheumatism that I could hardly walk and suffered great pain. I had medical treatment but did not get much relief. Then I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking the pills for some time the trouble disappeared and has not since shown the least sign of returning."

You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NEWEST FASHIONS REMINISCENT OF OTHER DAYS

FASHIONS TIPS ITS HAT TO TAFFETA

NEW YORK, March 5. (U.P.)—With fabrics attaining the novelty interest that they are this Spring, and the fact that novelties have such an important place in the mode, it is not surprising that fabrics long neglected have been cut up into millinery fashions. One of the most interesting developments of the fabric idea is the way French modistes have revived the taffeta hat. The new versions of the belting hat are also important for early spring.

These two fabrics are employed in every manipulation formerly associated with felt and keep to the tailored appearance. This does not mean that the line of either the taffeta hat or the belting ribbon model is severe. Partial brim, tucks, pleats or folds are used to bring the soft line about the face. If it is a turban or a beret type, the same artful use of pleats, tucks, folds is employed, and the soft outline around the face preserved.

Both the taffeta and the belting hats are made by Paris milliners without linings of any kind, so that they are the "rag in the hand" and fit very closely on the head.

In the new usage of taffeta, the French have overcome the necessity of putting extreme fulness in the hat and have accomplished the same result with cordings, shirrings, pleats, or folds. Some of the new models which have just arrived show the off-the-face effect accomplished by laying the soft brim back to the crown in pleats with the softness of the brim pulled out at the sides.

Belting ribbon hats are tremendously important this spring for town wear as well as for the coming summer season. Of course there is the difference of color in the town hat, the dark suit shades and the pastels for later on. For the first hat to be worn with the suit, there is much to be done with the little belting turban both in the off-the-face mode and in the bonnet and beret type.

Parisian Foibles

Schiaparelli designs this travelling coat in blue tweed for wear over the cloth dress or the tailored suit.

PARIS FAVORS THE TWEED COAT FOR TRAVEL.

By Madame Schiaparelli.

Tweed is the most satisfactory fabric for the traveling coat, and Paris favors it nine times out of ten when buying tickets by land or by sea. This model, which is in a blue weave, is cut on the loose practical lines which make for the utmost comfort. It is a quite possible to wear the coat over a tailleur, removing it when one's destination has been reached, or it may be worn with a cloth dress. I recommend it especially for ocean travel or for the motor trip.

That Body of Yours

TEST FOR APPENDIC TIS.

Although appendicitis has been known now for many years, and thousands of lives are saved yearly by early operation, nevertheless the number of deaths yearly from delay in operation is most pathetic.

I have no desire to alarm anyone. I try to make these little daily talks so helpful that my readers can be as free as possible from worry about themselves, thus getting more peace and enjoyment out of life.

However, when the actual figures show that delay in operating on appendix cases causes ten deaths in every hundred cases, we must face the facts.

Perhaps you have had a pain in the appendix region, have become alarmed and when about to call a doctor, the pain has passed away. You have a feeling in the back of your head that if you had called the doctor he would have called it appendicitis and you'd have undergone an unnecessary' operation.

As a matter of fact most cases of appendicitis do not start in the region of the appendix but right in the centre of the abdomen, in the 'pit' of the stomach, as it is called.

There is usually a feeling of nausea, often vomiting, and the pain gradually sifts down to the appendix region and 'stays' there.

Dr. Hamilton Bailey, an English surgeon, reminds us of one sign that may be of help in deciding whether or not the pain is due to an acute appendix.

It is known as Granville Chapman's rising test. The patient is instructed to place his arms by his sides and then to raise himself in bed by means of the abdominal muscles alone; he must not use his arms to help himself to the sitting position. If he fails to rise or complains of great pain in attempting to rise, this is considered a positive sign of an acute appendix or other acute abdominal condition, and an operation is indicated.

Now if you have pain in the abdomen that shifts from place to place, it is usually due to gas formation and there is nothing to worry about. Usually an enema, or water injection, will remove gas and give relief from pain.

However, watch abdominal pain closely, and take no purgative—castor oil, salts, or other medicine. If pain starts at stomach, shifts to appendix region and stays there, and you feel 'sick' at the stomach, you'd be wise to send for a physician at once.

Remember the figures quoted above.

Quickest to Make
Because Ready Mixed

Aunt Jemima's tender, toothsome Pancakes are easiest to prepare

Aunt Jemima's recipe of rare flours comes to you all ready mixed. You just add water or milk and cook over a moderate fire for a few minutes. They are ready before the bacon. No pancakes are faster on the pan.

And no pancakes disappear faster at the table. A treat for everybody! Men sometimes like the buckwheats best, so have a package of each flour always on hand.

Such flavour . . . such tenderness . . . such aroma! Such lightness, too. They stir the most delicate appetite.

No single recipe has ever been enjoyed by so many people. It comes from old plantation days when Aunt Jemima herself mixed these rare flours for pancakes that became famous throughout the South. Now Aunt Jemima is famous around the world.

SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP STIFF JOINTS

Nowadays people don't have to be tormented with inflamed, swollen, creaky joints.

If you want your bad acting joints to limber up and work with smoothness the sensible thing to do is to get something that is made for just that purpose.

It's up to you—just ask McDermid & Jury, McDermid Drug Co. E. L. Payne, Bond's Drug Store for a tube of Joint-Ease and give your troublesome joint a good rubbing tonight.

When you rub this magical yet scientific emollient on your sore, painful, stiff joint it has the uncanny power of penetration—it soaks right in and away it goes thru skin and flesh right down to the ligaments and tendons of the joint—right where the trouble starts.

Out comes the inflammat'on and down goes the swelling—a hard job is well and swiftly done—your joint is limber again—it works smoothly—you are thankful.

Joint-Ease is a product of Canada and every good drugstore in the Dominion sells lots of it. Make a note of this also—for lumbago and lame achnig back one good rubbing is usually enough—60 cents for a generous tube and it's guaranteed—you must get results or money back.

Gillette announces
a NEW BLADE... a NEW RAZOR

No more "razor pull"...
No more wiping... with this new blade of processed steel

TWENTY-EIGHT years ago Gillette changed the shaving habits of the world by creating a safety razor with double-edged replaceable blade — an improvement so far-reaching that it has maintained leadership for more than a quarter of a century without essential change.

Today Gillette offers another great contribution to man's shaving comfort — a New Gillette Blade and a New Gillette Razor (patents pending).

The New Gillette Blade can be used in your present Gillette Razor. But the New Gillette Razor has so many points of superiority that any man who has tried it once will gladly discard the faithful instrument of the past.

Used together, the New Gillette Blade and the New Gillette Razor abolish forever two unpleasant factors in shaving—"razor pull," and the tedious drying of razor parts. These are only two of the advantages of the new razor and the new blade. Read the other advantages summed up under "Quick Facts."

Back of these great improvements lies a fascinating story of research.

More than twenty-seven thousand men were interviewed. Tens of thousands of used razors were examined, and this conclusion was reached:

Cause of "razor pull" found

In almost every case when a man complains that his razor "pulls," an expert examination shows that the razor has been nicked by being dropped on the wash stand or floor.

Why should a little nick—even a microscopic nick — spoil your shave? Here is the reason:

QUICK FACTS

1. New blade can be used in your old Gillette
2. New processed steel; new blade resists rust
3. Cut-out corners of blade prevent "razor pull"
4. To clean, turn guard at right angles . . . then re-tighten . . . rinse . . . shake dry
5. New shape guard channel gives full shaving clearance
6. New shape guard teeth meet skin smoothly, naturally
7. No projecting posts to dull blade edges
8. Reinforced razor corners prevent damage if dropped
9. Square blade ends safer to handle
10. Shaves easier around mouth, nose, ears
11. New blades same price as old
12. New razor, 24K. gold-plated, with one new blade, in case, $1.00

The parts of a Gillette Razor are machined to a fine precision. The slightest dent at one of the corners causes an unequal tension on the blade, throwing it out of perfect alignment. The blade may even crack under the unequal tension.

Gillette finds the answer

We could not keep men from dropping their razors. But we could offset the harmful effect. To do so required a change in both the razor and the blade. In the razor we reinforced all four corners of the cap with sturdy lugs made to withstand nearly any kind of abuse.

The blade was treated even more ingeniously. All four corners were cut out; when the cap and guard of the razor clamp together, the blade is not held at the corners. Even if you drop the New Gillette, you probably will not dent it. Even if you dent it, you do not, cannot spoil your shave.

New processed steel . . . Rust-resisting . . . Just rinse . . . Shake dry

How many tedious minutes you have had to waste in unscrewing your razor, washing it off, and carefully wiping it dry! How many towels have been cut! Now the nuisance of unscrewing your razor, washing it off, carefully wiping it dry — and risking a cut towel — all this is abolished forever; the new processed blade resists rust. A single twist of the fingers turns the new razor guard at right angles. Then re-tighten. Hold the razor under hot running water. Shake thoroughly. Lay on the shelf. That's all.

Shaves closer in corners

The ends of the blade are square —the old blades were rounded. A square end is much easier and safer to handle with wet fingers . . . no fishing down the drain pipe for a slippery blade. But even more important, the ends of the blade are much more nearly flush with the ends of the razor cap and guard . . . much easier now to reach those tough little corners around the mouth, the ears, the nose.

Notice the longer bent-back teeth

You'll see, too, that the teeth of the New Gillette are a bit longer—rounded a little farther back. A little improvement? Yes. But notice how smoothly the new razor slides over your skin.

The old posts that stuck through the blade and so often stubbed the edges are gone, too. Now the razor guard turns at right angles for easy rinsing. No taking apart for cleaning.

Blade edge is clear but protected

Still another improvement. The guard of the New Gillette has the famous channel beneath the blade edge. This channel allows the blade to meet the beard full and clear, yet with perfect safety. Until now this feature has been available only in Gillette Razors selling at $5.00 to $75.00.

And the price is only $1.00

The New Gillette Razor, with all its improvements, is now offered to you, 24K. gold-plated and packed in a neat case, with one new blade, for only $1.00. And the new blades of steel, especially processed to resist rust, come to you at the same price as the old . . . $1.00 for ten, 50c for five.

Hamilton and West Toronto Survive Rounds

BENGAL CLUB BEATS QUEENS TO COP TITLE

Winners on Round 7-5, Tigers Now Meet Varsity in Allen Cup Playdowns.

DOMINATE PLAY.

Fluke Goals Feature of West Toronto Over Varsity Juniors.

TORONTO, Ont. (C.P.) — Hamilton Tigers and West Toronto were the surviving teams after two hectic games in the Ontario Hockey Association playdowns last night. The former beat Queens University 5 to 3, to win the senior "B" championship, 7 to 5 on the round. West Toronto eliminated University of Toronto in the Junior semi-final series by defeating the students 6 to 4 and winning the round 7 to 5.

The Hamilton-Queen's contest staged at Oshawa was a 'sudden death' affair, as the teams had ended the regular home and home series in a 2-all deadlock. Queen's won the first 2 to 1, while Tigers won at Hamilton one to nothing.

As in the previous two contests Tigers dominated the play throughout and only splendid defensive work by the Queen's rear guard saved them from a more decisive defeat. The winners outscored their opponents 3 to 1 in the opening period, but Queen's rallied strongly in the middle frame and tallied twice to Tigers' once. "Blondy" Hayhoe rapped in his second goal of the game in the last period to clinch the championship for Hamilton.

Now Meet Varsity.

Tigers will now meet University of Toronto in the first round of the Allan Cup playdowns. The first game will be played in Toronto March 7, and the return at Hamilton, March 10. West Toronto advanced into the final by virtue of their clever victory over Varsity. The teams fought on even terms in the opening period, each getting a brace of goals. In the middle frame the winners netted the puck four times to practically take the verdict. Varsity replaced their goal keeper in the last period and he proved a decided improvement over the starting netminder and blanked the opposing team, while the students threatened to deadlock the count by hammering in two goals.

Prior to the game West Toronto asked the O.H.A. executive for permission to expunge the winning goal scored in the first game which ended in a two to one triumph for them. The goal was of the questionable variety and the O.H.A. officials willingly granted their assent to this gesture. The teams, therefore, started the game tied on the round at one-all.

A peculiar feature of the game was the number of "fluke" goals counted by each team. West Toronto players knocked the rubber into their own cage on two occasions while Varsity's other two goals were counted, one from a scramble—the rubber bouncing in through a maze of legs, and the other being counted while West Toronto were two men short. West Toronto got three "soft" tallies when Varsity's goalkeeper "blew" in the middle frame.

Family Hockey Match At Lakefield Rink

LAKEFIELD, March 6.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Messrs. Jerome and Pat McFadden staged a hockey match on Monday evening, each bringing a team of his own choice to contest the family championship and apparently agreeing on their older brother Johnnie as referee. The game was very keen and resulted in a victory for Jerome, the older brother, of 4-0. The line-up was as follows:

PREP SCHOOL BATTLE.

LAKEFIELD, March 6. (Examiner Correspondence).—A fast and very keenly contested hockey match took place on Tuesday night between the Rink Rats and the High School team with a score of 5-4 in favor of the former team. The game was unique in that each period had an entirely different referee. Whether the pace was too fast or not one can't tell but at any rate the referee changed automatically after each period. George Wannamaker took the first, Johnny McFadden the second and Elwood (Curly) Northey the third. Both teams were well matched and though the combination was spasmodic there was a great deal of brilliant individual play and from the two teams a snappy well balanced team could be formed which would be hard to beat.

Rollie Kennedy was a brilliant performer and has a good team mate in Rod Wannamaker; O'Neill was also effective. Jewell, White and Tanner were the outstanding members of the High School team, the latter who was one of the youngest engaged plays a good game and will be heard from. The goalies were both good, and repelled many hard shots and saved by their vigorous defence a much larger score from mounting up.

Wannamaker and Kennedy each score twice and Lennox once for the Rats while Jewell and White each scored twice for the High School, Kennedy (twice) and Jewell drew the only penalties which goes to show that the succeeding referees were not too severe.

The line up is as follows.

Rink Rats		High School
C. Webster	goal	D. Chad
G. O'Neill	r. defence	N. Jewell
R. Pearson	l. defence	D. White
R. Lennox	centre	V. Graham
R. Wannamaker	r. wing	R. Kemp
R. Kennedy	l. wing	E. Kemp

PREP SCHOOL TUSSLE

A fast and very interesting hockey match played on Tuesday afternoon between The Grove and Pickering College, attracted a large number of spectators. The game was well worth while as both teams were masters of the game, the visitors were however much larger than their opponents. The score was 8-5 in favor of The Grove. Mr. M. J. Gray was the referee and handled the game efficiently and fairly.

The following is the line up:

The Grove		Pickering
Disney	goal	McNicholl
Carson	r. defence	Toller
Macrae 11	l. defence	Pearson
Macrae 1	centre	Frier
Elmsley	r. wing	Hardy
Stuart	l. wing	Smith

Kernahan, sub. goalie for Pickering College.

Frier and Hardy each scored two and Smith one for Pickering, while Macrae 11 scored four, Elmsley three and Stuart one for The Grove.

Mill Town-Stirling Play Goalless Tie Game

FIVE HOCKEY CLUBS BUNCHED FOR KING PLAY-OFF BERTH

Bitter Struggle Between Buffalo and London Continues For Second Place.

CHANCE FOR PANTHERS.

TORONTO, Ont., March 6. — With only a few more games to play in the regular schedule and five teams closely bunched for the play-off positions, International hockey league fans are watching the struggle of their favorites with intense interest these days.

Two matches will be played tonight, with a continuation of the long bitter tussle Buffalo and London Panthers have been staging for second place behind the league leading Cleveland Indians. Playing in their own arena the Panthers, with two of the league leading scorers on their front line, may defeat the Bisons and tie them for second place.

Buffalo have 49 points, London 47, Detroit 46, and Windsor 44. The latter two teams are not playing.

The other match brings together Hamilton and Niagara Falls.

Notes of the Game.

Last night's crowd was not the capacity of the Davidson Rink. All the seats were occupied, but there were nooks and corners that could have tucked away another hundred or two.

Charlie Stevens, son of George Stevens of Ashburnham, is trainer of the Stirling team, and is in charge of the rink. He asked to be remembered to his old Peterborough friends. Charlie welcomed The Examiner representative to corroborate his story to Bill Whitty and the gang that he had walked against the best men in the world at that game when Peterborough held the week's walking race years ago.

Here's the makings of a smart intermediate O.H.A. team, or even better than that—Irwin or Morton in goal, Harry Ingram and either Jack Cowell or Fred Ingram defence, and a forward line picked from McKay, Davis, Whitton, and Horkins. They are all young and fast, and several of them should go far, especially McKay and Davis.

Jack Ackers of Stirling is beginning to fall slightly behind the parade of youth. But at that, Jack's been a long time up in the front of the Trent Valley League.

Good motoring brought many of last night's crowd from the neighboring towns and countryside. Orders for reserved seats came from as far as Deseronto, and a number of Peterborough and Marmora fans were present.

The final game on Belleville's artificial ice should be a hummer, especially of both teams are at full strength.

There's no love wasted between the two towns, and from all accounts Stirling is deeply peeved over the recent 9-0 game on the ground that Campbellford should have sent their regular line-up. On the other hand there is a local grievance against Stirling hanging over from last year. The two clubs should let it go at that. In the long run a feud gets them nowhere, and actually costs them real money. Co-operation is the best policy in business and sport.

FURIOUS BACK-CHECKING ON PART OF BOTH TEAMS IS FEATURE OF BATTLE

Campbellford Has Slight Edge Over Opponents on the Night's Play.

FIRST OF PLAY-OFFS.

Eleven Penalties Chalked Up Against Each Team—Play on Sticky Ice.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 6. — A scoreless tie here last night in the final round of the Trent Valley League transfers the titular game between Campbellford and Stirling to Belleville ice, probably next Tuesday. The choice of locale for the second game rests with Bill Whitty, manager of the Stirling team, and he intimated to The Examiner after last night that he would likely switch it to Belleville's new rink.

This arrangement is okayed by Campbellford, so everybody should be satisfied.

The first of the finals last night had some of the disappointing elements of an anti-climax to the Trent Valley League's most interesting season. Soft ice gummed up the whole works, and misadventure that had visited both teams left them disorganized and blue. This mood was even reflected in the spirit of the crowd. Campbellford fans were doubly discouraged. Two of their regulars were missing. Archie McKay, the smart right wing, had been called to his home in Bracebridge a few days ago by an accident to his father who had been crushed by a tree; and yesterday morning he telegraphed the depressing news of his father's death. Young McKay is a warm favorite of all the fans and to the sense of his loss from the team was added the sympathy of all his friends here.

Crowd Paid Tribute.

As an expression of the sympathy of the Trent Valley League and the big crowd of 1,100 last night the Campbellford players wore black arm bands, and at the beginning of the second period the teams lined up on the opposite blue lines and the crowd stood bareheaded and silent while the referee, Ernie Wortley of Toronto, ticked off a memorable minute, a splendid gesture of a hockey crowd's respect.

The absence of McKay disrupted the local front line, and Jack Cowell was off the defense with a sore foot; at least that was the official explanation.

Stirling Handicapped.

On the other side, Stirling was short-handed and heavy hearted. Their flashy defense star, Fred Ingram, was facing a jury at the Belleville assizes on a charge of manslaughter consequent to a fatal highway accident in which he was involved last fall. Ingram is a Campbellford boy, although he is playing with Stirling this season, he and his brother Harry, and the outcome of his trial affected the local fans as deeply, if not more so, than it did the visitors. This unusual conjunction of disturbing circumstances tended to dull the natural interest in a final game. The only equalizing compensation was the fact that both teams were hit, but Campbellford was the more seriously crippled.

The line-up follows:

Campbellford— Goal, Irwin; defence, Brant and McArthur; centre, Whitton; right wing, Bill Blue; left wing, Horkins; subs, McPherson, Hendy and Lebrash.

Stirling—Goal, Morton; defence, H. Ingram and Jack Ackers; centre, Ken Davis; right wing, Ibey; left wing, Hy Ackers; subs, Wallace and Fraser.

Referee—Ernie Wortley, Toronto.

Twenty-Two Penalties

The scoreless game last night just about represents the balance of play. And on the penalty sheet, the teams were even, with eleven each. Ernie Wortley took no chances on the possibility of the game getting out of hand. He was impartial and made a good job of his assignment, erring, if any, on the side of strictness. At that the game was clean enough. Hooking was the main offense, with some tripping and slashing, and several displays of temper that was aggravated by the sticky ice and the close persistent and sometimes strenuous checking.

Brant was cut on the upper lip but it was an accidental injury. Bill Blue fell heavily and head first against the boards. Apparently he was tripped, but no one got the gate.

Campbellford had slightly the edge on the night's play, partly because Stirling chose at times the defensive plan, notably at the outset and again in the third period. It was a profitless evening all around, but a few of the high lights are worth recalling.

A Summary of the Play

Whitton opened the attack with a shot from the blue line. For ten minutes the ice held, but it gradually gathered slush and finally took on a thin layer of water.

Davis went down the side alone, but his shot was wide. A few minutes later he dumped Horkins just as the Maroon was breaking through the Stirling defense. Harry Ingram threatened with a fine solo effort, but Brant stopped him and went off for tripping. Ibey was benched for a trip, and Campbellford held the visitors behind their blue line for nearly five minues. Jack Ackers finally broke away, but Irwin handled his shot easily.

Horkins started the second period with a rush. Brant was cut on the face when Ibey shot. Jack Ackers missed a pass from Davis near the local net. Blue crashed into boards, but was able to continue. Horkins pulled a swing, he started at Ackers, and the referee benched Ackers. Then Ibey was given a rest, and with the visitors two men short the Maroons buzzed around the Stirling net. Horkins and Whitton laid two dead on the net from inside, but Morton booted them out. It was Campbellford's best break, but it yielded nothing. Bill Blue contributed several rink length rushes; Ibey and McArthur also attempted individual attacks.

Blue was robbed of a goal when he was camped in front of the Stirling net, took a pass from Horkins and rifled the puck at Morton. The Maroons were going strong all through the latter part of the second period. Davis and Wallace missed chances at the local end.

Horkins started the third period with three shots from the blue line, but this barrage was easy for Morton. Ingram handed Horkins a stiff body check, stopping a threatening rush. Blue almost got through alone, but Stirling's pair, Harry Ingram and the veteran, Jack Ackers, were working smoothly with plenty of help from the back-checking forwards.

Brant missed the open net on a rebound of Whitton's shot. That was one of the likeliest opportunities of the whole game. Whitton tried to go around Ingram and took a hefty body check. Bill Blue was all set for a pass on that play and no one in front of him, but Ingram took care of Whitton's manoeuvre.

Stirling had a big chance when Horkins and McArthur were doing time together, but Campbellford staved off this threat.

Ibey and Blue were penalized together, Ibey for holding and Blue for throwing his stick at the Stirling man. The referee followed them to the penalty box, and threatened a major penalty for any renewal of hostilities.

Whitton broke through alone, but carried the puck too far. A few minutes later he stopped Ingram and saved what looked like a sure goal. Whitton drew a penalty for dumping Ingram and Davis followed for hooking Horkins. The game ended with Blue in possession at centre.

Both Irwin and Morton were unbeatable in the nets. Ingram and Davis were the visitors' best. Whitton and Horkins played a fine game for the Maroons, and Blue worked hard and effectively.

The penalties were as follows:—First period: Ingram, Davis (2), Blue, Brant, Horkins, Ibey, Whitton, J. Ackers. Second period: McPherson, J. Ackers, Ibey, Whitton. Third period: Ingram, Horkins (2), McArthur, Blue, Ibey, J. Ackers, Whitton, Davis.

BADMINTON CHAMPIONSHIPS

The Dominion badminton crown goes up on the block today and by Saturday will rest on the brow of the champion for another year. This year seems to be Ottawa's big year for championships and the Capitol is sitting pretty with the biggest badminton tourney that has ever been held in Canada. In a recent interview with Jack Purcell, present singles champion, he was enthusiastic over the progress of the game in the past year and is confident that he ha sa good chance of looking after the titled silverware again this year. Mr. Noel Radford and Jack Muir of Vancouver, will provide mighty serious opposition as well as C. W. Alkeman of Quebec. In the ladies' singles Mrs. Coke, the Dominion singles champion, is the outstanding contender, but Miss George, Miss H. F. Wright, and Miss Ryker of Ottawa will be contenders for the title. In the men's doubles Muir and Radword will represent Vancouver and Blackstock and Andrews along with Purcell and Sedgwick will represent Toronto. Cameron and Stewart will represent Ottawa and Alkman and Argu will represent Montreal.

EYES MEAN KNOWLEDGE

ROCHESTER, Minn. (U.P.) — Ninety-five per cent. of all men's knowledge comes through the eyes according to Dr. W. J. Mayo, internationally known physician, who pointed out that lower animals are guided by their sense of smell, and other senses are secondary. Man has developed his intelligence through the visual sense, the only one directly connected with the brain. Other senses of man are inferior to that in the animal, the doctor said.

SWEDISH COW IS 28.

GOTHENBURG, Sweden, (U.P.)—A 28 years old cow, believed to be the oldest in Sweden, is living contentedly on a farm in the western province of Halland. Considering that cows rarely reach more than 12 to 14 years, this venerable "Boss" seems to have broken all Swedish records for longevity.

MARMORA

Mrs. Charles McWilliams is quite ill at her home here.

Messrs. S. J. Sanderson and J. H. English visited Belleville on Monday.

Little Geraldine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Murray, is quite ill.

At the progressive euchre and bridge party held at the Separate school last Friday evening the prize-winners were: Euchre, gents, Doris Doyle, playing as gent; ladies, Mrs. L. Hughes. Bridge: Gents, Dr. H. Crawford; ladies, Mrs. (Dr.) H. Crawford.

The event was most successful in every way.

A well attended dance was held at the Town Hall on Monday evening by the young men of the R.C. church. Music was furnished by the new Bon Ton Orchestra and Charles Jones discharged the duties of floor manager.

MONTREAL CLUB WILL PROVIDE STIFF OPPOSITION IN SERIES

Maroons Have Average of 47 Points Against 71 in 40 Games Played.

TEN FORWARDS ON CLUB.

TORONTO, March 6. — Canadian fans, who take their hockey seriously, are rooting for the Montreal Maroons to stop the rampaging Boston Bruins and bring the Stanley Cup back to the Dominion. A comparison of the records for the National League season appears hardly to put them in the same class until the Montreal record is given a closer inspection. The Maroons have played 40 games, the same number as the Bruins, and scored only 47 points to Boston's 71, but out of 14 defeats, the Maroons have lost nine games by one goal margins and three more by two goals. Ottawa has given them their only serious beatings.

Canadian fans figure that the rugged bruising Montreal style of hockey will reach its peak in the short play-off series, the best out of five games between the two leaders and two of three in the final for the Stanley Cup. Despite the close race in the division they believe the Maroons will finish first.

The Maroons called in all their players from various minor league farms before the time limit expired and come to the play-offs with a big squad of speedy, hard-checking hockeyists who can give as good as they receive in any kind of play. The average weight of the Montreal players is in the neighborhood of 170 pounds.

Ten Forwards on Club

Heading the offense are Nelson Stewart, considered by many as the best centre in the National League; Reginald (Hooley) Smith and Babe Siebert. This trio has about everything a manager could ask of a forward line and the boys have been complaining that their substitutes have been used so much that they did not get enough exercise. These substitutes are Jimmy Ward, Bill Phillips and Dave Trottier, all experienced men and the youngsters, Earl Robinson, W. J. (Batty) Phillips, who led the Pacific Coast League scorers for half this season, George Northcott and Charlie Dinsmore, who was with the champion Maroons of 1925 and signed in February to finish this season.

The defence shows a similar combination of youth and experience, Manager Dunc Munro and Geo. (Old Buck) Boucher have a good many hockey years behind them. Red Dutton is younger, while Art Wilcox and Tubby Moore are the kids of the team. In the nets are Clint Benedict, the oldest of the league's goalies and still one of the best despite a rather serious mid-season injury and Flat Walsh, who would be a regular with almost any other team.

HOCKEY.

CHAMPIONSHIP BATTLE

Adanacs and Parrots will clash again to-night for the fourth time in effort to break deadlock for the juvenile hockey championship. The game will be played between six and seven o'clock in the Brock street rink.

Hall Easily Beaten By "Kid" Chocolate

TAMPA Fla., March 6.—"Kid" Chocolate, Cuba's dusky featherweight sensation, decisively outpointed Benny Hall, St. Louis negro, in a ten-round but at Plantfield here last night. Chocolate gave Hall a thorough boxing lesson from start to finish, but could not put over a knockout punch. Chocolate weighed 124¾ pounds and Hall 124.

The bout was little more than a workout for the Cuban, who won every round in an easy fashion.

As a result Manager Gulterrez said Chocolate's scheduled bout in Toronto March 10 has been called off. The Cuban expects to fill an engagement at Madison Square Garden, New York, March 21 against Al Ridgeway of Jersey City.

BOB O'FARRELL ONLY ONE WHO IS UNCERTAIN

Larry Benton and Travis Jackson Come to Terms With Giant Pilot.

TONY LAZZERI REPORTS.

Shawkey Has All His Pupils at Camp—Tony Casting Eyes at Third.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 6.—Still another Giant accounted for himself yesterday when Larry Benton wired from Cincinnati that he was on his wa. to the training camp in San Antonio. Larry's contract is still unsigned but the fact that he is on his way hither is evidence that he is willing to listen to reason. He is to be in town some time to-night.

Travis Jackson, Giant efficient shortstop, listened to reason yesterday morning and swung a fountain pen thwart a 1930 contract. He did it more in sorrow than in anger. After looking over all the aspirants to the job of shortstopping for the Giants, Travis thought something ought to be done about it, so he signed on the dotted line.

The telegram from Benton leaves only one Giant in the unaccounted class. Bob O'Farrell is still running his bowling alley in Waukegan, Ill., without the slightest regard for the grand old pastime of baseball. In one respect Bob is like Ed Roush. He never did care for the extra labor entailed by the process of spring training.

LAZZERI JOINS SQUAD.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 6.—When another flag chase goes into its stretch run next September the Yankees may not be there. But on this chilly day of early March it can be reliably reported that they are all here. Signor Anton Lazzeri blew in with the morning breezes yesterday, encased his somewhat angular form in one of Mr. Spaulding's straight line 1930 models and the last of Bob Shawkey's pupils was in the fold. No longer will Mark Roth have to meet all the trains and steer young hopefuls to the Yankees' hotel.

Earl Combs and Signor Lazzeri were the two new comers in togs for the long workout, but Combs was at the ball yards Tuesday. Earle's shoe trunk or some other part of his baggage, trailed him from his Kentucky estate so the first gallop of 1930 was postponed until to-day. With Earle and Tony out in their flannels boss Shawkey was able to gaze upon all the talent that is to be seen for a while.

Doings In Commons.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 7 (C.P.).—In the House of Commons first reading was given to the bill introduced by P. J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg North Centre) to make possible the establishment of a divorce court in Ontario. Hon. J. C. Elliott introduced a bill to regulate vehicular traffic on Dominion property over which there exists no other right-of-way. Hon. Charles Stewart introduced a bill to amend the Indian Act. A resolution asking that consideration be given to the setting up of a system of intermediate credits for agriculture was moved by Alfred Speakman (U.F.A., Red Deer)), and after considerable debate, was referred to the committee on banking and commerce. A resolution advocating the setting up of a Chair of International Relationships and the institution of international scholarships in Canadian Universities was moved by Miss Agnes MacPhail (Progressive, Grey South East). She was still speaking when the House rose at six o'clock.

To-Day in Parliament.

The Senate will not sit.

SACRIFICE DEMPSEY TO 'HAM AND EGGERS'

It is suspected that there is a plan under way whereby Jack Dempsey, the Manassa Mauler of yesteryear, will try the "comeback" performance, and that he will be sent against none other than Primo Carnera, the huge Italian heavyweight. If this is so, Carnera will be "saved" for just such an emergency, but if Dempsey is half as good as he used to be Carnera will have cause to regret the "saving" part of it. Dempsey can knock out any man he can hit, and it is suspected that he could hit the lumbering Italian. As a promoter Dempsey has had a poor run of luck, but in this connection he has fared no worse than Madison Square Garden and the Chicago Stadium Corporation. In fact even before the death of Tex Rickard a reaction had set in, the men who pay not being over-eager to view those alleged battles of the palms and centuries. Dempsey was the greatest crowd-pleaser of modern ring times, and his defeats at the hands of the elusive and clever Gene Tunney hurt the sport as an attraction. It is said that the crop of heavyweights is a poor one, but if Dempsey was in his prime, and could take on Sharkey, Schmeling and other alleged contenders, the promoters would stir up interest, but it would be a ring tragedy indeed if the old mauler came back and fell a victim to boxers he could have knocked out in record time a few years ago. Better by far to have him remain in retirement than to sacrifice him and his reputation on a fruitless and hopeless errand. Twenty years ago they brought Jim Jeffries out of retirement to oppose Jack Johnson, the great colored heavyweight. Those who saw that debacle at Reno will never forget it. Jeffries, a shadow of the man he used to be, never had a chance as he took a beating "gamely" for fifteen rounds before the fiasco was over. Those who have placed Dempsey on the highest pedestal of all would not wish to see the Jeffries episode repeated.

SCHMELING TO PREPARE FOR JACK SHARKEY ON THE TOUR

German Heavy Plans to Visit 14 Cities Before the Championship Battle.

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY.

BERLIN, March 6.—Max Schmeling announced last night that he had contracted to make a month's exhibition tour of fourteen cities as part of his campaign to condition himself for his coming match with Sharkey in New York. Schmeling admitted that he felt sure that he could beat the Boston Sailor and win the championship of the world for Germany. Schmeling said:

"In my opinion the boxers of the present day do not do enough fighting, especially when preparing for an important bout.

"Road work and rope skipping are all right, I suppose, but they do not help one to be a good judge of distance. The only way to get into condition is to fight—and I expect to do plenty of that.

"Reports from Miami indicate that Sharkey is not the fighter he once was, which ought to make my task all the easier. But I will not be overconfident. Sharkey is a rather clever boxer, but, on his record, he does not pack a devasting punch which makes any boxer dangerous."

Schmeling added that he intended to sail for the United States the early part of May and that the sooner he fought Sharkey, the better he would be pleased.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE WOODEN SOLDIER.

Very brave and bold was the wooden soldier as he stood in front of the tin aeroplane in a corner of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. The wooden soldier held his gun very straight and his sword was at his side, ready to be pulled out at a moment's notice.

For he was more than just a wooden soldier, was this brave chap. He was also a captain. You could tell that by his sword. And you could tell that he was a soldier by his gun.

Now you know, as well as I do, that a regular captain in the army can't be a soldier with a GUN at the same time he is a captain with a SWORD. It just isn't done. But this wooden soldier was different. For many years he had served in the ranks, carrying his gun and being very brave in battle. Then he was made a captain, and given a sword, and he was told that he might lay aside his gun if he liked.

"No, thank you," said the wooden soldier. "My gun has been with me many years. I should be very impolite now, to throw it away, even though I have been made a captain. I shall keep my words and my gun also."

So he did, and that's why he stood so brave and bold in front of the tin aeroplane. The wooden soldier was one of

Over the fields hopped the Bunny.

Buster's toys, and the tin aeroplane belonged to his brother Custer. Both rabbit boys had gone to the hollow stump school to recite their lessons to the Lady Mouse teacher.

Uncle Wiggily, hopping through the room on his way out to have an adventure, saw the wooden soldier. The old rabbit gentleman also saw the tin aeroplane and near it he saw Jumping Jack, which toy Baby Bunty had dropped as she hurried off to school.

"Dear me! How careless the children are getting to leave their toys like this" I said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "The toys might get stepped on and broken. I must speak to them about it when they come home from school." He picked up the tin aeroplane and put it on a shelf. He picked up the Jumping Jack and leaned him against the aeroplane. And as Uncle Wiggily was picking up the wooden soldier he heard that brave chap speaking.

"Yes, Jack," said the wooden soldier, "I could very well do with a bit more red paint on my coat. I know it's worn off and I don't look as smart and trim as a captain should look to say nothing of a regular soldier. But what can I do, Jack? I can't paint myself. But I wish that rabbit boy, Buster, would paint me up a bit."

"Why, this is very sad, indeed," thought Uncle Wiggily, looking carefully at the wooden soldier which he held in his paw. "His coat does need some red paint and his trousers would look better if they were made a brighter blue. I think I'll take the soldier to a toy shop and have him touched up a bit."

So Uncle Wiggily put the wooden soldier in his pocket, taking care not to cut himself on the wooden sword and not to shoot himself with wooden gun.

"Good-by Jack!" called the wooden soldier to the jumping chap. "I guess I'm going to war again!"

"Well, I hope you come back with both your legs!" chuckled Jumping Jack, who was a merry lad, always tumbling about."

For the wooden soldier didn't know what Uncle Wiggily was going to do, not understanding rabbit talk. However, Uncle Wiggily had heard what the wooden soldier said, and being a wise old bunny, he knew what it meant. Now I know, as well as you do, that it is very hard to understand what wooden soldiers say. You may think they cannot talk. But I say that if you have wooden soldiers and they don't talk, or move or shoot their guns or wave their swords, it is either because they are made from the wrong kind of wood or else you are never around when these things happen.

"Yes," said Uncle Wiggily to himself as he hopped out of the hollow stump bungalow, "I shall take this wooden soldier to a toy shop and have a new lot of paint put on him. That will make him bright and cheerful, though he never could be made braver or bolder."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped along with the wooden soldier, sword, gun and all in his pocket. Over the fields and through the woods hopped the bunny gentleman until all of a sudden, out from behind a bush hopped the Bob Cat with his silly little tail.

"Ah, now I have a fat rabbit to eat!" howled the Bob Cat.

But, all of a sudden, out of Uncle Wiggily's pocket jumped the wooden soldier. With his sharp sword the braver chap stuck the Bob Cat and with with his wooden gun the brave soldier poked the Bob Cat in his soft and tender ribs until the howling animal tried to tuck his silly little tail between his hind legs and away he ran! And how Mr. Longears laughed! "Ha! Ha! Ha!"

Daughter Is Stronger Now

"My daughter Catherine is fifteen years old. She was very irregular, often sick at her stomach and had to stay in bed two or three days at a time. One of your booklets was sent to us by mail so I got her a bottle of Vegetable Compound. Catherine has been taking it regularly and she is gaining in weight and every way. I told the neighbors and four other girls are taking it with good results."—Mrs. Clarence Jenkinson, Box 14, Thornloe, Ontario.

"ER . . BUT YOU SEE OFFICER . . MY YORK MILK IS HAVING A BRIDGE PARTY . . ."

OF course, Mr. Stiggins was confused. He meant to say his wife was giving a bridge party and that was why he simply had to be home on time with the York Milk Chocolate.

"Well," said the officer, "If you knew as much about driving a car as your wife does about pleasing her guests, you could do sixty-five all day and I'd never bother you. Better settle out of court—one box of Rowntree's York Milk or thirty days."

Put yourself on trial on any charge. Sentence yourself to a bar of Rowntree's York Milk every day for thirty days. You'll find it delicious, satiny smooth, and so distinctive in flavour that it sets a new standard of milk chocolate goodness. But be sure you get York Milk.

There is also York Nut Milk—with delicious whole filberts—for those who prefer nut milk chocolate.

LADIES' AID MEETS.

Mrs. H. H. Ryley Hostess to Members of Bethany Church Society.

(Examiner Correspondence)

BETHANY, March 6.—A very encouraging meeting of the Ladies' Aid United Church, Bethany. The members of Ladies Aid of United church met at the home of Mrs. H. H. Ryley on Friday, February 28.

The meeting opened by singing hymn "What a Friend We Have In Jesus", followed by all repeating the Lord's prayer.

The president, Mrs. Poulter, reading the 98th Psalm. The minutes of the last meeting were then read by the treasurer, adopted and signed.

After the usual business had been gone through a reading entitled "Nearer to Thee" was given by Miss E. Richardson and was very much appreciated. Mrs. F. J. Jackson announced that the next W. M. S. meeting for the church would be held at her home on Friday, March 7. This being the day set apart for the World's Day of Prayers, it had been decided to hold the two meetings on that date. Mrs. Jackson extended a welcome to all the ladies to try and be present. A social half hour followed ere the company finally dispersed for home.

The secretary of the Ladies' Aid then announced that their March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. Jamieson, when a kitchen shower will be held to consist principally of tea towels, cream and sugar bowls and salt and pepper sets.

MEN PAST 40 Should Read This!

Must Old Age Mean Torture, Annoyance, Embarrassment Worry, Bladder Weakness, Nervousness, Getting-Up-Nights?

It is claimed that 7 out of 10 men near or past middle life are subject to Bladder Weakness, which, if neglected, may mean years of suffering and daily annoyance.

First signs of such condition may come in early life but they are usually more noticeable after 40—pain in back, headache, nervousness, a feeling of weight in groins, itching, burning, painful urination, too frequent calls and getting-up-nights.

While serious, if neglected—it is ordinarily a simple matter to relieve these troubles by the pleasant home use of Dr. Southworth's URATABS, which have been victorious in thousands of cases, after other treatments had failed.

No matter how serious or of how long standing your condition may be, you can quickly prove the value of URATABS without risk of cost—for any good druggist will supply you on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or money back. If "URATABS" bring you quick and certain comfort, you will be greatly pleased. If they do not fully satisfy, their use will cost you nothing. Try URATABS today!

COMMUNAL FARM MOVEMENT GAINS AMONG SOVIETS

More Than 50 Per Cent. of All Farms Socialized on Feb. 20.

FOOD SHORTAGE FELT.

Railway Transportation Blamed —How Peasants Are Converted.

MOSCOW, March 5.—The collective farm movement is advancing with incredible rapidity. Accordin to figures published by the Commissariat of Agriculture, about 50 per cent. of Russian peasant holdings already are collectivized. In the Ukraine, which is the Soviet's principal granary, a total was reached of 54 per cent. on Feb. 20. The official Communist newspaper Pravda actually states that the number of peasant farms united in collectives doubled in the three weeks from Jan. 20 to Feb. 10.

The reason for this is the success of the cleansed seed-grain distributing scheme to the collectives. On Feb. 20 83.6 per cent. of the distribution program was accomplished for the entire district, with the Ukraine getting 41.6 per cent. above the program, the central black earth region 10 per cent. above, and so on.

When peasants hitherto doubtful about the collective movement saw this they leaped aboard the bandwagon in droves — stimulated also, perhaps, by the much-needed snowfall, which removed the superstitious fears of many who had been told by local priests that God would ruin the harvest of the collectives—and it now looks as though the end of the spring sowing season will see the chief grain producing regions collectivized to upward of 75 per cent.

Opinion Seems Favorable.

This would seem to dispose of rumors current abroad that peasants here and there are resisting the collective movement by force. It is possible, of course, that "bandit gangs" whose "liquidation" by the authorities is reported from time to time in the Soviet press, may include dispossessed kulaks and other recalcitrants, but it is clear that the vast mass of the peasantry is favorably disposed toward the collective movement because they already see the positive advantages it offers.

Vitally important as this success is to the Soviet future, it cannot be denied that disquieting phenomona exist, particularly in regard to the supply of food and other commodities. In Moscow, for instance, which, as the capital, receives favored treatment, it is almost impossible to buy any food or other commodities of popular consumption above what, to western standards, seems a rather meagre ration. Two pounds of bread a day are allowed for a manuel worker, one pound for persons engaged in sedentary occupations, three pounds of meat every ten days for workers, two pounds for sedentary occupations, etc. Fish, save herrings, seem to have disappeared. Butter, ham and fats are extremely short, milk is reserved for children and invalids and goods of all kinds, even the cheapest textiles, are obtainable with great difficulty.

Three Explanations Offered.

Three explanations are given for this state of affairs. First, export to hold a trade balance for the import of means of manufacture. It is true, for instance, that fresh caviar can not be bought now in Moscow, yet it is in every smart restaurant in London, Berlin, Paris and New York. But why should smoked sturgeon be lacking when Astrakhan reports the best fishing season in twenty years? Why so few apples or other native fruit?

The second explanation is that goods are being sent to the villages to encourage the new collectives. This, doubtless, is true in part and it also is true that the increase of currency by nearly 100 per cent. in the past eighteen months has doubled demand — in view of the fact that prices were held stable or at most only increased 3 to 7 per cent. But the villages and small towns report no less—or rather a greater—shortage than Moscow.

The third reason probably is the real one—the incapacity of a distribution system right from producer to consumer. The Central Co-operative Department is now undergoing a much-needed "purge" which may improve matters, but the basic fault lies with the railroads.

Weakness Laid to Transport.

Izestia, the Government newspaper, went so far as to state that the "weakness of the transport link threatens the success of the whole chain of the industrial plan," and publishes a cartoon showing a traveler asking railroad officials "When does this train leave?" The official replies, "That is not a train. It is a goods-train and it has been here five weeks already."

The railroad commissar, Y. E. Rudzutak, competent and hard-working, fully realizes the defects of the transportation system, but he is not a trained railroad executive and has not enough such executives under him. What Russia needs to-day is a man like Sir Henry Thornton, who brought order out of chaos on the Canadian National Railways. It is not impossible that such a man soon may be sought in America.

McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets Fine For Thin Frail Kids

Children Love Them Because They Are Sugar Coated and Easy to Take as Candy

It's your duty, Mother to see that the frail, peaked, sickly youngster grows up to be strong in body, keen in mind and robust in health.

Extracted from the livers of the lowly codfish are the health, weight and strength producing vitamines that are found in McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets, which are sold by pharmacists all over North and South America.

Doctors know about them and so does McDermid & Jury, McDermid's, Bond's, Lynch, and Payne's, and druggists everywhere and if your children need building up ask for these tablets today if you want to give your loved ones a good appetite and put pounds of good healthy flesh on their bones. But be sure and get McCoy's.

They are not expensive—60 tablets—60 cents and if you are not pleased with the improvement after 30 days—your money back.

A very sickly child, age 9, gained 12 pounds in seven months and is strong and healthy.

One skinny woman gained 9 pounds in 24 days.

Best Remedy On Earth For Old Leg Sores

Petersons' Ointment can justly be called the best because it's helped so many hundreds of grateful users to rid themselves of old sores and ulcers which they'd tried for years to banish.

This powerfully soothing and antiseptically healing Peterson's immediately stops itching and soreness the minute it's applied. The quickest and most certain healer—longest standing and most stubborn cases of pimples, eczema, rashes, piles and skin irritations generally vanish after just few days treatment.

A 50c box proves it. All druggistores.

Mrs. M. Klahuhu writes: "I had a place on my forehead which wouldn't heal — everyone told me there was no cure. I read about Petersons Ointment so I bought a box and now my head is all healed and there's still some salve left in box. I can't speak well enough for Peterson's."

SUGGESTED PEACE RIVER OUTLET ROUTES

Prince Rupert board of trade disapprove of Hon. F. Oliver's Peace river outlet project which embraces a railway route from Beaver Lodge to Hansard, on C.N.R. over to Monkman Pass. They declare it would not serve the Peace river district to best advantage and would give Vancouver all the benefits over Prince Rupert, as a terminus. They suggestfour alternative routes, which, they declare, would better serve the needs of Peace river district. These four routes are indicated and marked on the above map. The Monkman Pass route is also indicated on the map shown here.

Residents of north George street are up in arms against an animal poisoner in their midst. They do not know who has been committing the despicable crimes but in past months a number of cats have met their deaths in great pain and agony as a result of strychnine poisoning.. Some of those who have been bereaved of pets by "the poisoner" urge that an investigation be made so that the criminal can be subjected to the stiff penalty provided by law, and their pets can be kept safe once more.

LESS WATER

The flow of water in the Jackson Park creek has subsided considerably in the past several days with the slightly colder weather. For some days it offered great danger and only the persistent work of the City Engineer's men prevented flooding at a number of points.

ONE DOOR NORTH

Fortunately the postal officials of United States and Canada are not as hazy on their geography as some persons in some more distant lands. An envelope which bore the stamp of Belgrade, the capital of Serbia situated on the south side of the Danube river in Europe, arrived at The Examiner office to-day. It was addressed, "Examiner, Peterborough Ont., U. S. A." It started it's journey about the end of November. The envelope contained news matter.

OTTAWA FIRM HAS HOPES OF RE-ORGANIZING

Heavy Overhead Led Largely to Mowat and MacGillivray Downfall.

15,000 CLIENTS.

All Offices Throughout Maritimes and Ottawa Valley Closed.

OTTAWA, March 6. — (C.P.) — Another extensive Canadian brokerage business has been added to the list of casualties of the recent stock market crash and subsequent slackening of business. The head of Mowatt and Macgillivray, with head offices here, and twenty branch offices scattered through the eastern provinces assigned yesterday before the Ontario Registrar in Bankruptcy. The firm of E. R. C. Clarkson Sons was appointed as interim receiver upon the petition of a creditor.

Ray of Hope.

A ray of hope for the thousands of clients of the brokerage house came with the assertion of Mr. MacGillivray, that it was hoped it would be found possible to make some proposition to reorganize the business with additional capital so that it may be carried on.

Harold Mowat, senior member of the firm, said there was a possibility of re-organization if not immediately at least in the near future.

Commenting as to the likely reason for the assignment, the financial editor of the Ottawa Citizen says:

"Trading is near the vanishing point. Mowatt and MacGillivray have had a very heavy overhead and with the brokerage business in the state it is at the present time, the weekly budget showed a big debit balance. The employees of the firm number approximately 150 (in Ottawa) and it means these will now be out of employment, anyhow, for the time being."

15,000 Clients.

While the exact number of clients affected by the assignment would be difficult to estimate, the guess that at least 15,000 persons traded through Mowat and MacGillivray would appear safe. Though the head office alone, approximately 2,000 Ottawans transacted their trade in stocks.

Organized in 1923 the firm located its branches mainly through the Maritime provinces and Ottawa Valley. All offices were closed to-day. The major portion of its business was on the Toronto Standard Mining Exchange, but it also had connections with the New York Exchange, Montreal Stock Exchange and Curb Market and Vancouver Exchange.

The English custom of eating with a fork in the left hand instead of the right, is interesting the Americans but none is attempting to copy it. One stenographer said, "I'd never get through a meal. They'd charge me for parking overtime." The English maintain it is quicker since the knife ordinarily is used by the right hand and minutes are lost during a meal by constantly transferring the fork to that hand after the knife's functions are over.

Bissonette Cured; To Play in 5 Weeks

NEW YORK, March 6. — Del Bissonette, first baseman on the Robins, will be ready to play a full game in about five weeks, according to Dr. W. E. Borzan, who is caring for the ailing ball player at present. Dr. Borzan said yesterday:

"I examined his ears and found him completely cured of his mastoid trouble. He is suffering from an attack of boils, but when that is over he will recuperate quickly. He has gained five pounds in the past week, and will be able to go into light training in a couple of weeks.

"By the time the season begins Bissonette will be ready to play regularly, though it is possible he won't be in shape for high grade baseball at that time. Just the same, I figure he will be ready to last nine innings without it affecting him physically."

WHAT TORONTO MUSIC CRITICS THINK OF

"The Madrigal Singers"

Under the direction of Dorothy Allan Park

Dr. Lawrence Mason in "Globe": "The guest artists for the evening were Dorothy Allan Park and her capital Madrigal Singers. The present reviewer is glad to say that this choir fully lived up to the high report of its artistic merits which had previously reached him, and he is eagerly looking forward to another hearing"

H. C. Hamilton in "Musical Canada": "The Singing of the Madrigal Singers of Peterborough, was a decided treat. The greatest credit is due the very efficient directress, Dorothy Allan Park. All the numbers were delightfully sung. A women's chorus, such as this, is something we would like to hear very much oftener."

Augustus Bridle in "Star": "This is indeed a lovely little chorus."

"Yenmita" in "Telegram": "They made a charming picture and their singing enchanted."

"Canadian Home Journal": "One especially notable organization was that of the "Madrigal Singers" from Peterborough, Ont., conducted by a gifted young musician, Dorothy Allan Park. Its singing of Madrigals was a very fine demonstration of what could be accomplished in some of the smaller cities of Canada."

"Mail and Empire": "Their program sparkled with gems of choral singing, and their work as the result of earnest endeavor, enthusiastic interest and skilful direction, has steadily developed until they have reached a standard that enables them to get surprising results."

H. C. Hamilton in "Musical Canada": Dorothy Allan Park and the Peterborough Singers won, as last year, a triumph. The style of dress, too, and the color scheme for the chorus, all contributed to make a picture that gladdened the eye. This ladies' chorus has a finesse and soft roundness of tone which is the epitome of delicacy, and this was very much to the fore in "One Morning so Early" and "Where the Bee Sucks." Mrs. Park is a most capable conductor, and what is more, she directs gracefully. Her movements in front of her singers might well be termed the poetry of motion.

This chorus will give a concert next Tuesday evening, March 11, in the COLLEGIATE ASSEMBLY HALL at eight o'clock, assisted by Alberto Guerrero, brilliant South American pianist, and Leo Smith, eminent cellist. Tickets 85 cents, plus 5 cents amusement tax. Reserved seat plan at Heintzman Hall, Hunter Street.

FLOOD REFUGEES RETURNING HOME TO REBUILD RUINS

Neighbors Offer Shelter, But Majority Use Schools and Churches.

201 KNOWN DEAD.

In Towns of Moissac and Montauban Residents Still Seek Bodies.

TOULOUSE, France, March 7 (Canadian Press). — Under the blue and smiling sky of Southern France refugees from the flood smitten Tarn and Garonne River valleys to-day trudged back to the scenes of desolation to begin work of rebuilding their homes and shops.

They faced miles and miles of black mud; many found their homes only a jumble of wood and stones, and everything they had in the world swept away. Where neighbors still had shelter, it was offered generously, but for many, public buildings, schools and churches offered the only refuge.

As the waters returned to their natural courses, the tremendous extent of the tragedy was more and more revealed. There were 201 known dead, and conservative estimates were that twice that many would have been found to have perished when the final figures are known.

Reconstruction Begun.

Yet, already preliminary work of reconstruction has begun. Railway track crews worked feverishly to-day to restore main lines. In some places long stretches of new temporary construction will be necessary, with temporary bridges to build. Telephone and telegraph linesmen rapidly restored their services to something like normal. Work of cleaning up the damaged factories was under way in some of the larger centres.

At towns like Moissac and Montauban which suffered most, residents were engaged in the sadder task of of seeking bodies of victims. It was before all—if all are ever found—can be recovered and identified. During yesterday and last night many of those who had been marooned by the flood waters were able to reach safety. Some had marvellous escapes. At the village of Salleles four families remained at their house, themselves almost submerged, for more than 8 hours.

PLAN COMMUNITY THEATRE.

KINGSTON, March 7. — An effort is being made by leading members of the Kingston Art and Music Club to purchase the Grand Opera House for use as a community theatre. Small and the Canada Theatres, Limited.

"Fool Proof" Blimp For Family Travels

TOMS RIVER, N.J., March 7 (C.P.).—Anton Heinen, war time commander of German Zeppelins, announced to-day that he had begun the manufacture of a "fool proof" family blimp to cost no more than $1,000. Captain Heinen said the craft, to be 95 feet long, would have a maximum speed of 75 miles an hour under full load. It is to be inflated with a non-inflammable gas of his own invention, the pilot announced.

AID IS PROMISED FOR FIFE PROJECT

J. J. Duffus Has Interviewed Members of Commercial and Industrial Companies in Western Ontario.

TO CONTINUE WORK.

Promises of financial assistance for the establishment of a Fife memorial were reported to-day by J. J. Duffus on his return from an extended trip through Western Ontario as far as Sarnia, during which he interviewed representatives of various commercial and industrial companies.

The T. Eaton Company, the Robert Simpson Company, and the International Harvester Company were among those Mr. Duffus called upon. In almost every instance he found that the work of David Fife was comparatively unknown, although the name of Fife wheat was familiar. Its significance and its relation to Peterborough County were, however, missing details, and as Mr. Duffus explained the objective of the present memorial project, surprise was expressed that no action had been taken during all the years since the Fife wheat demonstrated its immense value to Canada, and also since the death of David Fife who introduced the wheat into this country and country almost a century ago.

Mr. Duffus said he would be in Ottawa three days next week attending the farm conference which has been arrangd by the Federal Government, and while there would continue the Fife memorial propaganda. Meanwhile, however, nothing has been heard from the local committee which was formed several weeks ago, and which was understood to be a combined and community effort.

Shannon Branch Offices Are Ordered Closed

LONDON, March 6. (C.P.) — H. S. Shannon & Company's branch brokerage office on Richmond street, was ordered closed by the head office to-day.

According to Mr. Morrow, the company's action in closing the London branch, as well as those at Kitchener, Guelph and St. Thomas is just due to a desire to eliminate unnecessary expense which would be incurred should these offices be maintained while the volume of business is at such a low ebb.

H. S. Shannon & Company opened their London branch last fall. The head office of the company is in Toronto, and has also other offices throughout Western Ontario.

FIRST PERMANENT WAVE.

TEXTILE TRADES IN BAD CONDITION REPORT REVEALS

Royal Commissioner States Cut in Wages For All Classes Required.

REDUCTION OF 9 PER CENT.

Undecided as to Attitude Workers May Take Toward Step.

LONDON, March 7.— (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—"The industry is in such a dangerously depressed condition that a sacrifice in wages is required. The higher paid classes must bear their share of them," declared Lord MacMillan in his report on conditions in the woollen and textile trades, laid before the Government last night.

Consequently he made recommendations amounting to a reduction of nine per cent. in wages. The actual wage rate is unchanged but he would reduce the additional amounts paid under the "cost of living" provisions and would cut in half the recent increase in salary.

Lord MacMillan declared that during his investigations as Royal Commissioner he found all parties in agreement that the industry faced increasing competition, protective tariffs and a growing tendency in certain countries to suply themselves from factories they were establishing. "I think the employers are correct in holding that if there were reduction in wages, it would be passed on to the immediate purchaser from the maker," he said.

Workers' Attitude Undecided.

But it is not clear what the workers themselves are going to say about the prospect of lower wages. The secretary of the National Association of Textile Trades Unions says the recommendations, if effected, would mean that male workers now getting approximately $13.70 a week would suffer a reduction of $1.25. Women workers on a time basis would suffer a reduction of 75 cents, and piece workers would suffer a reduction of 90 cents.

Alderman Ben Turner, president of the National Union of Textile Workers and a member of the Labor Ministry as secretary for mines, to-day expressed hope that a settlement would be reached. "We have appealed to Caesar and Caesar has spoken," he said. "I do not agree the employers have proved their case for reduction of wages. But I cannot deny that the present circumstances the industry is in a most unsatisfactory, if not actually dangerous, condition."

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDED.

KINGSTON, March 7. — Miss Mary White, daughter of Rev. F. W. White, has won the scholarship given by the Canadian Branch of the Federation of University Women. The scholarship is awarded to a woman student in any Canadian university for outstanding work. It provides for one year of study in an English or European university. Miss White will receive her Master of Arts degree from Queen's University in the spring.

Hamilton Klansmen Must Face Charges In Oakville Court

Four Men, Alleged Members of the Ku Klux Klan, Have Been Summoned to Appear in Court to Answer Charges of Being Masked in Public Without Lawful Excuse.

NAMES OF THE TRIO HAVE NOT BEEN DIVULGED; SUMMONS SERVED BY HAMILTON POLICE OFFICERS

Chief of Police Kerr of Oakville and Crown Attorney Dick of Milton, Are Believed to be Instrumental in Having the Men Summoned to Court—Refuse to Make Statements.

(Canadian Press, and Special to The Examiner.)

OAKVILLE, Ont., March 7. — Four Hamilton men, alleged members of the Ku Klux Klan of Canada, have been summoned to appear in court to answer charges of being masked in public without lawful excuse.

The names of three were not immediately divulged while the fourth, Ernest Taylor, of 154 Gibson avenue, pastor of the Italian Mission on Ottawa street north, and Italian interpreter in the local courts. Mr. Taylor explained that he was not in a position to discuss the case at this time but intimated that the charges would be hotly contested when they were called in the court.

"I dont even know their names," was Mr. Taylor's reply when questioned as to the identy of the other three men.

The summonses were served by Hamilton police officers at the request of Halton County authorities. Chief of Police David Kerr of Oakville and Crown Attorney Dick of Milton are believed to be instrumental in having the men summoned but to-day they would say nothing about the case.

The charges are a development of the incident at Oakville last week, when members of the Klan separated Ira Johnston from his white fiancee. Johnson is colored but declares he is an Indian, not a Negro.

The Ku Klux Klan has no Provincial charter, officials of the Provincial Secretary's office informed The Examiner. Revocation of the "charter" of the Klan was one of the objects sought by Toronto negroes when they passed their resolution appealing to the Attorney-General for an investigation at the mass meeting held Monday evening.

Charter Refused in 1927

The Ku Klux Klan applied for a Provincial charter in 1927, but it was refused at that time by Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary. J. R. Code, Toronto barrister, who made

BRUTAL SLAYING LAID TO INDIANS

Twelve Year Old Son Finds Mother Beaten and Choked to Death.

TWO ARE ARRESTED.

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 7 (C.P.).—Arrested in the brutal slaying of Mrs. Henri Marchand, wife of the famous artist and curator of the Buffalo Museum of Science, an Indian woman, alleged to have been infatuated with the artist, to-day blamed the killing on an older woman of her tribe.

According to police detectives here, Miss Lillian Jimerson, 35-year-old full blooded Indian woman whom Mrs. Marchand had used as a model in some of his paintings, admitted she was present in the Marchand home yesterday when Mrs. Marchand was beaten and choked to death, but that she did not kill her. Police did not make public the name of the woman she accused, who also is under arrest.

Traced To Reserve.

The Jimerson woman and another Indian woman were found to have been in Buffalo yesterday and were traced to the Gowanda reservation, where they were arrested.

Mrs. Marchand was found dead yesterday by her 12-year-old son, her head battered by blows from a sharp pointed weapon, and a chloroform-soaked wad of paper stuffed down her throat.

Police made two trips to Silver Creek early to-day. On the first trip they took Miss Jimerson into custody and returned to Buffalo. When they arrived at police headquarters she told them the person who was guilty was a Mrs. Nancy Bowen, and said that Mrs. Bowen was hiding under the stairs in the house the police had just left.

The police made a hurried return to Silver Creek, where they found Mrs. Bowen still in hiding.

BRITAIN REGAINS FORMER POSITION IN WORLD TRADE

Great Strides Have Been Made By Great Britain in Past Few Years Says Speaker.

SUPREMACY REGAINED.

Elmer Davis, of Kingston, Addresses Kiwanis Club at Weekly Luncheon.

"Let me remind you that in the years following the Great War there were those who said that Britain was doomed both commercially and financially, but in the face of seemingly insurmountable obstacles and with dogged perseverance and determination Britain has fought her way back and to-day her financial supremacy is regained. Also Britain's commercial and industrial position has been greatly improved since those dark days. Do not misunderstand me, not all those difficulties have been overcome, but the greatest commercial and industrial revolution the world has ever seen is now in progress in Britain."

Vice-President of Manufacturers

So stated Elmer Davis, of Kingston, in addressing the Kiwanis Club at noon to-day on his impressions of an extended visit to Great Britain. Mr. Davis is an outstanding figure in Canadian commerce, being president of the A. Davis and Son, Ltd., manufacturers of leather products of Kingston, and vice-president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. He is the son of the late Hon. E. J. Davis of Newmarket.

In the course of his address, Mr. Davis drew an optimistic outlook on the recovery of Great Britain to her former commanding position in the commercial world. A thing emphasized in his address was that Britain cared for and preserved the buildings of former ages and of historical sig-

Decline in Sales of Ontario Apples Blamed on Orange Juice Fad by M.P.P.

TORONTO, Ont., March 7 (Canadian Press). — The novel explanation that the craze for orange juice was to blame for the tremendous decline in the sale of Ontario apples was offered to the Agricultural Committee of the Legislature to-day by George Shields, Conservative member for Toronto-Woodbine.

"It used to be the case of "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," Mr. Shields said, "but nowadays everybody has gone crazy over the orange juice fad. The number of people drinking orange juice is astounding. It is orange juice for the baby, the mother, for the father, and a lot of people, I submit, are drinking themselves into the hospitals with it."

Mr. Shields claimed that the craze for dieting had been started by a series of newspaper articles written by a physician who was subsidized, he understood, by orange growers. To counteract this, Mr. Shields suggested that another doctor be subsidized to write articles concerning the medicinal value of apples.

The question of providing markets for apples occupied the attention of the Committee with G. H. Mitchell, president of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, W. E. Somerset and P. W. Hodgetts, director of the Fruit Branch of the Department of Agriculture, advancing arguments on the matter. Mr. Mitchell, in particular, claimed the the local market was being ruined by truckers who bought culls and windfalls from non-commercial orchards, and repacked them.

RUM RUNNER IS BADLY WOUNDED BY COAST GUARD

Armor Plated Tug Engages in Grim Battle With Law Officers.

CUTTER IS RAMMED.

Shells Bounce Off Steel Sides of Smuggler—1,000 Cases Are Captured.

LORAIN, Ohio, March 7 (C.P.).—A grim battle between a steel-armored rum boat, said to be the Sambo G., of Port Stanley, Ont., and a coastguard cutter on Lake Erie, ended early today with the capture of the runner and its crew of two men. The coastguard boat was rammed in the battle, and one of the crew of the runner was wounded twice in the hail of bullets poured from rifles and a one-pounder.

Two Men Taken.

The captured ship, 65 feet long, was taken to Lorain harbor. It had 1,600 cases of alleged Canadian whiskey and beer aboard. The wounded man, who said he was Fred Hentrie, of Detroit, was taken to a Lorain hospital. His condition is critical. His companion, who gave the name of Joe Hanna, was held at Lorain police station, pending Federal action.

The coastguard boat, the CG-106, was stove in at the middle, just above the water line, where it was hit by the prow of the runner, running at full speed. There were many marks of battle on the rum-runner also.

The pursuit and battle began last night and continued for several hours. Captain J. T. Hagglove, in command of the CG-106, first saw the rum-runner about 15 miles off Cleveland. Fifteen shots were fired across the runner's bow, but they were unheeded, Hagglove said.

Take 2 rum runners

When the firing began, the Sambo G. turned westward but could not escape. Captain Hagglove ordered his crew to fire on the fugitive ship but the runners paid no attention. Tracer bullets then were used and Hagglove was surprised to see them bounce off the target.

One Pounders Used.

The one-pounders next were shot aaginst the Sambo G. and the firing became regular, but the crew of the runner did not fire back.

Suddenly the run rummer turned and charged the cutter, striking it amidships, the pulled away and continued the flight.

An hour later, the cutter came close enough again for the guardsmen to board the Sambo G. They were resisted. Hanna was found lying down on the floor to escape the bullets. Hentrie was in the pilot house prostrate with two bullet wounds in his back.

Captain Hagglove said the rum boat and its cargo would be taken to Cleveland and turned over to Federal authorities.

The Sambo G. is the most completely armored ship the Coast Guard yet have encountered in rum warfare on the lakes. It was covered with five-eighths inch steel plates in all vulnerable parts.

HEAVY SENTENCE IS IMPOSED BY MR. JUSTICE LOGIE

Judge Points Out Man Might Easily Be Found Guilty of Manslaughter.

APPEALS FOR CLEMENCY.

Character Evidence is Submitted By Residents of Campbellford and Belleville.

(Special to The Examiner.)

Belleville, March 7. — Fred Ingram, aged 20, who was found guilty yesterday by the petit jury at the Spring Assizes here, of causing grievous bodily injuries to the late Albert Tearne, was sentenced by Hon. Justice Logie his morning to serve one year in the common jail of the County of Hastings.

Severe Sentence Necessary

In sentencing the accused who is a well known young man of the district, and a star hockey player with the Stirling team of the Trent Valley League, His Lordship declared that the defence counsel had put up a very able defence for his client but the jury having found him guilty he felt that the only way the ends of justice could be served would be with a heavy sentence. Addressing Ingram he said: "Although the charge is a minor one, compared to the more serious charge of manslaughter, yet in reality, you did commit manslaughter. That man was as much entitled to live as you are. He leaves a wife and family, which he deserved as much as any other man. Usually there is too little thought given to the wife and family by the jury and the defence counsel. There is at present a great outcry against the crime of motor manslaughter, but it is extremely difficult to get a jury which will convict a man of this charge. I feel that it would be a mistake if I sent you to the penitentiary. So the sentence of this court shall be that you serve one year in the common jail."

C. A. Payne, counsel for the accused man, made a strong appeal for clemency before sentence was passed, stressing the fact that this was the first time Ingram had ever been in trouble and that the jury which acquitted him on the manslaughter indictment, had also brought in a strong recommendation for mercy. Following the sentence, which was a surprise to almost

RED FLAG WAVES IN WINDSOR PARK

Police Commissioners and Councillors Disagree—Agitators Make Speeches.

OFFICERS DO NOTHING.

WINDSOR, March 7. (C.P.) — Because the Windsor Police Commissioners rejected a plea made by two members of the City Council, the Red Flag of Soviet Russia was not only raised in the city hall park but continued to wave without police interference for more than an hour while foreign born agitators made inflammatory speeches to a crowd of several hundred people, the great majority of whom were merely spectators.

During the meeting speakers denounced both the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes, and pointed to the Red Flag as their banner.

Several members of the police force were on hand and others on special duty watched from a police station, a little more than a stone's throw distant, but under orders were unable to take any action.

15 MEMBERS OF PETERBORO LODGE PRESENTED WITH VETERAN'S JEWEL

Oddfellows Lodge Room Filled to Capacity For Important Ceremony.

NOTABLE ADDRESS.

A bright spot was touched in the lives of fifteen members of Peterborough Lodge No. 111, Independent Order of Oddfellows, when their long membership of twenty-five years in the lodge was duly recognized last night by the presentation to them of "Veteran Jewels."

The lodge room was packed to capacity with the brethren anxious to do them honor on this occasion, together with a large number of visitors.

At the conclusion of the regular lodge business, a degree team, composed entirely of Past Grands of the lodge, took their several stations and proceeded to exemplify the work of the Initiatory degree on a class of candidates, the work being carried through in a manner that received the hearty plaudits of all present and reflected credit on Degree Captain W. E. Curry, N.P.

Bro. the Hon. G. N. Gordon addressed the members on the origin of Oddfellowship, the address being well received, after which he called the several veterans present to the front, when their decorations were pinned on, accompanied by the applause of the members.

The music for the degree was furnished by the splendid lodge orchestra composed of six pieces, and was much appreciated by all.

Adjournment was then made to the dining room, where a committee from Golden Link Lodge No. 81, Daughters of Rebekah, with Mrs. Martha Watts as convenor, provided a splendid hot dinner, which was thoroughly enjoyed, after which an interesting program was presented, with Noble Grand T. P. McMillan as chairman, and Brother Joseph Wearing of Otonabee Lodge No. 13 as the principal speaker of the evening.

HOMUTH OPENS BITTER ATTACK ON INSURANCE COMPANY FOR ITS ILLEGAL SPECULATION IN STOCKS

Too Much Money is Being Spent and No Taxes Cut Declares S. C. Tweed.

BITTER SESSION.

Slack Denounces Gov't Road Building Plans—Pace Too Fast.

TORONTO, March 7 (C.P.). — In one of the bitterest episodes witnessed in the Legislature this session, K. K. Homuth (Cons., South Waterloo) yesterday charged that the Ontario Equitable Life and Accident Insurance Company of Waterloo, of which S. C. Tweed (Lib., North Waterloo) is president and general manager, had speculated illegally in stocks and bonds in 1928. The transactions were made, he declared, in the hope of a quick profit in the market, and at a time when the Legislature was considering the passing of an Act which would widen the investing powers of insurance companies to permit speculation of that type.

Tweed Made Attack.

Mr. Homuth charged that, notwithstanding these transactions by his company, Mr. Tweed, immediately after the last Provincial election, had made a concerted attack against Attorney-General W. H. Price for his general administration of the Security Frauds Prevention Act, which prohibited illegal transactions on the part of brokers.

Just before Mr. Homuth spoke, the House heard Mr. Tweed climax his attack on the budget of Hon. Dr. J. D. Monteith, by moving an amendment to the motion to go into supply. The amendment "condemns the failure of the Government to relieve the municipal taxpayers from their forty per cent. contribution to the Government's share of old age pensions, notwithstanding the increasing revenues of the Province."

The member for South Waterloo suggested that it was possible that the insurance company headed by Mr. Tweed had lost money in further speculating in 1920 and it was to cover this that the member for North Waterloo attacked Col. Price and his administration of the Security Act. Mr. Homuth charged that the company had sold short on the stock of the Steel Company of Canada.

Mr. Tweed in moving his amendment condemning the Government reviewed the whole financial situation in Ontario declaring that Ontario is over-taxed and that the debt is advancing at an alarming rate. It was his first speech as chief financial critic for the Liberal party.

Denounces Highway Policy.

T. K. Slack, Prog., Dufferin, was the third member to take part in the budget address yesterday. He denounced the government's highway policy.

T. K. Slack lamented the personalities flung across the chamber. They reflected credit neither on the house

Colored Pastor is Sent Klan Warning

Toronto, March 7. (C.P.) — Rev. John McNeil, minister of the First Baptist church here, has received a message purporting to be from the Ku Klux Klan, warning him to cease his activities against the hooded order or he would be visited by the Klan and "effectively silenced."

"My name is McNeil, not Johnston," said Dr. McNeil, when asked if he intended to heed the Klan's warning. As soon as the call was received, Dr. McNeil asked the police department for protection.

The Baptist Minister spoke feelingly against the Klan at a mass meeting of negroes in the church last Tuesday night when a resolution of protest was passed against the Klan's action in separating Ira Johnston from his white sweetheart at Oakville last week-end.

RED GATHERINGS FAIL IN TORONTO

Police Break Up Throngs Milling in Front of City Hall.

ELEVEN ARRESTED.

TORONTO, Ont., March 7. (Canadian Press). — Although several thousand persons, most of them unemployed, gathered about the city hall yesterday afternoon in expectation of seeing some excitement when Communists attempted to hold their protest meeting, they were disappointed owing to the prompt action of the police in dispersing the throng and breaking up attempts by Red leaders to address the crowd.

At one time an ugly situation arose when some of those in the crowd took exception to orders from several plainclothesmen to "keep moving." They milled threateningly around the officers, but the arrival of police reserves from the city hall averted possible disorders.

Police detained 11 persons, who were allowed to go to their homes after qeustioning. No one was injured during the milling about and as none of the Red speakers succeeded in haranguing the throng, their protest meeting "against unemployment and the forces of reaction" proved a dismal failure.

It is thought probable tat the woman swallowed a tiny viper while drinking water from a mountain spring, and that the reptile is steadily growing.

HODGINS OPPOSES COMPULSORY CAR INSURANCE PLAN

Royal Commissioner Favors Financial or Safety Responsibility Law.

SUGGESTS CHANGES.

Scheme Would Leave Motorist Alone Until Highway Traffic Act is Violated.

TORONTO, Ont., March 7 (Canadian Press). — In a 200-page interim report submitted to the Government yesterday by Mr. Justice F. E. Hodgins, of the Supreme Court of Ontario, it is recommended that no compulsory insurance scheme for motorists be adopted. Enactment of a so-called financial or safety responsibility law which would include some element of compulsory insurance but would not compel a motorist to take out insurance until convicted of a serious violation of the Highway Traffic Act or the Criminal Code until he had figured in some accident in which personal injury had been inflicted, was recommended.

Months of Study.

The report is a result of months of study of the whole automobile insurance rates situation. During that time Mr. Justice Hodgins as a Royal Commissioner travelled all over Canada, United States, and in some European countries. Study was made of the different insurance laws and evidence was taken from over 61 witnesses in scattered centres.

The main report embodying all his recommendations, will not be presented for some months. It was recommended in the interim report, however, that as quickly as possible certain changes in the insurance laws of Ontario be made.

In the report the Commissioner stated: "I want to make it clear throughout my report in dealing with compulsory insurance and safety responsibility laws that on this continent there is only one question to be considered when it is determined to deal with greater safety and compensation for injuries and that is, whether the earlier plan of Massachusetts adopted for requiring compusory insurance or security from all motorists, and irrespective or their driving record, is better than the later ones, fifteen states (including New York and Connecticut) which introduce the plan gradually and in such a way as to deal fairly and reasonable both with those who are careful, and those who are not, and which are linked up with provisions dealing with care and consideration for others, as well as financial responsibility for injuries caused by breach of the traffic or criminal laws."

Difference in Systems

The fundamental difference between the two systems, compulsory and safety responsibility laws, was stated in the following words: "That while the earliest compulsory insurance law required all to insure on a certain day, the safeety resonsibility laws leave a motorist alone until he has been convicted of a serious violation of the Highway Traffic Law or Criminal Law, or has caused serious or substantial injury through motor accident. They then require security against future casualties and, as a further condition of the restoration of his license, that he shall pay the damages caused by the accident which has brought him within the scope of the legislation."

"This difference makes the safety responsibility law more logical, more acceptable, more workable, and less oppressive, and has the great merit of only affecting motorists who have themselves demonstrated that they are careless or reckless. Thus, this vast majority of careful drivers are untouched by the laws and can remain outside it as long as they do not bring themselves within it."

MISS MACPHAIL'S MOTION ON PEACE MEETS CRITICISM

Urges Setting Aside One Dollar For Every Hundred Dollars in War Preparation.

KING LIKES PRINCIPLE.

T. L. Church Claims a Baseball Team in the National League Be Better.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 7 (C.P.) — Miss Agnes Macphail, the only woman in the House of Commons, precipitated a long and at times, lively debate yesterday.

Her motion embodying the proposal that for every hundred dollars spent on war preparation Canada should spend one dollar on the promotion of peace, found criticism, as well as support, during several hours of debate.

Establish Scholarships

Miss Macphail's ideal, as embodied in the resolution, was to spend the money for the promotion of peace in setting up a chair of international relations, and by establishing scholarships in each Canadian University. Her motion was sent finally to the committee on industrial and international relations without a vote.

From the Government benches came the criticism, which Miss Macphail had anticipated, that the proposal constituted an infringement of the constitutional rights of the Provinces.

Education, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, pointed out, came within the Provincial jurisdiction. Even though the Dominion might be favorably inclined, the constitution must be respected.

This expression of view was reechoed by Prime Minister Mackenzie King. It was not within the province of the Federal Government to establish either scholarships or university chairs. Neither international ner internal relations would benefit from such an effort.

"Canada would do more to restore national confidence by having a team in the National Baseball League than by sending wornout politicians to the League of Nations," T. L. Church, Conservative member for Northwest Toronto, asserted, in criticising the motion. The people of Canada, he felt, were tired of the annual pilgrimage of Cabinet Ministers to Geneva. A better name than the League of Nations would be "The League of Humbug," he thought.

Toward the close of the debate, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative Leader, pointed to the necessity for supremacy of law. Law for the securing of peace would be based on an enlightened viewpoint, and this could best be induced by education. Until charges were made in the constitution, he could not see that there could be much improvement in present methods, however.

King in Agreement

While he was in entire agreement with the individual proposition enunciated in the resolution, Premier Mackenzie King said he could not endorse their combined effect. He was in favor of spending money on the promotion of peace and also of international scholarships and chairs of international relations.

Scholarships should be founded either by individuals or by the Provincial Governments, since the latter had control of education. It would not be good for international relations or internal relations if the Dominion Government were to step into this field.

Conflicting views might be held by Provincial and Dominion Governments on some of the subjects to be taught, such as the tariff.

Henri Bourassa (Independent, Labelle) sympathized with the purposes of Miss Macphail, but cautioned against confusing issues. He agreed that an enlightened public opinion was necessary, and cited the Great War as one that could have been

MYSTERY SHIPS ARE DESCRIBED

GOVERNOR GENERAL THERE.

TORONTO, Ont., March 7. (Canadian Press).—Honored by the presence of His Excellency, Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada, the Ontario division of the Navy League of Canada held its annual memorial dinner last night.

Rear Admiral Gordon Campbell, V.C., was the principal speaker. He delivered a comprehensive outline of the activities engaged in during the great war of the much talked about "Mystery Ships."

There were 180 of them, he said, and these were fitted out and special means used to conceal their identity. Most of them were ordinary steamers and they were equipped similar to the average liner or merchant ship. One method used in camouflaging the ships was to have 30 men, dressed to the waist as girls, promenade the deck. Guns were hidden at strategetic points, while a hen coop was used occasionally to hide a quick-firing gun.

The name of the ship was changed periodically and its outward appearance altered on each voyage he said.

COOKE CLASHES WITH NEWMAN

Government Refuses to Fix Maximum Rural Charge.

BILL PASSES HOUSE.

TORONTO, March 7.—The Ontario Government's two power bills were brought before the House in Committee last night when another vigorous debate in which the Opposition members clashed with Hydro Commissioner John R. Cooke, engaged attention for two hours.

The bill bonusing the rural Hydro users was passed but not until after lengthy argument from the Opposition that the Government should say in the bill that the maximum service charge will be $2.50. The Government refused to insert this figure and the section was carried empowering the Government to fix the charge.

Providing loans to farmers, bill number two was laid over for further consideration after involved discussion of the clause to which the Opposition objected on second reading. The clause the Opposition argued, would give the Hydro priority over other liens against farmers.

During the discussion of the first bill Hon. Mr. Cooke declared that it was entirely new legislation and pleaded for a year's trial.

A verbal battle developed when William Newman (Liberal, North Victoria) offered some statements in the debate. Mr. Cooke objected to Mr. Newman's remarks and said, "It is pretty hard to follow the peculiar mentality of the Hon. Member."

Mr. Newman deeply resented the words and told the Hydro Minister so. "At all times," he said—and he would leave it to the House—he had been "entirely fair" with the Government in his discussions of problems affecting the Province."

WATER LEVELS RAISE IN LAKES

All Four of Great Lakes Higher Than Average For February Since 1860.

February water levels of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence river are given in the report as follows:

Lake Superior at Port Arthur averaged 1 inch lower than January; 3¼ inches lower than February 1929; and 3 inches higher than the average level of February since 1860.

Lake Huron, at Goderich average 1 inch lower than January; the same as for February 1929; and ½ inch higher than the average level of February since 1860.

Lake Erie at Port Colborne averaged 4 inches lower than January; 14 inches higher than February 1929; and 14 inches higher than the average level of February since 1860.

Lake Ontario at Kingston averaged 1¾ inches higher than January; 14½ inches higher than February 1929; and 19 inches higher than the average level of February since 1810.

St. Lawrence river, at Montreal harbor averaged 2 feet 11 inches lower than January; 4 feet 7 inches lower than February 1929; and 1 feet 5 inches lower than the average level of February since 1860.

FRED FIELDS INTERESTED.

The Norwood Flour and Feed Mills, owned and operated for many years by Messrs. C. E. Packenham and Son, are, it is understood, to be taken over shortly by an American concern, The Field Lodge Farms and Milling Company, Limited, who are contemplating large extensions to the plant by installing machinery for the mixing of high-grade dairy, beef cattle, hog and poultry rations.

They will also cover the neighboring territory in gathering all kinds of produce with trucks and for the purpose of storing and shipping this farm produce will erect a cold storage plant with a capacity of ten cars.

Other activities of the new company will include the manufacture of high quality sausage for hotels, restaurants, etc., and the erection of a smoking plant large enough to take care of one carload of hogs each week.

The company, of which F. Field, owner of the well-known Field Lodge Farms, Rice Lake, is the chief promoter, is an American corporation, financed with American capital.

The plant superintendent from Cleveland is expected to arrive shortly to look after the alterations and the installation of the necessary machinery.

Canada Cement Company Face Damage Actions for $20,000

LAKEFIELD RESIDENTS START ACTION AGAINST COMPANY

Claims Are Based on Alleged Property and Personal Damages.

SEEK INJUNCTION

Six law suits of which the claims will total $20,000 have been launched by resident of Lakefield against the Canada Cement Company for alleged damages, both personal and property, caused by dust, cement, smoke and soot from the Cement Company's plant. The cases will come up in the Supreme Court sitting in April unless settlement is made in the meantime.

Gordon and Elliott of Peterborough are acting for the plaintiffs and Peck, Kerr and McElderry for the defendant, the Canada Cement Company in each of the cases.

Statement of Claim

One of the statements of claim reads in part:

"The plaintiffs house has been erected for several years and before the erection of the present cement mill of the defendant company, and concrete dust, coal dust, and soot and smoke are emitted from the plant of the defendant into the air which settles upon the premises of the plaintiff and upon the house before mentioned.

"The dust, cement smoke and soot is carried by the prevailing winds and in the air generally upon the house and enters the doors and windows and by reason of chemical properties contained in the cement dust, smoke and soot, the paint and finish upon the house are destroyed and the contents of the house damaged. The plaintiff has found it impossible to prevent the entrance of such cement, dust, smoke and soot upon and into the house.

The claim is made that the Cement Company has been guilty of negligence causing loss to the plaintiffs and that the defendant "owes a duty to the plaintiff to keep confined upon its premises the said cement, dust, smoke and soot and to prevent the same from escaping or being emitted upon the plaintiffs premises".

The plaintiff in the one case claims that solely through the defendants negligence his property has been damaged and impaired in value and has been made untenantable.

Personal Injuries Alleged

Personal injuries are alleged by the claim as follows: "The plaintiff has suffered impaired health and vitality as a result of the defendant permitting its cement, smoke, soot and gasses to be emitted from its plant as before set forth and has suffered serious inconvenience as a result of her health being so affected and has been caused damage as a result thereof." This is typical of the allegations in the suits.

The plaintiffs are asking for an injunction to prevent further damage and are seeking various large sums as damages and costs of action.

It is understood that one of the persons named as a plaintiff claims that particles of cement lodged in the tear dust of an eye and solidified into cement.

Manufacturing Center

In defense the Canada Cement Company contends that the plaintiffs were aware of the conditions that might arise when they took their residence in proximity to the cement plant and that the region in which the cement plant is located in Lakefield has become a manufacturing center of the village. It is also claimed that the operations of the cement plant have enhanced the value of nearby property and that the plaintiffs having formerly consented to the operation of the cement plant on the premises now used and operated by the defendant company and its predecessors in title for many years are now prevented from making any claim for damages or injunction by reason of delay.

ORDERLY PARADE.

WINDSOR, Ont., March 6. — About one thousand men gathered in Lanspeary Park this afternoon for the scheduled demonstration by unemployed. The gathering was orderly, and following some short addresses a parade was formed to march to the City Hall. George Wanden, who has been a leader of the various activities here, and who came from Toronto some time ago, was the chief speaker. He protested vigorously that the city had given employment to some men just to spoil the demonstration of to-day.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, March 7. — Wheat prices swung lightly back and forth in a nervous market yesterday, but managed to record fractional gains for the day. At te close values were ⅛c to ⅞c higher, influenced by reports that the United States Farm Board would have an important statement to make at the close of trading on the Chicago market.

Two cents down at bottom levels, wheat shot up about 4 cents an hour from the final gong, but could not retain all this gain.

Demand for cash wheat was fairly good, and spreads remained unchanged to ⅛c better than previous closing differences. A small cash export business was reported done overnight. Closely following the trend of wheat, coarse grains showed fractional gains at the close.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 7.—Anticipating that Farm Board announcements from Washington late yesterday would prove bullish, many traders switched to the buying side of the wheat market to-day. Early setbacks in wheat prices were thus more than overcome, and quotations beforehand discounted to some degree at least. Chairman Legge's statement after the close that Farm Board auxiliary organizations would remove from the market whatever quantity of wheat was necessary to prevent any considerable decline in prices. Late upturns of wheat values also were helped by purchase of hard winter wheat here that suggested export business.

Wheat closed unsettled 3-8c a bushel higher than Wednesday's finish. Corn closed 1-4c to 1-8c down; oats at a shade decline to 1-4c gain, and provisions showing 5-15c. drop.

FORMER C.N. RY. AGENT PRAISES IT

"There's something about Sargon that just seems meant to build up a weakened, rundown system like mine was. I don't feel like I am 82 years old by any means, and this medicine has given me a lot to be thankful for.

WM. H. TWOHY.

"My health failed me five years ago and I seemed to grow weaker all the time. My nerves gave way on me, I didn't have much appetite, my food disagreed with me and I was low in both strength and vitality. Every day that I took Sargon I grew stronger and better. Now my appetite is back, the indigestion is gone and I haven't felt so well and strong in years. Sargon Pills overcame my constipation and my liver is working as good as it ever did."—Wm. H. Twohy, 196 McNab St. N., Hamilton, former Canadian Nat'l Ry. Agent.

WEDDING BELLS

DAVIS—DUNFORD.

LAKEFIELD, March 7 (Examiner Correspondence). — A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, March 5, at 1 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dunford, Douro, when their younger daughter, Olive Violetta, was united in marriage to Allen Warren Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Davis of Smith. Rev. S. A. Kemp officiated. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming gown of independent blue georgette, with eggshell trimming and touches of lace. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Alfred Bolton, who wore a dainty frock of shell pink silk with trimming of white. Mr. Alfred Bolton attended the groom.

Following the marriage the guests, who numbered about twenty, sat down to luncheon, the table and reception rooms being decorated in pink and white. The Misses Bolton, cousins of the bride, assisted in serving. A honeymoon of two weeks' duration will be spent visiting friends in the vicinity, the bride went away in a pretty monette blue gown of crepe de chine, brown coat with moleskin trimmng, hat, shoes, and hose to match. On their return they will reside in Smith.

The groom's gift to the bride was a green pendant on a fine gold chain, to the matron of honor he gave a string of pearls, and to the best man cuff links. Mr. and Mrs. Davis have the best wishes of a wide circle of friends.

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

Much Business Discussed at Meeting of Havelock Women's Institute.

REPORTS READ

HAVELOCK, March 7.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The regular meeting of Havelock Women's Institute was held in the Town Hall on Monday afternoon, March 3. The president, Mrs. Hubel, occupied the chair. The meeting opened with singing the Institute Ode and the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. The roll call was hints to lighten housecleaning, and only two responded. This seemed rather strange in view of the fact that a large number of members were present. Minutes of previous regular meeting and two specials were read and approved. A communication from Mrs. Miller, of Warsaw, regarding reports of standing committees was read and filed. A letter from the secretary of Continuation School Literary Society acknowledging receipt of cheque for forty dollars, a donation to school piano, and expressing thanks for the same, and an offer of the assistance of the pupils in programs if desired was read and filed. Mrs. Hoffman was appointed convenor on education on motion of Mrs. Bedford, seconded by Mrs. Armstrong.

Veterans' Banquet.

At this time the president took occasion to thank all the ladies who had given so generously of their time in preparing for and serving the banquet at the veterans' night in the Town Hall. A letter will be sent to the Recreation Club thanking the members for their assistance in preparing for the banquet, and one to Mrs. Lancaster, who is not a member of the Institute, but who also helped in the work of preparation. The bills incidental to the banquet were ordered paid. When these are settled there will be about $70 clear.

The committee appointed to see about repairs to the memorial gate reported that it will probably cost $150 to do the necessary repairs satisfactorily. On motion it was decided to leave the matter over and see what action the Township and Village Councils intend to take in the matter.

The Institute has now the reputation of catering most satisfactorily at outside social affairs, and committees were appointed to look after anything in that line that might present itself before next regular meeting.

The business being concluded, Mrs. Holcombe, convenor, took the chair, and a splendid program was enjoyed by all present. The first number was a paper by Mrs. (Rev.) P. C. Howard, the title of which is, "Do Parents Know Their Children?" A paper on the Institute Ode, by Mrs. Breckenridge, and one on historical research, by Mrs. C. Dewey, were also much enjoyed. Mrs. (Rev.) Lennox gave a demonstration of making real Scotch shortbread and distributed samples of the same. They were most delicious and members present took advantage of the occasion to procure the receipe of the same.

FRIDAY, MARCH 7, 1930

NOT A SERIOUS MATTER.

The point has been raised by Mr. Sinclair that the dignity of the Legislature will suffer because several members of the Provincial House provided bail for some of the stock-brokers awaiting trial on charges of conspiracy.

The public is not likely to get very much excited over the charge.

It is a fundamental principle of British law that a person is considered innocent until his guilt has been established, so that members of the Legislature who went to the assistance of friends in distress do not deserve very severe censure for showing kindness of heart.

After all they have merely displayed their confidence in those friends by risking large sums of money that they will appear for trial when called upon, which the people of Ontario are not liable to regard as a very serious matter.

If members of the Legislature are guilty of no more grave demeanor than supplying bail in cases of this kind, the Province deserves to be congratulated upon the high standard reached by its provincial law-makers.

The fact that members of the Legislature were their bondsmen will not affect in any way the trial of the defendants, and that is the only thing that the public should be concerned with.

GREATER PRODUCTION DESIRED.

Confirmation of the warning issued by Gordon S. Matthews in addressing a gathering of district farmers last week has been furnished by Mr. Pearsall, hog-grading official for the Dominion Government, who on Wednesday gave the agricultural committee of the Ontario Legislature a disturbing picture of conditions in the Canadian hog-raising industry and in agriculture generally.

Coming from such an impartial source, Mr. Pearsall's remarks should do much to arouse Ontario farmers to the seriousness of the situation.

"Our farmers," said the official, "have got to get down to business, not only in the hog line, but in other lines as well, and show that they can compete with other countries of the world in the production of agricultural commodities."

The production of pork in Ontario has fallen off to such a degree—150,000 fewer hogs were raised last year than in 1928—that there is not enough to take care of the Province's own domestic requirements, and car-load after car-load of United States pork is being shipped into Ontario and sold here.

We have long been complaining of the unnecessary importation of American manufactured goods, and when these imports of articles that could and should be made in our own country are augmented by heavy imports of agricultural products that could and should be raised here, the situation surely calls for attention and action.

NOT NEEDED IN THIS COUNTRY.

Officials of the Ku Klux Klan, defending the action of members of the body at Oakville and boasting that Senators and members of the Commons are included in its ranks, says that the organization is necessary to "protect the interests of the Anglo-Saxon Protestant people," and that it proposes, "as the knights of old, to march forward under the banner of Christ in the fight against foreign domination, crooked politicians, criminals, bootleggers, white slavery, libertines, home-wreckers, girl-ruiners and all such people."

Neither the fact that prominent Canadians may be members of the order nor the worthiness of the crusade the Klan mentions should be allowed to becloud the real issue, which is simply that this country cannot afford to allow any secret society to take upon its shoulders the administration of law and justice.

The danger of so doing is surely apparent to every intelligent Canadian.

Once let an organization of this type take hold of the situation, there is no way of telling where the thing will stop, for a taste of power gained in dealing with an undesirable condition will inevitably lead to the use of that power in interfering with the legitimate rights of citizens.

That has been the experience of the United States where the hooded Klan originated, and there is no reason to believe that the results here would be any improvement.

There is no need in this country of any such organization, and its leaders, whenever they attempt to take the law into their own hands, as was the case at Oakville, should be told so by the authorities in language that they cannot fail to understand.

A BIG INDUSTRY.

A short time ago some one created a momentary stir by charging that Canada was putting too much stress upon the tourist traffic and suggesting that instead Canadians should strive to build up this country industrially.

Off-hand, there is no apparent reason why both these policies cannot be implemented.

In any event Canadians would be reluctant to abandon a field that offers such abundant returns as does the tourist industry, which has become one of the greatest sources of wealth this country has known.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics in a report just issued estimates that the revenue derived from the tourist traffic entering Canada last year was three hundred million dollars.

That figure, remember, is not a quotation from a real estate prospectus or some over-enthusiast tourist propaganda agency, but is the studied estimate of a Federal department whose business it is to collect accurate statistics for the public benefit.

Three hundred million dollars is a lot of money.

It is only slightly less than the value of the whole Canadian wheat crop or the revenue of the pulp and paper industry, and it is more than the total receipts of either the Canadian National or the Canadian Pacific Railways.

And the increase shown in one year makes the figure more notable, inasmuch as the total jumped to its three hundred million mark from a total of one hundred and sixty-seven millions the previous year.

Canadians would indeed be short-sighted if they failed to take every measure to promote an industry that puts such huge sums into circulation in this country every year.

AN AMERICAN VIEW.

(Detroit Free Press)

The Prime Minister of Canada has given notice of his intention to introduce in the Commons a bill to amend the Canadian Export Act. The nature of the bill was not disclosed in the notice of motion; but the politically well informed in Ottawa surmise that this is the long promised Government measure to stop the practice of issuing clearances to liquor destined for the United States.

This step was proposed by the American delegates to the last Liquor conference in Ottawa and has been urged upon the Government by many different elements in Canada itself. At the Liberal caucus last week it was discussed, with considerable vehemence, according to report. The fact that Mr. Mackenzie King is about to introduce it in Parliament in the form of an amendment to the Export Act indicates that the Government has overcome opposition to abolishing liquor clearances among its own followers. As there is not a little Conservative sentiment in favor of this step, a measure to effect it ought to meet with no serious obstacle in the road to enactment.

The denial of clearances of liquor for export to the United States would be a gracious and neighborly act on Canada's part, all the more so because it would be purely gratuitous. We can't ask other countries to help us to enforce our domestic legislation. When they do so voluntarily we should be ungrateful if we did not appreciate the significance of the gesture. Canada embarked upon her own noble experiment; and when it had proved a failure, as she saw it, she reverted to the sale of intoxicants under various forms of Government control, adapted to the needs of the individual Provinces. She did not ask the United States to amend its laws to help her enforce hers. She got out of her own mess. We seem to have started something that we can't finish, without our neighbor's assistance; indeed even with that assistance, we shall not be able to finish it unless a new national opinion is born in this country.

THE USED CARS.

A citizen was discussing the used car business yesterday. He couldn't see why there should be any appeal to the Tariff Board to prevent the bringing of used cars from across the line for sale here at a low price. He believed it would be the means of allowing many a person to have some sort of a car who could not at present afford one at all.

That's one way of looking at it. Here's another:

Forget the car dealers for the moment and consider only the owners of cars, and it must be admitted they form a considerable portion of the population. Nearly all the people who drive are in possession of used cars because cars go into the used car class after being driven a very short time.

Each one of these car owners, then, owns something that he expects to trade in some day on a better car. If he's going to keep on driving he is going to be forced to do it.

When the day comes for him to drive his car to the dealer he wants to get the last dollar in trade-in value, and no one blames him for that. If the market is to be flooded with cars (used cars) from United States it is going to knock down the price of every car on the road. The man who goes to trade in his car will be told it is not wanted; that there are so many used cars on the market now that there would be no chance to dispose of his unless he were prepared to just about give it away.

That makes the importation case seem a little different because it affects every car owner in the country, and it does not take into consideration the welfare of the dealer at all.

* * * *

Take the other side, and see how it would affect the dealer in cars. His is a legitimate business. Live dealers are the people who keep the automobile factories in operation. If they can keep themselves in good financial standing, they can do much better for a purchaser of a car than if they are in a doubtful position.

Dealers inform us that there are a great many used cars in the market now. One place in Toronto was mentioned where a huge building had over a thousand stored there all winter. Local dealers have a number now, right at the start of the season, and they have to move carefully to make certain they do not get too many dead cars on their hands. If they do, it is only a short time until they are going to be put out of business.

Opinion seemed to vary a little on how many used cars had to be handled for each new car sold. Averaging the estimates, we would say it would run between four and five cars against each new one. The man who gets the new car turns in his used one; that used car is traded again for one of lesser value, and so on until the deal has disposed of all the trade-ins that are necessary to be free of a used car at all. Many of the cars that come on toward the end of the line, we are informed, are simply turned over to the wreckers.

We can see no reason at all why United States should be allowed to solve its used car problem by transferring any part of it to this country. There is nothing to prevent an individual going to the States, buying a used car there, paying the existing rate of duty and bringing it home. That is entirely different from a system of cluttering up the market here with used cars from U. S. in a big way.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

There is no end apparently to broadcasting troubles. Now we have Mr. Sinclair threatening to use the radio again.

A member of the Legislature complains that there are too many professional men on the agricultural committee. So long as the people, however, continue to elect doctors and lawyers they'll have to be given some work to do.

The Ku Klux Klan doesn't like the editorials most Ontario papers have published in regard to the Oakville incident. The press of the Province has been unanimous in pointing out that the Klan movement is founded on a false principle.

The contention of the Globe that the question of justice for Canada's veterans should not be made a political issue will be supported by most Canadians.

The Literary Digest is conducting a nation-wide poll on the prohibition question, during which 20,000,000 American citizens will be asked to express their views. The result should be an accurate summary of American opinion on this vexatious problem.

If the Federal Government keeps passing the buck to the Provinces and the provincial administrations in turn continue to shift the burden to the municipalities, city and county councils will soon be carrying on the whole business of governing the country.

The simple life is good enough—if you could only make a living at it.—Terre Haute Tribune.

What To-day Means To You

"PISCES."

If March 7th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., and from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from noon to 1 p.m., and from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

In most respects this is forecast to be a "lucky" day. Human relationship will be helpful and harmonious in nature—friends will be real friends, and associates will boost. Anything new brought before the public eye will be favorably received.

The child born on this March 7th will have a love for luxury, and will have high aspirations. It will be extremely proud, and if given a chance, will become vain. It will have a quick temper, without malice—a flash in the pan and all will be over.

You are found to be an overwhelmingly competent person—you are indelibly stamped "capable." You possess the clear hard brilliance of a diamond, your intellectuality is cold. You are shrewd, clever, efficient, but it is the efficiency of a machine—your head seldom lets your hear intervene. You have dignity, poise and great assurance, but you lack both magnetism and charm. Somebody, something, must awaken your soul before you begin to really live, and before you can love or be loved. As yet you are very much admired and respected, but there is not sufficient warmth to your nature to draw people to you.

You are ultra modern in your ideas, and you have little respect for customs and traditions. You like to be a law unto yourself. You have your own codes of living by which you are guided. It can probably be said that you live hard. You put a great deal of force and energy into everything that you do. You have every extravagant tastes and you are only suited with the best. You are not broadly sympathetic, but will fight "tooth and nail" for your own kith and kin. You will have very few intimate friends, and there is probably no one who enjoys your full confidence.

THE GREENE MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

THE Story thus far:

Philo Vance, with a hobby for solving mysteries, becomes interested in the Greene murders when District Attorney John X. F. Markham and Sergeant Ernest Heath, of the Homicide Bureau, are called in after the fatal shooting of Julia Greene and the wounding of her younger sister, Ada. Old Tobias Greene had been dead about twelve years, and left his fortune to his widow, a helpless paralytic, on the stipulation that she occupy the old Greene mansion with five children, Julia, Chester, Sibella, Rex and Ada, an adopted daughter, for twenty-five years. Dr. Von Blon, the Greene family physician, phoned headquarters about midnight, and Heath responded, finding the two women, one dead and the other unconscious—both shot. Snow had fallen during the early night and a set of footprints besides Dr. Von Blon's led to and from the front door of the Greene mansion. Vance had questioned Chester Greene, the servants, old Mrs. Greene, as well as Sibella and Ada. The latter, says that she woke in the dark, and although she heard nothing, felt a presence in her room, and when she rose encountered an uncanny hand, and then a shot which wounded her. Later Chester Greene is found shot dead seated in a chair in his room, with a look of consternation and horror on his face. Again footprints are found to and from the entrance door of the mansion, and investigation shows that the prints fit a pair of high arctics thrown carelessly under a bookshelf in Chester's room. An interview of the family and servants reveals nothing except that the cook has had some former personal relation with old Tobias Greene. Markham and Vance are baffled. Vance is convinced that some member of the family is at the bottom of it, but there is not a clue to follow. He cultivates the acquaintance of Sibella and Ada and they drive with Dr. Von Blon to a spot overlooking the Hudson. Sibella suggests it as a good place for a murder and Ada is upset by the flippant remark. Ada comes to Markham's office and informs him that Rex Greene knows something he has not told. Markham determines to find out what he knows and Ada over the phone asks him to come to the office, telling him to bring something that she has found. Five minutes later the word comes that Rex has been shot in his bedroom.

CHAPTER 19.

(Tuesday, November 30, Noon.)

Markham had considerably difficulty in persuading Ada to accompany us. The girl seemed almost in a panic of fright. Moreover, she held herself directly responsible for Rex's death. But at last she permitted us to lead her down to the car.

Heath had already telephoned to the Homicide Bureau, and his arrangements for the investigation were complete when we started up Center street. At police headquarters Snitkin and another central office man named Burke, were waiting for us, and crowded into the tonneau of Markham's car. We made excellent time to the Greene mansion, arriving there in less than twenty minutes.

A plain-clothes man lounged against the iron railing at the end of the street a few yards beyond the gate of the Greene grounds, and at a sign from Heath came forward at once.

"What about it, Santos?" the sergeant demanded gruffly. "Who's been in and out of here this morning?"

"What's the big idea?" the man reported indignantly. "That old bimbo of a butler came out about 9 and returned in less than half an hour with a package. Said he'd been to 3d avenue to get some dog biscuits. The family sawbone drove up at quarter past 10—that's his car across the street." He pointed to Von Blon's Daimler, which was parked diagonally opposite. "He's still inside. Then about ten minutes after the Doc arrived this young lady"—he indicated Ada—"came out and walked toward Avenue A, where she hopped a taxi. And that's every man, woman, or child that passed in or out of these gates since I relieved Cameron at 8 o'clock this morning."

"And Cameron's report?"

"Nobody all night."

"Well, some one got in some way," growled Heath. "Run along the west wall there and tell Donnelly to come here pronto."

Santos disappeared through the gate, and a moment later we could see him hurrying through the side yard toward the garage. In a few minutes Donnelly—the man set to watch the postern gate—came hurrying up.

"Who got in the back way this morning?" barked Heath.

"Nobody, sergeant. The cook went marketing about 10 o'clock, and two regular deliverymen left packages. That's every one who's been through the rear gate since yesterday."

"Is that so!" Heath was viciously sarcastic.

"I'm telling you—"

"Oh, all right, all right." The sergeant turned to Burke. "You get up on this wall and make the rounds. See if you can find where any one has climbed over.—And you, Snitkin, look over the yard for footprints. When you guys finish, report to me. I'm going inside."

We went up the front walk, which had been swept clean, and Sproot admitted us to the house. His face was as blank as ever, and he took our coats with his usual obsequious formality.

"You'd better go to your room now, Miss Greene," said Markham, placing his hand kindly on Ada's arm. "Lie down, and try to get a little rest. You look tired. I'll be in to see you before I go."

The girl obeyed submissively without a word.

"And you, Sproot," he ordered; "come in the living room."

The old butler followed us and stood humbly before the center table, where Markham seated himself.

"Now, let's hear your story."

Sproot cleared his throat and stared out of the window.

"There's very little to tell, sir. I was in the butler's pantry, polishing the glassware, when I heard the shot—"

"Go back a little further," interrupted Markham. "I understand you made a trip to 3d avenue at 9 this morning."

"Yes, sir. Miss Sibella bought a Pomeranian yesterday, and she asked me to get some dog biscuits after breakfast."

"Who called at the house this morning?"

ANSWERS CITIZEN.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—"Citizen" in your issue of Tuesday is guilty of very serious misrepresentation of the drink question. President Hoover in his special message to Congress stated that something would have to be done of a very stringent character since crime of a serious and violent kind had increased to an alarming extent in the U. S. Deaths from alcoholism have increased by 250 p.c. there. Commitments to penitentiaries in dry States are more than three times those in State of an acknowledged "wet" character. The truth is that prohibition is just about five times worse than licensed sale ever knew how to be. Uplifters get carried away and are not safe guides at any time.

Common Sense.

MAINTENANCE OF HIGHWAYS.

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—I wish to refer to an editorial of recent date wherein it was stated that citizens should have no complaint against increased taxation when they are receiving good value for their money. With this, few will disagree, but I want to draw to your attention a real injustice in taxation—the means by which money is raised for county roads and highways.

Taking our own county as an example, I will wager there are scores of residents who have never seen the highways that run through it. There are hundreds more who use them from three to six times a year. Why, in the name of common sense, should such have a levy against their property for the building and maintenance of these highways?

I contend that the Government should bear the entire cost of all highways and county roads and raise the necessary funds by gasoline tax. In this way only those who used the roads would be paying for them, and what could be more fair? A great deal is said about the value of the tourist traffic, but what about the resulting damage to our roads? By raising the tax on gasoline they would be compelled to pay for what they destroy.

It would seem that with the ever-increasing and huge profits from liquor sales, the Government could have reduced taxation to some extent.

Thank you for your space,

RURALITE.

SCRIPTURE

Memory Verse: "After saying good-bye to them, he went up the hill to pray" (Mark 6:46).

Read: Mark 6:35-46.

MEDITATION

This is Moffatt's translation. Jesus had had a busy day, caring for the multitude. And there were exacting days ahead. He felt the necessity of saying "goodbye" even to the Twelve, that He might retire to the hill for prayer. To-day is the "World Day of Prayer," in recognition of the day of Penticost. That was a day of witnessing to the glory and power of Christ. Every man heard the witness in his own tongue. The enterprise of carrying the Christian message to men in their own tongue has been one of the most noble and daring tasks in the history of mankind. To be strengthened for the work we need to pause, lift Christ up before us, open our spirits to the beauty of His life and be granted a sense of divine help. On this day we say "goodbye" to many activities and ascend into the hill of prayer.

PRAYER

Teach us to be still before Thee until our ears have caught Thine accents and our eyes have glimpsed Thy truth. Then, Lord, open Thou our lips, and our mouths shall show forth Thy praise and bear witness to Thy glory. Amen.

OSHAWA FOLLOWS PETERBORO'S LEAD

Council Decides to Purchase Modern and Fully Equipped Ladder Truck.

Following the visit to Peterborough's Fire Station which was paid on Saturday last by Fire Chief Elliott and two members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee of Oshawa City Council it has been decided to purchase a modern and fully equipped ladder truck which will soon be added to the Oshawa Fire Department equipment. The new ladder wagon will not cost over $8,000 and Fire Chief Elliott has been instructed to prepare specifications in order that the tenders may be called for.

The present ladder wagon is regarded as antiquated and inadequate as it has been in service about nineteen years. At one time it was drawn by horses but for the past few years it has been pulled by a small truck to which it was attached.

With thep urchase of a modern ladder wagon, Oshawa's fire-fighting equipment will be much improved. The city now has in addition to the old ladder truck, two fine motor pumpers, one of 450 gallon capacity and one of 600 gallons which are regarded as the latest in fire-fighting equipment. Both these trucks are mounted on General Motors chassis and are powered by G.M.C. engines.

The specifications will call for an arrangement now used on all modern fire trucks by which the ladders may be held perfectly tight while the vehicle is in motion. The ladders must be given a natural oil finish.

The new truck will be of twin double-deck design and will be mounted on General Motors chassis with a Buick-T-60 engine of 96 horsepower. It will carry 371 feet of ladders as contrasted with 109 feet carried by the old ladder wagon.

A Thought

TRIFLES.

Never be cast down by trifles. If a spider breaks his thread 20 times, 20 times he will mend it again. Make up your mind to do a thing, and you will do it. Fear not, if troubles come upon you; keep up your spirit, though the day be a dark one.

Troubles never stap for ever;
The darkest day will pass away.

C.N.R. REVENUES SHOW DECREASE

Operating Income of National System $16,752,949 Under 1928 Figures.

GRAIN MOVEMENT BLAMED.

OTTAWA, March 7 (C.P.)—A statement of operating revenues and expenses on the Canadian National Railways for 1820 show the effect of reduced tonnage largely due to the lighter grain movement. The statement was released last night by Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Railways.

The railway operating revenues were $259,878,972, as compared with $276,631,921, a reduction of $16,752,949. Operating expenses were $214,816,892, as compared with $218,248,343 in 1928. The net revenue from railway operations was $45,062,080 last year, while in 1928 the net revenue figure was $58,577,000. The ratio of operating expenses to revenue was 82.66 per cent. as compared with 78.89 per cent. in the previous year.

Chief Plays Dual Role With Himself

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7 (Canadian Press). — Two hats, one red, the other blue, hang in Louis Belloni's closet in South San Francisco emblematic of his dual position as fire chief and police chief.

Fire Chief Belloni's red roadster was stolen.

Changing hats, Police Chief Belloni recovered it here last night. Again changing hats, Fire Chief Belloni received the restored property, and thanking himself, switched chapeaux for a third time, and went in search of the thief.

NICKEL AND BRAZILIAN HOLDS STEADY DESPITE SOME SELLING

Trading Volume Declines Again As Market Settles Into Accustomed Lethargy.

OIL GROUP FIRM.

TORONTO, March 7. (C.P.)—Brazilian Traction and International Nickel Central points of interest in trading on Toronto Stock Exchange Thursday, ran into surprisingly little profit-taking this morning and although they were fractionally below their highs of yesterday, both were holding well at 40 or better. Support was accorded in sufficient quantity to more than offset what selling there was to take advantage of the bulge.

Volume declined again as the market settled back into its accustomed lethargy. Oils were firm but not actively purchased and what changes there were over the general list were mostly of fractional variety and carried no significance. Massey-Harris opened stronger and worked its way up to 35 by midday. Ford also showed a slight improvement but on the other hand, C.P.R. sold down a couple of points, Famous Players slipped back to 50 and Walkers eased nearly ½ point.

BARRY HOLLINGER REGISTERS SLIGHT GAIN IN FAIR DEMAND

Sherritt-Gordon and Sudbury Basin Prove Exceptions to General Advance.

GOLD SECTION QUIET.

TORONTO, Ont., March 7 (C.P.)—To-day's early session on the mining market, though slightly more active than it has been during the past week, was practically featureless, with price changes irregular and confined to a narrow range.

Some attention was directed towards Falconbridge, whose first shipment is understood to be ready for transportation to the Norwegian refineries, and the stock moved up a quarter to $4.60 on fair demand. Sherritt-Gordon and Sudbury Basin were both easier, however, while Ventures moved up 4 to $1.90.

Noranda was off a half to $41. Golds were quiet, Dome Lake Shore, and Howey sustaining small losses while Teck Hughes moved up 5 only to $6.35.

Slight recessions were the rule in the general list, Mining Corporation, Nipissing, Abana, Siscoe and Big Missouri easing off in the face of selling. Arno was more active and was being sold, the price dropping from 15 last night to 10 at noon. Barry Hollinger, Waite and Cobalt Contact were the exceptions, moving up a few points each.

The oils relatively inactive were firmer as a group. Chemical Research, Associated and Home Oil moved up 5 each, Alberta gained 6, and Mayland, which has been stronger during the past few days, was up another 14 to $1.64. A slightly reactionary movement appeared in Ajax, which was off 6 to $1.02.

MINING BRIEFS.

WAITE-MONTGOMERY

Waite-Ackerman-Montgomery ore reserves without considering the new ore cut by diamond drilling are estimated at 100,000 tons averaging 6.12 per cent. copper and 3.29 per cent zinc, and 300,000 tons of 11.52 per cent zinc ore. The new ore cut by diamond drilling shows all copper ore, of which there are some excellent sections.

NEWBEC

New mining plant at Newbec now installed. It includes new compressor and hoist. Underground work now being resumed on 125 and 250 foot horizons and stoping of ore to ship to Noranda will proceed as ore pockets are ready at the mine and railway.

DOME

Dome's 1929 earnings before depreciation and taxes totalled $1,882,886, compared with 1928 figures of $2,034,116. Depreciation and tax allowance 1929 totalled $104,635, compared with $540,233 in 1928, the drop being in depreciation. After providing for these two items amount available for dividends 1929 total $1,778,251, or $1.87 per share, compared with $1,493,882, or $1.57 per share in 1928. Surplus stands at $3,172,172. Current assets excess of current liabilities is $6,689,938, including the dividend assurance funds of $2,639,333 and $760,090 insurance on old mill. This excess is equal to $7.00 per share. Ore reserves are estimated at 1,300,000 tons, better than half being broken ore. The old mill handled around 500,000 tons yearly.

CANADA NORTHERN POWER

Canada Northern Power 1929 earnings were $2.34 per share, down 20c per share from 1928. Gross earnings were higher but expenses, due to expansion, were higher. After dividends, surplus stands at $1,353,676. Company added several mines as customers during the year.

IMPERIAL OIL

Is Imperial Oil a purchase on its record? asks Financial Service, and its answer is in favor of past performances being repeated, pointing out that Canada's future is exceptionally bright and so is the future of the companies which are bound to grow as this country expands, and adds that this is one of the reasons why long-headed investors are buying Imperial Oil at present day levels. They point out that a buyer of 100 shares of Imperial in 1914 at $12,500 and who took up all rights granted in 1917, 1920, and 1921, at an additional cost of $26,080, or a total of $38,580, would now have 19,712 shares worth $453,376 and also got about $64,000 in cash dividends.

BIDGOOD

Bidgood stock is back to 3c and 4c from which price level it had its very spectacular 1927 rise to $1.83. Curtailment of operations is by no means an indication that the mine-making possibilities of the property are exhausted. Lack of finances is the big trouble. The management has done well, keeping 35 men employed until recently.

HOWEY

Howey Gold's mill has been turned over and it will likely take a good part of March to tune it up. Meanwhile, very low grade ore or rock will likely be used as mill feed for some days.

Wheat Prices Advance Despite Poor Export

CHICAGO, Ill., March 7 (C.P.)—Despite relative weakness of Liverpool quotations and dearth of export demand, wheat prices here advanced early to-day, helped by purchasing ascribed to farm board auxiliaries. Reports of high winds in Kansas and elsewhere south-west tended also to life wheat values. Opening at 1-8 off to ½ up, Chicago wheat futures scored substantial general gains later. Corn, oats and provisions developed strength also, with corn starting unchanged to 5-8 down, but subsequently rising all around.

OIL GOSSIP

MILL CITY

Mill City Pete drilling steadily at 4,556 feet, or about 46 feet in lime. Contact with lime was reached at 4,510 feet and casing cemented at 4,525. About 31 feet of new hole has been made below casing and drilling has now been changed from mud to oil.

MOOSE OILS HAS CRUDE

Moose Oils drilling on Moose Dome in Devonian formation is now down about 2,275 feet, officials state, and believe to be within 200 feet of supposed porosity of this formation. High grade crude oil has been bailed from present depths and displayed in Calgary.

EAST CREST No. 1

At East Crest No. 1 well drillers are running left hand rods in operation to remove drill rods left in hole some time ago. With new type equipment now being used by company, officials expect a quick job of recovering the rods.

NEGRO VISION FAILS.

CHATHAM, March 7.—Provincial police say that a vision of a Negro spiritualist showing the body of Joseph Kamoen, missing Dover farmer, to be hidden in a certain spot on his farm, has not helped them in their search. It is believed that Kamoen met foul play. He has been missing since last December. The police have dug up different places on the farm in the hope of locating the body, but to no avail. Now that the frost is out of the ground the officers plan systematic digging.

FIRE CHIEF SAVES WOMAN

WINDSOR, March 7. — Plunging into smoke-filled bedroom, Fire Chief Clarence Defields of Windsor saved the life of Mrs. J. A. Flath, 35, who lay sick and helpless in bed when her home in Windsor was burned yesterday afternoon. She was carried to safety down a ladder.

PLANS TO GO OVER FALLS

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., March 7. "Red" Hill, veteran riverman, announced yesterday that he will go over Niagara Falls in a barrel on May 30. The barrel he plans to use is specially made of hard steel, 7 feet 6 inches long and 4 feet 2 inches thick.

Through the Chamber of Commerce a man may continue to modify his natural surroundings and create for himself a new and better environment.

Dies in Crash.

Joseph Workman Pearson, 31, aeronautical instructor at Hancock Aeronautical Foundation College, Santa Maria, Calif., formerly of Toronto, who was instantly killed when his airplane crashed to the ground near Santa Maria.

Spring Signs Seen In Orillia District

ORILLIA, March 7. — Now is that season of the year when Orillians begin to "see things." A deer on the No. 11 highway is reported by one young miss, a lady bug made the weekly ablutions of a local young man fraught with embarassment, mosquitoes have been corralled over snow drifts, wriggling caterpillars from the depths of snow-drifts, robins, blackbirds and crows have been heard and seen. A dead canary was retrieved by the Rev. Walter Dent. Red, black and grey squirrels have been seen by the genial superintendent of parks, John Whitton. Green snakes with red eyes have been seen by tired business men, homeward bond from too-festive evenings. Ducks have been reported flying over Couchiching. An Indian reports seeing a ground hog.

WAITE ACKERMAN IS LISTED AT NEW YORK

Stocks Become Stronger as Some Rather Large Buying Orders Make Appearance.

TORONTO, Mar. 7. (Special to Examiner.)—Gossip around the exchange is that stocks are rather scarce and that any sizeable buying order immediately calls forth better prices. With a large number of shares passing into the hands of the public through cash trading, the market would appear to be about ready to respond in a decided manner to any concerted purchasing.

It is reported that shares of Base Metals Mining Corporation and Waite Ackerman Montgomery mines have been added to the trading list of the New York Produce Exchange, and it is believed other Canadian mining issues are to be listed later. This organization is gradually extending operations in Canadian securities.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of McVittie Graham Mines Ltd., will be held in Montreal on Tuesday, March 28, 1930, which is also the date of the general meeting of International Nickel No.

The report of the Ontario Department of Mines for 1929 shows remarkable values for the Frood ore of International Nickel at depth on the 1,600 level averages are said to be 1.77 per cent copper, 2.61 per cent nickel, over a width of 100 feet, which indicates a gross value of approximately $20 per ton. At the 2,800 level, averages are 12.14 per cent copper, 2.66 per cent nickel, over 139 feet, having a value of $52 a ton.

At 3,100 feet, averages are 23 per cent copper, 2 per cent nickel, over 150 feet, having a value of $81 a ton.

Keeley Mine Close-up.

Though no official action has taken place as yet, it is understood the matter of closing down the Keeley mine is under consideration. "We simply cannot go on at forty cents silver," an official is quoted as saying:

Total February deliveries to refineries from Turner Valley are reported as 78,319 barrels compared with 88,975 barrels in January. Most of the decrease is due to freezing off of Associated and Home No. 1 wells, both of which are now back to normal. Associated produced only 210 barrels during the month but is now making more than that a day.

There has been no settlement in the Nickel Hill syndicate "corner" which recently had the street standing up. C. H. Lyons, member of the syndicate firm, stated in Montreal a day or so ago. The short interest still exists with a group of Toronto brokers, he is reported to have said, and the tangle is the subject of negotiations between solicitors for the two interests.

HEAVY SENTENCE IS IMPOSED BY MR. JUSTICE LOGIE

everyone, Mr. Payne asked that the sentence be made one of six months determinate and six months indeterminate, but His Lordship refused to consider this aspect.

Late yesterday afternoon, character evidence was introduced by the defence which was thought at the time to have helped the accused man. A number of residents of Campbellford, the young man's former home, appeared and told of his former good character and W. E. Rowsome, manager of the Alemite Products Company at Belleville appeared and offered Ingram a position in his plant. Mr. Rowsome told the presiding judge that he would be personally responsible for the accused if a suspended sentence was meted out to him.

S. C. Cameron, special Crown Prosecutor, when asked by His Lordship if he had any suggestion to make, replied "that the matter of sentence rests entirely in Your Lordship's hands. I would not make any suggestion."

Ingram took the sentence without a tremor, maintaining the same stoical pose that has characterized his actions all through the trial. He admitted afterward that it was a "tough break" but otherwise would not talk about it. He will likely be kept here for a period of at least three months and then may be sent to the Ontario reformatory. Thus ends a case which has caused considerable interest in Hastings county, although it has been suggested that an appeal may be registered against the sentence. Nothing definite in this regard could be learned to-day however.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

nificance and in this was annually reaping millions of dollars from the tourists who were attracted to view these scenes rich in historical lore. He saw in this a work that Canada could emulate and especially pointed out the manner in which Fort Henry, near Kingston, one of the oldest forts on the continent, was being allowed to disintegrate.

Repair Historical Buildings

He said that the Kiwanis Club of Kingston were intending to interest the Kiwanis Clubs of Canada in repairing these historical buildings, and John Marshall, chairman of the Public Affairs committee of the local club, pledged him the support of the Peterborough club in this campaign of education.

Dealing with his impressions gained in visiting Britain, Mr. Davis said that manufacturers there were adopting new methods and ideas into their industry. "They are saying little, but doing much. The greatest thing is that they realize that changes are necessary."

"The young men especially are realizing that things can never be the same again. They are introducing mass production, efficiency and most modern machinery into their plants. Another thing they are read yto make what the buyers want both in the home and foreign markets. This has been a stumbling block in British trade, previously they were not prepared to give the little patricular things that we desired, but now they are out to satisfy the trade," said Mr. Davis.

Improving Agriculture.

Agriculture was also being improved and in Scotland at least two systems of co-operative marketing by farmers had been established. "I am not a prophet, but I will say that I believe that Britain will in a few years make some of her present critics look to their laurels."

The buildings in the country gave out an impression of solidity, permanency and thoroughness. The roadbeds of the railroads were solid and permanent, although the rolling stock and methods were perhaps not as good as our own. The highways were also well built, although the old ones were devious and winding. Where highways are being built in Britain there are no detours, a system of building has been adopted that does away with this tedious bother.

"One stands everywhere in buildings whose age reckoned not in years, nor decades, but in centuries and which are still serving the purpose for which they were erected, and will serve for centuries after we have gone."

Are We in Too Big a Hurry?

Some of the old buildings dating back to Norman and Roman times are still standing, although they are only maitnained to recall the past. They serve to make the visitor think and recall that Rome was not built in a day. "They made me wonder," said Mr. Davis, "if we are in too great a hurry to develop our country. Have we become a people worshipping statistical increases in trade volume, crops, immigration and population? We rush at things as though we thought that what this generation failed to do would never be done. Are we bidding fair to repeat the mistakes of our neighbors to the south?"

He recalled that a century is little in the life of a nation and that although the Roman builders are long since crumbled into dust we to-day pay revered tribute to the character of their work.

"Would it not be wiser to build solidly and surely if more slowly—to train our children and educate the stranger within our gates and trust posterity to finish our unfinished task?"

Mr. Davis read some of the editorials that appeared inforemost London dailies following the recent election of the Labor Government would succeed in aiding the progress of the country. In this the speaker saw something else in which Canada could well copy Britain.

"In Britain one gets the impression that everyone is truly concerned with the nation's business" he continued. "Can anyone conceive of a similar impression being gained here? It is a spirit worth striving for."

Life Highly Valued

One also gets the impression that human life is highly valued in Britain. In six weeks of motor driving in the country, Mr. Davis failed to see one unprotected railway crossing. On the other hand in Canada we seem to accept the level crossing as an inevitable hazard, and last year, as a recent paper showed, deaths as a result of level crossing accidents reached a new high. Someone had said that "One can't protect a fool against his own folly", but in England they were doing it, said the speaker.

There is no speed limit to highway travel and there are fewer accidents. The driver is held responsible for accidents.

At the conclusion of his address Mr. Davis emphasized the great wealth Britain was now reaping from the tourists who came to view the old historical buildings which had been so carefully maintained. He declared that Canada was failing to do this and in this way was failing to visualizing these historical buildings future value.

Jack Comstock was the booster for the day and he announced that this year the firm of A. Comstock and Sons would celebrate their hundredth anniversary of doing business in Peterborough. The firm had started in 1830 on the site on Brock street, now occupied by the rink, and had later moved to a building on Sherbrooke street near the creek, power being developed from the creek.

The musical part of the program was ably contributed by R. C. Searless, who rendered several violin solos, accompanied by G. F. Liddle on the piano.

It was the largest attended meeting of the year, the attendance being 92 percent of the club's strength and there were many guests. Accompanying Mr. Davis, the speaker, were E. C. Gally, Robert Reid and ex-Mayor J. M. Hughes, of Kingston.

WOULD HAVE TO WALK THE FLOOR NIGHTS DUE TO GAS CROWDING HEART

Ex-Service Man Thanks Bon-Tone For Quick and Wonderful Relief

Mr. George R. Osborne of 268 Major St., Toronto, was a member of 18th London Rifle Brigade and saw service in India, Rangoon and England. He is very well known and highly esteemed. Mr. Osborne states: "For about 13 years now I have suffered greatly from a dropped stomach and my food would sour and ferment instead of digesting and would form gas which bloated me terribly. Almost every night this gas would crowd around my heart so badly that I would have to get up and walk the floor to relieve the pressure. My kidneys were in a weak condition and I experienced a constant strained feeling through my back and abdomen. If I would stoop over to pick up something I would become dizzy and when I straightened up would feel sort of light-headed. I was told that my condition could not be corrected but after reading and hearing of the remarkable results Toronto people were obtaining from this new medicine, Bon-Tone, I decided that I would give it a trial and now, after taking this herbal compound just a short while, I find that all that has been said about it was true. I can thoroughly enjoy my meals now as everything digests as it should and I don't have any more gas pains. The pains and uncomfortable feeling in my back and abdomen have left—I eat well and sleep well now and feel fine—thanks to Bon-Tone."

Don't try new remedies. Bon-Tone is not an experiment, but a definite proven remedy and will show results if directions are followed carefully. Bon-Tone is for sale at Bond's Drug Store, George and Hunter Streets, Peterborough, Ont. Call or write for more information and ask for the Free Booklet, "The Road to Success." Single bottle, $1.25, half treatment; 3 bottles (by mail), $3.00.

HAMILTON KLANSMEN

the application stated to-day that when the application was "thrown out" he had nothing further to do with the Klan. "I am sure that they have been unable to register since then," he said.

Clues as to the headquarters of the Klansmen who participated in the Oakville incident are the mail address, "The Scribe, Box 294, Hamilton," which has accompanied the letters to the press purporting to come from Klan headquarters and the statement of Chief David Kerr of Oakville, that he recognized some of the Klansmen in the Oakville incident.

Police have not yet announced what their investigations have revealed. A report was submitted by Chief Kerr to Crown Attorney Dick of Milton, and it is expected that other reports will shortly be forthcoming from the investigation by the Attorney-General's Department.

The Klan has appeared in Canada as three distinct organizations—the Ku Klux Klan of Kanada, The Kanadian Knights of the Ku Klux Klan (a British Columbia branch), and the Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire. It is understood that the three bodies have now united.

"I do not care to discuss it," said Crown Attorney Dick, when asked if his office had issued the summons. He would not deny the action had been taken.

Magistrate McIlveen of Oakville stated that he had not signed the documents.

Chief of Police Kerr, of Oakville, stated to-day that if the case against even one of the Ku Klux Klan was established the authorities would proceed amidst one hundred members of the clan. "We have the names" he said, "and the only reason we did not proceed against the whole hundred was that the jail is not big enough for them all." The Chief remained adament regarding the name of the four against whom indictments had been issued. "You'll know when the arrests are made" he said.

The charge against the K.K.K. is that of masking the face at night without lawful excuse. The maximum penalty is five years.

-LAYER-BUILT FOR THE GREATEST STRUCTURAL STRENGTH-

Insul-Board Lath
Insul-Board
Insul-Board Roof Insulator
(Patents Pending)

This New Insulating Board is Layer-Built for greater structural strength —the ideal moisture-proof base for plaster

"YES," said the architect, "of course a layer-built board is stronger. And besides, this layer-built method of construction is the only one which makes possible the insertion of waterproof barriers."

Insul-Board Lath, then, really serves a double purpose. First, that of providing efficient insulation against heat, cold and noise; providing constant indoor comfort in Winter and Summer with real saving in fuel costs. And second, that of a moisture-proof base for plaster, through which plaster dampness cannot pass.

In addition, as a further protection, the back of Insul-Board Lath has a special waterproof coating.

There are also two other types of Insul-Board:—Insul-Board—the layer-built building board, with four waterproof barriers to prevent moisture penetration, for insulation of walls, floors, ceilings, and . . . . . Insul-Board Roof Insulator—A Layer-built roof insulating board made positively moisture-proof by the waterproof layers used in its exclusive process of manufacture—Ideal insulation for any type of Roof deck.

Insul-Board is used extensively for the insulation of Apartment Houses, Hotels, Public Buildings, Residences, etc. It is an ideal interior finish board and is applied just like lumber.

Take these three types of Insul-Board and compare them first, on the fundamental points of Insulation, fuel saving and sound deadening. Then add the two important extra advantages of greater structural strength and moisture resistance. Obviously you get more efficient insulation when you specify Insul-Board.

Insul-Board Lath Features

Size 18 inches x 48 inches
Note the waterproof barriers.
Also the Ship Lap edge which provides the strongest and most effective joint.
Water-resistant for use as a plaster base.
Layer-built for greater structural strength.
Efficient Insulation.
Fuel Saving.
Sound Deadening.
Economy in handling.
Saws just as easily and cleanly as lumber.

Motion by Seeney and Gordon. Carried.

On motion by Spencer and Howe it was decided to write the township clerk re adjustment of Court of Revision expenses. Carried.

Reeve Griffith addressed the council asking that some action be taken in the matter of certain persons who have made a practice of dumping refuse on the township road east of the village.

H. F. Nichol presented the report of auditors for 1929. Moved by Spencer and Howe that report be received and published. Carried.

Memorial Arch

Mr. Griffiths addressed the council on behalf of the township council asking what was required to put the memorial arch in good condition. Mrs. Holcombe had waited on the township council at the last meeting asking that they assist in repairs to the arch. The latter are willing to assist in this work. Havelock council members did not know anything about the matter as they had not been consulted. No action was taken in this matter.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

G. F. Coates, grant on piano, $5; Ed Fennell, treas, bond, $5; County of Peterborough re indigent, F. Clapper, $22.75; Ontario Rock Co., $112.20; G. W. Chiles, acct., $1.85; Queen's hotel, meals to tramps, $2.50; C. Dewey, caretaker, $18; S. Miles, sawing wood 1929, $2; M. E. Greenley, work, $6; E. Youmans, work, $4.95; Bank of Toronto, Interest, $29.15; E. S. Hubbel, acct., $2.85; F. McMullen, wood for hall, $7.50; B. Wannamaker, work on roads, 90c; E. Pomeroy, re snow plow $9; A. M. Buchanan, work on drain, $1.80; D. Vansickle, snow plow $9; C. Dewey, meals for tramps $2.10; F. Fleming, meals, tramps $1.20; S. Green, cutting wood for hall and R. Edwards, $5.75; Rae Williams, salary auditor $20; H. F. McNichol, salary auditor $20; Mrs. Hogan grant re Foley estate $10.

Pool Room Licenses

On motion by Howe and Spencer holders of pool room licenses will be asked to renew them at once. Those who procured tile from the municipality and have not paid for the same will also be asked to settle. On motion by Gordon and Seeney, a list of property in arrears of taxes for three years will be handed in to the county treasurer. A long discussion which protracted the meeting over the usual lengt hof time arose over the usual length of time arose for $7,000. Members of school board were there to a man in support of the request. Mr. Evans, s chairman of the board addressed the meeting asking the council grant the necessary money for the water flush system. He did not expect they would need the full amount and they intended to employ a superintendent to oversee the work. The reeve expressed the opinion that it was not a sensible thing to do to bring the same plan back to the people so soon. Mr. Evans reminded them that the school grants would be lost if the improvement was not made. Mr. Sanderson questioned the legality of submitting the same question to the same people so soon after they had turned it down. Trustee Brewster told the council that the board did not wish to dictate to the council what they should do. They were there to ask for the money necessary to instal a necessary improvement which met with the approval of the government. A heated discussion arose between Mr. Brewster and the reeve over the legality of another ballot so soon. Trustee Anderson said if the council would set the seal of their approval on the project it would most likely carry if voted on again.

This caused another heated discussion, between the reeve and Mr. Anderson. Mr. Sanderson said he would not like to call an election so soon. Nor would he like to see the council grant such a large amount of money over the heads of the ratepayers. If the council did that he for one would not like to face them, the people. Councillors and Seeney were of the opinion that the people should be consulted. Mr. Sanderson said a farmer can obtain the free advice of a competent engineer for a plan on his property and he did not see why the municipality should not be able to do so. Mr. Anderson said they had tried to but failed. Mr. Evans told of a conversation with Dr. Sutton regarding placing the toilets in the basement of the school and connecting with the village drain. Dr. Sutton believed it would cause trouble with the people through whose property the drain runs. It was suggested that a separate drain could be run along Cook street at a small additional cost but Trustee Anderson said ordinary tile could not be used as it was contrary to the regulations of the board of health. In the letter to the council the clerk inadvertantly omitted to ask that if the council did not see fit to grant the necessary funds for the improvement they submit it to the people at once. The board asked that this be added to the request all being present and in favor, even to the one who had opposed the motion in meeting, trustee Squires. Moved by Seeney ,seconded by Gordon that requisition of the board be refused until the question is again submitted to the people. Carried Moved by Spencer and Gordon that question be put to the people if the law permits. Carried.

Meeting adjourned at 12 p.m. having held one of the longest sessions in the history of the council.

A new community need is no sooner discovered than there is in existence in the modern Chamber of Commerce an organized form of meeting the need.

FIGHTS POLICE FOUR WEEKS.

WELLSVILLE, N.Y., March 5. — (C.P.) — Lyle Fausey, 42, barricaded himself in his home four weeks ago, keeping his son Leslie prisoner with him. He withstood successive attacks by the police armed with tear gas bombs. To-day they attacked again, but Fausey killed himself as they burst in the front door. He had suffered from mental trouble.

ANALYZE THE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR USED CAR

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must make up the difference by extra charges on the new car or re-sell it to some one else at too high a price

PERMANENT value is always better than a temporary bargain in the purchase of an automobile. It pays to look ahead and consider reliability and ultimate up-keep costs, as well as comfort, safety, speed, and beauty of line and color.

Since most automobiles are bought for replacement, the value set on your used car is a factor in almost every purchase. Frequently it is given an importance beyond its true worth.

Used cars have a definite market value and you are justly entitled to an allowance based on that value. It is not fair that you receive less. It is not to your best interests to receive more.

IF a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must either re-sell it to some one else at too high a price or make up the difference on the new car. This he cannot do unless he is allowed an excessive profit on the car or on financing, extra equipment and other charges. In either case, you pay the bill, for no way has yet been found to give something for nothing. The money must come from somewhere.

It is good for you to have a true picture of the used-car situation and its secondary importance in the purchase of an automobile.

YOU may not get the largest used-car allowance from the Ford dealer, yet you gain in the long run. You save far more than the seeming difference in trade allowance because of the lower first cost of the Ford, the low charges for selling, financing and accessories, and the lower cost of operation, service and replacement parts. The profits of the Ford dealer are not marked up or increased to cover a high allowance on a used car.

FURTHERMORE, at least $75 extra value is given to you in the new Ford in the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the five steel-spoke wheels, and the four Houdaille hydraulic double-acting shock absorbers. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings, and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings, are other features that show the extra quality built into the Ford car.

Roadster, $540 Phaeton, $550 Coupe, $620 Tudor Sedan, $620 Sport Coupe, $655

Three-window Fordor Sedan, $775 Convertible Cabriolet, $790 Town Sedan, $835

(All prices f. o. b. East Windsor, Ontario. Bumpers, spare tire and taxes extra.)

SOCIETY MEETS AT SPRINGVILLE

Mr. Nelson, Agricultural Representative For County Has Charge of Program.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT.

(Eaxminer Correspondence)

SPRINGVILLE, Mar. 5. — The Springville-Fairmount Literary society had a "full house" on Thursday evening to enjoy the splendid program presented by Mr. Nelson, Agricultural Representative for Peterborough County assisted by Mrs. Nelson who contributed two delightful solos to the evening's entertainment.

Community singing led by Mr. Bruce Herron with Mrs. (Rev.) Moyer at the piano was heartily supported as all lent their voices to the numerous familiar songs. By request a solo of his own composition was sung by Mr. Herron accompanied by Mrs. G. MacIntosh.

The entertainment provided by Mr. Nelson consisted of moving picture reels showing pictures on the Canadian Lumbering and Fishing industry relieved by several humorous reels of Charley Chaplin in the "Pawn Shop".

Very interesting were the industrial pictures. Immense red pines and virgin white pines were shown in all their splendour only to be hewn down, dragged along the rough, curving trails where at the foot of the hills they were loaded for transport, drawn to the ice by sturdy bush ponies (4 ponies are able to draw 42 tons of lumber) dumped on the ice to await a thaw, the breaking up of the river and the "Jack ladder route" to the mill. Difficulties along the forest trail were shown—on some places it is necessary to sprinkle sand as a preventative for "glissading" while in other places where the trail is not smooth enough, water is used freely. The scenes moved on to the mill where the great steel tenacles carried their prey to the saw to be trimmed and cut into planks and board width lumber while the clipping were utilized for lath. The lumber was then graded and stored, to be conveyed later by means of the "high car" to stacks.

The fishing scenes were equally interesting picturing the "Hook and line fleet" off the Nova Scotian coast and later at Sable Island Bank lowering the huge poke shaped net, the catches consisting of cod, haddock, pound, skate and flounders, varying in weight from 1,000 lbs. to only a very light catch due to various reasons such as —a rough sea—a broken net, etc. Distinguishing shapes and marking of cod, flounders, pollock or Atlantic Blue Back and Chicken Herring were pointed out while the final scenes pictured the process of cleaning and packing fresh fish for market and pan frozen cod for export to England.

A few pictures from Banff National Parks where deer have lost the fear of man and Messrs. Saunders and Middleton encourage the friendship of the Chickadee, Nuthatch, Red Squirrel and others added pleasing variety to a program of high educational value.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended by Mr. S. S. Staples and seconded by Mr. Bruce Herron to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson for their kindness in coming to us with so delightful a program.

A St. Patrick's evening to be held March 14 was announced by the president, Miss Helen Staples. Admission to be the wearing of some article representing the name of a city in Ireland—for example a cork for the city of Cork. The response to the roll call to be an Irish story or joke.

The meeting was closed by the National Anthem.

VARIETY OF COSTUMES SEEN AT NORWOOD ICE CARNIVAL

Six Hundred People Attend Second Affair Held in Village This Winter.

PRIZE WINNERS

NORWOOD, March 7. (Examiner Correspondence). — Norwood rink horded the large crowd on Tuesday evening when the second carnival of the season was held. Ideal weather conditions prevailed and a most enjoyable time was had by all. Six hundred people were there to see and to be seen. The extensive list of valuable prizes, which amounted to about $150, was a great inducement to all, old as well as young, poor skaters as well as good to show their best in order that they might be winners. So numerous were the entries in each class that the judges who must have wished that the prize list had been longer than it was, were not envied their task of choosing the winner. The huge ice space which is splendidly lighted, presented a real picture of gaiety and color. Music provided by the new orthophonic machine added greatly to the pleasure of both skaters and spectators. After the judging of those in costume the two most interesting events were the wheelbarrow race and the tug-of-war. The financial result was very gratifying to A. Kempton and all his able assistants, the proceeds amounting to about $215. They are very grateful indeed to all those who in any manner helped to make the carnival such a huge success.

FLYING CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Ground Course Being Conducted at Present in Queen's Hotel.

CERTAIN PRIVILEGES.

(Examiner Staff Correspondent.)

Campbellford, March 7. — Much interest is being caused by the organization of a flying club at Campbellford. A ground course in flying is being conducted at the club room in the old Queen's Hotel. A Curtis training plane has been lent by Leaver Brothers of Belleville for the purpose. The class is being taught all things necessary for the obtaining of pilot licenses and air engineers' certificates.

The fee for the course at a government school would be $25, but the Campbellford club's fee will be only $10. This entitles each member to one free airplane trip, the ground course and the use of the club room during the winter. Club members are also entitled to one hundred flying hours in return for work and material they put on the machine with an option to buy it at a reasonable price.

Club machines are expected to be ready for flying by the first of May when all free rides will be given.

Douglas McComb is in charge of all arrangements.

MISS MACPHAIL'S MOTION ON PEACE MEETS CRITICISM

avoided if Lord Grey of Falloden had the courage to enlighten not only his own countrymen but France, Germany and Russia of Great Britain's attitude. This opinion had been expressed in a book of memoirs published some time ago.

Plebiscite Proper Plan.

If a plebiscite had been taken three weeks before the war in the countries that were to be engaged the war would have been averted, Mr. Bourassa urged that the people be educated in the ways of peace, and also the patriotism governed by charity be instilled into the minds of the young.

"I note," Miss MacPhail said, "that when the government wants to get the British North American Act in the way of its progress it always manages to do so." She was not asking very much from the government, she said. It surely was reasonable to have some amount paid by the government in peace efforts. Further, there should be a section of the Department of External Affairs devoted to spreading knowledge of what Canada was doing to prevent war.

Since the coming of Christianity, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Opposition leader, pointed out, there has not been any great change in human nature. "The essential thing," he said, "is that the passions of the people can only be restrained by the supremacy of law."

"Until changes are made in our constitution," Mr. Bennett declared, "I do not see any methods towards peace could be pursued better than those we are pursuing."

The only sure guarantee of peace was an extension of the field of international law, the Opposition leader continued. Nations should be induced to take their difficulties to the World Court and the rule of law should be applied to nations as well as to individuals. His speech concluded the debate.

OBITUARY

MRS. LEONARD GAMSBY.

LAKEFIELD, March 7 (Examiner Correspondence). — The death occurred in Orono on February 24 of Mrs. Leonard Gamsby (nee Bertie Adams) after a short illness. She was stricken with paralysis on February 15, and never rallied. The deceased lady had many friends in this locality. Mrs. Charles Waldon and Miss Stabler are cousins.

JOHN STUART MURPHY.

LAKEFIELD, March 7 (Examiner Correspondence). — The funeral of the late John Stuart Murphy, held on the day afternoon at 1.30 from the Regent Street United Church, was very largely attended by many friends and relatives of the family. Rev. S. A. Kemp was the officiating clergyman, and was assisted by Rev. T. M. Wesley, Rev. F. G. Robinson, and Rev. J. B. McCormack. Two favorite hymns were sung, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "Asleep in Jesus," and by special request Mrs. Doris McMillan sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" as a solo.

Mr. Kemp took as his text for the short but very comforting address the latter part of the 13th verse of St. Paul's Epistle to the Phillipians, "Not looking back to that which lies behind, but pressing on to that which lies before." In the busy rush of life, too many of us are looking too much to the pleasure and business of this world and not giving enough thought to that which belongs to the next world, the things which really count when we are called upon to stand before the throne of God, and to give account of our stewardship. In these days when pleasure, in too many cases, takes precedence over churchgoing, a man like our deceased brother stands out as a notable exception, for he put his duty to his church before all things, and there was always a reason for his absence, never an excuse. He was a friend to the minister, never knocking, but by his kindly sympathy encouraging and aiding him. He was of a kindly disposition, and the doors of his home were always open to the minister.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. T. Braden, J. Blakeley, Arthur Carveth, J. Darling, H. Kemp, R. J. Lennox, B. Nicholls. Interment was made in the Lakefield Cemetery.

Mr. Murphy was born near Belleville 76 years ago, moving with his parents to Dummer Township about 68 years ago. At the age of twenty-nine he married Emma Newnham of Picton and settled on a pioneer farm near his parents. Twenty-three years ago he removed to the Township of Smith, and eleven years ago retired to Lakefield, making his home on Nelson Street. He was one of the oldest members of the congregation of Regent Street United Church, and was the fourth prominent member to pass away within ten days. He was the last member of his father's family to survive, a brother and sister having predeceased him.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. A. C. Carveth of Lakefield and Mrs. G. H. Beckett, of Mission City, B.C., also four sons, Stuart of Clarina, John A. of Lakefield, and William and Colin of Norwood.

Among those from Norwood who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. D. Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. E. Baptie, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Fife, Mrs. A. McKay, Mr. W. Parcells, and Mr. Richard Kirk. There were also a large number present from Peterborough and other points. Among the many beautiful tributes was a sheaf from the Ladies' Aid of Regent Street United Church, of which Mrs. Murphy is a valued member.

HOMUTH OPENS BITTER ATTACK

nor the member voicing them, he said.

Mr. Slack held that there was a discrimination shown against large cars in the motor license fees charged at present against those of four or five years ago.

The Government, he claimed, in road building was setting a pace which the municipalities could not stand.

"I suggest that the Government made a serious mistake in doing away with the country province roads," he said. "I think that was the best way of subsidizing these roads."

Hon. George S. Henry interrupted to ask if the members for Dufferin were aware of the fact that municipalities are receiving four and five times the amount they did formerly under the new act.

Notwithstanding these facts, the member for Dufferin continued the old system was more equitable.

"The present administration has been an example to all Canada of an orgy of spending," Mr. Slack declared. "Just suppose the liquor business were cut off to-morrow. The Government would be forced to resort to direct taxation."

K. K. Homuth, Cons., South Waterloo, said that the Liberals all through the election campaign and also in the House, charged the Government with prolific spending, but they did not explain where they would cut down if placed in power.

Mr. Homuth then began his onslaught on the member for North Waterloo, saying that if there had not been a three-cornered fight in that riding last election, "there would be a Government supporter in this House to-day."

Would Be Liberal Leader.

Soon after his election Mr. Homuth said: "The member for North Waterloo began a series of meetings, and if reports are true, he was after the position of leader of the Liberal party."

Mr. Homuth proceeded to read a long list of stock transactions which he said had been made by the Ontario Equitable Life and Accident Insurance Company. Some of the stocks he said were held only 72 hours, showing conclusively that it was a speculative transaction.

George Shields (Cons., Toronto)—"Were these stocks bought on margin?"

"Oh, no. If the company speculated in stocks in 1923, it might have done it in 1929," suggested Mr. Homuth in leading to his further suggestion that possibly the company had lost money in that year and Mr. Tweed, as general manager carried on his attack against the Attorney-General in the hope of being able to persuade the Board of Directors that it was the Ferguson Government's handling of the brokerage affair that should be blamed.

"There was more behind the attack on the Attorney-General than for the sake of the public weal and a high minded attitude toward the public in general," suggested the member for South Waterloo.

MOUNT PLEASANT INSTITUTE MEETS

Seventeen Members Gather at Home of Secretary, Mrs. T. C. Morden.

MOUNT PLEASANT, March 7. — (Examiner Correspondence). — The Mount Pleasant branch of Women's Institute met on Wednesday afternoon, March 5, at the home of the secretary, Mrs. T. C. Morden, with an attendance of seventeen members and four visitors. The roll call for March was, "Sing, Say, Play or Pay," to which ten of the members responded.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A discussion arising out of the minutes of the previous meeting was the postponement of a social evening which was to have been held on February 14. It was decided to have this social evening some time in March. The date and arrangement for it were left in the hands of the committees.

A letter was read from the secretary of the Cavan Women's Institute accepting an invitation to join with the local branch for the summer series meeting.

Mrs. M. Handley and Mrs. Norman Fee were responsible for the program, which was as follows:

Piano solo—Mrs. Mewyn Best.

Reading—"Let Something Good Be Said" by Mrs. George Jamieson.

Reading—"Let One's Self Alone," by Mrs. Rutherford.

Recitation — "Home," by Edgar Guest, was given by Mrs. Garnet Shield.

Reading—"Farm Women of Yesterday and To-day," by Mrs. Thomas Graham.

Solo—Miss Juan Shield, accompanied by her mother at the piano.

Mrs. R. S. Staples, member of the League of Nations for Cavan Women's Institute, was present and delivered a splendid report of the League of Nations in a very capable manner, after which the meeting closed with "God Save the King."

The usual social hour was enjoyed, while the hostess, assisted by the lunch committee, served refreshments.

Those present included Miss Mabel Eggleston, Miss Kathleen Sisson, Mrs. Harry Sisson, Mrs. A. Brown, Mrs. Henry Lowes, Mrs. Bert Morden, Mrs. Joseph Best, Mrs. Rosenburg, Mrs. Melville Handley, Mrs. George Jamieson, Mrs. Harry Jamieson, Mrs. Rutherford, Mrs. Hubert Gardiner, Mrs. Garnet Shield, Mrs. Thomas Graham, Mrs. Ira Lowes, Mrs. T. Thoroughbred Cattle On the Auction Block

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—One of the most interesting livestock sales ever held in Seymour township will be staged next Wednesday, when the stock of the late Charles E. Bonnycastle will be put on the block.

The farm has been in possession of the family for ninety years and for the past fifty years special attention has been paid to the raising of purebred stock, with the result that a fully accredited herd of 30 richly bred Shorthorns will go up for sale.

The herd sire, Mina King (183372), was bred by Amos and Son, Moffat, Ontario.

Five other fine yearling bulls are for sale; the remainder of the herd being females, with only three being over eight years old.

A flock of 35 pure Cotswold sheep will also be put up, also a fine lot of Barred Rock hens.

J. R. Battisby will handle the sale and W. Knox, experienced Shorthorn breeder, will explain the pedigrees.

Community Builders build with different degrees of skill but their bricks are usually cemented with service such as rendered by the modern Chamber of Commerce.

District Churches

UNITED CHURCH.

WOOLER, March 7 (Examiner Correspondence). — Rev. H. B. Neal, in charge, announced hymn 18. Psalm 103 was read in unison, following the recital of Psalm 67 by Edith Austin. Clifford Rogers and Frank Wessels sang a duet. The text, Daniel, 6, 10, "When Daniel knew that the writing had been signed, he went into his house; and his windows being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled upon his knees and prayed, and gave thanks before his God, as he did aforetime."

The subject for study was "Have you your window opened toward Jerusalem, have you the right frontage on life?" Daniel was a great man rich in spiritual truth, although resisting many temptations. During the reign of three successive kings there was glory and splendor of their pomp. One of the most wonderful attractions was the royal gardens of Babylon, another the temple called God's Bell, and the wonderful cathedral's. All was luxury, taking you away from true living, but Daniel remained true. Why? Because about five hundred miles across country was Jerusalem which stood for truth, righteousness, and believing in one God, and his window was open toward Jerusalem. And the King Darius had signed the decree to put Daniel in the lions' den, and when Daniel heard this, he went and knelt down on his knees, and his heart travelled across to Jerusalem, and lifted his heart in prayer to God. We ought to have the right frontage on life. Daniel rose to the position to the king power in Babylon, and it made a great difference on the outlook of life. Amid all temptations and death he made headway in his country and at next to the king himself. It is a great thing to have a character to be a head of things. It was because he prayed, God was real, he made his way known. To possess loyalty to truth when we are burdened, who do you go for counsel, is it not a truthful, loyal friend? We tend to become like the God we worship with our eyes facing Jerusalem. May there be loyalty to that appointment with God.

DESAUTEL FREED OF MANSLAUGHTER

Former Peterborough Resident is Found Not Guilty in Grand Rapids.

Romeo Desautel, who formerly lived at the corner of Lake and Crescent streets in this city, has been cleared of charges of manslaughter and negligent homicide which arose from a fatal accident in which he figured near Grand Rapids, Michigan, on February 20. Desautel was well-known in this city as a builder and left for the United States about 5 years ago. He is 43 years old.

Lemuel S. Hillman, a prominent Grand Rapids banker, was the victim of the accident. Desautel was driving along a highway at night time when he suddenly came upon Hillman walking with another person and was unable to avoid striking Hillman and killing him instantly. He was arrested and charged with negligence occasioning death.

Desautel was brought for trial before Justice Harry L. Creswell after being a week in jail. Before the trial, widespread interest had been aroused in the case. Evidence indicated that Desautel did all he could to avoid the accident and that conditions were such that he could not see Hillman on the road.

Justice Creswell dismissed the case after a few hours of court deliberation saying, "I find that the state has not produced evidence either of manslaughter or negligent homicide. I therefore dismiss the respondent." Applause and cheering greeted the decision from the packed court room.

The fact that he was confined in jail for a weekaroused torrents of criticism in Grand Rapids. Editorials in the paper condemning the action of the authorities brought sheafs of letters.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:

I see you are O. K. and on the job every night. You are just dandy Anne right in step with Marion all the way. Our Marion was fine but you just go to show that in this world we're passing through, everyone's place can be filled right to the letter. You deserve plenty of credit.

Just thought I would write as this is the first of March and I try to send in one letter a month anyway. There are so many of us now that even tho' we have the urge to write lots of times, we ought to think of the other fellow who's wanting to voice his thoughts also, so I sit tight and try not to overdo it, Anne.

Please excuse pencil this time. My pen has a stroke or something. It refuses to work anyway and I'll have to get Joe to fix it, or spoil it, either one.

Well folks, how do you like the weather. These spring days were just what the doctor ordered weren't they? This morning was like Christmas morning, when one first looked out.

So Ad Nauseam says she is different and isn't fussy about it, even resents it sometimes, eh? Say girl, I think you got a pretty lucky break when God made you that way. You ought to get down on your knees every night and thank Him, I tell you. What wouldn't the rest of us give to be conscious of the fact that we were "different"?

Joe and I heard a splendid speech by Denton Massey here a few weeks ago. I said to Joe, "Ad Nauseam" ought to be here to hear that." He said anyone who was different was so interesting and a lot of other real nice things. Gee, maybe we're going to puff you all up on yourself so hold everything, Ad Nauseam and you take what we say for what its worth. But you are lucky you know. Everyday we hear girls and women say, "I like this dress because it's different", or this hat or this coat. The same applies to people. "I like her because she is different, somehow."

Yes, Ad Nauseam, you have everything to be thankful for and you do not know your own strength, where character is concerned. Isn't it wonderful to have people come to you and confide in you; tell you things they wouldn't dream of telling anyone else? Think of it! To be able to unburden your heart to someone and have implicit faith in them, knowing yor secret is as safe with them as tho' you hadn't opened your mouth even. Why I think it would be glorious to be like that, Ad Nauseam. I'll just bet you never have to stand in a crowded bus very long and always people make way for you, for you see you must have a certain commanding air, but are gracious along with it which covers any desire to be high-hat with people. Say folks, doesn't it give you an awful pain in the neck to see some people the way they try to lord it over the rest of us? If they could only see themselves sometimes I think they would crawl in a hole somewhere and pull the hole in after them. You know folks, after all, we are all heading for the same place. At least we are all hoping to go to the same place. So why should we pretend to be one so much better than the other?

I think it is all so silly when you get right down to brass tacks and think it all out. We are all made the same way and if one has a little more materially, what of it? You can't take it with you when you die. Come on you high hatters snap out of it. Just be yourselves and you will feel a lot better and get far more from out of life because how can anyone derive any pleasure out of making others feel they are so far beneath them. We are all clay. God said, "from dust thou art and unto dust thou shalt return." So there you are.

Well here we are again. Joe and I have just got in from the show. It is as cold as the dickens out tonight. We saw ..... and the scenery was wonderful. The comedy was punk, I thought, but Sonny Boy enjoyed it. I've just got him off to bed so I can finish this without any disturbance.

Your letter tonight, Quo Vadis, should be an inspiration to many to start all over again and try to see life in a different light. Nyrna sure has so much to learn. You are so right Quo Vadis about children making a difference in our lives. I have only one boy but he has changed a powerful lot of my ideas.

You know, Nyrna, you think you are having a gorgeous time, but you are going to look back on those same times with nothing short of disgust and much remorse. It is a slow poison and you cannot escape it if you continue with your so-called real parties.

Your own man may be the first one to tell you you are all wrong. Won't that hurt just terrible, Nyrna? Think it over girlie.

Best of luck to all.

Highflyer

Thank you Highflyer for your very interesting letter, it isn't much wonder the neighbors start asking for you when your letters are longer than usual in appearing. However now, we will know that you only make a practice of writing once a month. Thank you again, for all your letter contained.

Dear Anne:

I am sorry that I let so many days slip by without writing to thank you for the helps received, also for the pattern book which I received Saturday and too, I am sorry for having forgotten to include a stamp in my last letter with coupon for the helps. It was very good of you to send them along anyway. This is not the first time that I overlooked that very necessary but very small and easy to forget article. Each time I received the helps just the same and Marion didn't always get the stamp till days and days after. So I include one now, before it gets to be days after!

I also wish to thank the neighbors for their generous response to my request for recipes. I only wish that I could thank them each separately, but my letter is already lengthy. When I saw my last letter in print, I began to wonder why people get a thrill out of seeing their writings in the paper. I didn't get any thrill, my letter appeared rather dull, I thought, but then we can't all write brilliantly like some of our neighbor writers do. I like to read their letters many of them give one much food for thought and many only make us laugh as that one did which appeared recently giving you such a ranting. I forget the writer's pen name, but if I wrote such an affair I'd soon change my name! It certainly wouldn't do for one in your position to uphold such ideas as hers and one would think that she would realize that. And, as you say, if the girls choose to smoke and drink it's their own choice, but why I ask, tell the world about it and think everyone else is slow and old-fashioned who does not enjoy the same things? Well, I have often heard that 'it takes all kinds of people to make a world,' and I guess it's true, eh?

I must close now, thanking you again Anne also each and every neighbor who sent in recipes. Al.

Thank you Al for the stamps, that was good of you to send it along after. I know how hard it is to always remember to put enclosures in letters!

Dear Anne:

I just came in to tell you how much I enjoy your writings. You give us all such good advice. I wish to consider the popular definition of a good mother. So much depends on the training they give their daughters—re their daughters future success and happiness. The good mother is not the overloving, overindulgent, soft mother. The good mother is the woman who recognizes that life is a fight from start to finish who trains her children for it, and who puts into their hands the weapons with which they win through to victory. She hardens them, she teaches them endurance, she breeds strength and courage and determination into them. You can teach a babe in the cradle to bite back its cries, or to howl for the moon. You can teach a little toddler how to take care of itself and stand on its own feet or else you can make it a weakling that will hang on to somebody's hand as long as it lives. You can teach the smallest child to carry on after it has become discouraged and wants to quit. You can teach it to be efficient, you can teach it habits of industry and thrift and how to handle money even when it has only a few pennies to spend. You can teach it to control its appetites and its temper. You can teach it consideration for other people and politeness and good manners and when you have done these things you have fitted it for life. You have insured its success and happiness. That is what every woman can do for her children. And no mother is a good mother who does not do it.

Remember mother, actions speak louder than words. When a mother's loving hands are busy molding the character of her baby girl and although this little creature is not yet three years old, one does not need to be a prophet to foretell that she will be one of those who will win out in life because she has been trained for it. She will have hosts of friends because she has had graciousness bred into her. From her very cradle she has been taught to respect the rights of others and to regard their feelings. She has been taught not only to show appreciation of everything that is done for her but to add to it some little pretty speech. She will never be rude or ungrateful, or untactful and if there is anything that will carry you farther than always saying just the right thing in the right way in the right place. I don't know what it is. Good manners are a letter of credit the world over that can always be cashed in, and it is of profound mystery why more parents don't provide their children with them.

A little girl is taught courage. When she falls and bumps her nose, the mother should not rush and pick her up and beat the old floor for hurting her poor darling. On the contrary she lets the little toddler get herself up while she sings out, "Mother's brave girl never cries, she doesn't mind a little thing like that." And the baby bites back her sobs and conjuries up a laugh to justify mother's opinion of her bravery.

You don't need anyone to tell you that a little girl who has had that sort of upbringing will not make one of the cry baby women who sit down and weep when they come to the hard sledding in life. Instead of getting up and doing their duty bravely. She will never be a whiner and a complainer. She will meet whatever fate comes to her with a high heart. She will never be a quitter.

I have enjoyed the neighbors' letters very much. I also with to thank those who made special mention of my letters, my one wish is that the world may be a little better because I have lived in it. Wishing you continued success, Lucinda

You have given mothers room for much thought now, Lucinda and I'm sure your letter will be read with interest. Many of us are not thankful enough for the training which we were given while very young.

NEWEST FASHIONS REMINISCENT OF OTHER DAYS

DOTTED THEMES AND SOME NEW FRENCH COLOR SCHEMES

NEW YORK, March 5. (U.P.) — Eye witnesses of the Paris openings show considerable enthusiasm for the models launched, and being now back "on the job" have retained the enthusiasm for the novelty fabrics and ddetails involved.

Fabric variety is one of the talking points of the season, many interesting fabrics being offered.

Polka dot themes are reiterated in descriptions of sheer silks, of heavier crepes and of combination silk and wool fabrics. Satin polka dots on a chiffon ground, in faconne, effect, combining blue and white, describe one featured material. Printed chiffons, printed taffetas, printed crepes are remarked in small, allover patterns of softly blended colors. Tulips, ships, and bouquet motifs are mentioned.

Monotone chiffons are cited in high favor, likewise mousseline de soie in garden and party dresses. A new net, having large woven polka dot motifs, receives praise, and wool voile is cited for sportswear. Laces are highly endorsed.

Color interest divides between the sulphur greens, pink-lilac as shown by Lucile Paray and Germaine Lecomte, and Patour's rose opaline, by itself for sports or evening wear, and as trimming on navy or black for daytime wear. Black is declared very important, also combinations of black and white.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

YOUR STRONGEST SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX.

I once accompanied a guide into one of the forests in Oregon. His equipment consisted of a little flour, a little salt and pepper, some bacon, an axe and a box of matches.

I asked him if he didn't think carrying matches a little effeminate for a big red blooded woodsman, who must know all the craft of the Indians.

He said, "I could get along without them. But they save time. I could get along without anything except what's inside of my head, and I've done it but you city birds are apt to want to live high and eat when you're hungry, so we're carryin' more stuff than we really need."

It occurred to me afterward that this man had in his head everything he needed for existence.

The matches and the flour and the fishing tackle and the rifle were conveniences, handy but quite unnecessary.

Put down in the woods anywhere, he would be able, somehow or other, to eat when he wanted to eat and find plenty of warmth and shelter.

I have known of the same kind of thing when men without any money at all have come to small western towns and in a few years grown independent.

They didn't need money. They had the machinery for making money in their heads, and no one could clap a mortgage on their brains and foreclose.

The knowledge that you stow in your mind is not necessarily power but it becomes power if you employ it intelligently.

Coal in a coal bin is of no use while it is there, but put it under the boiler of an engine and set fire to it and it soon becomes of value.

The knowledge that you tuck away behind your forehead is potential power—the fuel you will use to carry you along whatever road you may be traveling.

Get all of it you can—from teachers, from books, from your own experience.

Your skull is your strongest safety deposit box. While you live and are in health it is burglar-proof.

That is the reason why it is worth while to get the best education you can, to learn to remember things worth remembering, and to think clearly and consecutively, so that you can make the best use of your acquired knowledge.

When you have a stock of it and know how to use it, no matter where you are you will be able to take care of yourself and those dependent on you.

And you will never fear that you will suffer a loss, or that a crash of any sort can deprive you of your chief possessions.

Remember all the men who have risen from nothing to importance and wealth, by getting knowledge and putting it to use.

They are the people who have really "played safe" all their lives.

OUR CHILDREN

BINDING CHILDREN.

Grown people are inclined to bind children by laws, by labels, by other unworthy means, in order to set them on the road to success. It is a very poor method for such a result. The successful child is the free child, free of ignorance, of fear, of inhibitions of healthy expression of personality.

"There you go again, John. My word, if you ever did anything without spilling whatever was in your path I'm sure I don't know what I'd do. Is there anything you haven't knocked over yet All I can think of is the grand piano."

An adolescent boy is very awkward. He is conscious of it to his detriment. The more he dwells on the matter the more trouble he will find in it. When somebody tells him that he is expected to be a bull in a china shop he sinks in his spirit. Discouragement never watered a thirsty soul yet.

"Pig. I might have known you would eat all there was in sight. The more I give you the more you eat. And of course you had to take Betty's pencils. Hadn't enough of your own. You're a born grabber. A pig, if ever there was one. Piggy is a perfectly good name for you."

That won't do either. Call a dog a thief and he'll steal is as true to-day as when it was said in the beginning. Names are a great force. Give the child a good name. Call him by that name, emphasize its obligations and drag the child up to its level. Teach him to call upon his ancestry, his father and his grandfather who bore their names well, in time of trouble, and he will surprise you with his effort to rise. But call him below his name and you drag him down.

And don't, if you really want to help a child make fun of him before ther people by describing him as a booby. If you paint him as a clown, as a ne'er do well, as a misfit, you make him feel a failure. No child willingly accepts that status. He will fight it with might and main, and because his powers, and his weapons are so feeble, he mus resort to demoralizing demonstrations. He will strut, he will swagger, he will pretend, he will commit offences in order to justify himself in the eyes of those before whom he was de-manned.

Sarcasm is unfair and dangerous. Children do not understand it and resent it deeply. Talking at a child angers it and rouses deep and dangerous determination to get back. Kindness, encouragement, a gentle toleration, a fixed faith in goodness and sincerity of effort will do more to free a child of his error than all the unlovely gestures mistaken people make.

Whatever you do or say to a child should have this idea shadowed within it: I do this, to lift a load from this child's spirit.

BROWN CLOTH COMBINED WITH BEAVER MAKES CHARMING COAT.

By Madame Schiaparelli.

For the cold days of late winter and early spring, I have made this model in brown cloth, lining it with beaver. Because I like the combination of beaver and cloth, I have made the scar, collar and one of the sleeves of beaver. Then whether the coat is open or closed, one had the effect of the two materials contrasted. Brown continues to be one of the leading colors of the season.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

"There's no dearth of kindness
In this world of ours;
Only in our blindness,
We gather thorns for flowers."
—Gerald Massey.

• • • • • • •

May I ask you the question, "Do you always repay good for evil, and do a little kindness, no matter how small, when you are given the opportunity?"

• • • • • • •

O, so many times I have come across persons who could or would never forget the evil someone had done them and so they always sought revenge.

• • • • • • •

But I think if they tried hard enough they might at least forgive and not seek revenge. Of course people differ regarding this. Some forgive and forget right away while others have no thought other than revenge.

• • • • • • •

And then there are those who perhaps forgive, but who have nothing more to do with the person who wronged them. They speak, but they do not regard them as a friend.

• • • • • • •

I am like the persons I mentioned last. When someone has wronged me, I forgive, but I do not think as much of that person and I never forget. Many times I have tried not to think of the matter, but it is of no use.

• • • • • • •

Then the majority of people pay good for evil and many times they find that debts of kindness are incurred which they see no way of repaying. It may be that the person who has been kind to you, has everything that you are in a position to give them.

• • • • • • •

But let me tell you that these people are not looking for big rewards. They would think just as much of a smile and earnest, "Thank you so much" as they would a reward of great value.

• • • • • • •

That is true has been proven to me many times; so many in fact that I tell you without hesitation, so that you may sometimes repay for kindness done to you, in this manner.

• • • • • • •

I read one time of a well-known illustrator, who used to take only those pupils which he believed were talented. Others came to him offering money and he refused.

• • • • • • •

To the ones chosen he gave his instruction gratis. The way in which they were to repay him was, at some future time to offer the same kind of encouragement to those whom they found deserving.

• • • • • • •

Can you see what happened? The result was that an ever-widening circle of the most stimulating kind of co-operation was started by this man.

• • • • • • •

There are many different ways of repaying kindnesses, some of which perhaps have extended over a large period of time. You might repay a certain debt by passing a kindness on, not always to the one from whom it was received, but to someone else, in the same spirit as that of the first giver.

• • • • • • •

Perhaps you never thought of repaying a kindness in this way, but it is often done, and the one who first bestowed the kindness, considers his reward is sufficient.

• • • • • • •

And I have heard of people who met the gratitude of those who hesitated to accept help by saying that they would do the same themselves and that they knew they would gladly help out someone else, if ever the chance arose.

• • • • • • •

So there are numerous ways we can repay a debt of kindness and many ways in which we can repay good for evil; so many, in fact, that we cannot find an excuse to get out of it.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

CAN YOU SLEEP TOO MUCH?

A health writer has been recently advising us that we are not getting enough sleep; that the idea of early rising being good for us is a mistake; that we should be in bed until we are completely rested.

Now what about this. Would it be good for all of us to lie in bed until we felt like getting up?

If we awere all in good health, free from all infection, getting up only when we felt like it, might be good advice, good sense.

Sleep is Nature's great blessing to mankind. It isn't just a case of being 'unconscious' for a number of hours; nothing really happening.

As a matter of fact most important things happen when you are asleep. You shut down your mental and physical factories for the time being, and no brain work-thoughts, nor muscle work-exercise, takes place. However the blood, as it is not getting filled with waste products from muscle or brain work while you are sleeping, gets a chance to 'catch' up on its other work and so removes all the waste products from the tissues, and carries them to the places from which they can be removed from the body. And so the building of the body from the food eaten can go on without interruption.

Now some individuals have such a good strong heart and circulation that even if they work hard all day, all the wastes are removed in six or seven hours, and so they are refreshed and ready for the day's work, with that much sleep. Others need more eight hours of good sleep.

But if when morning comes, and you'v slept well eight or nine hours, and you still feel sleepy, should you remain in bed?

No.

Your first thought if you feel this way every morning should be to see your doctor and dentist. If you always fee lazy or tired even after nine hours sleep, there must be some slow infection in you and you should get busy. This infection works the same as when you do physical or mental work. It creates waste or poisons.

So remember that while sleep is as necessary as food, that the desire to sleep after eight or nine hours of complete relaxation, or the desire to sleep at all hours of the day, is usually a sign of infection.

This may be due to bad teeth or tonsils, infected sinus, a sluggish liver or a lazy intestine.

SPLENDID WORK IN TINY OUTPOSTS

Red Cross Stations in Pioneering Sections Save Many Lives.

1,649 OPERATIONS IN 1929

Last year there were 1,649 operations performed in the 22 Outpost Hospitals of the Red Cross scattered throughout the most remote regions of Northern Ontario. When these are emergency operations and the outpost a tiny log cabin dauntlessly set in the wilderness, in charge of one nurse, assisted only infrequently by the hurried visits of an overworked physician, miracles of skill and mercy are performed. A recent case shows just what it means to be in charge of one of these life-saving stations in a pioneering section.

On a quiet Sunday morning, in a northern Ontario village, as the nurse of a tiny Red Cross Outpost started from her hospital door to attend the village service in an adjacent chapel, she paused as an automobile raced up the street. It stopped at the hospital and she sensed an emergency. "Quick, nurse," shouted the district doctor as he quickly descended from the motor, "I have a boy here with a ruptured appendix and I've had to drive him over twenty miles of rough road. It means operating at once. You get things ready while we carry him inside."

The housekeeper whipped up the kitchen range. The nurse hurriendly put the instruments on to boil, and then got ready the little dispensary and operating table. The boy, half unconscious with pain, was bathed and lifted on the table by the doctor and the driver of the car who had been pressed into service as an orderly in white uniform. The housekeeper held the can of ether, and the deft, quick nurse performed all the skilled offices needed by the doctor as he operated. A ruptured appendix. Yes, but also a gangrenous bowel, and pus! A very serious operation, but in an hour it was done and the lad back in bed.

"It's up to you now, nurse," said the doctor, as he jumped into the car to drive thirty miles to the aid of an expectant mother. "Get me on the phone if it is absolutely necessary."

All that night, all the next day and for days afterwards the nurse scarcely left the bedside of John for fear something untoward would happen, so critical was the case. Dead with sleep on the fifth day, she fell into a doze beside a patient, now quiet and easy for the first time. In the end she won for the boy recovered.

It is such cases as this, that make the Red Cross Outpost Hospitals the greatest fatcor in the conservation of life on our frontiers. Among the 6,840 patients cared for in these Ontario Outpost last year, were 443 young mothers, who were given expert assistance at child-birth.

LADYSMITH RELIEVED THIRTY YEARS AGO

Recollections of the Four Months Heavy Fighting in Which General Sir Redvers Buller Sought Vainly, But Finally Successfully, to Effect Relief of The Beleagured Garrison in Natal

To a great number of the men and women of the present generation the word "Ladysmith" conveys little meaning. To those who are somewhat older it recalls a red letter day in the history of the now almost forgotten South African war. But to those who took part in its relief Ladysmith conjures up memories of discomfort and suffering voluntarily undergone, of hardships cheerfully enjoyed, and of deeds of heroism and courage that are written on the imperishable scroll of the history of the British Empire.

It is just thirty years ago today since General Redvers Buller made his official entry into the little town of Ladysmith in Northern Natal after more than four months of struggling to relieve a British garrison that was beleaguered there. For those four long months the besieged force under Sir George White had battled against tremendous odds, daily exposed to accurate and deadly shell fire from the big guns that dominated the town, facing hardship, privation, short rations, sickness, fever and continuous strain. For four months the relieving force growing from a mere handful in early November until it had become an army of forty thousand "horse and foot" hewed and hacked its bloody way through the most difficult country, rendered more dangerous to the relieving force because every large stone might give cover to a Boer marksman.

The vastness of the Great War that was to shake the foundations of the world fifteen years later has by contrast tended to minimize the dangers and the efforts of the men who fought in South Africa. When armies are counted in the hundreds of thousands and shells are exploded by the million, the intensity of the struggle that was fought out along the banks of the Tugela River seems to have lost some of its reality.

In fighting in which mine craters, poison gas and far more powerful explosives than man had hitherto conceived were utilized, the world tends to forget or to belittle the part played in South Africa thirty years ago. They refuse to believe that men fought with the same demoniac courage and the same unselfish devotion that was displayed during the dark years of 1914-1918.

Dark Days of Fall

The seige began on October 30 in one of the darkest weeks of the history of the British Empire. Two veteran British regiments in covering the flanks of the retreat of Sir George White's withdrawal on Ladysmith had been almost annihilated. The force which laid down its arms at Nicholson's Nek in the last week of October, 1899, was the largest British company that had surrendered to a foreign foe since the days of the weak leadership of the Duke of York in Flanders. A fairly large force had been hustled somewhat ignominiously into Ladysmith, their guns outshot and their cavalry paralyzed owing largely to the contours of the country in which the operations were conducted.

One piece of luck fell to British arms during these days. Almost at the eleventh hour by an example of foresight which was almost miraculous, some of the naval guns, of H.M.S. ous, some of the naval guns of H.M.S. the nick of time. These long thin-barrelled "4.7's" supplemented by two old fashioned "6.3" Howitzers manned by the few remaining survivors of No. 10 Battery were the only answers which the beleagured force could give to the great barrage of 96 pound shells which came screaming and hurling death daily from the hills which surrounded the town.

The two hills which held the key to the position were known as Lombard's Kop and Bulwana. Both were in the hands of the Boers. Sir George White made the most of his opportunities for defence and established a line with a perimeter of about fourteen miles. To defend the town and to hold this line he had a force to begin with of a little less than 12,000 men. It has always been a surprise to those who have studied military tactics that the Boer general in command did not mask the beleaguered garrison and sweep past the small relieving army on to Durban and the seacoast. Nothing but the ocean waves could have stopped their advance. The weakness of the defenders' position lay at a point nnown at Caesar's camp, and it was on this point that the Boers concentrated their main attacks. On Nov. 7 the first serious attack on this position was made and was stoutly repulsed by the men of the Manchester regiment. Two days later the attack was renewed, but although the Boers on this occasion came within 500 yards of the British line they met with so determined a resistance that they gave up the attempt in the evening after an all-day battle.

Red Letter Day

December 8 is a red letter day in the annals of what are known as the operations in Natal. At 10 o'clock at night six hundred men picked from the various irregular bodies of Light Infantry that were in the Ladysmith force such as the Imperial Light Horse and the Natal Carbineers, started out from the heart of the city under General Hunter, one of the youngest but one of the most fearless and dashing of British leaders. They advanced until they discerned the dark shadows of Gun Hill above them. This was their objective for at the crest of this hill was posted one of the huge Creusot guns that the "peace loving" Paul Krugar had purchased in Europe twelve months before in anticipation of just such an eventuality. Four hundred men were left at the base while the others began to scale the hill. Slowly and quietly they crept forward until there was a tiny spit of fire and a Mauser rifle cracked out.

"Come on boys, fix bayonets and charge," shouted Harri Davies, that brave Australian who had become known in the days of the Jamieson raid.

Davies knew perfectly well that there wasn't a bayonet in his whole company but the Boers behind the Creusot did not. The gunners turned and fled. Out with the huge breech block. Wrap the long lean muzzle with a collar of nitro-glycerine! The only light is a dim night light which some one touches to the tube. There is a roar as the huge gun rears from its mountings and topples over taking with it a Howitzer muzzle. Strangely enough a little Maxim which was close at hand seems undamaged so it is taken back as loot by that little band of fearless men who had written another small page in the records of British daredevil courage.

There were heart burnings in the little town of Ladysmith when this nondescript force came back to the town and the news of their brilliant adventure went the rounds of the encampments. Three nights later men of the crack Rifle Brigade emulated the example of the Irregulars and put the gun on Surprise Hill out of commission with dynamite.

Heavy Artillery Fire

Yet in spite of these successes the artillerymen on the Boer side were shooting with increasing accuracy one day in December a single shell killed six men, wounded thirteen more and destroyed fourteen horses. Three days later another missle dropped in the midst of the ranks of the Carabineers killing six outright and seriously injuring fourteen more.

Then came the last and the most serious attempt of the Boers to rush the defences and to break through Caesar's Camp. On January 6 the Boers delivered their great assault on Ladysmith. So gallantly was this attack made, and so courageously was it repulsed that it deserves to rank as one of the cameo classics of British military history. The storming party was made up of chosen volunteers led by a man who did not know what fear was—Commandant de Villiers. The storming party was supported by five thousand of the enemy and for two days and nights there was a fight for possession of the ridge. Had that ridge fallen into the hands of the Boers the town of Ladysmith would have passed into enemy hands and much of the history of the South African war would have had to be written differently. The Boers fought their way right into the emplacements of the British guns and hand to hand encounters took place with firing at point blank range. De Villiers himself shot and killed Miller-Wallnut, a great Berserk viking, who was leading a detachment of the gallant Gordons. In a flash Ian Hamilton had drawn his revolver. He fired point blank at the intrepid Boer leader—and missed.

Young Albrecht of the Imperial Light Horse, however, took better aim and de Villiers fell pierced through the brain. Then a Boer shot Albrecht, only to fall in his turn from the hand of Digby Jones of the Sappers. This was a Homeric contest worthy of the best of British traditions and worthy of the men engaged in it. Yet what a toll of life it took. Lord Ava, the fiery, impetuous Dick-Cunningham, the stalwart Miller-Wallnut, cheery Dennie Adams, fearless Packman of the Light Horse, and chivalrous Lafone. The Imperial Light Horse, a volunteer force, had ten officers down that day and a junior captain led the remnant of the reziment back to the camp.

No Surrender

Although this was the last attack the Boers were to make there were the long and wearisome days and nights in store for the garrison. Day after day the winking heligraph flashed its messages, alternating between hope and despair. Only once did that heliograph carry a sentence of which the relieving force was ashamed. On the day folloing the failure of the first battle of Colenso, General Redvers Buller heliued to Sir George White, "I tried Colenso yesterday and failed. The enemy is too strong for my force except with siege operations. I suggest that you fire away as much ammunition as you can and make the best terms. . . ."

Instantly Sir George flashed back his message:

"I will not think of making terms until I am forced to. Things may look brighter. The loss of 12,000 men would be a heavy blow to England. We must not think of it."

* * *

The efforts of the relieving force to raise the siege may be divided into four main periods.

(a)—The early operations ending with the first battle of Colenso.

(b)—The operations culminating in Spion Kop.

(c)—The advance by way of Vaalkrantz.

(d)—The final assault and the battle of Pieter's Hill.

The first two weeks of November were critical days for the relieving army, for it was not until Nov. 9 that the first reinforcements reached South Africa. Sleepless days and nights . . . constantly engaging small bodies of the enemy . . . fighting backwards and then standing ... a short advance...weariness of body ...scarcity of food...water foul and slimy...biscuits and bully beef and coffee...no tents...no blankets... heavy rains of November in Natal ..this little force fought valiantly and doggedly in its successful effort to harass the advancing and threatening enemy force.

By the time General Buller was ready to make his first major attack the advance guard was beyond Chievely Camp and General Buller moved out of that place on the morning of December 15, 1899, at the head of the largest army which a British general had commanded since the Crimea. Not all the 21,000 men were engaged during the next eight hours, for one division of the four into which that army was divided took practically no part in the fighting. General Barton refused to send aid to Dundonald, who commanded the composite brigade of Irregular Horse, which made a desperate assault on Hlangwane Hill, while General Lyttleton's hands were tied throughout most of the day.

Loss Of Guns

General Buller was well served with artillery for in Col. Long he had an artillery officer who had won fame but a short time before at Omdurman, under the great Kitchener. There were five batteries of field artillery and 16 naval guns from H.M.S. Terrible. It was under a cloudless sky that shortly before five o'clock the columns moved out to Chievely Camp. The main objective was the capture of the Coleno River bridge and the battle for possession of that bridge was fought on a front of eight miles. Before the advancing army lay the long level stretches of the veld, seemingly quiet and peaceful in the rapidly disappearing haze of an African summer morning. It seemed almost a crime for the naval guns to hurl their foul smelling lyddite shells on the far bank of the river and to break the peace of the landscape. Under cover of the guns the columns advanced further and further. There seemed no opposition to their forward move, the battle seemed over without a shot being fired by the enemy. Then a rifle rang out, and in a few seconds a hundred bullets had spoken from behind a hundred rocks and from the deep trenches that the enemy had dug along the river bank. Enemy artillery, carefully hidden, began to bellow in hoarse tones, and the men were caught on the open plains with no visible foes. There had been no adequate scouting of the position the day before. It had not been the custom of British generals to survey a position before the battle. The battle was over. No need to tell of the useless slaughter. The losses of the British guns is one of the dark pages of the history of the Natal campaign. Long had advanced his guns as far forward as he had advanced them against the Arabs and the battery was in an absolutely untenable position. The efforts made to save those guns is one of the bright spots of the day of mourning.

What of Col. Long himself, who had blundered. When he was lying with one bullet through his arm and another that had gashed a great groove through his liver he refused for a time to be carried to the sheltering donga under cover of the Red Cross. He seemed to be infatuated with the sight of the guns fringed with mained and dying men, with furiously sweating gunners still trying to save what they could.

"Abandoned be damned," yelled Col. Long. "British gunners don't abandon their guns."

General Buller and Clery rode close up, and with their three aides, Congrieve, Schofield and young Roberts, the only son of the great Field Marshal, who volunteered to save the guns. They headed a rescue party and brought back two of them at tremendous cost.

Apart from the loss of the guns and of young Roberts and scores of other brave fellows the day was a sad one for under that blizzard of lead the British lost over 1,200 on the open veld and nothing had been gained.

On Spion Kop.

There was a pause and soon after Christmas came preparations for the next assault through Spion Kop. It was a battle that began successfully and ended disastrously. This was a North of England day for in addition to the 150 men of Thorneycroft's Mounted Infantry, almost all the troops engaged were composed of Lancaster lads. All that long day the "pom-poms" and other guns of the enemy raked that hill and the Boers advanced nearer and nearer. Dead and dying, the bleeding and the wounded, suffering the tortures of the damned, lay in little inert piles, some of the squirming and others tragically still, some silent and others screaming in their agony for water that the loss of blood under that torrid African sun was made so necessary. Before nightfall a heroic effort was made by the Rifle Brigade to relieve pressure on their comrades at the top of the hill and it was in this sortie that the gallant Colonel Riddell fell. These were not the days for colonels with gold lace or cushy jobs. The colonels led their men and the rifles of the enemy mowed down Chisholm, Dowman, Wilford Gunning, Sherston, Thackeray, Sitwell, McCarthy, O'-Leary and Airlie. All these soldiers thought it an honor to lead their men into the very jaws of hell.

Whether Col. Thornycroft, who took command when Woodgate fell should have remained at the top of the hill at the end of the day is a debatable point. But with 7,300 dead and dying within sound of him he chose the retirement—to the surprise of the Boers as was subsequently proved in that they too had retired with heavy losses at the end of the day.

Another three weeks waiting and then the advance through Vaalkrantz. Again a footing was secured across the Tugela. Again real progress seemed to be in the making and again the army was turned back. At the very moment when General Hillyard was planning the details of the forward movement the orders came from headquarters to abandon the advance and retire in good order. Then came the final thrust. Learning by the lessons of the past four months and with the pressure relieved from the rear by the success of Lord Roberts the army of General Buller which had been gathering strength moved forward slowly and doggedly in the direction in which they had been looking for those dreary, dark four months. For thirteen days a continuous artillery and infantry action was fought. Inch by inch the ground was wrested from the enemy until on the last day of February, 1900, General Dundonald was able to push his advance onward to the very outskirts of Ladysmith.

"Halt who comes there?" challenged the sentry.

And for the first time for over four months the echoing answer came back:

"Friend."

Ladysmith was relieved.

PRESBYTERY FAVORS LEGISLATIVE STAND

Refusal of Clearance Papers For Liquor Export Meets With Favor.

COBOURG, March 7.—At a recent meeting of the Evangelism and Social Service Committee of the Cobourg Presbytery of the United Church it was recommended that the following petition be sent to Premier Mackenzie King and also the local Member of Parliament:

Re Export of Liquor

"That this Presbytery of Cobourg in the United Church of Canada, consisting of 25 pastoral charges, expresses its pleasure at the announcement of the intention of the Premier and Government of Canada to introduce legislation to enable the refusal of clearance papers to vessels loaded with liquor for importation into the United States of America contrary to the laws of that country.

With the reductions in revenue from lowered postage rates and sales tax, and the heavy reductions of the National debt, and the achievement of a balanced budget. We realize the serious pressure and antagonism there may arise against any further loss of revenue, and especially from interested parties.

Yet this Presbytery now in session at Port Hope in Ontario is sincerely convinced that a firm stand on the moral issues involved, will have the endorsation and approval of the people of Canada as a whole; and conduce towards friendlier relations with our neighbour across the border and greater law enforcement and international respect.

We therefore respectfully petition and urge the Prime Minister and his cabinet to be steadfast in their purpose, and introduce the proposed measure as Government legislation at the approaching session of the House of Commons, and assuring him of our loyalty and appreciation.

We further commend the Premier for his leadership in the cause of world peace, and pray for his guidance at this time of particular crisis in world events. We pray that Canada may ever take a leading part in promoting international good will and understanding; in the transfer of the world's resources into the arts of peace, and against all exploitations of weaker peoples and for the well being of the people as against the exigences of Nationalism and competitive commerce."

The following report which is quoted in part was also adopted: "The Presbytery recognises the great significance and endorses the movement on this continent for the restoring of the Pentecostal Festival to its rightful place in the Church Calander, as celebrating the birthday of the Christian Church, the transference of the Master's Mission to the Christian Society, and its apprehension of the Living Lord and the irresistable dynamic of His spirit. We stress the point that with the challenge to Evanagelisation that confronts the church there comes an equally insistent demand for the Christianisation of the church community at the centre, etc."

The Committee on Evangelism and Social Service of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada have arranged a series of meetings in the following places for the discussion of social questions: March 12th, Kingston; March 13th, Port Hope, March 14th, Bridge Street Church Belleville.

The subjects to be dealt with are vital and an opportunity will be given to all present to participate in discussions. It is expected that a large number of people will be present at all the meetings. The subjects to be dealt with are: The Child, "Is Value and Rights", by Miss Elizabeth King, the Canadian Council of Child Welfare; "Temperance in Canada" Rev. John Cobourn, the board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church; "Public Health" Mrs. A. Hagarth, Provincial Department of Public Health, will discuss this subject and will be assisted by moving pictures; "Delinquency" Rev. D. N. McLachlan, D.D., the Board of Evangelism and Social Service.

SENSATIONAL CURLING OF LOCAL JUNIOR CURLERS IS FEATURE OF OSHAWA 'SPIEL

Amys Rink Eliminated By Ultimate Winners in Semi-final Round 9-8.

CLEAN-CUT VICTORIES.

Lambert of Oshawa and Wice of Thornhill Capture Oshawa Events.

OSHAWA, March 7. The Oshawa Curling Club's annual bonspiel was concluded yesterday afternoon, when the finals in the three main events were played and the presentation of the silverware made to the victorious rinks. The McLaughlin Trophy, emblematic of the championship in the main event, was won by H. Lucas, of Cobourg, who defeated D. H. Mayhew's strong Colborne rink by 11 to 7. Oshawa got its only trophy in the Sykes competition, when an all-Oshawa final resulted in A. Lambert's rink scoring a 12 to 6 victory over T. Fishleigh. The final for the Eaton Trophy consolation event resulted in an easy win for R. Wice's Thornhill quartet, with A. Barton, of Oshawa, the runner-up. At the conclusion of play the trophies were presented to the victorious skips by the Oshawa club.

A feature of the three-day 'spiel was the sensational work of Peterborough's junior Tankard winners, as the four boys led by J. H. Amys, himself under 20 years of age, were only eliminated in the semi-final round of the McLaughlin, when H. Lucas, of Cobourg, the ultimate champion, defeated them 9 to 8. In the first three rounds of the trophy the boys, whose spectacular work drew attention of the major part of the gallery, took clean-cut victories from some of the smartest rinks in the 'spiel. The conclusion terminated one of the most successful 'spiels held by the Oshawa club, and high praise on the conduct of the event was extended to the club by the many visiting rinks. Forty-four started the competition on Tuesday, including rinks from the entire district. The scores:

BUFFALO CLUB LENGTHENS LEAD OVER PANTHERS TO FIVE POINTS

Ronnie Martin Scores Two of His Team's Four Counters in First and Last Frames.

FIRST WIN FOR FALLS.

TORONTO, Ont., March 7 (C.P.)—Buffalo Bisons practically clinched second place in the International Hockey League last night by decisively defeating their nearest rivals, London Panthers, four to one, in the Forest City. The Bisons now have a five-point margin over the Panthers who are tied for third place with Detroit.

Ronnie Martin, right winger of the Buffalonians, scored two of his team's four goals. He opened the scoring in the first session and ended the tallying in the last frame on Carl Voss' pass. Gross netted for the winners in the opening frame to give them a two goal lead. Johnny Sorrell reduced the margin for London in the second period by scoring on Eddie Rodden's pass. Six minutes later, however, Lloyd Gross scored unassisted to again put his team two up.

First Win for Falls

In the other game scheduled Niagara Falls registered their first victory of the season over Hamilton Tigers, defeating them five to two. The teams are out of the running insofar as the league championship is concerned but they waged an exciting battle nevertheless. By winning the Cataracts vacated last place to Toronto.

The games will be played to-night, bringing together four of the five teams struggling for the play-off positions. London will visit Toronto. Detroit journeys to Hamilton to meet the Tigers. The league leading Cleveland Indians cross over to meet the Bulldogs in Windsor.

Belleville Collegiate Beats Ports on Round

BELLEVILLE, March 7. — Playing fine hockey, Belleville Collegiate's team was successful in defeating Port Hope, 2 to 0 here last night, in the second game of the semi-finals for the Central Ontario Interscholastic title. The locals beat the Ports 4 to 1 in the first game and won the round 6 to 1. They were vastly superior last night and there was no question as to the ultimate winner from the start. They will meet the winner of the Oshawa-Whitby series in the finals.

The first two periods were listless in spots and the two goalers had very little to do. The locals, nowever, came to life in the third period and ran in two goals in three minutes and then they played a safe defensive game. McDonald and Graves were the marksmen, Hughes, on the defence, was the best man on the ice for the homesters, and his thrusts were always dangerous. Graves and T. Dennis played splendid games, while McDonald and Mott gave nice displays up on the forward line. Sherry played a strong game for the visitors, while Cancilla made several spectacular saves. Teams:

Belleville — Goal, McKinnon; defence, Hughes and Byrnes; centre, McDonald; wings, St. Dennis and Graves; subs., Mott, Champaign, and Barriage.

Port Hope — Goal, Cancilla; defence, Sherry and Pethick; centre, Berbert; wings, Roache and Sneyd; subs., Meeking, Nattress and Davidson

IROQUOIS SEXTET GETS LEAD OVER THE PARIS GREENSHIRTS

Northerners Secure Six Goal Advantage in Allan Cup Play-downs.

PARIS BELOW FORM.

TORONTO, March 7. (C.P.) — Iroquois Falls, senior champions of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association breezed through to a decisive six to nothing victory over Paris, Ont., hockey association intermediate champions in the first of their two game Allan cup elimination series here last night.

The game was not of the spectacular variety. The Parisians were off-color somewhat as the result of the gruelling they had been subjected to in their play off games. In addition they were outweighed considerably and the contest indicated senior champions of the north are still superior to southern Ontario Intermediate titleholders.

Backed by a reliable rear guard, the Eskimos started after goals from the opening face off. It was nearly the end of the first period, however, before they got their first score, Lavinge the pudgy defence player, bringing on the red light with a close-in shot.

In the second frame the northern champions opened up a bit after the halfway mark had been reached and notched four markers, all following combination thrusts. They added another in the last frame to secure their six goal margin to take to Galt for the second game, March 8.

Hamilton lovers of hockey will move to Toronto to-night to see their popular yellow and black clad senior B champions clash with University of Toronto senior A titleholders, in the first of their two game Allan Cup elimination series.

Varsity have represented Ontario for the last two years in the playdowns while the last time Tigers participated in amateur hockey's greatest quest was back in 1924.

"CACKLE OF CENTURIES" SURE TO RE-ECHO ABOUT WHOLE BASEBALL WORLD

New York American Sports Writer Predicts Owner Will "Strike Out" His Home Run Expert By "Curving Up" Some Unhittable Physiological Facts.

COLONEL RUPPERT CANNOT SEE PRESENT CONTRACT TERMS OUTLINED BY BAMBINO

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7.—On the eve of the Cackle for the 'Centuries' all is serene in the camp of the Yankees. G. Herman Ruth, who is to plead for one hundred more century notes than the club has offered him, went about his Spring conditioning this morning with what might be classified as financial unconcern.

Babe practiced about Crescent Lake Park, defying its third straight program of chill breezes, as if in happy accord with the world in general and annuities in particular. It will be recalled that Babe, in a recent—or perhaps it was solely a signature jib—held up those annuities as the lifesaver whenever he might choose to take the overboard dive from baseball into retirement.

While Ruth went about his work nonchalantly, now and then reaching for a bot, one of Sammy Murdock's Seaboard trains was hurrying the good colonel down to remind the Bambino that three-year contracts and $85,000 salaries run more to foolish figures than to common sense.

"If you can arrange to turn the clock back about six years, submit to a major operation for the removal of that bay window, and get back some of that elastic around the knees, the contract is yours without a struggle," will be the tenor of the colonel's opening speech.

And Babe, sitting there silently, will seem to hear what he has so often heard at the plate.

"Strike One."

The Colonel will take his time, rub an imaginary ball between his palms and come back with something like this:

Doc King tells me that the old ticker isn't what it used to be and that if you had to run out those drives of yours that hill between second and third base might be too tough. You know you had to quit baseball for a time last Summer, and he made you quit bowling this Winter.

And a strange voice from somewhere will speak again in tones that are not unfamiliar:

"Strike two."

While Babe seems to hear the far-off fans telling him to play it out and hit one a mile, he begins to feel that this strange pitcher, like Hub Pruett, of another day,

BABE RUTH

has his number. Ruppert kills more time and then puts everything on the next pitch.

$85,000 For One Year

"Tell you what I'll do, Ruth. I'll give you $85 000 for this year and if you prove you are worth it you know in your heart you will have no trouble getting big money again next year. Make it a year to year affair. A player skidding toward the flabby forties can fade overnight. How about $85,000 for one year?"

"Can't you hear the umpire calling:

"Strike three!"

Instead of walking back to the bench Babe will ask for time to reconsider on that two-year document at $75 000 per year. Perhaps the going won't be so good through 1930, and it wouldn't be a bad idea to be fixed up for 1931.

When the meeting adjourns it will be announced that both sides are satisfied. The Colonel will slap Babe on the back and George will agree that he is a great old Colonel after all.

Thus to those in the Yankee camp see the finish of the Cackle for the Centuries. Babe will get plenty and the Colonel will bring this little controversy to the same happy ending which has been the finale of all past differences with his players. New York fans will be assured of another Summer of baseball from contented maulers.

Brennan As Umpire

Colonel Ruppert will be accompanied here by B. Clarke, Jr., his attorney, and by Al Brennan, debonair secretary. Babe may find out after the conference that Brennan was the fellow who hid in the room and served as the distant voiced umpire who called him out on strikes. Ed Barrow is remaining in New York but Babe will keep one eye peeled on the door, expecting Ed to pop through at any minute.

But when it's all over, it will all be in fun. So nobody down here can get up excitement over the impending clash.

NINE HURLERS TAKE PART IN FIRST WORKOUT

Guy Cantrell on Hand—Catcher Wise Impresses Pilot O'Neill.

PHILLIPS BEHIND PLATE.

Cantrell Looking Forward to Best Season in His Baseball Career.

Tarpon Springs, Fla., March 7. — Manager Stephen Francis O'Neill of the Toronto Baseball Club issued his first work call of the Spring training season here yesterday, and it was answered by nine pitchers and three catchers as the Leafs opened their new camp. The backstops included the boss himself.

Guy Cantrell and Clarence Fisher were the only left over pitchers from last season's team on hand for the initial canter, the others being Regis Leheny, former University of Niagara Falls left hander, who toiled for Scranton of the New York-Pennsylvania League part of the 1929 campaign; Carleton Carr, who is from Springfield, Ohio; Bill Gwathney, who tossed them over for Wheeling, West Virginia; Sig Vick, Waterloo, Iowa; Art Phillips, Fort Worth; Noble the Toronto boy; and Lestereck, whoever he may be.

Wise Impresses O'Neill.

Eddie Phillips, last season with Detroit, and in 1928, with the Leafs, and Hughey Wise, in addition to O'Neill, were the catchers on hand and though the workout was nothing more or less than a limbering up affair the way Wise handled himself made a fine impression on the Toronto pilot. Wise was with Canton in the Central League last season and is well named, being a professor at the University of Purdue. He is a big fellow, six feet tall and weighing 180 pounds and boasts the reputation of being a slugger of parts.

The majority of the players arrived here on Wednesday, but too late to do any work, and for that reason O'Neill postponed the first practice until yesterday. O'Neill and his brother, Jimmy, who will be the Leafs' coach, came in last Saturday, while Joe Harris, veteran outfielder, and Josh Billings, pitcher from Detroit, checked in this evening. The weather was almost perfect for toiling ball players though it has been generally cool throughout Florida.

Guy Cantrell motored the whole distance here from his home in Oklahoma, and appears to be in even better condition than when he reported a year ago. He is looking forward to the coming season in his baseball career.

YOUNG STARS TO BE DAVIS CUP NUCLEUS

Lott, Van Ryan and Allison Main Reliance of American Tennis Squad.

NEW YORK, March 7.—George M. Lott, Jr. of Chicago, John Van Ryan of East Orange, N.J., and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, the three young members of the United States' Davis Cup team who got their first baptism of fire in a challenge round last year against France, will compose the nucleus of the American Davis Cup squad for 1930, according to announcement made yesterday by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Although a squad of seventeen was named last December, among whom were the veterans William Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, the first two ranking players of the country, it is likely that the three players named above will compose the team, unless any of the other players show to particular advantage in the Southern tournaments.

Tilden and Hunter have both stated that they will not be candidates for the team this year, and yesterday's announcement by the U. S. L. T. A. stated that the association plans to enter a team of young players in the American zone matches, and if it wins in this area, to send a team of "comparatively young players to Europe for the interzone final."

OTTAWAS HAVE 4 MORE GAMES; ASSURED OF PLACE IN PLAY-OFF

Senators Play Detroit on Saturday and Then Tackle Maroons.

MONTREAL PLAYS LEAFS.

Boston Only Team Certain of Maintaining Present Position.

OTTAWA, March 7.—With a play-off berth practically cinched and the question of whether they will finish first, second or third, a matter of days, Ottawas are marking time before they play their next scheduled engagement which will be with Detroit Cougars in the Motor City on Saturday night. Then they hop back here and stand over till Tuesday, when they go to Montreal to meet Maroons in the final game of the inter-city series between these noted rivals. Two further games with Americans, one at New York and the other at Atlantic City, will wind up the regular season as far as Senators are concerned.

Then come the playoffs and at present writing the exact personnel of the Canadian section representatives is known definitely but how they will compete is another matter. For instance, Canadiens and Maroons play each other to-night at Montreal and if Canucks win they will be tied for first place. Both look as though they might be playing possum with the possibility of meeting the Bruins in the finals not at all to their liking.

Everyone Pleased

Ottawa's victory over Maroons has had a splendid reaction in the Capital and the game was on the lips of every fan yesterday. In the downtown coffee shops where hockey patrons congregate in the usual duos and trios as they munch their victuals, Ottawas' play was a matter of lively discussion. Everyone seemed pleased and there were free predictions made that the team will go far once they strike the playoffs. Ottawas are ready for all-comers and will be decided factors in the eventual settling of the possession of Stanley Cup this year.

There has been considerable activity around the N.H.L. circuit of late and the playoff question is beginning to agitate the magnates. In Montreal they are gazing on Ottawas with anxious eyes and the sudden rush of Senators has the controlling powers in Maroon and Canadien camps guessing. They do not relish the idea of Ottawas coming along and knocking them off their lofty pedestal and there should be a grand old struggle between Canucks and Maroons to-night.

MONTREAL PLAYS LEAFS

TORONTO, March 7.—Montreal Maroons practically clinched the leadership of the Canadian section of the National League last night by defeating the Canadiens 4 to 0, the victory giving the Maroons a four-point lead with only three more games to play, two of them being against the Maple Leafs—here to-night and in Montreal next Saturday, and at home against the Ottawa Senators. One more victory will put the Maroons in a position from which they cannot be dislodged, and then it will be the Bruins and Maroons for the bruising best three out of five game series. In the four games played so far this season the Leafs have won one and tied one, and they have hopes of making a better showing before the two games are played.

While the Leafs cannot improve their position during their remaining five games, they are hopeful of giving the Maroons and Chicago Hawks lots of worry before they get their play-off positions. The Leafs have but two games at home, the last one being Tuesday evening, when the Pittsburgh Pirates play here. In between to-morrow's game and Tuesday's engagement the locals make a flying trip to Detroit on Sunday to complete their series with the Cougars.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

Despite a long "huddle" on the Palm Beach sands between Heinie Manush and Manager Bill Killifer, the slugging St. Louis Brownie was still a holdout today.

The Brooklyn Robins have discovered a battery that can get along without signals unless some undiscovered Morberg turns up in the National League. With assistant Adolfo Luqu, and young Alfonso Lopez, catching, the instructions can be passed in their native Spanish with no one the wiser.

Ten games won for the Phillies, and the season more than a month away; that's the big news given out to-day by Grover Cleveland Alexander, pitcher emeritus of the team.

"I'm going to win at least 10 games," Alexander declared today as he started for the ball yard at Winter Haven, Fla. "My arm is great."

Manager Donie Bush has just decided how his Chicago White Sox will line up against the New York Giants in the opening games of the exhibition season Saturday. Vic Frasier, recruit hurler, is to start for the ambitious Sox, with Ed Walsh, Jr., and Ted Lyons sharing the mound task. Berg and Riddle will divide the catching.

Gus Suhr, new first baseman of the Pittsburg Pirates has fielded sensationally, and in batting practice is hitting them far and often at Paso Robles, Cal.

Glenn Myatt, veteran catcher, and Zeke Bonura, whose future status with the Cleveland Indians depends much on whether the ailing Lew Fonseca returns to condition, held the home run honors of the Tribe to-day. Both crashed out long drives in the first batting practice of the season at New Orleans yesterday.

Two of the Washington Nations players have been given ultimatums by Clark Griffith. Griffith has written Catcher Roy Spencer that if the latter does not accept terms by next Saturday, he will be assessed $100, suspended and required to get into condition at his own expense. As to Outfielder Leon "Goose" Goslin, it was intimated drastic action was planned in this case, also, if he fails to come to terms by next Sunday, the date he has been ordered to report.

Manager Bob Shawkey of the New York Yankees does not intend to let the coming duel between Colonel Jacob Ruppert and Babe Ruth over the question of the Bambino's salary overshadow other events in the Yankee training camp. He has assigned Ruth to the rookie team for practices.

DRAFTSMEN WIN FIRST GAME 2-1

Defeat Tool Room No. 2 Sextet in Closely Contested Struggle.

AGGRESSIVE HOCKEY.

The Drafting Room won the first game of the C.G.E. Shop Hockey league finals last night at the Brock street arena when they crossed sticks with the Tool Room No. 2 team to win 2-1 in a fast and very closely contested battle that thrilled a big crowd of fans, the majority of whom expected to see the Toolmakers absorb a liberal coat of whitewash.

The result however was quite the reverse as the Group 2 champions trotted out a finished brand of aggressive hockey that gave the Draftsmen a busy night and except for a fluke the score would have been 1-1.

The Toolmakers scored the first goal midway through the first period when Craig passed to Milliken inside their opponent's blue-line and the latter found the net with a fast, waist high shot. The Drafting forwards resorted to very little combination in this period, and their long shots were carefully blocked by Hollingsworth. Connors and Milliken whipped several long shots at Kearns which were dead on but the Drafting goalie played his usual brilliant game and turned them aside.

The Drawing Makers took the lead in the second period when Davis worked in close to score while the second goal came shortly after on Masterson to Rooke play which gave Hollingsworth no chance. The Drafting Room played their usual line-up with the exception of Howe on defence, who was out of town.

The third period was scoreless, with the Drafting getting in the most shots, giving Hollingsworth a chance to turn in a superb exhibition of finished goal-minding. Thornton, Davis and Rooke were the best for the winners, while Graham, Connors and Milliken were outstanding for the Toolmakers.

The teams:

Drafting Room—Goal, Kearns; defence, Davis and Masterson; centre, Allen; wings, Thornton and Rooke; alternates, Palmer and Meagher.

Tool Room 2—Goal Hollingsworth; defence, Connors and Griffin; centre Craig; wings, Graham and M'Illiken; alternates, Muir, Hughes and Earle.

The annual bowling tournament between the Peterborough C.G.E. and the Toronto Davenport Works will take place to-morow at the Duffus Recreation Academy when a contingent of 120 Toronto pin spillers will match their skill on the polished maple against an equal number from the local plant.

This tournament has been growing more popular with each succeeding year and arrangemetns have been made this time to make the event a real gala affair. The evening's entertainment will start with a banquet at the Empress Hotel, and immediately after this the game will be rolled off, and to complete the program a dance will be held in the Canadian Legion Hall starting at 9 o'clock, with "Tap" Thirnbeck and his Blue Blowers providing the music.

UNEXPECTED HALT IN CAGE SCHEDULE

Local Squad May Meet Winner of Belleville-Trenton Series.

An unexpected delay has cropped up in the Peterborough Collegiate basketball squad's progress in inter-scholastic basketball. Although P.C.I. is not working on O.B.A. schedule, it was understood that, having won the honors of the western section in Central Ontario, the squad would meet the winners of the eastern section.

Belleville High School is at present on top in the eastern section, but has not yet met Trenton High School, the winners of the Quinte group, to decide the divisional leadership.

The winner between Belleville and Trenton would play off with P.C.I. if custom of former years is followed, but it has not yet been decided whether Belleville and Trenton will play off. In the meantime, while matters are being arranged, the P.C.I. lads will have a forced lay-off.

ADANAC SQUAD WINNERS 2 TO 1

Juvenile Teams Battle Through Sixty Minutes of Tough Hockey on Mushy Ice.

Eddie Wright's Adanacs won last night's game of the play-offs for the juvenile championship of the City League from the Tigers by a 2-1 count at the Brock Street Rink. The game was played on mushy ice and both squads spent a tough 60 minutes.

As a result of last night's game another game will be required to decide the championship. The Tigers took the first of the play-offs.

The Adanacs got their first goal in the first period when Gainey took a pass from Kingdon and registered about ten minutes in the period. Persistent struggling through the rest of the session failed to bring reward to either line-up.

In the second period the count was evened when Prete took a pass right in front of the Adanac goal, and shoved the disc into the cage. The tie continued until the third stanza when Wright took a pass from Begley and shot one hard and high past McCarl's shoulder into the Tiger net.

A concerted effort by the Tigers to score in the last five minutes resulted in a real battle. They played four men up and kept the puck humming around Jones, but all their attempts drew blanks.

As soon as the two squads can find ice to play on the final scrap will be staged.

The teams:

Adanacs — Goal, R. Jones; defence, Gainey and Wiley; forwards, Kingdon, Wright, and Begley; subs., Brooks and Spelman.

"CACKLE OF CENTURIES" SURE TO RE-ECHO ABOUT WHOLE BASEBALL WORLD

New York American Sports Writer Predicts Owner Will "Strike Out" His Home Run Expert By "Curving Up" Some Unhittable Physiological Facts.

COLONEL RUPPERT CANNOT SEE PRESENT CONTRACT TERMS OUTLINED BY BAMBINO

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 7.—On the eve of the Cackle for the 'Centuries' all is serene in the camp of the Yankees. G. Herman Ruth, who is to plead for one hundred more century notes than the club has offered him, went about his Spring conditioning this morning with what might be classified as financial unconcern.

Babe practiced about Crescent Lake Park, defying its third straight program of chill breezes, as if in happy accord with the world in general and annuities in particular. It will be recalled that Babe, in a recent—or perhaps it was solely a signature jib—held up those annuities as the lifesaver whenever he might choose to take the overboard dive from baseball into retirement.

While Ruth went about his work nonchalantly, now and then reaching for a bot. one of Sammy Murdock's Seaboard trains was hurrying the good colonel down to remind the Bambino that three-year contracts and $85,000 salaries run more to foolish figures than to common sense.

"If you can arrange to turn the clock back about six years, submit to a major operation for the removal of that bay window, and get back some of that elastic around the knees, the contract is yours without a struggle," will be the tenor of the colonel's opening speech.

And Babe, sitting there silently, will seem to hear what he has so often heard at the plate.

"Strike One."

The Colonel will take his time, rub an imaginary ball between his palms and come back with something like this:

Doc King tells me that the old ticker isn't what it used to be and that if you had to run out those drives of yours that hill between second and third base might be too tough. You know you had to quit baseball for a time last Summer, and he made you quit bowling this Winter.

And a strange voice from somewhere will speak again in tones that are not unfamiliar:

"Strike two."

While Babe seems to hear the far-off fans telling him to play it out and hit one a mile, he begins to feel that this strange pitcher, like Hub Pruett, of another day,

BABE RUTH

has his number. Ruppert kills more time and then puts everything on the next pitch.

$85,000 For One Year

"Tell you what I'll do, Ruth. I'll give you $85 000 for this year and if you prove you are worth it you know in your heart you will have no trouble getting big money again next year. Make it a year to year affair. A player skidding toward the flabby forties can fade overnight. How about $85,000 for one year?"

"Can't you hear the umpire calling:

"Strike three!"

Instead of walking back to the bench Babe will ask for time to reconsider on that two-year document at $75 000 per year. Perhaps the going won't be so good through 1930, and it wouldn't be a bad idea to be fixed up for 1931.

When the meeting adjourns it will be announced that both sides are satisfied. The Colonel will slap Babe on the back and George will agree that he is a great old Colonel after all.

Thus to those in the Yankee camp see the finish of the Cackle for the Centuries. Babe will get plenty and the Colonel will bring this little controversy to the same happy ending which has been the finale of all past differences with his players. New York fans will be assured of another Summer of baseball from contented maulers.

Brennan As Umpire

Colonel Ruppert will be accompanied here by B. Clarke, Jr., his attorney, and by Al Brennan, debonair secretary. Babe may find out after the conference that Brennan was the fellow who hid in the room and served as the distant voiced umpire who called him out on strikes. Ed Barrow is remaining in New York but Babe will keep one eye peeled on the door, expecting Ed to pop through at any minute.

But when it's all over, it will all be in fun. So nobody down here can get up excitement over the impending clash.

NINE HURLERS TAKE PART IN FIRST WORKOUT

Guy Cantrell on Hand—Catcher Wise Impresses Pilot O'Neill.

PHILLIPS BEHIND PLATE.

Cantrell Looking Forward to Best Season in His Baseball Career.

Tarpon Springs, Fla., March 7. — Manager Stephen Francis O'Neill of the Toronto Baseball Club issued his first work call of the Spring training season here yesterday, and it was answered by nine pitchers and three catchers as the Leafs opened their new camp. The backstops included the boss himself.

Guy Cantrell and Clarence Fisher were the only left over pitchers from last season's team on hand for the initial canter, the others being Regis Leheny, former University of Niagara Falls left hander, who toiled for Scranton of the New York-Pennsylvania League part of the 1929 campaign; Carleton Carr, who is from Springfield, Ohio; Bill Gwathney, who tossed them over for Wheeling, West Virginia; Sig Vick, Waterloo, Iowa; Art Phillips, Fort Worth; Noble the Toronto boy; and Lestereck, whoever he may be.

Wise Impresses O'Neill.

Eddie Phillips, last season with Detroit, and in 1928, with the Leafs, and Hughey Wise, in addition to O'Neill, were the catchers on hand and though the workout was nothing more or less than a limbering up affair the way Wise handled himself made a fine impression on the Toronto pilot. Wise was with Canton in the Central League last season and is well named, being a professor at the University of Purdue. He is a big fellow, six feet tall and weighing 180 pounds and boasts the reputation of being a slugger of parts.

The majority of the players arrived here on Wednesday, but too late to do any work, and for that reason O'Neill postponed the first practice until yesterday. O'Neill and his brother, Jimmy, who will be the Leafs' coach, came in last Saturday, while Joe Harris, veteran outfielder, and Josh Billings, pitcher from Detroit, checked in this evening. The weather was almost perfect for toiling ball players though it has been generally cool throughout Florida.

Guy Cantrell motored the whole distance here from his home in Oklahoma, and appears to be in even better condition than when he reported a year ago. He is looking forward to the coming season in his baseball career.

OTTAWAS HAVE 4 MORE GAMES; ASSURED OF PLACE IN PLAY-OFF

Senators Play Detroit on Saturday and Then Tackle Maroons.

MONTREAL PLAYS LEAFS.

Boston Only Team Certain of Maintaining Present Position.

OTTAWA, March 7.—With a play-off berth practically cinched and the question of whether they will finish first, second or third, a matter of days, Ottawas are marking time before they play their next scheduled engagement which will be with Detroit Cougars in the Motor City on Saturday night. Then they hop back here and stand over till Tuesday, when they go to Montreal to meet Maroons in the final game of the inter-city series between these noted rivals. Two further games with Americans, one at New York and the other at Atlantic City, will wind up the regular season as far as Senators are concerned.

Then come the playoffs and at present writing the exact personnel of the Canadian section representatives is known definitely but how they will compete is another matter. For instance, Canadiens and Maroons play each other to-night at Montreal and if Canucks win they will be tied for first place. Both look as though they might be playing possum with the possibility of meeting the Bruins in the finals not at all to their liking.

Everyone Pleased

Ottawa's victory over Maroons has had a splendid reaction in the Capital and the game was on the lips of every fan yesterday. In the downtown coffee shops where hockey patrons congregate in the usual duos and trios as they munch their victuals, Ottawas' play was a matter of lively discussion. Everyone seemed pleased and there were free predictions made that the team will go far once they strike the playoffs. Ottawas are ready for all-comers and will be decided factors in the eventual settling of the possession of Stanley Cup this year.

There has been considerable activity around the N.H.L. circuit of late and the playoff question is beginning to agitate the magnates. In Montreal they are gazing on Ottawas with anxious eyes and the sudden rush of Senators has the controlling powers in Maroon and Canadien camps guessing. They do not relish the idea of Ottawas coming along and knocking them off their lofty pedestal and there should be a grand old struggle between Canucks and Maroons tonight.

MONTREAL PLAYS LEAFS

TORONTO, March 7.—Montreal Maroons practically clinched the leadership of the Canadian section of the National League last night by defeating the Canadiens 4 to 0, the victory giving the Maroons a four-point lead with only three more games to play, two of them being against the Maple Leafs—here to-night and in Montreal next Saturday, and at home against the Ottawa Senators. One more victory will put the Maroons in a position from which they cannot be dislodged, and then it will be the Bruins and Maroons for the bruising best three out of five game series. In the four games played so far this season the Leafs have won one and tied one, and they have hopes of making a better showing before the two games are played.

While the Leafs cannot improve their position during their remaining five games, they are hopeful of giving the Maroons and Chicago Hawks lots of worry before they get their play-off positions. The Leafs have but two games at home, the last one being Tuesday evening, when the Pittsburgh Pirates play here. In between to-morrow's game and Tuesday's engagement the locals make a flying trip to Detroit on Sunday to complete their series with the Cougars.

YOUNG STARS TO BE DAVIS CUP NUCLEUS

Lott, Van Ryan and Allison Main Reliance of American Tennis Squad.

NEW YORK, March 7.—George M. Lott, Jr. of Chicago, John Van Ryan of East Orange, N.J., and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, the three young members of the United States' Davis Cup team who got their first baptism of fire in a challenge round last year against France, w'll compose the nucleus of the American Davis Cup squad for 1930, according to announcement made yesterday by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Although a squad of seventeen was named last December, among whom were the veterans William Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, the first two ranking players of the country, it is likely that the three players named above will compose the team, unless any of the other players show to particular advantage in the Southern tournaments.

Tilden and Hunter have both stated that they will not be candidates for the team this year, and yesterday's announcement by the U. S. L. T. A. stated that the association plans to enter a team of young players in the American zone matches, and if it wins in this area, to send a team of "comparatively young players to Europe for the interzone final."

BASEBALL GOSSIP

Despite a long "huddle" on the Palm Beach sands between Heinie Manush and Manager Bill Killifer, the slugging St. Louis Brownie was still a holdout today.

The Brooklyn Robins have discovered a battery that can get along without signals unless some undiscovered Morberg turns up in the National League. With assistant Adolfo Luque, and young Alfonso Lopez, catching, the instructions can be passed in their native Spanish with no one the wiser.

Ten games won for the Phillies, and the season more than a month away; that's the big news given out to-day by Grover Cleveland Alexander, pitcher emeritus of the team.

"I'm going to win at least 10 games," Alexander declared today as he started for the ball yard at Winter Haven, Fla. "My arm is great."

Manager Donie Bush has just decided how his Chicago White Sox will line up against the New York Giants in the opening games of the exhibition season Saturday. Vic Frazier, recruit hurler, is to start for the ambitious Sox, with Ed Walsh, Jr., and Ted Lyons sharing the mound task. Berg and Riddle will divide the catching.

Gus Suhr, new first baseman of the Pittsburg Pirates has fielded sensationally, and in batting practice is hitting them far and often at Paso Robles, Cal.

Glenn Myatt, veteran catcher, and Zeke Bonura, whose future status with the Cleveland Indians depends much on whether the ailing Lew Fonseca returns to condition, hold the home run honors of the Tribe to-day. Both crashed out long drives in the first batting practice of the season at New Orleans yesterday.

Two of the Washington Nations players have been given ultimatums by Clark Griffith. Griffith has written Catcher Roy Spencer that if the latter does not accept terms by next Saturday, he will be assessed $100, suspended and required to get into condition at his own expense. As to Outfielder Leon "Goose" Goslin, it was intimated drastic action was planned in this case, also, if he fails to come to terms by next Sunday, the date he has been ordered to report.

Manager Bob Shawkey of the New York Yankees does not intend to let the coming duel between Colonel Jacob Rupper and Babe Ruth over the question of the Bambino's salary overshadow other events in the Yankee training camp. He has assigned Ruth to the rookie team for practices.

DRAFTSMEN WIN FIRST GAME 2-1

Defeat Tool Room No. 2 Sextet in Closely Contested Struggle.

AGGRESSIVE HOCKEY.

The Drafting Room won the first game of the C.G.E. Shop Hockey league finals last night at the Brock street arena when they crossed sticks with the Tool Room No. 2 team to win 2-1 in a fast and very closely contested battle that thrilled a big crowd of fans, the majority of whom expected to see the Toolmakers absorb a liberal coat of whitewash.

The result however was quite the reverse as the Group 2 champions trotted out a finished brand of aggressive hockey that gave the Draftsmen a busy night and except for a fluke the score would have been 1-1.

The Toolmakers scored the first goal midway through the first period when Craig passed to Milliken inside their opponent's blue-line and the latter found the net with a fast, waist high shot. The Drafting forwards resorted to very little combination in this period, and their long shots were carefully blocked by Hollingsworth. Connors and Milliken whipped several long shots at Kearns which were dead on but the Drafting goalie played his usual brilliant game and turned them aside.

The Drawing Makers took the lead in the second period when Davis worked in close to score while the second goal came shortly after on Masterson to Rooke play which gave Hollingsworth no chance. The Drafting Room played their usual line-up with the exception of Howe on defence, who was out of town.

The third period was scoreless, with the Drafting getting in the most shots, giving Hollingsworth a chance to turn in a superb exhibition of finished goal-minding. Thornton. Davis and Rooke were the best for the winners, while Graham, Connors and Milliken were outstanding for the Toolmakers.

The teams:

Drafting Room—Goal, Kearns; defence, Davis and Masterson; centre, Allen; wings, Thornton and Rooke; alternates, Palmer and Meagher.

Tool Room 2—Goal Hollingsworth; defence, Connors and Griffin; centre Craig; wings, Graham and M'Illiken; alternates, Muir, Hughes and Earle.

Cricket

The regular monthly social under the auspices of the Peterborough Cricket Club will be held at the home of Claude Elliott, 528 Charlotte Street, on Monday evening, March 10th, at 8 o'clock. All members and any others interested in cricket are cordially invited to come and spend an enjoyable evening.

Annual Tournament Opens On Saturday

The annual bowling tournament between the Peterborough C.G.E. and the Toronto Davenport Works will take place to-morow at the Duffus Recreation Academy when a contingent of 120 Toronto pin spillers will match their skill on the polished maple against an equal number from the local plant.

This tournament has been growing more popular with each succeeding year and arrangemetns have been made this time to make the event a real gala affair. The evening's entertainment will start with a banquet at the Empress Hotel, and immediately after this the game will be rolled off, and to complete the program a dance will be held in the Canadian Legion Hall starting at 9 o'clock, with "Tap" Thirnbeck and his Blue Blowers providing the music.

UNEXPECTED HALT IN CAGE SCHEDULE

Local Squad May Meet Winner of Belleville-Trenton Series.

An unexpected delay has cropped up in the Peterborough Collegiate basketball squad's progress in interscholastic basketball. Although P.C.I. is not working on O.B.A. schedule, it was understood that, having won the honors of the western section in Central Ontario, the squad would meet the winners of the eastern section.

Belleville High School is at present on top in the eastern section, but has not yet met Trenton High School, the winners of the Quinte group, to decide the divisional leadership.

The winner between Belleville and Trenton would play off with P.C.I. if custom of former years is followed, but it has not yet been decided whether Belleville and Trenton will play off. In the meantime, while matters are being arranged, the P.C.I. lads will have a forced lay-off.

ADANAC SQUAD WINNERS 2 TO 1

Juvenile Teams Battle Through Sixty Minutes of Tough Hockey on Mushy Ice.

Eddie Wright's Adanacs won last night's game of the play-offs for the juvenile championship of the City League from the Tigers by a 2-1 count at the Brock Street Rink. The game was played on mushy ice and both squads spent a tough 60 minutes.

As a result of last night's game another game will be required to decide the championship. The Tigers took the first of the play-offs.

The Adanacs got their first goal in the first period when Gainey took a pass from Kingdon and registered about ten minutes in the period. Persistent struggling through the rest of the session failed to bring reward to either line-up.

In the second period the count was evened when Prete took a pass right in front of the Adanac goal, and shoved the disc into the cage. The tie continued until the third stanza when Wright took a pass from Begley and shot one hard and high past McCarl's shoulder into the Tiger net.

A concerted effort by the Tigers to score in the last five minutes resulted in a real battle. They played four men up and kept the puck humming around Jones, but all their attempts drew blanks.

As soon as the two squads can find ice to play on the final scrap will be staged.

The teams:

Adanacs — Goal, R. Jones; defence, Gainey and Wiley; forwards, Kingdon, Wright, and Begley subs, Brooks and Spelman.

Tigers — Goal, McCarl; defence, Gibson and McCullough; forwards, Payne, Cadd, Abbott; subs., Peel, Cournyea, and Prete.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE TIN HORSE.

"Where is my wooden soldier?" cried Buster, the rabbit boy, as he ran in the hollow stump bungalow one day after school. "Where is my wooden soldier?"

"Did you leave it on the floor when you went to school this morning, Buster?" asked his father, who of course, was Uncle Wig ily.

"Why, yes. Daddicums," answered Buster. "I guess I did leave my wooden soldier on the floor."

"Right, where he could be stepped on and broken," said Uncle Wiggily. "Why, Buster, I am surprised at you!"

"Oh dear! Is my wooden soldier stepped on and broken?" cried the little rabbit boy. "Oh, I'm so sorry! I loved my wooden soldier!"

"Well," said Uncle Wiggily, taking the toy down off the mantle, where he had set it. "Tis no credit to you, Buster, that the wooden soldier wasn't stepped on and broken, for I nearly did it myself. But, luckily, I picked him up and, seeing he needed a new coat of red paint, I took him to the toy shop and had it put on."

"Oh, thank you, Daddicums!" exclaimed Buster. "I'm so glad! And I'll never leave my wooden soldier on the floor again. But what makes his sword bent and why is the gun a little crooked?" asked Buster, as he looked at his toy, made bright and almost new again with paint.

"Why Buster I'm surprised!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Well, the wooden soldier and I had quite an adventure on the way to the toy shop," said Uncle Wiggily, smiling. Then he told Buster, as I told you, last night, how, when the Bob Cat tried to bite Uncle Wiggily the brave wooden soldier jumped out of the bunny gentleman's pocket and tickled the Bob Cat with his sword and gun, making the bad chap run away.

"That's how his sword and gun were bent," said Mr. Longears.

"I wish I had been there to see!" shouted Buster. "It must have been a great fight. Oh, boy!"

"No, it wasn't much of a fight," said Uncle Wiggily. "The brave wooden soldier soon made the Bob Cact run away and I went on to the toy shop. But, after this, please keep your playthings off the floor."

"I will," promised Buster, and he and the other rabbit children did this for some time. But in about a week they quite forgot and, one day, coming down stairs, Uncle Wiggily nearly stepped on a tin horse that Jingle had been playing with. The little rabbit girl had left the tin horse just where she happened to be when the school bell rang and away she hopped so she wouldn't be late.

"Well, more toys on the floor!" said Uncle Wiggily, and he didn't twinkle his pink nose even a little. For he didn't like this. "I shall take this tin horse up in my room and keep it until Jingle misses it." said Mr. Longears to himself. "When she wants it I shall tell her how careless she was to leave it where I might have stepped on it, and so have bent it all out of shape."

So Uncle Wiggily put the tin horse on a table in his room near a window and then he hopped away to have an adventure. And as the rabbit gentleman hopped along he was seen by Slim Jim the hungry weasel.

"Oh, if I could only catch that rabbit, what a fine meal I would have!" thought Slim Jim.

"Why don't you catch him?" asked the Bob Cat, who was also roaming about, looking for rabbits.

"Why don't you?" howled the Weasel to the Bob Cat.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily is too smart for me!" mewed the Bob Cat. "He has a soldier with a sword and gun. I was stuck once. I don't want to be sworded and gunned again. But listen!" So the weasel listened and the Bob Cat said:

"Every night Uncle Wiggily leaves his window open a little to get fresh air. He doesn't leave it open wide enough for me to climb in, but a small crack is large enough for you. Slim Jim. Try it!"

"I will!" whispered the long, slender weasel. That night, when Uncle Wiggily was asleep, with his window open a bit at the bottom, the weasel climbed up an old honeysuckle vine and got into the rabbit's bedroom. But just as the bad chap was about to leap from the window sill to the bunny's bed to bite him, Slim Jim happened to touch the tin horse which Uncle Wiggily had put on a table to teach Jingle a lesson. And, no sooner did the weasel touch the tin horse than up kicked his heels and such a lashing out as that horse gave Slim Jim! The weasel went popping out of the window and down to the ground he fell, the breath all knocked out of him. Oh, how the tin horse kicked!

"Talk about wooden soldiers!" groaned the weasel. "A tin horse is worse! Th's rabbit is too smart!" So it all happened for the best.

WRECK STORY PROBABLY HOAX

Officers Find Little to Substantiate Youth's Tale of Barricade.

MARKS ON TRACKS.

BELLEVILLE, March 7. (C. P.) — Special Investigator Humphrey of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Constable Barrett of the Provincial Police staff at Napanee, announced last night that following a day and night of investigation they have found nothing to support the story of an attempt to wreck the C.P.R. flier near Roblindale station. They place little credence in a story told by Clarence South, a young farmer residing at that place.

South claimed that he saw three men place three large railway ties across the tracks and that he worked feverishly and removed the last log only a few minutes before the crack Canadian Pacific flier came tearing down the track at 60 miles an hour.

Police found no trace of the men, although there were marks at the side of the tracks where it appeared as though the logs haad been dragged across the ground. After a thorough examination they again grilled South closely and found several flaws in his story.

HUNDREDS HURT IN RED CLASHES

Winnipeg Centre of Most Heated Demonstration in Canada.

POLICE USE CLUBS FREELY.

TORONTO, March 7. (C.P.) — All over the world except in Russia, Communists clashed with the police yesterday. In every capital, in every large city, the Reds attempted to parade in one huge synchronized demonstration against unemployment. Hundreds were injured.

Incited by fiery orators, demonstrations became riots in many centres. In New York the Reds attempted to storm the police lines in Union square and more than 100 persons were taken to hospital. In Boston there was a free-for-all fight involving thousands of persons before all available police reserves restored order. In Cleveland, Detroit and Buffalo, there were injuries and arrests.

Winnipeg saw Canada's most heated demonstration, when the police drew their clubs to disperse the crowd. One communist alderman was among though the logs had been dragged failed to live up to advance notices of Communists. The police in Montreal soon broke up the demonstration there.

DIFFICULT DECISIONS by GLUYAS WILLIAMS

Dr. Alfred Scully Will Be Interred in Lindsay

LINDSAY, March 7 (Special to The Examiner).—Relatives of Dr. Alfred Scully, of Cleveland, who was murdered in that city on Tuesday, have received word that his remains will be forwarded to Lindsay and interred in the family plot at St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mr. Jeremiah Scully, a brother of the deceased, who has been in California, made the trip by plane to Cleveland when he received word of the tragedy. Relatives and former school mates of the dead doctor were deeply affected when the news of his tragic death was received.

Lock Tight Safety Pin Is Mint For Inventor

A request from his wife to make "a safety pin that wouldn't come undone and stick into the baby"—such was the germ from which has developed the Lock Tight Safety Pin, an invention patented in Canada and the United States by George Hawes, of Orillia. It is believed that this pin will do what is ordered of it and at the same time prove a minature gold mine for the man whose ingenuity resulted in its origin. The pin, once locked, will not come unfastened through any amount of pulling until the lock is released.

LODGE OBSERVES 13TH ANNIVERSARY

Jolly Evening Enjoyed By Members of Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge.

MILLBROOK, March 7—(Examiner Correspondence).—Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge, No. 176, held a birthday anniversary in the I.O.O.F Hall on Wednesday, March 5, observing the thirteenth milestone since its organization by a social gathering that proved a jolly, informal, and entertaining occasion.

Several tables were in use for five hundred, play continuing until eleven o'clock when the tally cards were collected, and adjournment was made to the dining-hall and an enjoyable time was spent about the supper tables. The Rebekah colors of pink and green were much in evidence, not only in the overhead streamers, but also in the floral decorations, and the tall candles that were placed at intervals on each of the four long tables about which the guests were gathered.

A feature of particular interest was the birthday cake, with its thirteen pink and green candles, that centred the table at which the Past Noble Grands of the Lodge were seated as guests of honor. Considerable fun was created by the cutting of the cake, this duty being assigned to Sister May Garside, P.N.G., who was given a silver cake knife, the handle tied with pink and green satin ribbon, but which was apparently inadequate to the task as it repeatedly bent under pressure when applied to the 'cake', but refused to make any indentation. Brother H. A. Fallis, P.G., offered a butcher's scalpel, which looked murderous enough, but even this made no impression on the confection.

An adjournment to the kitchen by Mrs. Garside and one or two assistants, followed by a return to the banqueting hall, solved the puzzle—the cake offered for cutting was made of wood, nicely iced, and with candledecorations, but the real cake, which was cut readily enough, proved a delicious product of culinary art, and was thoroughly enjoyed when the plates were circled round the various tables. Sister Caroline Harkness, P.G., was warmly congratulated on her skill, the birthday cake having been her especial charge; who perpetrated the 'joke' cake still remains a mystery.

A return to the auditorium upstairs was followed by the presentation of the prizes won at cards to the winners, Mrs. H. A. Fallis receiving the ladies' first, a pair of silver candle holders in suitable case; Mr. V. R. Hunter carried off the gentlemen's first, and was given a set of individual smoker's trays, of silver filagree design. The consolations went to Miss Audrey Larmer, who had a rubber kitty that emitted doleful sounds when its sides were pressed together, while R. I. Fallis, opening his parcel, found a good-sized "monkey on a string", that went through some strange and laughable contortions when the string was given the right 'pull.'

Music and dancing completed the happy evening, and it was well past midnight before the guests finally dispersed, and the birthday anniversary was merged in the beginning of another year of Lodge history.

WHAT NEXT?

Peterborough's animal population of pets seems to include goats. Charles Seymour of the River road has been harbouring animals of this species for some time now but it is not known whether he regards them as pets or regular domestic animals. There have been two recent additions to the goat family.

DISCUSSION ON PENSIONS BILL ENDS ABRUPTLY

Premier's Motion Upheld—Special Committee to Settle Question.

BENNETT PROTESTS.

Claim Proposal Does Not Constitute Amendment to Motion Before House.

OTTAWA March 7. (C. P.) — A ruling by Speaker Lemieux declaring a motion moved by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in order, precipitated a lively fifteen minutes in the House of Commons yesterday. During the few minutes in which the Conservative members, headed by R. B. Bennett, insisted the motion was out of order, the word "closure' figured prominently in the discussion. Mr. Speaker himself agreed that the motion "smacks of the closure rule."

OTTAWA, March 7.—At the time, the House was debating the motion of Dr. Peter McGibbon (Conservative, Muskoka), and the amendment of W. G. Ernst (Conservative, Lunenburg), both of which aimed, by different means, to transfer the onus of proof in the consideration of pensions claims from the soldier applicant to the pensions board.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King took the floor. He discussed the motion and the amendment thereto for some time, and concluded his remarks by moving that both be referred to the pensions committee of Parliament recently announced Motion Non-Debatable.

Speaker Lemieux rose and announced that such a motion was non-debatable. This precipitated the objections.

Hon. R. B. Bennett asserted that the Prime Minister's proposal did not constitute an amendment to the motion before the House. It was a new motion, and notice of it must be given. Otherwise it was not in order.

Speaker Lemieux quoted authorities in support of his ruling. A motion "to commit" a piece of legislation to a committee of the House was quite in order.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie immediately objected. The ruling of the Speaker meant that the Government had power to apply closure to any private member's resolution, he said. All the Government had to do was to arrange for one of its members to move "to commit."

Finally, Mr. Speaker called for "ayes" and "nays" and the Prime Minister's motion was declared carried.
